Doctors Report President Is In Excellent Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's doctors said Saturday he is in "an excellent state of health."

The report was issued after the chief executive underwent a complete physical examination at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commanding officer of the medical center and one of those who examined the President, told reporters the results of the check-up were "fine—best yet."

The brief medical bulletin Saturday said:

"The President underwent a complete physical examination, which included Barium studies of the gastro-intestinal tract and appropriate laboratory test, at Walter Reed Army Hospital on Oct. 3-4, 1958.

The results of these all-inclusive studies show that the President continues to maintain an excellent state of health."

TERSE REPORT

The terse report was signed by Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the president's own physician, and by Heaton.

The President entered the hospital for the exaxmination late Friday and spent the night there.

As though to emphasize his good health, he drove directly from the hospital this afternoon to the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland for a game of golf.

He had lunch at the hospital before departing.

The new medical report came just 10 days before the President's 68th birthday and a few days before he planned to plunge into the political campaigns on behalf of Republican candidates.

After past medical checkups, the President's doctors have issued more detailed reports on their findings, providing such information as his blood pressure and the results of blood analyses.

Such details were completely absent from Saturday's two-paragraph report.

Mrs. Ann W. Wheaton, the associate White House press secretary, said the bulletin was deliberately brief because Eisenhower wanted it that way.

She said that the overnight examinations covered all areas of the President's medical background, including his 1955 heart attack, his 1956 surgery for ileitis, and the slight stroke he suffered last fall.

Antiaircraft Missiles Go To Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A U.S. Nike-Hercules battalion with its deadly antiaircraft missiles is expected to reach Formosa Wednesday to help guard Nationalist China against Communist bombing attack.

It will come during a period of concern about the possibility of new Red Chinese air assaults against Nationalist cargo planes air dropping supplies to bloackaded Quemoy.

The Nike-Hercules is a ground-to-air missile that can be fired effectively 75 to 100 miles, at speeds greater than sound. It has the capability of seeking out and destroying an aerial target despite evasive action.

POTENTIAL

Its potential will help free more Nationalist aircraft for use if necessary against more than 500 Red-starred MIG fighters poised on advanced mainland bases.

Four MIG17s attacked and heavily damaged a Nationalist C46 transport over Quemoy Friday. There is fear the swift, low level attacks will be repeated in the future as the air drop program grows. Strengthening this belief was a statement by Ango Tai, head of Nationalist China's privately owned Foshing Airlines.

He said he thought the unarmed Foshing PBY Catalina that

Smile

"Mix with others both old and young, give out a cheerful word, smile and thus banish all worries!"

This is the "fountain of youth" that has made the life and habits of Herbert H. Nobes a bright and shining light for many decades. On October 9, 1958, he will celebrate his 80th birthday in his home on Park Avenue.

Some days ago he made an appointment with this writer for a downtown hotel. Yesterday at the hour named he was there on the spot. He appeared attired in a down-to-the-minute fall suit. In his button hole was a tiny snowy zinnia. A fall hat, a gray Fedora, completed his attire, crowned over all by that smile that is ever - present. Also that round face and ruddy complexion make him resemble a man in his forties.

Nobes, in accent and attire, is ever in keeping with his British origin. He was born in Portsmouth, England, in 1878. He enlisted in Queen Victoria's Navy in 1898 and served for eight years. Then he left the Navy and the following year came to the United States where in time he became naturalized. His wife

U.S. Army Begins Leaving Lebanon Despite Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The United States Army begin leaving Lebanon Saturday despite a wave of kidnapings, beatings and strikes that threatened renewed civil war.

About 1,000 American soldiers, waving and shouting happily, rolled through the streets in open trucks to the Beirut dock area and boarded a ship to return to bases in Germany.

The last 90 Marines were expected to depart Sunday and the remaining 5,900 soldiers to go within two weeks, leaving the Lebanese army to handle the simmering new revolt by itself. In August there were 14,000 U.S. Troops in Lebanon.

Pro-and anti-government forces accused each other of hundreds of sectarian kidnapings and beatings.

Christian Phalangists maintain roadblocks on main roads leading into the city. They burned stacks of tires and sent women and children before the barricades to halt traffic.

Hurricane Churns Across Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A hurricane churned across the Pacific toward the Mexico coast Saturday with winds estimated at more than 85 miles an hour near the center, the Weather Bureau reported.

A hurricane advisory said the storm was located 80 nautical miles south southeast of Los Mochis, Mexico, and moving toward the north-northeast at 16 miles an hour. It will probably hit the coast 30 miles south of Los Mochis at about noon (pst).

The Weather Bureau said hurricane force winds extended 30 miles outward from the center.

Seven Killed As Explosion Rocks Home

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — An unemployed coal miner, his wife and five of his seven children died Saturday when fire touched off by a kerosene explosion swept their home 12 miles east of here.

One other child was rescued but suffered critical burns. Another escaped by clammering out a cellar coal chute at the direction of her father, who despite the flames which licked from his clothing made a desperate effort to save the other members of the family.

State police said the blast occurred as the father, Clair Kinter, 42, was using the kerosene to start a fire in the kitchen stove of his home.

Perishing in the flames were Kinter; his wife, Jennie, 39, and their children, Peggy, 13, Virginia,

United Drive Set In Parish Areas

The Ouachita Parish United Givers tomorrow will begin an all-out effort to raise $210,000 for the support of 13 service agencies.

Campaign Chairman R. L. Vanderpool Jr. expressed confidence yesterday the drive would reach its goal within three weeks of soliciting.

"Our division leaders and teams are equipped with the two vital elements for a successful fund raising drive — optimism and energy," Vanderpool declared.

United Givers President Clifford Strauss pointed to good organization on the part of Vanderpool as "a big hurdle out of the way before the drive opens tomorrow." Strauss noted the arrangement of the territories to be covered and the men and women chosen to solicit in particular fields assured the success of the campaign.

AGENCIES

Agencies incorporated into the single fund - raising effort of United Givers will include the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Boy Scouts of America, the Carolyn Rose Strauss Rehabilitation Cen-

Ouachita Valley Fair Will Open Here This Week

The 1958 Ouachita Valley Fair, which will be held in West Monroe, Monday through Saturday, is said to be one of the largest and best ever planned in the Twin Cities area.

John Birdsong Sr., manager, said that 14 major rides and eight children rides are promised the fairgoers.

A nightly feature also promised, he said, will be two roller skaters on a 60 inch platform, raised 60 feet in the air, doing spins, double spins and other skating stunts. This feature will be held at 9 o'clock every night, he said.

Birdsong said no light bulbs will be used, that there will be all neon lighting.

Childrens day will be from 3 p. m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and all day Saturday, he stated. Children will have special prices during this time.

French Smith New Commission Head

The Monroe Utilities Commission yesterday announced the appointment of French L. Smith to the post of general manager of the commission which controls the city's power and water services.

A retired employee of Hope Producing Company, Smith succeeds T. H. Underwood, who resigned earlier in the week "for personal reasons. Underwood's salary was $15,500.

Travis Oliver Jr., newly elected commission chairman, announced that Smith's salary would be $7,800 annually.

After the commission was established, five of Monroe's leading citizens were appointed to authority over city utilities. They later hired Underwood, a registered engineer, to the general manager's post.

Smith was one of the original members of the commission. His two-year term was scheduled to expire yesterday.

Throughout the period of Smith's service he devoted full time to his post on the commission. For the past year he has served as chairman of the commission.

The commission issued a statement yesterday, announcing Smith's assignment to the gen-

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruiser Hank Bauer put the New York Yankees back into the World Series Saturday with the help of shutout pitching by Don Larsen and Ryne Duren and a base-running boner by the Milwaukee Braves. Bauer drove in all the Yankee runs in a 4-0 triumph, their first after two jarring defeats at Milwaukee.

The ex-Marine knocked in the only two runs off loser Bob Rush when he dunked a single to right with the bases loaded in the fifth. He crashed his third homer of the series with Enos Slaughter on base in the seventh off relief man Don McMahon. Hank now has hit safely in his last 17 series games.

Larsen who tired after throwing some 113 pitches in seven innings, struck out eight Braves. Casey Stengel took him out for a pinch hitter in the seventh after he had put two men on base in each of the last two innings.

Only a Stengel would yank a shutout pitcher, who once threw a perfect series game, when he still hadn't won a single game of this set. But he got away with it. Duren, the Yanks' flame thrower, was wild. He walked three and uncorked one wild pitch while protecting Larsen's victory.

The largest series crowd in five years, 71,599, gasped when the Braves pulled a base running blunder in the sixth. For a few sec-

New Integration Moves Aimed At Southern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People Saturday aimed two new legal moves at Arkansas and Virginia where schools have been closed to block integration.

In a friend of the court brief, the government asked the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis to grant an NAACP request for an injunction against leasing of Little Rock schools to a private corporation for operation on a segregated basis.

The NAACP began a move to have federal courts reopen schools in three Virginia communities which were closed after they were ordered to integrate.

MEET MONDAY

The St. Louis court will meet Monday to consider the NAACP petition for an injunction against leasing Little Rock high schools to a private corporation. Gov. Orval E. Faubus vowed Friday the schools will never be reopened except on a segregated basis.

"Reopening of the high schools on a segregated basis would inflict an irreparable injury on the nation as a whole," the government brief said. It urged the court to "enter a comprehensive injunction which will in specific terms enjoin any and all persons, whether they be public officials or private individuals or organizations from taking any action in or out of the schools which would have the effect of denying, impairing or hindering" the rights of Negro children.

Holding that the plan to lease the Little Rock high schools for segregated, private operation is invalid, the government brief also declared "it is as plain as day that there is no alternative to compliance with the law and that no schemes or devices for operating public schools on a segregated basis can hope to succeed."

Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., closed schools in Charlottesville, Norfolk and Warren County after they were ordered by federal courts to integrate.

The NAACP has petitioned the courts for further relief from what it contends is a violation of the Negro pupils' constitutional rights.

In Little Rock, reports circulated that the Arkansas Legislature may be asked to abolish the state's public school system and establish a statewide system of private schools.

Faubus could not be reached for comment, but sources who requested anonymity said under the proposal state aid would be given all students on a per capita basis.

Shortage Of Funds Loom For LSUNO

BATON ROUGE (AP) — President Troy Middleton warned Saturday Louisiana State University can no longer drain money from its Baton Rouge campus to operate the new branch in New Orleans.

The new four-year branch at New Orleans drew 1,459 students in its first year. Originally 750 were expected.

Middleton told the LSU Board of Supervisors more than half of this freshman class would be sophomores next fall, with a new freshman class coming in.

APPLICANTS

The 1958 Legislature, trimming the funds asked for LSU in New Orleans, provided LSU could shift funds from its overall budget so the new branch could admit all applicants.

Middleton noted despite the large enrollment in New Orleans, the total on the main campus dropped only 40, with the freshman class showing the only decline.

"We estimate that out of the 1,400 white students at LSU in New Orleans 316 would have come to the Baton Rouge campus if the new school hadn't opened," the LSU president said.

"I do not feel we can continue

Ike Confident Of Support On Formosa Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, hotly rebuking his critics, said confidently Saturday night that allies abroad and a unified people at home will support the United States if a Formosa Strait war is forced upon it.

Eisenhower told Democratic Chairman Theodore F. Green of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that predictions of U.S. disunity such as Green has made could "embolden our enemies and make almost inevitable the conflict which, I am sure, we both seek to avoid."

WRITES GREEN

The President wrote Green that most of this country's allies do not oppose a policy of firmness in standing up to Communist military threats and pressures.

Rather, he said, they "would be appalled if the United States were spinelessly to retreat before the threat of Sino-Soviet armed aggression."

Eisenhower set forth these views in a letter, made public by the White House, replying to criticism of administration policy in the Formosa Strait expressed by Green.

In a letter to Eisenhower, the 91-year-old Rhode Island senator

Race Problems Shift To Fla., Officials Confer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Arrival of a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling on the Palm Beach County school integration case stirred speculation Saturday on what specific effect might be felt in schools of other areas.

At the same time, officials of the Florida School Boards Assn. disclosed they and the State Principals Assn. would confer with the governor and the attorney general on a proposal that the state give financial aid to school boards confronted by integration law suits.

The U.S. Circuit Court at New Orleans, ruling on an appeal from Miami U.S. District Court dismissal of the Palm Beach case, said school boards are responsible for seeing that no child is deprived of his rights.

The Palm Beach County suit was initiated for William Holland Jr., Palm Beach Negro child, by his father, a lawyer, who contended the Negro school to which his son was assigned was substandard. He contended also that

"The City of Monroe Utilities secured he services of French L. Smith, as general manager, effective Monday, October 6, 1958. Travis Oliver, newly elected chairman of the Commission, in announcing this, appointment, stated that every member of the Commission was intensely gratified that Mr. Smith could be prevailed upon to accept this position. Mr. Oliver recalled that much of the success of the Commission's first two years of operation was directly attributable to the untiring efforts of Mr. Smith in the performance of a public service as an uncompensated member of the Commission.

"Mr. Smith was appointed as one of the original members of the Commission for a term of two years, which expired Saturday October 4th. Throughout that period Mr. Smith devoted his full time and energy to the work of the Commission, serving for more than a year as its chairman.

"T. H. Underwood, former general manager, for approximately two years, resigned from that post October first for personal reasons requiring his return to the West Coast area. Mr. Oliver commended the excellent work performed by Mr. Underwood; stating that the Commission, and the people of Monroe, confronted with Mr. Underwood's departure, and the loss of French Smith as a member of the Commission, were indeed fortunate that they could secure the continued service of Mr. Smith in a new capacity.

"The Commission also announced the election of Robert Cowden, as vice chairman, and David Kaplan, as secretary, effective October sixth."

FRENCH L. SMITH

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard also lauded Smith, saying, "Very few citizens have ever performed a greater civic job than Mr. Smith did over the two years — and without pay. His past efforts prove that he has Monroe at heart. Based on the past, I know the commission will be in good hands.'

When asked for comment, Smith said. "I took this job at the insistence of the commission. And I want it clearly understood that my policy will remain the same — right down the middle."

Two Small Boys Are Suffocated

Negro Lost In Catahoula Swamp Found

JONESVILLE (Special) — An Alexandria Negro, lost in the Catahoula swamps since early Thursday, was found yesterday afternoon and appeared to be in good condition.

Spencer Fells, 43, went squirrel hunting in the Little River section near Archie about 5:30 a.m. Thursday. He was accompanied by three other Negroes, Johnny Harris and Samuel and Andrew Williams, all of Alexandria, who said they became separated from Fells about 8:30 that morning. They began searching the area but were unable to locate Fells, they reported.

Later in the day, Catahoula Parish authorities were called in and officials at Alexandria were also alerted.

An all-night search Thursday which continued into Friday failed to locate the man and yesterday morning a helicopter from England Air Force Base was called to aid in the hunt.

The helicopter party saw the Negro early yesterday afternoon when he waved a white handkerchief at them. Officials said they motioned the man to start walking in one direction but that he took another and they lost sight of him.

However, the helicopter operators notified the ground crew of the general area in which they had spotted Fells, and they concentrated on the section and discovered him at 3:45 p.m.

He told his rescuers he "just got lost." Authorities said he was hungry and covered with mosquito bites but was in good condition otherwise.

He was found about two miles from where he had entered the swamp.

Members of each of the organizations pointed to the time and administrative expenditures saved by incorporating their efforts into a single, united, fund-raising drive.

This will mark the third effort of United Givers in the Ouachita Parish agency. Division leaders and workers called upon businesses and individuals in the area to consider now the amounts they would pledge so they could have a positive answer ready when contacted.

Officials and board members who have served with United Givers in the past pointed to the splendid spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm among the workers at kickoff time for 1958.

had warned of division at home and abroad if the administration persisted in a course of firm support for the Chinese Nationalist defense of the Quemoy and Matsu coastal islands.

In a speech Tuesday at Providence, R.I., Green contended the Eisenhower policy was not supported by a 1955 congressional resolution authorizing use of U.S. armed forces to help defend Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

The tone of Eisenhower's reply was brusque and at times almost Angry.

Publication of the letter left no doubt that he aimed it for a wide audience of both critics and supporters and that he wanted the Communists to know of his expressed conviction that if war comes, the present debate over Formosa policy will disappear in national unity.

to skimp the budget here on the main campus," Middleton said. "We cannot continue to accept all so-called qualified students without more funds.

"We can't continue to expand in New Orleans unless we close up some things here."

Member Percy Roberts of Baton Rouge suggested New Orleans lawmakers should request a grant from the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

Middleton replied a maximum $100,000 grant from the board would fall far short of the funds needed.

He added the extra money for the New Orleans branch was needed before the Legislature meets again next May, so renovation of buildings can begin for the larger enrollment next fall.

In other action, the board:

1. Accepted gifts and grants totaling $724,574, the largest $47,574 from the National Institute of Health to Dean W. W. Frye of the LSU school of medicine to establish a training program in tropical medicine.

2. Allocated an additional $70,000 for remodeling the old library building for other use. Total cost of the remodeling will be $120,000. The new 3.5 million dollar library was opened for use this fall.

3. Approved building sites for seven new buildings, the feed and fertilizer laboratory, home economics buildings, physics extension, electrical engineering building, poultry instruction and research building, industrial education and administration building.

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) —Airline pilot Charles Banfe Jr., thwarted in his attempt to fly a small Texas-built plane around the world in eight days, will try instead for a non-stop distance record next week with a Tokyo to San Francisco-or-beyond hop across the Pacific.

Hal Rachal, president of Mooney Aircraft, Inc., of Kerrville which sponsored the around the world venture, said Banfe will take off from Tokyo, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, and try to fly his Mooney Mark 20-A monoplane at least as far as San Francisco and possibly as far as Miami, Fla.

The children, a daughter and two sons were Vera, now wife of Richard "Dick" Troy, Monroe businessman; Eric, later a commander in the U. S. Navy serving in Spain, and the Rev. Clifford Nobes, now rector of St. Paul's Church in Kansas City, Mo.

This unusual man, Nobes, was through the years 1907-1943, manager of some of the fairly large hotels in New York City. When he retired, he came to Monroe to be near his daughter, Mrs. Troy.

He declares that he derived great pleasure in mingling with leaders in business operations, when engaged in the hostelry line, but his only club membership was that in the Sons of St. George, which is open to membership to men of English parentage and of English birth.

Many Friends

In Monroe, Nobes has made an army of friends. He is an active member and enjoys ushering in Grace Episcopal Church. For diversion, he is deeply interested in both baseball and football. Wrestling and boxing also are his delight.

He is one of the most active supporters of the Monroe Little Theatre and never misses seeing a show.

Early this year, Jes' Ramblin' on his way to the Monroe postoffice encountered Nobes, who was greeted with "Well, Mr. Nobes, guess I have you beaten this time. I got in the mail today a letter from a former Monroyan now in the U. S. Navy who sent me a few lines from the South Pole and accompanied it by a jar of some of the soil down there."

"Huh, that's nothing to talk about, I sent a New Year greeting to Queen Elizabeth of England and today I got her reply," Mr. Nobes countered.

He showed us the letter and that suppressed us for some time.

Monroe, we are sure, is proud of such a stalwart resident who is unwearied by the passage of years. He seems to have found the best remedy with which to combat the ravages of Old Man Time.

The livestock shows have more local interest than any other year, especially the hog exhibits he said, and several herds of beef cattle will arrive Sunday and Monday for the occasion.

J. J. Joyce, Jr. county agent, said that any persons wishing to enter exhibits, are welcomed to do so and also persons from other parishes are welcomed to enter exhibits or livestock, especially those from parishes that do not have fairs of their own.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, said that 26 booths will be featured in the Exhibit Building which will include 14 agriculture booths and 12 homemaking booths.

The booths will contain the latest information concerning the stressing problems that plague the farmers and homemakers, she said. Each booth has lesson for someone to learn, she explained.

Mrs. Dawson and Joyce are assisting the agricultural and home demonstration clubs in getting the necessary information for their booths.

They said that Monday, at 7:00 p.m. will be the deadline for bringing in singular or personal exhibits.

The personal exhibits will include anything imaginable that is made or grown in the home or farm, the helpers said. They mentioned that the educational booths are the best that the fair has ever had.

POLICE BLOTTER

TWO ARRESTED

Two Monroe Negroes were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving yesterday. One was involved in a wreck, police said.

Dora McDonald, 30 of 618 Marx St. was taken into custody in the 600 block of S. Second Street, charged, and placed in jail with bond set at $437.50.

Otis Kelly, 40, of Rt. 1, Box 279B, was arrested at the intersection of Jackson and Bry Streets at 12:20 p.m., after he collided with the back of a car driven by Mrs. Bonnie L. Lane, 713 Standifer St.

Both vehicles were going north of Jackson, police said. The right rear and rear of her car, and the front of his were damaged.

Kelly was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and driving with improper brakes. Bond was set at $437.50.

FOUR CHARGES

A 75-year-old man was placed in the city jail yesterday, with bond set at $777.50, after he was arrested by Monroe police on four charges.

John H. Holman, 203 Sixth St., was taken in custody at home, charged with carrying two concealed weapons, a knife and a gun, discharging firearms in the city limits, and drunk and disorderly conduct.

JAILED

A 19-year-old youth was in the Monroe city jail last night with bond set at $460, after a policeman said he spotted him taking money from a cash register at the Majestic Hotel.

Police said yesterday that David E. Dougal, who had resided at the hotel, was charged with theft and vagrancy, at 1:10 yesterday morning.

The manager of the hotel alerted police to watch the register. When he had to leave the lobby, he locked the register, leaving Dougal in the room, police stated.

He is scheduled to appear for trial in city court Wednesday.

Dougal was treated at Conway Memorial Hospital at 10 last night, after he slashed himself on the arm with a spoon, Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John Burton stated.

He was returned to the Monroe police station and released to relatives.

11, June 7, Jimmy 6, and Ruth 5. in critical condition at Indiana Hospital was Linda, 9.

The other child, Elizabeth, 12, said her father was having trouble getting the fire started and sent her to the cellar to get more kindling and he got a can of kerosene.

While Linda was in the cellar, the blast occurred. She said she ran back up stairs and saw her father in the kitchen, his clothing ablaze. Elizabeth said her father shouted to her to get out of the coal chute and said he was going upstairs to get the others.

Within minutes, Bill Pounds, Erie, Pa., who was visting at a house about 75 feet away arrived.

"I could hear a girl screaming," he said. "I ran into the flames and could see this little girl on the steps to the upstairs. I grabbed her and took her outside."

The rescued child suffered third degree burns of the entire body.

Firemen from Clymer and Dixonville were forced to pump water from a creek to fight the blaze because there are no water lines in the area.

Youth Unharmed After All Night Stay In Woods

HAMBURG, Ark. (Special) — Eleven - year - old Jimmy Carpenter, son of Clark Caprenter of the Fountain Hill community wandered unharmed into his grandfather's home east of Fountain Hill early yesterday morning after being lost all night in the woods.

The youth and his dog left on a squirrel hunt yesterday afternoon, and when they did not return by nightfall, Sheriff B. A. Courson was notified.

Courson, his deputies and a band of volunteers combed the section throughout the night but failed to find any trace of the boy or his dog.

The youngster said he spent the night on a tractor and soon after daylight managed to find his grandfather's house.

The Rev. J. W. Lipscomb will officiate, with interment in Greenwood Cemetery in Ruston by Darby's.

Mr. Kendall, about 65, died at his home yesterday following a lengthy illness. He worked for many years as a mechanic.

Surviving are three sons, W. E. Kendall, Baltimore, Md.; Howard and Bill Kendall, both of California; five sisters, Mrs. Gladys King, Monroe; Mrs. Ad Winfre, Mrs. Lil Gray and Miss Ben Kendall, all of Ruston; Mrs. Ruth Kavanaugh, Clay, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Four Arrested In Probe Of Forgery Ring

JONESVILLE (Special) —Four Jonesville Negroes are being held in the Catahoula Parish Jail at Harrisonburg for investigation in connection with a check forgery ring, according to the office of Catahoula Parish Sheriff George McGee.

Authorities said three checks were forged and cashed in Jena, in LaSalle Parish, and two others in Jonesville. The total amount was about $100, Deputy Sheriff Max Good of Catahoula Parish said.

Two of the men, identified as George Robertson and Elijah Johnson, admitted being implicated in the forgeries, Good said. Robertson was arrested at Rinehart late Friday by McGee and LaSalle Parish Sheriff D. Floyd.

Johnson was arrested Friday night at Jonesville by deputies from both sheriff departments.

L. E. Brown was arrested late yesterday by Good and Catahoula Deputy J. W. Adams, and is being held for questioning. Augustine Robertson, wife of George Robertson, is also being held for questioning.

LaSalle and Catahoula authorities said they had been working on the case since the first incidents occurred about four weeks ago.

NIMES, France (UPI)—At least 35 persons wer drowned in flash floods which swept over a wide area of southern France, officials reported Friday. The floods were triggered by an unusually heavy rainfall Wednesday.

Weather Is Being Watched

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Reconnaissance planes kept close tabs Saturday on a patch of bad weather which has the potentialities of developing into a tropical storm.

The area of squalls stretched late today from central Cuba south southwest into the western Caribbean. It was moving westward about 12 miles an hour. It has given no indication of developing the circulation characteristic of a tropical storm but "has all the potentialities."

Grave Mistake Made

It is difficult to imagine a graver mistake than that made by President Eisenhower when he said that any decision issued by the U. S. Supreme court is the law of the land. In making that statement, he seemingly handed over to the supreme court not only his own executive powers but the legislative powers of congress.

Congress is the legislative, or lawmaking, branch of our government. Its duties are to enact the laws of this country. The supreme court's duties are to decide on the legality or constitutionality of such laws. Enforcement of the laws is left to the executive branch.

Even though congress is empowered to enact laws, the president still has veto powers and no legislation enacted by congress can become law if vetoed by the president unless the veto is overridden by a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress.

Yet, in a single swoop, by his own statement, the president has turned all law-making authority over to the supreme court, not only depriving congress of this function but depriving himself of the right of veto.

If anything the supreme court says is law becomes law, as the president has stated, then we have lost our tri-partite form of government and have only the supreme court left to tell us what to do.

If this is true, we have lost our democracy, for we do not even have the right to elect the supreme court and therefore, as people and as citizens, have no control over its membership, since the members are appointed for life by the president. Once he has made an appointment, not even the president has the power to remove a supreme court member from office.

Under the president's interpretation that anything the supreme court holds to be law is law, that court could overrule any action taken either by the congress or the president and could become self-perpetuating.

We do not believe that anything the supreme court says is law must be the law. We do not believe we have lost our right to a three-division form of government.

If the supreme court could make any decision it chooses and could enforce that decision as the law, our country would be ruled by a politburo, presidium or central committee, such as that which ruled Russia during the reign of Stalin and which, on an expanded basis, continues to rule that nation.

These are matters which the president should have taken into consideration before he issued the statement in which he said any decision made by the supreme court becomes the law of the land.

If it is true that the supreme court's powers are supreme, there will be no sort of protection for any kind of private institution. Acting upon the authority which the president seemed to hand over to it, the supreme court could rule that any private school or other institution must accept as students or members anyone who applied for admission.

Anyone who has watched the actions of the supreme court since its 1954 Black Monday decision ordering integration of the schools cannot doubt that that is exactly what the supreme court will do. It has never refused a request of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and, under the sway of its own ardor, has even gone beyond those requests. One member of the supreme court is said to be a former attorney for the NAACP. It is difficult to see how he could have been more zealous then for the cause of that organization than he is now, although he should excuse himself in any case in which he has a personal interest.

In New York, Chicago, Detroit and other cities in the north which have been deluged with Negroes "immigrating" from the south, many hundreds of families, including those of modest means, have placed their children in private schools at a cost of several hundred dollars a year to avoid integration.

If the supreme court possesses all power, even this will not avail.

Are we compelled to admit that the whole country is powerless before the supreme court?

Kennedy-Ives Bill

When the Kennedy-Ives bill emerged as the last "labor reform" measure on which the last session of congress had an opoprtunity to vote, the proposal was defeated. A factor in the defeat was the opposition of those most strongly in favor of labor reform. Proposals to clean out hoodlumism and gangsterism in labor had been so watered down and twisted around that the Kennedy-Ives bill became an attack upon employers instead of a curb on mobster labor tactics.

Now Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) co-author of the bill, has given assurance to the Massachusetts Association of Plumbers and Fitters that the Kennedy-Ives bill will be reintroduced in the next session of congress "and, as far as I am concerned, will receive top priority."

The plumbers and fitters loudly applauded this announcement. They applauded again when William Morse of Springfield, president of the union group, said the senator "will be back here again in 1960 and as the Democratic candidate for president."

Sen. Kennedy had high praise for George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and then ripped into witnesses who appeared before the McClellan committee in Washington. He said:

"A very, very minute group of those who appeared before that committee represented the rank and file of labor. They never worked, never ran a picket line, never held a job."

The Kennedy-Ives bill gave no protection to union members against the manipulations of the big labor bosses, who perpetuate themselves in office. It provided no assurance of secret, democratic elections in which union members would be protected from reprisals. It offered no way to keep gangsters, thugs and ex-convicts out of the unions. The only teeth it had were turned inward, instead of outward, and were designed to place industry still more at the mercy of such men as Dave Beck, James R. Hoffa and Walter Reuther. No wonder it was rejected by the non-radicals in congress.

Public Realizes Little Of Excise Tax Savings

It has been more than a month since Congress revised the excise tax laws theoretically to chop millions off the taxpayer's annual load, but if there has been any actual effect it has gone unnoticed.

A check on the prices of theater tickets, floor polishers, whiskey, certain type clocks, and soft drinks at "milk bars" — all affected by the legislation — failed to turn up any evidence that the American taxpayer is getting much of the estimated $40 million cut from the excise tax structure.

Congress undertook for the first time in 26 years to modernize the cumbersome and often - discriminatory provisions of the excise tax laws and in doing so kicked off a series of bitter struggles which at times threatened to push the Middle East crisis off the front pages.

The result was much - needed reforms which should help to stabilize and equalize excises taxes in many businesses, among them:

Exemption from the 10 per cent admissions tax of the first $1 of the price of a theater ticket regardless of the ticket's total cost. Under the old law, the first 90 cents was exempt if the ticket cost not more than 90 cents, but was taxed if the ticket cost more. Theoretically, tickets which used to cost $1 with the excise tax should only cost 90 cents without the tax, but there has been little evidence that the theater - owners intend to pass the saving on to the taxpayer.

Exemption from the manufacturer's excise tax for electric floor polishers and waxers. Under the old law, they were taxed but vacuum cleaner attachments which competed with them were not. There has been no trend toward a lower total price to date.

Exemption from the retailer's excise tax of clocks which are part of a regulatory device, such as a thermostat. Under the old law a clock was taxed but the rest of the device was not, sending some retailers into a mathematical nightmare of trying to figure out how much of the total price of the device war represented by the clock.

Exemption from the cabaret tax for so - called "milk bars" where teen - agers gathered to dance to a juke - box and sip soft drinks. Under the old law these establishments were subject to the cabaret tax even though they did not serve alcoholic beverages and did not charge for dancing.

But the most bitterly - debated and perhaps most - needed reform involved the so - called bonding period for payment of the federal excise tax on whiskey.

After a titantic struggle between America's two whiskey - producing giants, Schenley and Seagrams, Congress rewrote the law to extend the bonding period from eight to 20 years.

The final result represented a clear - cut victory for Schenley and other domestic distillers over the foreign distillers, which it is estimated postponed for at least 12 years a tax debt of $350 million.

Under the old law, distillers had to pay the $10.50 per gallon excise tax on whiskey held in bond when it became eight years old, whether or not there was a market for it.

American distillers contended that when they owed more eight-year old whiskey than they could sell, they could not hold the whiskey until they were able to sell it without paying the excise tax and they couldn't pay the excise tax until they had a market for the whiskey.

Distillers with their major operations in Canada, however, contended that the legislation was designed to bail the domestic industry out for bad guesses made when the Korean War began eight years ago.

That Congress chose to go along with the American distillers' view is one indication that there had been a definite inequity in the law. For instance, the new law will end the taxing of whiskey which may not exist when the tax is paid. Under the old law, the spirits were taxed on the amount existing at the end of the eight-year period, much of which evaporated after that time before it was sold.

The whiskey excise tax extension, as well as the other reforms, are expected to have a stabilizing effect on the industries affected. But the industries themselves are certain to reap the lion's share of the benefits.

The American taxpayer, in whose name so much is done, will not even notice the difference.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Victory Of DeGaulle Big Defeat For Russia

The victory of General Charles de Gaulle is undoubtedly the greatest defeat that Russia has known since the Russian Revolution of 1917. In the first place, all the world was given to believe that the Algerians were absolutely opposed to France, hated France, wanted to be free from France. The Algerian vote to remain part of France was 3,356,169 for to 118,615 against. This included Algerian Moslems. The Russian opposition to De Gaulle took hold only in Guinea where the premier is a Marxist. Otherwise all French colonies voted in the referendum to remain part of France. De Gaulle's judgment was correct.

While there is an Algerian independence movement, it did not show in the votes.

For years and years, the excuse for all France's weaknesses was the terrific strength of the French Communist Party. In fact, it is the French Communist Party that exercised a control over the United States Communist Party, Jacques Duclos, the French leader, stating the ground rules for the American party.

The strength of the French Party did not show up in the referendum. In fact, districts that have for years been regarded as Communist controlled did not vote against De Gaulle. In a word, the nationalistic spirit engendered by De Gaulle's movement has already produced a resistance to Soviet subversion in France.

The new constitution can kill the influence of the French Communist Party altogether. In the first place, under it, France can switch from proportional representation to majority rule. If that happens, France will enjoy the two-party system similar to that which exists in the United States and Great Britain. It would mean that the splinter parties would disappear and that the Communists, to hold any position, would have to become the principal party in opposition. The referendum vote on the constitution would not indicate that the Communists hold any such position in France today.

Furthermore, subversion will not be tolerated under the new constitution. Such a picture as Thorez presented some years ago when he became ill, will not be permitted again. With all the medical facilities available in France or in any nearly country, he was flown to Moscow to be treated and for recuperation, apparently because the Communists feared that he might talk under an anaesthetic. Then after a prolonged period of hospitalization and cure in Russia, Thorez came back to France. And the question arose in many minds as to whether Thorez is a citizen of France or of Soviet Russia. And that question must arise concerning Communists in all countries who accept the discipline of Russia.

Of course, it is true that even under the two-party system, Communists do operate, principally by infiltrating the major parties and, in the guise of liberalism or even conservatism, doing the jobs the Kremlin needs to have done. But it is likely that De Gaulle, who has some considerable knowledge of Communist operations in France, particularly during the days of the Resistance, will know how to handle Communist sabotage of France. Also Andre Malraux, one of De Gaulle's ministers, was once in the Communist Party and has had experience with its machinations. He had been in China which in the 1925-27 period was the training ground for Communist leadership.

Therefore it is safe to assume that sooner of later, De Gaulle will find a method of eliminating Communist influence from French life. The great vote he received during the referendum justifies him in assuming that he has a mandate to do just that and being a man of action, he will.

How Moscow will react to this is still to be seen because the loss of prestige to Russia in De Gaulle's emergence to power by a popular referendum is enormous. For France has ever exercised an intellectual and spiritual leadership over Europe; it is, therefore, impossible for such a startling event as the emergence of De Gaulle and his acceptance by a referendum to have taken place without the whole of Europe being affected by it. This will have responses in every European country and will during the next year bring about unexpected changes in many European attitudes.

Politicians, in all countries, since 1945, have been rather fearful men. They have never understood the Communist phenomenon and have therefore been driven to absurd compromises by it. De Gaulle leads a new way—a hopeful way.

Better Fuel For Athletes Needed

There are no high octane or rocket fuels to give an athlete the extra energy needed to win. He must rely upon food—the fuel that was designed specifically for the human body.

Oxygen is the limiting factor in all muscular effort, because it is needed to help the fuel burn. The energy that the body is capable of producing depends upon the quantity of this gas that can be delivered to the interior of a muscle fiber at any one time. There is a limit to the amount the lungs can absorb, even when panting, huffing, or puffing. Oxygen reaches the tissues via the blood and the circulatory system can be made more efficient thru training.

Training helps also by improving muscle coordination and skill. In this way, the muscles require less energy to perform a given task. The trained athlete may be able to coast along while his less conditioned competitor is using up his reserve sources of energy.

The average athlete thrives on a well balanced diet consisting of a variety of foods. But the champion considers details. Some foods develop more energy than others in the presence of the same amount of oxygen. Others produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important because even a slight improvement may make the difference between losing and winning.

Carbohydrates and fats are the most important fuels for muscular activity. Both have their merits but the best diet for the athlete contains ample servings of both.

There is evidence to show that certain products of fat metabolism are utilized most rapidly by the heart and other muscles. But this does not detract from the value of carbohydrates; those consumed in the ordinary diet are converted ultimately into fats and stored or burned as needed.

In addition, carbohydrates can be metabolized partly to produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important to know for those doing heavy muscular work; when the supply of oxygen is about to be exhausted, the body falls back on the carbohydrates for energy.

Furthermore, the brain depends upon sugars and starches for its energy. When the blood sugar is used up thru physical exertion, the efficiency of the athlete will suffer because the brain and nervous system are not functioning properly.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Liquor, Tobacco Advice Attacked

Bert criticizes me. But I am a moralizing educator who places the ultimate good of children above my own gluttony. To get the point, read this case more fully and then ask yourself: Who else in America keeps warning youth against liquor and tobacco?" Over 70,000,000 non - church folks read no church papers, so this newspaper serves as their moral "Bible".

"Dr. Crane, why don't you omit cases about liquor and tobacco," he admonished, as he was driving me to the Country Club for dinner.

"After all, you have plenty of other psychological problems to discuss without stepping on the corns of people who take a highball.

"Just today, for instance, one of your medical admirers told me he wished you'd quit mentioning alcohol, for he liked to drink a little.

"So I'd advise you to lay off of such controversial problems."

When I moved from the college lecture room to the broader educational field of the newspaper, I still remained an educator.

I am not writing this column primarily for fat oldsters, but for starry-eyed teen-agers and even grade schoolers who have the world ahead of them.

As the father of five youngsters, and an active worker in the Boy Scouts, the YMCA and the church, I feel an obligation to youth.

So if I cause the consciences of some of you oldsters to twinge, then act like an adult and take your medicine.

Every intelligent adult knows that a lot of high pressure advertising is trying to stampede our youth into slavery to various bad habits.

Alas, we have a great many hypocrites in America, and a lot of them are educated men.

Because they happen to fall into a bad habit, they don't want anybody to mention liquor or tobacco lest their own consciences twinge.

In my own case, I admit that I am overweight. But I don't criticize any columnist who vetoes obesity.

Not at all! I am glad to see him try to prevent young folks from following my own bad example, for I know our job is to place the torch of truth in front of teen-agers.

But a publisher in Texas cancelled this column of mine because he liked to go on a binge on a Saturday night, so he felt angry at my warning teen-agers against whiskey!

That is hypocrisy. And you encounter it almost every time a smoking doctor tries to tell you that tobacco doesn't cause lung cancer or heart trouble.

If that doctor were honest, why would he take his cardiac patients off tobacco, as almost every medic in America has done for 50 years?

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Letter Written To Dead Father

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Honored Sir: This is the last letter I shall ever write you. Hundreds of letters, I suppose, have passed between us in the years that our lives overlapped.

You wrote every week to my brother and me when we were in Europe in World War II. You also wrote to Jonas Jones, our colored groom in the days long past, and later your gardener who not only grew and tended the most delicate tulips and orchids, but filled your big house with floral arrangements of breath - taking beauty.

I remember the unfinished letter you wrote me when you learned (before I could know) that my brother was killed in action deep in the German Black Forest in the final days of battle. Your dictation stopped in the midst of the passage which was more than you could speak. The lady to whom you were dictating, for nearly 30 years your secretary, stood weeping last week beside your grave in the glorious sunshine of a Maryland autumn. Jonas Jones, of course, was there, standing not far from former U. S. Senator Millard Tydings and from Arthur Holley, the colored chauffeur who came to work for us in 1918 while still in his World War I uniform, and never left.

You were all the things that I most admire. You were that finest thing, the southern gentleman. Without vanity, you were proud of two memberships which speak of ancestry. You belonged to the Society of the Cincinnati, a father-to-son heritage which began with officers of the American Revolution. The other membership was in the Society of the Lees of Virginia. Your grandmother was Hanna Lee Washington, who was born at Mount Vernon.

You knew, and you taught me, that it takes more than blood to make a gentleman. It takes courage, meaning grace under pressure. It also takes a sense of command which must be married to an awareness of obligation toward others. This combination allowed you to start from a Shenandoah Valley family, impoverished and reduced by the War of 1861-65, and to found a company of great success and prosperity. Its benefits were shared by the many whom you helped through college or out of financial troubles. The ownership was passed along after your death to your associates, not to your family.

You yourself were an invalid who went to sea as a Merchant Marine cadet, instead of to college. You were very homesick at the end of your first round-trip to Britain, and wanted to quit. But your mother wrote you: "There will always be a place for you at home; but my son, if you want a welcome, you must finish out your enlistment." So you stuck it out. It was the beginning of courage.

Later, you rode on your business through the dangerous Hatfield - McCoy section of West Virginia. There you learned to cuss so much that you had to teach yourself the elegant circumlocutions which always flavored the conversation that I heard around home:

"Great Jumpin' Jehoshaphat! Gosh, all Hemlock."

You also taught yourself about English letters by reading all of Blackstone's Commentaries and all the novels of Dickens. The love of reading never left you, and your most reread author was Joseph Conrad. Your love of truth and beauty made you scornful of their opposites, both in literature and in political thought, I remember when F. D. Roosevelt was going to give the human race "freedom from fear." You collected into one expression all the displeasure of a realist and all the contempt of an aristocrat for a faker who was taking advantage of his intellectual inferiors. You said: "Oh, piffle!"

You lost a son who was barely past 30. You lost a daughter who was a radiant 18. For years you kept the lonely vigil at the bedside of a stricken wife. You witnessed and you experienced so much hell - on - earth that you did not believe in further suffering in the after life. But you believed in God, and love and compassion, and I think you never went to bed without kneeling to pray.

Quoted below from memory is a stanza which I learned so long ago in college that I forget its author. But you, my father, lived these lines as no other man I ever met:

"Life is mainly foam and bubble;
Two things stand like stone—
Kindness in another's trouble —
Courage in your own."

Installment Plan Education Is Being Offered

PASADENA, Calif. (AP)—A top science school is offering education on the installment plan.

The California Institute of Technology said Friday that starting next year tuition will increase to $1,275 from $900.

To ease the financial strain on students and families, the school will arrange loans up to $1,275 a year for four years, repayable at $50 a month at 5 per cent interest.

Loans of $900 a year will be made for four years, with the student paying interest only while in school. After graduation he'll repay at a minimum of $50 monthly, plus interest.

Petition God

IN POLITICS and civic fields . . . We have petitions drawn . . . To fight for changes or to have . . . The old guard carry on . . . In clubs, religious groups, and schools . . . And almost everywhere . . . We gather signatures to plead . . . Demand or just declare . . . There are those good petitions that . . . Deserve our close attention . . . And those misleading ones, or those . . . Absurd to even mention . . . But when we have a worthy cause . . . However new or odd . . . Why ask for human help alone? . . . Why not petition God? . . . Why not ask everyone who signs . . . To say a prayer or two . . . That by the will and grace of God . . . Our project will go through?

He then introduced the members of the New Orleans District who were Vernon Kennedy, chief of collections division; Ralph Hebert, chief of audit division; Ed Roussel, chief of intelligence division, and John Tolar, senior revenue agent of Monroe.

Each member gave a brief discussion of recent changes of policy or procedure affecting the handling of income tax returns and audits by local Certified Public Accountants.

UNITED GIVERS AGENCY

No Section Safe From Mental Ills

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles about various United Givers fund agencies.)

No community today is safe from mental illness.

It is a number one health problem in our cities, our suburbs, our towns. No matter where you live, mental illness has struck and may strike again.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is the only citizens organization devoted exclusively to the fight against our nation's No. one health problem — mental illness. This association is another pillar of our community welfare supported by the United Givers Fund.

Mental illness afflicts one person in every 10 and costs U. S. tax payers $3,000,000 every day of the year. Today, however, 70 per cent of all mental patients could be helped if we had the staff and equipment needed.

We are, nonetheless, hearing good news about the progress that is being made in the fight against mental illness - about the thousands of patients who are recovering from mental disorders.

As we rejoice, let's not forget that with recovery only half of the problem is solved. Recovered mental patients need a warm welcome, a job, a place to live. Unfortunately, too many recovered mental patients are met with suspicion and rejection, only to break down again.

EDUCATIONAL

The function of the Mental Health Association is educational. This organization is helping the mentally ill to come back by changing the public's attitude toward mental illness and the mentally ill. It dissipates the legacy of superstition and social stigma, by creating understanding, confidence and hope.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is affiliated with the state organization. It continues sustained programs to provide the patient and his family with information on where and how to get help. Information is given to patients' families in order to help them understand and help rehabilitate the individual when he returns to the community.

This local organization holds public meetings monthly dealing with such topics as alcoholism, juvenile delinquency and emotional aspects of mental health. Many experts in various fields are brought to Monroe to discuss these problems with the citizens of this city.

The October meeting will concern itself with the Mental Health Association in an attempt to make known to the public just what the organization does and can do. Other meetings will be concerned with available facilities such as the guidance center, guidance and counseling services, vocational rehabilitation, etc.

MANY PROJECTS

Many important projects are presently being carried on by the committees of the association. Magazines are collected at all fire stations in this area for distribution to patients at Central Louisiana Hospital in Pineville.

Another committee plans to show a movie each month, highlighting such things as problems faced by a person when he returns to his job after being in a mental hospital. Another film deals with disabilities that develop in old age and how they may be minimized to enable one to lead a satisfying, active life of personal self - sufficiency.

Other films deal with children and emotional problems and how the community can join forces to help them.

An educational program is being developed for the YMCA on juvenile delinquency and will be directed not only to boys, but to their parents as well. Authorities who work with delinquents will lead discussions which will aid the group in understanding the problems in this area. Films will also be used to highlight various problems.

Still another committee plans to work witht high school senior girls around the theme of "Milestones to Marriage." It hopes to help the young girls find the answer to such questions as How should two young people feel about each other and how well should they know each other in order to marry? What are the realistic and important problems of young married couples? What age is "too young" to marry?

SPECIAL WEEK

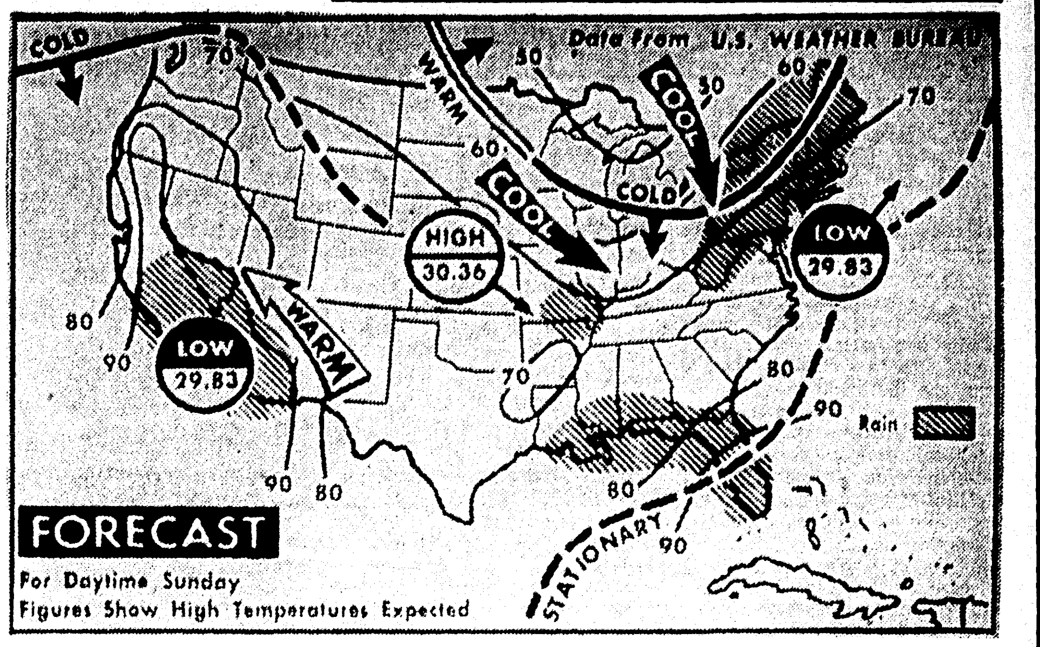
This year, the Northeast Branch of the Mental Health Association joined with more than 5,000 organizations all over the country in observing Mental Health Week.

Proclamations were signed by mayors of the Twin Cities signaling the beginning of a week of publicity, open panel discussions locally and in neighboring communities, and the showing of mental health films.

The Northeast Branch of the Mental Health Association is supported by you through the United Givers Fund. The turning point in the fight against mental illness has been passed and now we are moving along the high road to ultimate victory. Though the gains are real, they are small. The volunteer worker is the life blood of our organization.

If you would like information concerning mental illness or the Mental Health Association, or if you would like to join the organization, write to David M. McArthur, president, Box 253, Monroe, La.

Aid in this fight against mental illness by joining the work of your local Mental Health Association and by supporting it through the United Givers fund campaign.



WEATHER FORECAST — Rain areas expected today should include central Appalachians, Northeast, Southwest, along Gulf coast and in parts of Missouri. It will be cooler over Appalachians with some sharp drops in Lakes region; warmer in Montana, Texas and middle Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Airline Strike By 1,720 Pilots Is Threatened

CHICAGO (UPI)—The 1,720 pilots who man the planes of Eastern Air Lines were prepared to strike at 11:59 p.m., local times, Saturday night to back demands for the manning of jet aircraft.

A spokesman for the Air Lines Pilots Assn., which represents the pilots, said there was no last-ditch meeting between the ALPA and EAL to avert the strike.

The ALPA spokesman also said there was no indication that the National Mediation Board might step into the dispute and postpone a walkout.

Officials of the air line here had no comment on the situation. Eastern, with headquarters in New York City, serves 99 cities in 25 states and the District of Columbia, and in Canada, Argentina and Bermuda.

At issue is the union's demand that the third crew member on jet aircraft be pilot - qualified. ALPA President C. N. Sayen said a presidential fact - finding board found that "jet safety and efficiency required that all three crew members on the jets have pilot qualifications."

The first recognized teachers' training school in the United States was conducted near Concord, Vt., by the Rev. Samuel Read Hall in 1823.

Rites Scheduled This Afternoon For R.J. Hall

Final rites for R. J. Hall, 52-year-old Monroe resident, will be conducted today at 3:30 p.m. in the Mulhearn Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn.

Mr. Hall died Friday night in a local hospital after suffering a heart attack early that morning.

He was a member of the Graham Surghnor Masonic Lodge and the First Methodist Church here and had operated a service station in Monroe since 1937.

Mr. Hall is survived by his widow, Mrs. Audrey Hall; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Greenwood and Miss Emma Jean Hall, both of Monroe; a son, James Hall, West Monroe; his mother, Mrs. Henry Hall, Temple; two brothers, Arthur and Ernest Hall, both of West Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Roark, West Monroe, and Mrs. Merritt Baldwin, Temple, and five grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be J. B. Reeves, A. J. Durham, J. N. Coon, Don Gannaway, W. H. Greenwood and J. P. Lewis.

MAIL BOX THEFTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mail box thefts continue to top the list of criminal offenses against the Postal Service.

Chief Postal Inspector David H. Stephens reported Saturday that the inspection service made 7,495 arrests for mail crime in the fiscal year ending last June 30, and obtained convictions in 98.7 per cent of the cases brought to trial.

Twenty per cent of all the fires in the U.S. in 1957 were caused by electricity and electrical equipment.

Basque Shepherd Is Disappearing

By DALE NELSON

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Eddie Orbea says:

"All the old-timers' tricks—the kids don't go for them any more.'

Eddie is a Basque, one of 40,000 in this country whose old world ways are disappearing.

Sometimes he thinks wistfully of the time when the typical Basque was a solitary sheepherder in the Western United States, wearing a colorful beret and speaking a language like no other on earth.

Today Basques are bankers, businessmen, tradesmen. Eddie is bell captain at the Owyhee Hotel.

But in the face of changing times, some customs still live. They still hold the sheepherders ball here, for example, every Christmas season.

This used to be the one time in the year when the sheepherders came down from the hills and danced the centuries-old dances of the Basque homeland in the Pyrenees Mountains of Spain.

The ball is still well attended, but. . . .

"Johnny Asumendi, who's the vice president of the bank, throws on his sheepherder's duds and comes down," says an old-timer, "but it's not the same thing."

With the Basques, many things are no longer the same.

The court where they played the ancient games of pelota is now a parking lot.

The Goicoechcas and the Yturris live next door to the Smiths and the Jones.

These are the signs which speak plainly: the culture of the Basques is fading from the West.

Some 800,000 of them live in the Basque provinces which slope from the Bay of Biscay in northern Spain up over the Pyrenees into France.

At the middle of the last century, many left their homeland. The first of these olive-skinned people reached Idaho in the 1880s. Others settled in California, Nevada, eastern Oregon, Utah and Colorado.

They answered a need for reliable sheepherders, earning $15 or $20 a month.

Later, many were taken into partnerships or acquired ranches of their own. Only a few years ago, Basque names were the biggest in the sheep industry.

Now, fewer and fewer of them herd sheep.

WEEK IN REVIEW

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Election-year politics boiled up all over the landscape this week with President Eisenhower blasting his own party for "apathy" and Democrats marching to what they regarded as certain victory.

The main prize is control of the next Congress. Politicians are giving the Democrats a big edge.

On other news fronts the school integration and Formosan crisis smouldered angrily, labor peace came to the strike-menaced auto industry, the atom-powered submarine Seawolf set a new world's record of 60 days for submerged operation, and Pvt. Elvis Presley arrived in West Germany to the happy acclaim of young German females.

The most significant political development was Ike's decision to make a coast-to-coast campaign swing on behalf of hard-pressed Republican congressional candidates. He used his weekly press conference as a forum to warn his party it would take a drubbing unless it shakes off its apathy and gets to work. In addition to allowing himself to be booked for nine or more speaking engagements, he called party sachems to meet with him here Monday on ways to overcome GOP gloom and put some pep into the campaign.

NO HOLDS BARRED

Meantime the "clean politics" pact piously agreed to recently by Republican and Democratic chieftains dissolved swiftly in a welter of mutual recrimination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon set the tone at an Indianapolis GOP rally where he said "we will lose if we allow ourselves to be a punching bag for the cheap below-the-belt cracks of Harry Truman and his ilk."

Truman countered at Cheyenne, Wyo., that the Republicans had "adapted Madison Avenue advertising techniques to politics . . . in a great brain - washing of the American people."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) chimed in at Madison, Wis. that Eisenhower is a "cautious, tired old man" and Nixon "a deodorized ward worker" who aspires to be President.

And so it went.

The Formosa crisis remained on dead center. Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles restated basic U.S. policy: No appeasement of Chinese Red aggression against Quemoy but willingness to negotiate after a cease-fire.

Chinese Nationalist Generalissimo Chiang Kaishek kas reassured that this did not mean a "softer" U.S. policy. He was alarmed, however, by an Eisenhower suggestion that his 85,000-man garrison on Quemoy was in a vulnerable position and also should be reduced as a prelude to peace talks with the Reds.

The United States, as further warning to the Reds, bolstered Chiang's Quemoy forces with eight-inch howitzers, used immediately against mainland - based Red artillery, and sent high altitude B57 jet bombers to Formosa to increase U.S. striking power in the Formosa Strait.

The United States confirmed also that Nationalist fighter planes had been equipped with deadly Sidewinder air-to-air missiles, with telling effect against Russian-made MIG's.

Tow Operation Proves Risky

J. L. Ford, 19 of 809 Thomas St. found out yesterday that even a car being towed can be dangerous.

The mishap occurred in the 1500 block of S. Second Street. Ford, driving a car owned by H. F. Wadley, 1709 Forsythe Ave., was towing another car owned by Wadley.

A third car suddenly pulled out in front of Ford. He slammed on his brakes, avoided hitting the vehicle, then was shocked when he was hit from the back.

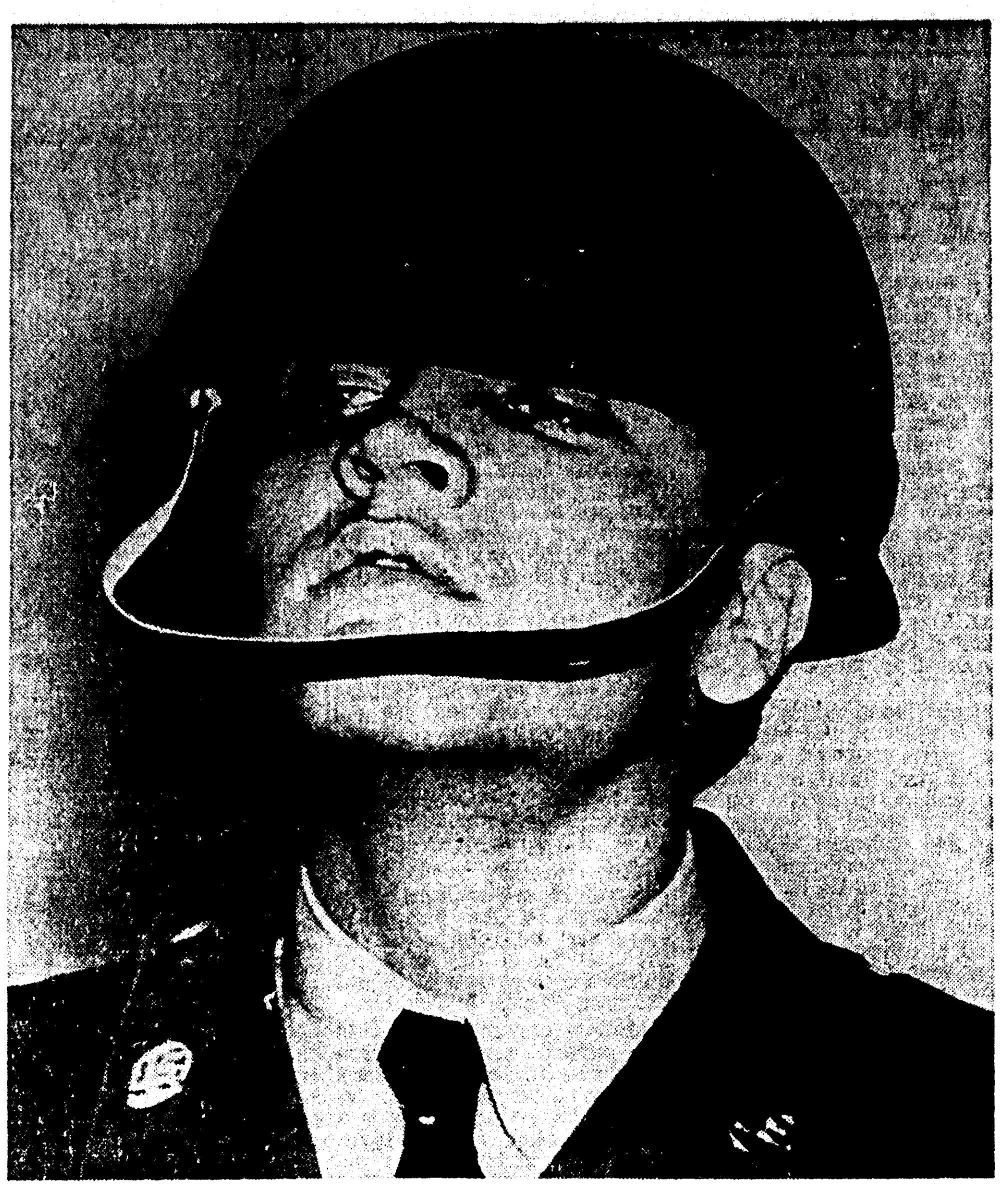
Man Struck By Auto In Monroe

Herbert J. Goins, 29, Negro of 8 Blanks Alley was treated for bruises at Conway Memorial Hospital last night, after he walked into the path of a car in the 2900 block of Jackson Street.

Monroe police who investigated said that Johnny Gospel, 40, Negro of 608 North 10 St. told him he was driving north on Jackson when the lights of an oncoming car blinded him, and he did not see Goins walk in front of him.



GUESS WHOM!!—You're right, that's our Elvis, now Pvt. Elvis Presley of the U.S. Army. The rock 'n' roll star found everything getting darker as he tried a helmet on for size after arrival at the Friedberg, Germany, base where he'll serve as a tank crewman with the Seventh Army. The supply sergeant came to the rescue with a better-fitting hardtop chapeau. (AP Wirephoto)

'True Facts' Of Coroner's Deed Related

Two members of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department revealed the "true facts" on a deed done by the parish coroner Friday night.

they decided that the whole story should be known.

Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton, sent out by the Welfare Department to check on a request for aid, found a husband, wife and four young children without a scrap of food in the house.

Relatives had helped the family during the past two years — a long struggle while the husband has been totally unable to work.

Now, it was decided that official assistance must be requested.

Dr. Burton saw the need was real — and that it was a time for immediate help.

After he left the home, he contacted Deputies Wright and Moncrief, gave them money, and asked them to purchase a list of groceries and take it to the family. Staples, such as flour, lard, rice, peas were what the mother had voiced a need for, if Welfare aid was given her — "but Dr. Burton paid for it himself" the deputies emphasized.

They called West Monroe groceryman I. W. Rogers. "He easily packed up double the amount that the money would buy" the deputies added.

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck Near Jonesboro

HODGE (Special) —Clayton Jordan, about 40 of Hodge was in a Hodge clinic last night suffering from cuts, bruises and a possible broken rib after his car hit a bridge on Highway 167 between Jonesboro and Hodge.

He told authorities he was blinded by lights from an oncoming car and ran into the bridge.

A few minutes later, before his car had been moved, another vehicle hit the rear of the Jordan car, officials said. They identified the driver as Grady L Korn, about 19, of Clay.

Korn was not hurt but both cars were badly damaged. Korn will be charged with reckless driving, according to Jackson Parish Deputy Sheriff McBride. State Trooper Jack Thomas also investigated both accidents.

Hodge Resident Stabbing Victim

NATCHITOCHES (Special) —A Hodge resident, Ray Thomas, was in a clinic there last night after suffering stab wounds in a fight at Black Lake Camp near Creston about 9:20 p.m., authorities said.

Officials in the Natchitoches Parish Sheriff's Department said Thomas told them he was stabbed by a Castor man.

Deputies said no charges had been filed late last night, and added that Thomas was not believed to be in serious condition.

SHOULD BE EXPERT

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Carlo Botta applied recently for participation on Italy's TV "Double or Quits" quiz program as an expert on the Italian penal code, it was made known Friday. Botta, 39, currently is in a Genoa prison awaiting trial on swindling charges.

Space Ship To Be Ready By Oct. 15

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The rocket powered X15 in which man will attempt his first flight to the edges of space will be rolled from the assembly line Oct. 15, the Air Force announced Saturday.

The revolutionary research aircraft has been completed after several years of construction work by North American Aviation, Los Angeles. It is designed to reach altitudes greater than 100 miles and to exceed a speed of 3,600 miles an hour. It is supposed to travel about 1,400 miles an hour faster than man has ever travelled.

The X15 was built for research in stability and control at speeds of more than six times that of sound and to explore the problems of heat generated on the surface of an airplane by friction.

The craft has a long, slender body with a slight bulge at the nose where the cockpit is situated. Far aft on the fuselage are tiny diamond-shaped wings, swept back at the leading edge and swept forward at the trailing edge with squared-off tips. There is a swept back horizontal tail with vertical stablizers both on top and beneath the fuselage.

First pilot of the X15, who will put it through its paces before deliver to the Air Force, will be Scott Crossfield, North American test pilot, who was the first man ever to fly at twice the speed of sound, or 1,320 miles an hour. He did that feat as a test pilot for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, flying the Douglas Skyrocket.

Veterans Asked To See Officer

Ouachita Parish veterans between the ages of 50 and 65 are asked by Service Officer H. B. McClendon to see him at his office, Room 204 in the Parish Courthouse, if they are receiving or are entitled to receive social security disability insurance benefits.

He explains that recent law changes may now benefit some of these men and enable them to draw more money.

IN MEXICO

Several Arrested In Killer Search

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Authorities Saturday reported the arrest of several persons in an intensified manhunt for the smooth-talking slayer who beat and poisoned a socially prominent Florida interior decorator and robbed her of cash and jewelry.

Officials said the entire federal district police force has been ordered to concentrate on finding the man, believed to be an American or a Canadian, who forced Mrs. Harriet Ann Hicks, 52, to drink a lethal dose of poison and left her on a wooded path on the highway leading to Puebla. Two peasants found her Sept. 22 and she was rushed to the American-British Hospital where she died Friday.

One of her three sons, Phillips E. Hicks, 29, a broker in Coral Gables, Fla., said his mother told him what happened when she gained consciousness in the hospital before her death.

She described her attacker as being about 45 years old with light hair and blue eyes.

He accosted her Sept. 21 in downtown Mexico City and invited her to see "Indian dances" in a nearby village. After some hesitation she accompanied him on a bus and they got off at Puebla Road four miles outside the capital.

Hicks said his mother told him the man grabbed her by the throat, beat her and forced her to drink a liquid. Authorities said the poison apparently was wood alcohol.

The slayer robbed the woman of cash, jewelry and traveler's checks amounting to $1,000 and fled.

Hicks and two other sons, John and Robert Francis, are grandsons of the late Col. John Hicks, one-time governor of Wisconsin and former U. S. ambassador to Chile, Peru and Argentina. The Hicks family once was principal owner of the Os[illegible]h Northwestern Corp., publishers of the Oshkosh, Wis., Northwestern a daily newspaper.

Dokey Meeting Set Tomorrow

Handicapped Hiring Week Observance

"Hire the Handicapped Week" begins today, according to Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn. He told a true story yesterday, about a "handicapped" man.

"Robert H. Barton lost his right arm in 1918. He had been right-handed until machinery in a sugar beet refinery turned him into a left-hander.

"Now, he is postmaster of Layton, Utah, presents one-man showings of his oil and pastel paintings and is a near - champion horse-shoe pitcher.

"He is only one example of the determination which the handicapped use to prove they do work well, if they receive the right job," Hathorn stated.

Starting today, and continuing through Saturday, "Hire the Handicapped Week" will be observed.

COMMENT

President Eisenhower commented that "Opportunity" means happiness for the individual — an opportunity to expand and be useful, to know that he is contributing his share to the advancement of society.

"We cannot afford for one moment to neglect placing opportunity in front of all who are capable of doing anything whatsoever with it. And the mere fact that a person may be minus a limb or one of his senses, or anything else, has nothing to do with it, anymore than do the other differences among humans," the President pointed out.

Rotarians Hear Research Speech By K. Lenneau

Keith Lenneau, of the Esso Standard Oil Co. in Baton Rouge, spoke to the Rotary Club during their recent meeting at the Virginia Hotel.

Lenneau spoke on research and how it effects everyday living in Louisiana and the United States.

"Forty years ago," he said, "we were living in the machine age, then it advanced to the air age, and 10 years ago we were in the atomic age. Now we are in what is known as the space age, or could it be better designated as the research age."

In Lenneau's speech to the Rotary Club he explained that research, as a whole, affects everyone in their home and business lives.

Ouachita High Seniors Elect Class Officers

Class officers were chosen by the Senior Class of Ouachita Parish High School in an election conducted this week by the election committee of the Student Council, it was learned today.

The officers icnluded president: David Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barker; vice - president: Jack Oglesbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Oglesbee; secretary: Alice Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith; and treasurer: Carol Shipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland A. Shipp. They will serve throughout the current school year.

The officers were nominated and elected by their class members It is required that class officers have an over-all C average in their school work and be in good standing of all the school personnel.

Three Couples Charged On Tax

MEMPHIS, (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service charged Saturday three Memphis couples owe a a total of more than $50,000 in back taxes.

The IRS contends that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shainberg, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Shainberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goldstein owe respectively $17,099, $15,947, and $17,170.

The couples have charged the government erred in making the claim because it disallowed various deductions for insurance construction of utility lines, street work and other expenses.

Man In Space In 6 Years Seen

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — International rocketry expert Dr. Willy Ley told a gathering of educators here Friday man will be in space within six years at the outside.

He said that despite the fact a human has yet to reach the nearest of the heavenly bodies — the moon — preliminary planning is already under way for interplanetary voyaging.

He did not elaborate on the latter, however, in a speech before a science symposium in connection with the Maine Teachers Assn. convention.

Sen. Smathers Sees No Help In Ike's Talks

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Saturday President Eisenhower's decision to step up his campaigning for Republican candidates won't provide "much benefit" to the GOP.

The President has called top Republicans to the White House Monday for a political conference on how to combat party apathy in the congressional and governorship races. He also will discuss his own role in the campaign.

Eisenhower already has increased to nine his planned campaign appearances, and GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn said these in turn would be "increased materially."

Smahters, who heads the Democrats' drive to retain control of the Senate, said we won't "need to revise our strategy" in view of the President's stepped - up plans.

"We've got the rabbit running out ahead of us and all we have to do is keep up."

Smathers recalled that Eisenhower's efforts for GOP congressional candidates did little to help them in 1956. Even though the President won a landslide reelection victory two years ago, Democrats managed to strengthen their hold on both Senate and House.

Smathers said the chief executive's campaigning this year will produce "less" for GOP candidates.

The President's political forays are being dovetailed with those of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who has just wound up his first week of intensive speaking.

Part of the GOP leaders' problem at Monday's conference apparently involves handling Democratic attacks on the President's policy on Quemoy and Matsu as defense outposts of Formosa. Alcorn has hinted at the GOP stand by accusing Democratic campaign speakers of "preaching appeasement," with specific reference to Smathers' accusation that the President has "blundered" in promising to fight if necessary to keep the off-shore islands out of Communist hands.

Smathers fired back it was now clear the President has "abandoned" his earlier "inflexible" position on defending the islands. He said the administration's revised policy will "come nearer to getting Democratic support because it is in line with logic."

REDS EYE GUINEA

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio announced Saturday the Soviet Union has recognized the newly independent republic of Guinea, former French West African possession.

Man Is Injured In Car-Truck Crash Yesterday

An 18-year-old West Monroe man suffered injuries to his head and left hand at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, when he was involved in a head-on crash on the Jonesboro Road, just north of Eros.

The mishap occurred on "a bad curve" according to his family.

Authorities said his auto was involved in the collision with a pickup truck, driven by "Jiggs" Capps, about 35, of Eros. Both vehicles turned over and skidded into the ditch.

Capps said that he was uninjured, Perritt stated. Hyrum Chambless, a friend of Perritt, drove past within minutes, and took Perritt to the home of his mother, Mrs. Elsie Perritt in Eros. The injured man was then brought to the hospital.

Perritt's auto was demolished, and the truck was extensively damaged.

State Police investigated the mishap last night.

Monroe Police Investigating Hit-Run Case

Huey P. Wheeler, 518 Calypso St., told Monroe police yesterday that a hit-run driver had damaged his car during the night.

Police who investigated found that a vehicle had jumped the curb on Hart Street, 35 feet south of Calypso, tore down a "one-way street" sign, and hit the rear of the parked car.

Damage to the right rear fender of the 1958 auto was estimated at $150. Police are continuing investigation.

WHEN HOUSE CATCHES FIRE

Mother Rushes Five Children To Safety

A 28-year-old mother rushed her five young daughters to safety yesterday afternoon, when their home at 316 N. Sixth St. caught fire.

Mrs. Frances Pickron and her daughters, ranging in age from 3 to 8 years, escaped injury, but all the youngster's clothing was lost.

Fire engines 1, 3, ladder 2 and car 4 of the Monroe Fire Department were summoned at 4:37 p.m., had the fire extinguished and returned to their stations by 5:30.

Fire damage was limited to a back bedroom, but the rest of the one-story house was extensively smoke - damaged.

The brick home is located next to the residence of its owner, Joe Messina, 318 N. Sixth St.

TAKING NAP

The Messinas related that Mrs. Pickron told them she had just finished ironing 18 dresses for her daughters, and was taking a nap when the fire broke out.

A young girl who was helping to babysit entered the back bedroom and found flames leaping up to the ceiling. She ran to Mrs. Pickron and alerted her.

After making sure her children were safely out of the house, Mrs. Pickron summoned help from the Messinas, and they used a garden hose to keep the flames under control until firemen arrived.

The fire, of undetermined origin, reached to the ceiling and scorched floorboards in the attic.

"We had some insurance on the home — but Mrs. Pickron really needs some help now. She works as a waitress at the Toddle House at night, but she has all those girls to take care of and with the loss of their clothes she has a big problem now," Mrs. Messina stated.

AGENCY SAVES LIVES

BERLIN (UPI)— An agency known as "Suicides Anonymous" claimed today it has saved 2,200 persons from killing themselves during hte past year. The West Berlin organization, run by the Evangelical Church, provides spiritual and medical aid without cost to persons who feel they want to end their lives.

Governor To Be Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi, chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference, will be questioned on NBC's "Meet the Press" television program Sunday.

Coleman, appearing from Washington, will go on the air at 6 p.m. EDT.

He will be questioned by Clayton Fritchey of the Northern Virginia Sun, Jack Kirkpatrick of the Richmond News-Leader and May Craig, who represents a group of New England newspapers.

Commercial Jet Flights Are Started

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two sleek British airplanes blazed a new trail over the Atlantic Saturday with the first commercial jet passenger flights.

One British Overseas Airways Corp. Comet IV set an eastbound passenger plane record of 6 hours and 12 minutes. It left New York at 6:01 a.m. EST and landed in London at 12:13 p.m. EST.

The other Comet made the trip from London to New York in the elapsed time of 10 hours and 20 minutes, including a refueling stop of 1 hour and 10 minutes at Gander, Nfld. The plane left London at 3:55 a.m. EST and landed at New York's Idlewild International Airport at 2:15 p.m. EST.

The actual flying time fron London to New York was 9 hours and 10 minutes.

FELL SHORT

This fell short of the mark of a Pan-American World Airways 707 jet plane that arrived at Idlewild Airport on a shakedown flight from London a flying time of 7 hours and 58 minutes.

The Pan American plane left London at 5:42 a.m. EST and landed here at 2:40 p.m. It made a fueling stop of 1 hour and 18 minutes at Keflavik, Iceland.

The flights trimmed the average time of the conventional propeller-driven, piston engine planes by about one third. The eastbound piston engine flights usually take about 10-½ hours and the west bound usually take about 13 hours.

A total of 18 paying passengers were aboard the two Comets to help get the commercial jet air age off the ground. The rest of the 92 persons aboard the two planes were airline employes and officials and newsmen.

The launching of jet passenger service was heralded in aviation circles as being as momentous as the switch from sail to steamboat in sea travel a century ago.

Twelfth Anniversary

Howard Bros. Firm Issues Statement

Howard Bros. Jewelers begin the thirteenth year of their business in Monroe this month after seeing twelve years of steady growth serving the Twin City area. In order to celebrate the success of the past years, the well known firm is conducting a huge anniversary sale.

Alton Howard, manager of the firm, is enthusiastic and states, "Twelve marvelous years brought by our friends and customers. We surely do thank them for the wonderful business."

Howard further stated, "We built our business on the principle of Friendship and Service, rather than on Profit Alone! Just to make a sale is not our only aim. A sale means more to us than just the ring of the cash register. We are still old fashioned enough to believe that we are obligated morally to honestly represent what we sell!"

Howard made mention of the fact that, "We personally listen to any complaints and make OUR OWN DECISIONS as to ADJUSTMENTS. The customer is dealing with the OWNERS when they SHOP with us."

In connection with the profit angle, Howard said, "We believe in fair prices at a reasonable profit. We make no claims of giving something for nothing. Personl attention and buying just for the needs of our area make it possible for us to compete with any other outlet. Personal grading enables us to save the customer dollars that otherwise would be added to the price tag in the form of inferior merchandise."

The members of the jewelry firm will not make bold and unreasonable claims that they cannot live up to, according to Howard, who said, "While competition is the Life Blood of American Business, we do not try to copy our competitors but SET OUR OWN STANDARDS and then try to live up to them."

The Howard Bros. Jewelers attained the honor some time ago of becoming a Registered Jewelry firm in the American Gem Society. The aims of the organization is stated in the following, "Many years ago a group of highly ethical leaders of the jewelry profession decided to band together to establish a protective code of ethics, a system of gemological study and examinations, to raise the standards of practice and to offer protection to the buying public."

From this beginning, the American Gem Society of the United States and Canada was formed which today is an elective nonprofit organization which "numbers several hundred leading jewelers, scholars and scientists pledged as the guilds of old, to heighten the honor, integrity and knowledge of the jewelry industry."

"Upon election to membership in the Society, a well-rounded gemological program is established for the jeweler. This program also encompasses knowledge of precious metals, jewelry and silverware. If to acquire this knowledge, a course of study is necessary, it usually extends over several years' period punctuated with a successive series of comprehensive examinations and actual practical tests. Many fail to clear these qualifications, but those who do qualify, unquestionably have authoritative knowledge that enables them to deal capably with gems."

Howard asked, "that the patronge of the past twelve years be continued and we assure you we pledge to continue our good service to the community."—Adv.

FOR AUTO MAKERS

Encouraging Points In '59 Autos Noted

DETROIT (AP)—Growing signs of improving economic prospects and enhanced eye-appeal of new model cars encourage the auto makers in their optimism for 1959. Two other factors are:

1. New car sales in 1958 barely replaced the vehicles that were scrapped.

2. Only a small part of the cars sold in 1955—the industry's record year—were traded in this year.

The reasoning of industry forecasters goes like this: normal market demand now stands at approximately six million new cars annually. Sales are indicated at about 4,300,000 this year. That means a sizable volume of unsatisfied demand has been piled up for 1959.

Normal replacement demand plus several hundred thousand first - time purchases combined with the deferred demand of 1958 should boost overall requirements at least 1¼ million units. Most estimates are 5½ to 6 million car sales in 1959.

With the coming of 1959 models the 7¼ million cars bought in 1955—even those acquired late in the year—become four years old for trading purposes. At that point their trade-in value shrinks. Many should begin to appear in the market.

Some industry experts have called 1959 the stylists' year in the auto industry. But that was by accident. Styling was decided upon before the recession hit the auto industry.

The 1959 cars have new eye-appeal, some major engineering advances and numerous new gadgets besides the pent-up demand many makers are counting upon to boost sales. But the auto makers are not going to depend on the cars and the circumstance of unsatisfied demand alone to do the 1959 selling job. The drive for new car sales in the new model year probably will be the toughest in industry history.

Most 1959 models will reach the market this month. In many instances they will be on sale from two to three weeks earlier than the 1958 models were last year. The new cars will be presented with dealer inventories lower than they have been in nearly two years.

If the industry's planning is carried out this year's final quarter, marking the first three months of the new model year, will bring about 1¼ million cars from the assembly plants.

No authoritative source has made a retail sales estimate, but deliveries could match factory output. They totaled 1,381,147 units in the October-December quarter of 1957.

Business Briefs

Principal Speaker

Jack Trichel, produce merchandiser for F. Strauss and Son, Monroe, will be one of the principal speakers at the first annual convention of the Louisiana Retail Food Dealers Association to be held at the Monteleone hotel in New Orleans, Oct. 5 and 6.

Trichel will discuss the importance of an attractive produce section in the food store.

Service Pin

Phillips, whose offices are at the company's Sterlington steam - electric generating station near Bastrop, started work for a predecessor company of LPL September 1, 1923.

Shares Report

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Sales of all forest products by the Crossett Company during the first nine months of 1958 showed a 3 per cent decline when compared with the same period last year.

However, results during the latter part of the third quarter gave cause for "some optimistic thinking that our worst period is behind us," according to the firm's third quarterly report just issued.

The report said that sales for the nine months totaled $28,958,000 compared to $29,753,000 last year. Nine months earnings were $2,774,000 versus $3,166,000 in 1957. This is equivalent to $1.22 per share on 2,275,654 shares outstanding this year as compared with $1.39 on the 2,271,154 shares last year.

A dividend of $.10 per share on Class A and Class B stock was declared payable November 1, 1958, to stockholders of record October 15, 1958.

State Realtor Group Meet Is Scheduled

The Louisiana Realtor Association will hold its 1958 convention in Lake Charles October 9 to 11.

A full program of business, education and entertainment is planned for the realtors and their sales people in attendance.

A program feature will be a full day real estate seminar co-sponsored with Sowela Vocational-Technical School, Lake Charles, Louisiana. Speakers on this program will include Eugene P. Conser, executive vice - president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; Harrison L. Todd, Camden, New Jersey, realtor and nationally known speaker; Lucille Beckner, Houston realtor and regional vice - president of the Women's Council of N. A. R. E. B.; Ervin W. Luedtke, executive secretary of the Texas Real Estate Association of Austin, Texas and Grant Webster, Bellaire, Texas realtor.

Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor will be the speaker at the Saturday luncheon. The "Louisiana Realtor of the Year" will be presented at this time.

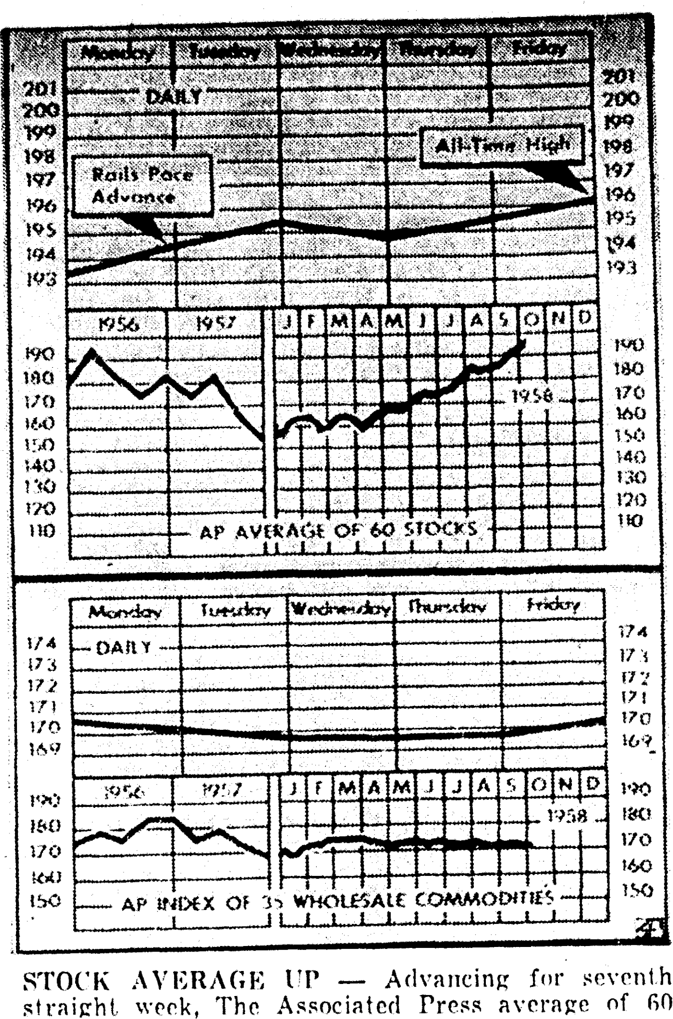
Frank J. Zuzak of Shreveport, president of the association will preside at all the business meetings. Other officers are: J. Beverly Brignac of Lafayette, vice-president; Charles J. Pumilia of New Orleans secretary and Jules Reinauer of Lake Charles, treasurer. Mr. Reinauer is the general chairman of the convention.

Many local realtors plan to attend.

BEE INVASION

SINOIA, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Bees swarming by the million terrorized the 2,000 population of this small mining community 80 miles from Salisbury Saturday.

Twice in the past three days the invasion brought life to a standstill. Banks, offices, shops and restaurants closed their doors. Scores of people have been stung and many hospitalized. Saturday's attack came during the shopping rush. Police cars warned people to get off the streets and take cover.



STOCK AVERAGE UP — Advancing for seventh straight week, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose to an all-time high when it closed at 196.1 from 193.3 a week ago. The weekly turnover was the heaviest since the latter part of October, 1957. Led by livestock, the commodity index declined for the third week in a row, closing at 170.2 from 170.6 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

City Of Laurel May Be Built On Oil Dome

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The city of Laurel in southeast Mississippi may be built atop an oil dome after all.

Central Oil Co. and Zach Brooks resumed coring below 8,314 feet in the Mississippi Investments No. 1, sec. 1-8n-12w after logging 40 feet of oil sand this week.

Old timers who advocated the oil dome theory happily said, "I told you so."

The potential new field discovery logged shows in the Lower Tuscaloosa sand at 8,122 feet. A drill stem test at 8,122-40 feet recovered nine barrels of 22 gravity oil with no water during an hour's test.

Operator's second core at 8,140-74 feet logged 33 feet of oil sand.

The well is within the city limits of Laurel near the country club. Contract depth is 13,500 feet.

The wildcat is 10 miles southeast of the giant Soso field and seven miles southwest of the Reedy Creek field.

Central Oil and Lone Star Producing Co. have completed another Jones County wildcat, the Masonite No. 1, sec. 25-10n-10w as the discovery well of Bryan field.

The well flowed 304 barrels of 39 gravity oil from the lower Glen Rose zone at 10,710-22 feet.

Another sand, in the Rodessa Zone at 10,240-66 feet, appears commercial but was not perforated on tests.

The Texas Co. is testing the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-3N-7E in the Boykin Church field of Smith County.

In Simpson County, Monterey Oil Co. is below 13,100 feet in the wildcat Gaylord Container Corp. No. 1, sec. 21-2N-3E. No information is being released. Contract depth is 13,800 feet.

The venture is seven miles southeast of Starkville. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

In Franklin County's Wells Creek field, Cameron Operating Co. and John Callon completed the Anderson No. 4, sec. 43-5N-1E, at 1222 barrels of oil daily froma Wilcox sand at 6,956-98 feet.

Reds Firing Many Duds In Quemoy Battle

BIG QUEMOY (UPI) — The Chinese Communists have been firing an unusually high percentage of dud shells at Big Quemoy, suggesting possible sabotage behind the Bamboo Curtain, American military advisers said Saturday.

Army Col. Douglas Lane of Maysville, Okla., chief of the U.S. Military Advisory Detachment on the beleaguered island, said duds and misfires have accounted for the relatively low percentage of Chinese Nationalist casualties in the saturation shelling.

Lane said he believed that the Russians either have supplied the Chinese Communists old ammunition with faulty fuses or else there has been sabotage in Russia or China.

"There are bound to be some duds in every concentration of artillery fired," Lane said. "But the percentage of misfires, short rounds and duds counted on Quemoy runs four to five times the average expectable.

"This is attributable to only two things. Either the Russians are supplying the Chicoms (Army slang for Chinese Communists) with old, outdated ammunition or somewhere along the line, the ammunition is being tampered with to cause the misfires."

Maj. Han Ken Lee, a Korean-American from Niles, Mich., said most of the dud shells found on Quemoy were made in Russia.

Lee said there were "dozens of places" from factory to gun where shells easily could be sabotaged.

"It is not difficult to sabotage ammunition either during manufacture or in handling, Lee said.

Fate Of Negro To Be Argued

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The fate of a Negro who claims his civil rights were violated when he was sentenced to die for the 1954 murder of a white woman in Mississippi will be argued before the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Monday.

Attorneys for Robert Lee Goldsby, 32, of Canton, Miss., and St. Louis, Mo., contend there were no Negroes on the Carroll County grand jury that indicted him or on the petit jury that convicted him.

Goldsby has lost 13 appeals to various state and federal appellate courts. His original execution date was May 13, 1955.

Goldsby was convicted of murder in the pistol death of Mrs. Moselle Nelms in the parking lot of her husband's roadside cafe near Vaiden, Miss.

Trial testimony showed that Goldsby and a party of Negroes drove onto the parking lot and cafe owner Bryant Nelms ordered them off.

Goldsby shot Nelms, contending later that the white man had threatened him with a mallet. As Mrs. Nelms ran to her fallen husband, Goldsby shot her and sped away in the car.

He was arrested a few miles away.

When the state Supreme Court rejected Goldsby's appeal last April 20, the justices reviewed his appeals. They were:

March 28, 1955: State Supreme Court affirmed the November 1954 conviction and sentence and set May 12, 1955 as execution date.

Dec. 12, 1955: U.S. Supreme Court denied appeal.

Jan. 16, 1956: State Supreme Court set Feb. 24, 1956 as execution date.

Feb. 21, 1956: State Supreme Court denied appeal on grounds of new evidence but stayed execution pending appeal to U.S. Supreme Court.

'Coolness' Is Noted In Oil Issue In Tex.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Rather cool exchanges are being made between Texas independent oil operators and the administrator of the federal program to curtail imports.

The situation is in sharp contrast with that of last May when the Texans acknowledged "sincere and outstanding' efforts by Capt. Matthew V. Carson for securing compliance within the framework of the program.

The coolness began to develop in August when Carson announced that a new type of curtailment plan was under study. The proposed program, formally announced Sept. 9, promptly was termed inadequate by officials of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TIPRO).

On Sept. 20 in a letter to Rep. Lindley Beckworth (D-Tex), Carson said TIPRO's "normal negative approach" was not in the best interests of the domestic petroleum industry or the nation as a whole.

Carson said TIPRO's action resulted only in an attempt to destroy public confidence in the only means available to him to reduce crude imports.

The TIPRO executive committee this week said:

"We regret that Captain Carson in a letter defending the oil imports program which he now proposes to scrap, clouded the issue with personal references to us. While we have no intention to debate these references, we think it proper to point out that our objectives with respect to imports are the same as those declared by Congress and the executive branch of our government."

These objectives, the committee said, are to maintain a healthy domestic oil industry which will restore exploration drilling and developments to levels sufficient to increase oil reserves.

The committee said the curtailment program has failed and that the newly proposed plan cannot succeed.

Eugene M. Locke, TIPRO president from Dallas, told reporters the association has not opposed the program but believes it does not carry out congressional intent that foreign oil must not supplant domestic production.

Carson received a standing ovation when he spoke before TIPRO's annual convention in San Antonio May 12. TIPRO officials, although frankly stating disagreed in part, described the speech as an able defense of the voluntary oil imports program.

But on Sept. 11 the TIPRO executive committee met in Laredo and said there were weaknesses in "a new imports program possibly to be instituted by the administration." The committee said preliminary reports indicated the new plan lacks features essential to an effective and lasting solution.

TIPRO, other independents, and importers have been asked to comment on the proposed change. The current program establishes quotas for individual importers. The proposal that would become effective Jan. 1 would limit imports to a percentage of domestic refinery runs.

Board Of Trade Futures Market At Its Dullest

CHICAGO (AP)—Except for a brief flurry engendered by a report that winter wheat acreage will be smaller this year, the Board of Trade futures market was at its dullest this week.

Demand generally was at a low ebb in most grain pits and there was no export business worthy of mention. Traders, standing idle much of the trading periods, complained of lack of outside interest in the futures markets.

As a result, all grains, with the exception of December oats, ended the week lower compared with Friday a week ago. Wheat finished ¼ to 1 cent a bushel lower; rye was off 1¼ to 2 cents, and soybeans declined 3⅜ to 4½ cents a bushel.

Wheat, lower the early part of week, rallied Thursday and Friday after a private crop report came out indicating that more farmers in the southwest winter wheat belt will participate in the 1958 acreage allotment program than did so last year.

The acreage report was part of a crop survey made by C. M. Galvin, market analyst for Francis I. Du Pont & Co., in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. It placed the number of acres to be planted to wheat this fall at around 25,337,000, about 90,000 acres less than in 1957.

Bonds Decline During Week

Government bond losses ranged out to two full points and several long range issues neared two-year lows.

Investment quality corporates were steady for the week but rails, industrials, utilities and foreign bonds moved lower. Trading declined to $29,839,000 par value on the New York Stock exchange from $31,451,100 the previous week. A year ago it was $18,452,000.

LABOR PEACE HELPS

Economy Upturn For U.S. Noted

NEW YORK (AP) — Return of labor peace in the pace-setting auto industry signaled the start of a broad new upturn in the country's economy last week.

Signing of union contracts with Chrysler and General Motors — Ford signed the week before — came as auto makers reported an avalanche of advance orders for 1959 models.

The clean, classic lines of the wider and lower 1959 cars were expected to make a resounding hit with consumers who had reacted coolly to much of Detroit's 1958 production. Buick said it had received dealer orders for 37,429 new 1959 models in the first 10 days; Ford Motor Co.'s Ford division reported one billion dollars in orders.

Ford said many of its plants are going on overtime.

The brightening picture in Detroit topped a week in which steel production inched up to a 1958 high and stock price averages crashed through to a new series of historic peaks.

Stock sales during the week totaled 19,227,870 shares compared with 18,481,130 shares the previous week and 8,067,455 shares in the corresponding 1958 week.

Bond sales had a par value of $29,839,000 compared with $31,451,100 the previous week and $18,452,000 in the same 1957 week.

The government reported a downturn in unemployment in most major U.S. cities. A survey of the hiring plans of big employers indicated that an increasing number of jobs will be opening for factory workers, retail clerks, industrial salesmen, and office secretaries in the weeks ahead.

Official government figures on instalment debt showed that consumers have finally stepped up their on-the-cuff buying after months of holding back.

Rain put a damper on retail sales in many parts of the country last week, but merchants were far from pessimistic.

The failure of commodity price trends to show any significant rise was interpreted by some observers as a sign that a real, honest-to-goodness business boom is still a long way off.

One of life's rare pleasures

There aren't many pleasures like having an extra income. One from your job. Another from the profits of some company of which you are part-owner. In other words, from dividends on common stock.

And it may be far easier than you suppose. Because you can acquire shares of some fine American company for as little as $40 every three months, up to $1000 a month, through the Monthly Investment Plan.

The MIP helps you form the excellent habit of investing regularly. And it can help you become an owner of good stock you might otherwise never own if you had to buy it all at once.

You can stop or start a Plan any time you like. And your dividends will be automatically used to buy more stock, unless you prefer to take them in cash.

You pay as you go. There are no down payments. You don't owe any "balance." You're never in debt. And the Plan solves the problem of when to buy, since you buy at regular intervals. If the stock goes down in price, your next regular investment buys more shares. It would be hard to find a more sensible, convenient way to become a shareowner.

When you select a stock, proceed with care. Don't try to get rich quick. Never depend on tips or rumors. A company may not pay a dividend, may lose ground to competition. And stock prices go down as well as up. So get facts before you buy. And use extra money left over after living expenses are paid and emergencies provided for.

Begin with two free booklets. One gives the records of more than 300 stocks that have paid dividends every year from 25 to more than 100 years. It's called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." You'll find which stocks have paid 5 to 6 percent at recent prices. Which have paid progressively higher dividends over the past ten years. Which have been preferred by MIP investors. The other booklet, "THE STORY OF THE MONTHLY INVESTMENT PLAN," gives you the details of that easy method of becoming an owner of American business. The coupon brings both booklets, free.

Next, make a valuable friend—a broker. Make sure he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask him for advice—he'll give it gladly without cost. Ask him about bonds and preferred stocks, too. He'll help you buy or sell. And from time to time ask him to review your holdings with you.

Right now, send the coupon. It may lead to part ownership of a famous company. And extra income from dividends.

Fire Hazards Precautions Advised Here

During Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 through 11, postmen join with firemen this year in fighting fires.

Not in the way which firemen actually battle the flames — but in a preventive manner.

Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathron pointed out yesterday that postal workers are responsible for cooperating in Fire Prevention Week programs, and for stressing more widespread efforts to prevent fires in post offices.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield informed Hathorn that postal workers should learn how to use extinguishers and fire hose.

He also focused attention on general conditions which exist in any home or business, and indicated how they could be improved upon.

Summerfield urged that trash, waste paper, oily rags and other fire hazards be cleaned up. "Provide receptacles and schedule removal at regular intervals," he stated.

Care in discarding matches and cigarettes was also stressed.

Frayed or defective electrical extension cords should be replaced, and electrical equipment needs to be checked for overloading and maintenance.

Flammable liquids need careful handling and storage. Local fire inspectors will check the premises if requested, Summerfield added.

◆ Group To Meet On Observance Of Civil War

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A special commission to plan Mississippi's part in a proposed nationwide observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War will meet Oct. 15 in the governor's office.

Miss Charlotte Capers, director of the State Department of Archives and History, will act as temporary chairman until the group elects officers.

Gov. J. P. Coleman appointed the commission this summer.

Commission members include: Sidney Roebuck of Mississippi Automobile Club; William D. McCain, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Ned O'Brien, Agricultural and Industrial oBard travel director; Edwin C. Bearss, Vicksburg National Military Park.

Mrs. John Wamble, United Daughters of the Confederacy; J. Paul Faulkner, Civil War Round Table; William Winter, Mississippi Historical Society; Frank Everett, Mississippi Economic Council; John Gregg, Mississippi Manufacturers Assn.

Claude Gentry, Brice's Crossroads (battlefield) Assn.; Tom White Crigler, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Mrs. Calvin S. Browns, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Everett Slayden, Garden Clubs of Mississippi; and Miss Pearl Guyton, Natchez author of a historical booklet on the seige of Vicksburg.

COMMUNITY CONCERT

Three Events Are Signed Already

Concert - goers in the Monroe area have a promising season in the Community Concerts offerings, all of which will be held in Neville Auditorium.

Three concerts have already been signed, with more in prospect if this week's membership campaign goes well. Maurice Glazer, president of the local organization which gets a subscription audience together each season for the concerts, pointed out a greater area was being covered this year than heretofore. He said there was no reason to doubt continued success of the concert group when enthusiastic receptions of the past were considered.

He referred to appearances here of the Boston Pops Orchestra, Eleanor Steber, the Chicago Opera Ballet and numerous star attractions of the concert field—all of whom have included Monroe on their tours through Community Concerts.

This year's attractions include Dance Jubilee, featuring Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander with orchestra and a corps of supporting dancers. Bambi Linn, it will be recalled, danced the lead in the movie version of Oklahoma. Dance Jubilee is a review of the American dance from pioneer days to swingtime. This concert is scheduled here for Saturday, November 22.

Balloting at the final concert last year showed a great number of persons desiring to hear a full symphony orchestra. The Detroit Symphony was contacted and will include Monroe on its tour next March.

Duo - pianists Whittemore and Lowe got an ovation from the local audience when they performed here several seasons back. In that same bracket, the Teltschik Brothers from Texas, will perform here next spring.

Top talent in all countries has viewed the system of supply and demand with some misgivings. As a result, most European countries grant opera and concert companies a governmental subsidy.

In the United States, the problem has been solved — fortunately without resort to governmental interference — through local groups who drum up an audience without cost to the performing artists.

This system has been in effect in virtually every major city in the country since 1930, and has gained ground steadily. That it has proven successful is best shown by the fact that European artists are most happy to give American tours. Among other reasons ,they are pleased with the opportunity to increase their shoe - string subsidy budgets offered by European tours.

As for American artists, they have increased in number as a result of incentive offered by the civic groups which continue as community concerts, to build up a market for top concert talent.

Ellender Asks Revamping Of Cotton Loans

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La. asked Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson Friday to revamp one-year government production loans so that disaster - stricken cotton farmers can stretch repayment over a longer period.

If Benson approves, farmers whose cotton crops have been ruined by harvest-time rains—some for two years in a row—could consolidate their loans on a long-term basis.

Ellender, who is in Louisiana, noted that many farmers who borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration to meet planting expenses this year cannot recoup their losses because of severe damage to their crops.

Kenneth L. Scott, Administrator of the Agriculture Credit Services, scheduled a meeting here Thursday with a representative of Ellender's staff to discuss whether the department has the authority to permit consolidation of the loans. Farmers Home Administration Director K. H. Hansen will also attend.

Agriculture officials, it was learned, were not sure the farm laws will permit extension of all loans granted in disaster areas: They said the consolidation may be permissible for familty-type farms that hire no outside labor, but apparently not for large-scale farms.

Some of the larger farms, however, including tenant - farmer units have been hardest hit by the harvest downpours in 1957 and this year.

Ellender, chairman of the powerful Senate Agriculture Committee, termed the situation a "disaster piled on disaster. There were indications in Washington that if Benson rules against consolidation of the loans—or permits them only for small farms—attempts will be made in Congress to amend the Farm Credit Laws early next session.

A major problem in extension present production loans, it was understood, is just how long the loans can be extended beyond the normal one - year repayment period another question involved in the legal tangle is whether the extensions can be granted on loans which are not leins on necessary operating equipment. The law is silent on this matter.

Common Boil Is Becoming Big Problem

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — The common boil is becoming a public health problem, the Southeastern regional meeting of the American College of Physicians was told here Friday.

Boils — technically called staphylococcal infections — were among subjects discussed in scientific papers by leading physicians at the opening session.

Dr. Clarence A. Smith of Atlanta, chief deputy of the communicable disease center of the Public Health Service, emphasized the idea of a hospital committee to evaluate all infections and follow up the patient's progress to keep them from spreading.

Functional disorders such as headaches are related to definite changes that take place in the body functions, and are not imaginary, said Dr. J. W. Fleming of Pensacola, Fla.

These functional type disorders are mostly symptoms of stress and anxiety, he said, and positive diagnoses should be made and treatment given.

Dr. Kenneth Phillips of Miami discussed clinical studies of hypoglycemia which he said is a direct opposite of diabetes.

The symptoms are the pancreas glands producing too much insulin, or they are weakness, fatigue, fainting or nervousness, he said.

The main treatment is diet along with a new ultra-sound energy.

Dr. William Hammack of the Medical College of Alabama, in Birmingham, reported that a disease called macroglobulinemia is responding in some cases to treatment with steroid type drugs.

He described this as a condition affecting certain cells of the body that produce proteins in the blood, causing them to produce abnormally large protein molecules.

Looks 'Em Over

The New York Yankees won the third game of the 1958 World Series yesterday, but they still face almost unsurmountable odds since only one team to win the first two games has ever lost this autumnal classic. The Milwaukee Braves won the first two this time.

Oddly it was the Yankees of 1921 that won the first two games from the New York Giants yet lost the best-of-nine series in eight games. The Giants led 4-3 after seven that year.

It's the Braves Warren Spahn against Ole Case's Whitey Ford in today's game at Yankee Stadium. If the Braves can win just one of the three games in New York they should have the series about wrapped up, but of the Yanks win the next two at home, including a likely chance to break the Lou Burdette jinx tomorrow, they'll be hard to beat back in Milwaukee.

The Neville victory over Jonesboro-Hodge Friday night caught a lot of us flatfooted as J-H is sporting one of its finest teams in recent years. J-H coach Jimmy Gilclaiming for a long time—when Bill Ruple is moaning bert is learning what "Hoss" Garrett of Ruston has been the loudest, you had better watch out.

True, Neville lost all starters from last year's club except three, and Ruple has been poor-mouthin' all over the place. He has even been quoted as saying the reason the Neville gridders didn't go away for their usual football camp in August was because "these kids are too young to take away from their mamas." Neville now stands at the doorway of becoming the first team in the state to win a seasonal district championship. All the Bengals have to do is beat Ruston here Friday night. That's going to be some chore with Ruston fairly warned of what these "poor little Tigers" can do after what happened to Haynesville and Jonesboro-Hodge.

Ouachita, too, offered its surprise. Just when we were about to figure West Monroe, Bossier, and possibly Bastrop to be the main contenders in the district triple - A race, Ouachita stuns Bastrop, 6-0—after Bastrop has beaten Neville, and Jonesboro-Hodge had stopped Ouachita and West Monroe. West Monroe, Bossier, and Ouachita currently lead the race with wins in their only league starts. Byrd, the pre-seasonal favorite, has lost two and is virtually out of the chase. Bastrop is one down but still a contender. That leaves Fair Park as the darkhoese, and the Shreveport Indians have a habit of growing strong as the season progresses.

Another stunner was Columbia's upset of the Mangham Dragons to just about crush the Dragons' hopes to return to the district 2-B throne vacated by Delhi's climb to Class A. Only a week earlier Columbia had been beaten by an Oak Grove club that was tasting victory for the first time in 15 games. Of course "Woody" Boyles has Oak Grove playing a surprising brand of ball, as Rayville's Hornets will testify after their squeaker, but Columbia still wasn't figured to take charge of even a crippled Dragon club.

Conquering Mangham may serve the Tide as a heady stimulant, but Jim Turner's boys still have some tough battles ahead, particularly with Holly Ridge and Lake Providence at the conference level.

The Sicily Island Tigers, once a district 3-B power, appear out of the chase this season, leaving the district title to be settled among Block's defending champs of Jonesville, and unbeaten powers at Waterproof and Crowville. Waterproof boasts its finest club since Ronald Dry's Tensas Tigers were challenging Ferriday for the district "B" crown a few years ago. Crowville, which came up with a contender last year after some lean seasons, appears as good or better than '57.

Ferriday's fortunes in Class A are dimmer than they were a year ago, and Tallulah appears on its way to recapturing its district crown, especially since the 6-0 win over a Delhi club that had been figured as the chief rival. But if Tallulah should fall in any of the remaining league games with Rayville, Winnsboro, or Ferriday, Delhi would be back in the picture.

But if the upset average continues, even those teams enjoying clear sailing would do well to beware of the shallows.

Gypsy Joe, one of the most colorful matmen in the wrestling business, will be at Gus Kallio's Arena here tomorrow night with a quartet of girl tusslers who'll appear in a tag scramble. Kallio figures this one of his finest cards of the season. The girls, as the main attraction last week, filled the house. The addition of Gypsy Joe vs. George Curtiss makes the show even more attractive this week.

Not since the old Dee Keltner - "Squatty" Young boxing rivalry of nearly 30 years ago and the Clarence Cook - Norris Ray campaigning of a few years ago has Bastrop offered a fistic show such as Promoter Emmet West and matchmaker Ray Kruger is offering Tuesday night when nationally known Al Andrews, who has fought three champions and a host of other topflight battlers, invades Bastrop's Rodeo Arena with the intentions of spoiling the comeback of Cook, now a Bastrop policeman. It's for ten rounds. An eight and three four - rounders complete a good card.

Every so often schools of the area permit classes to make a tour of the News-Star—World plant and various office personnel serve as "guides." A few days ago a class from South Monroe Junior High visited our plant at a time when we were available to show off the place. As susual, we enjoyed the tour. Of course the students all said they enjoyed the trip, but it was a pleasant surprise to open yesterday's mail and find Louis Leggett writing us a personal letter to thank us for his class.

"Our class certainly enjoyed the visit we made to the News-Star," wrote Louis. "Some of us have never been in a paper office before and everything was unusual. I especially liked the part where the paper was printed.

"I am a paper boy and now I have a pretty good idea of how the paper is made, thanks to you."

Sooners Pressed To Defeat Oregon

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Top-ranked Oklahoma ran into the stubborn defense of Oregon Saturday and the Sooners were fortunate to come out with a 6-0 victory.

The well-coached Oregon club allowed the Sooners the game's only touchdown in the second quarter when it lost the ball on a fumble.

The Webfoots held an edge in statistics over the Sooners which were ranked the nation's top offensive team after opening last week with a 47-14 pasting of West Virginia.

The teams battled evenly in the middle of the field, but Oregon couldn't sustain its drive when it got near pay dirt.

Unlike Oklahoma's opening game, when it ran 31 plays in the first quarter, Oregon held the initiative early in Saturday's game. The Sooners ran off only 11 plays after moving within the 30 three times without scoring. Oklahoma's Dick Corbitt recovered a fumble by Paul Grover on the Oregon 17.

On fourth down, quarterback Bobby Boyd hit Dick Carpenter in the end zone from the nine for the touchdown. An attempted run for the two extra points failed.

The closest Oregon got to the Sooner goal was at the end of the third period when a drive featuring a 53-yard run by left half Willie West carried to the 20 before bogging down.

Big 10 Team Upsets West Virginia, 13-12

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Senior tailback Ted Smith streaked down the sidelines on touchdown runs of 55 and 47 yards for Indiana Saturday and the Hoosiers turned in a 13-12 upset over West Virginia.

He rounded out his day's work by knocking down a West Virginia pass and spoiling an extra-points gamble that could have won the game for the Mountaineers.

With West Virginia trailing by one point in the final quarter after Dick Longfellow's one - yard sneak, Longfellow tried to pass for the two extra points. Sophomore end Earl Faison of Indiana first was credited with knocking down the pass, but Indiana coach Phil Dickens said in the dressing room that Smith was the player who did it.

Take Fourth Straight, 1st In Conference

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Northeast's rampaging Indians stretched their winning streak to four games here last night by drubbing Gulf States Conference rival Southwestern, 29-8 in a dazzling offensive and defensive show.

Jack Rowan's Braves rambled for touchdowns in the first and second periods and added two more in the third before giving way to third and fourth stringers in the final period when SLI made its lone touchdown.

Northeast's four - game winning streak is the longest season - opening string in the school's senior college history. The win was the Indians' first in GSC play for the year and the loss was SLI's third in succession and second in GSC action.

Big Lloyd Ray Smith and Robert McGough again paced the Redskins on the ground while quarterback Everett Reynolds had another field day in the pitcher's box. The Texas signal caller completed five of seven passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns.

Laudadio took a 28-yard pass from second - string quarterback Robert Randel for the first Northeast touchdown and kicked the PAT. The TD capped a 45 yard drive.

Smith finished a 56-yard march in the second quarter with a 9-yard rush fo ra touchdown and Laudadio ran for the two-pointer.

All - GSC end Joe Driskill set up the third touchdown for the Indians with a fumble recovery on the Northeast 49 and scored it on a beautiful 49-yard pass from Reynolds. Reynolds passed 11 yards to McGough for the final touchdown. Smith ran for the two points after the final TD.

SLI counted on a three-yard run by halfback Ronnie Roberts and Vernon Lott passed to Leonard Mott for the extra points.

Driskill and Jim Knox were outstanding on defense for the Indians, sharing a blocked punt, along with Wally Cox, Alfred Feeney and Billy McGraw.

Rebels Gain Third Victory Over Trinity

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The University of Mississippi started slowly but the Rebels posta 21-0 victory over Trinity Saturday night in a game slowed by mud and penalties.

It was the third victory of the season for the unbeaten Sugar Bowl champions, who are ranked sixth in the nation.

Mississippi notched its first score in the second quarter, when quarterback Bobby Franklin went over from the 1.

The Rebels made it 14-0 two minutes later when Franklin passed eight yards to left end Jimmy Grantham.

Three minutes into the fourth quarter Mississippi's Charles Flowers burst through the middle and went 37 yards for a touchdown.

Duke Defeats Illinois, 15-13, In First Half

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke struck for two first half touchdowns behind the running of halfback Wray Carlton and George Dutrow and withstood a determined last half rally to edge Illinois 15-13 Saturday. Twice Illinois was stopped on the 1.

A crowd of 25,000 saw the twice-beaten Blue Devils score in the first period when quarterback Bob Brodhead dived over from the 1. Guard Mike McGee set up the score in the first period when quarterback Bob Brodhead dived over from the 1. Guard Mike McGee set up the score on the Illinois 40 when he recovered a fumble by halfback L. T. Bonner. Brodhead passed to Dutrow for the two important extra points.

In the second period, substitute fullback Bobby Cruikshank went over from the 1 for another Duke score to climax an 80-yard drive featured by the running of Carlton and Dutrow.

THIRD STRAIGHT WIN

Cannon, Rabb Lead LSU In Hardin-Simmons Rout

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Warren Rabb and Billy Cannon, a pair of home-grown heroes, sparked Louisiana State to a two-touchdown edge, then the Tigers held on for a 20-6 victory Saturday night over pass-happy Hardin-Simmons.

The Baton Rouge juniors each scored a touchdown as the Southeastern Conference team won its third straight victory against coach Sammy Baugh's explosive Cowboys.

Quarterback Rabb, playing despite the death earlier Saturday of his father after a lingering illness, completed 6 of 10 passes for 88 yards and scored the first LSU touchdown on a two-yard sprint around left end.

Cannon, LSU's All-America halfback candidate intercepted a pass, gained 83 yards on 11 carries for a 7.5 average and scored the third Tiger touchdown on an 11-yard dash around right end as time ran out in the first half.

Jim Tom Butler and Harold Stephens, Hardin-Simmons quarterbacks, completed 19 of 34 passes for 201 yards and kept the 45,000 fans on the edge of their seats until the game's end.

The Hardin-Simmons touchdown came on a 94-yard drive early in the second quarter. Fullback Gene Uccelini bucked over from the one for the score.

Second unit quarterback Durel Matherne scored the other LSU touchdown, swinging around right end four yards on an option play, capping a 43-yard march after a Cowboy fumble.

The loss was the second straight for Hardin-Simmons against one victory.

Gamecocks Drop Bulldogs, 28-14

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Alex Hawkins raced 45 yards with an interception, scored two two-point conversions, and passed for a third Saturday to lead South Carolina to a 24-14 win over Georgia before 28,000 drizzle - moistened fans.

The platinum blonde halfback from South Charleston, W. Va., got South Carolina off to a quick lead when he picked off Charlie Britt's pass at the Georgia 45 and raced untouched to score.

His pass to halfback Buddy King Dixon made it 8-0 and South Carolina was ahead to stay.

However, the Gamecocks needed one of their next two touchdowns as Georgia's junior quarterback from North Augusta, S. C., Charlie Britt, engineered two lightning-like touchdown thrusts for Georgia scores.

The second was an 89-yard pass play from Britt to halfback George Guisler for the final Georgia score two minutes before the game's end.

Guisler, who also score Georgia's first touchdown, took Britt's long heave at the South Carolina 39 and 10 yards behind the nearest Gamecock defender.

But Georgia's two-point conversional try, that would have put the Bulldog's within a touchdown of a tie, failed when Britt was snowed under.

Georgia 0 8 0 6—14
South Carolina 8 8 0 8—24

Scoring: South Carolina—Hawkins 45 interception return (Dixon pass from Hawkins); Saunders 3 run (Hawkins pass from Dixon); Bunch 1 sneak (Hawkins pass from Bunch). Georgia — Guisler 8 run (Soberdash pass from Britt; Guisler 89 pass from Britt (run failed).

Pitt Rallies In Fourth To Beat Gophers

The victory ended 25 years of Pittsburgh failure against Minnesota. The Gophers had won nine straight games in the Series, dating back to 1933, and seemed on the high road to making it 10 in a row until quarterbacks Kaliden and Ed Sharockman triggered the Panthers' late game comeback.

Tech Puts Skids Under McNeese

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs put the skids under McNeese State's vaunted offense here last night and displayed a crushing ground game of their own to roll to an impressive 17-0 victory over the Cowboys before a packed house of 8,000 fans.

The defeat was especially humiliating to the Cowboys because two boys from their own backyard, Paul Hynes and Jack Howard of Sulphur, helped pace the Tech team to victory.

The Techmen scored in practically every way, scoring a field goal early in the second period, a touchdown on a pass in the same quarter, a safety in the third period, and another TD on a pass just before the game ended.

McNeese's only serious threat came in the first period when a Tech kick was blocked, but the Tech defense held and the Bulldogs took over on their own four.

STATISTICS

	Tech	McNeese

Net yards passing	84	0
Passes attempted	17	3
Passes completed	8	0
Pass intercepted by	1	1

Tech's defense stopped McNeese cold as Joe Aillet scored his 100th win as a Tech coach. The Cowboys were able to mark up only four first downs and did not complete a pass. Tech rolled up 249 rushing and 84 passing. McNeese gained only 70 yards on the ground.

James McCabe and Jim Orton alternated at quarterback in moving the Techmen with Hynes, Howard, and Jerry Frasier doing most of the ball carrying. Howard was billiant as a pass defender and averaged 43.3 on three kicks, one of them out of bounds on the McNeese one.

Tech completely dominated play in the first half after McNeese missed a golden opportunity when end Benny Hawkins blocked a punt on the Tech 38 which was recovered by guard Johnny Fuller on Tech's 23. The Cowboys drove to Tech's four and lost on downs. With mostly second unit performers in action, Tech drove 93 yards to the Cowboy four. McNeese held, and end "Bud" Alexander booted a field goal from the ten to give Tech a 3-0 lead.

Orton directed the long drive brilliantly with he and halfbacks Hynes and Howard eating up most of the yardage. McNeese took the ensuing kickoff but couldn't move, punted to halfback J. W. Slack on the 34 and he returned to his 41. McCabe took to the air, hitting end Jerry Hudson on nine and 11-yard passes, and connected with Hynes on 26-yard aerial which carried to the three. Frazier and Slack moved to the one, and, on fourth down, McCabe passed to Hudson for the TD. Alexander's placement try was wide.

Bottled in their own territory in the third period, McNeese elected to take a safety that moved the score to 11-0. Tech's final score came in the last 40 seconds after center Jim Campbell recovered a fumble on the McNeese five. On fourth down Orton passed to end Tom Causey for a TD, and Howard's extra point try was wide.

Last Quarter Score Downs Razors, 12-7

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A 39-yard run by Jack Spikes set up a touchdown with only five minutes to go Saturday night as Texas Christian edged surprising Arkansas 12-7 in a Southwest Conference football game.

Arkansas led 7-6 at the half.

Texas Christian virtually camped on the Arkansas goal line the last half but found the lightweight Razorbacks, 18-point underdogs, tough. Also, TCU was fumbling and making all sorts of mistakes that stalled the goalward drives.

Finally, in desperation, Spikes, the only consistent runner for TCU tried a field goal from the Arkansas 21 and it was too low to even reach the goal posts.

But Arkansas kicked out and speedster Harry Moreland ran the punt back to the Arkansas 47. Spikes went over left tackle down to the Arkansas 8. He tried two more runs and got three yards then quarterback Hunter Ennis flipped over the goal line to end Justin Rowland for the score.

Ennis tried to pass for the conversion and failed.

Until the sputtering Texas Christian team pulled itself together for the one last desperate surge, a point after touchdown by Don Horton loomed large. Twice TCU rolled within the shadow of the Arkansas goal posts before making the drive that set up the field goal try.

Oregon State Passes Beat UCLA, 14-0

By GORDON MACNAB

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State unleashed Paul Lowe and the forward pass Saturday. UCLA could not cope with either and the Staters took a Pacific Coast Conference victory 14-0.

The Bruins made a valient effort to score late in the game and brilliant catches by end John Brown, and Jim Steffen throwing, moved them to the OSC 10.

There the Oregon State defense, stout and crisp all day, held and took over. It was the last—and best—of the visitor's threats.

Oregon State startled the 18,532 fans in the sunny stadium by turning immediately to forward passes not one of its best weapons in the past. They failed to produce early results, but they hinted at the new attack that the Staters turned loose.

Both defenses were stout, both on the ground and against passes, when threats developed during the game's early stages but as the second quarter opened OSC's speedy tailback Paul Lowe started.

Lowe drove with a bewildering change of pace. He danced. And he passed. He handled the ball eight times on the 10 plays it took OSC to march from its own 15 to the opening touchdown. His nine yard run was the payoff. A pass try failed and OSC was in front 6-0.

Pass interceptions played a major role and OSC center Bruce Hake raced 50 yards for a touchdown on one of them.

Brown Batters Yale, 35-29 To Keep Ivy Lead

Air Academy Battles Iowa To 13-13 Tie

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—The Air Force Academy Falcons earned their football wings today by battling Iowa to a 13-13 tie. And they blocked a kick to preserve the tie.

Playing only their third year of varsity football, and at least a two touchdown underdog, the Falcons made the Big Ten team look a bit foolish at times.

Led by southpaw passer John Kuenzel, the Air Force soared to a 13-7 halftime lead and then gave up only the tying points against a sputtering Iowa team trying desperately to retrieve lost ground and prestige.

Iowa, ranked No. 8 in The Associated Press poll, made its final bid for victory with nine seconds left. Bob Prescott, dropping back to the 21, attempted a field goal which was wide to the right and seconds later some 800 academy cadets swarmed from the stands to engulf their heroes.

Iowa started fast, scoring on a 22-yard screen pass, Randy Duncan to Bob Jeter. Prescott made the conversion.

The Air Force tied the score when Mike Quinlan swept around end for 23 yards and George Pupich converted.

Iowa drove 99 yards for the tying points in 15 plays in the third period, John Nocera punching over from the 3.

Howard Bronson blocked Prescott's kick and it was 13-13.

Yanks Bounce Back Into Series As Bauer Sparkles

onds it seemed the old Dodgers were back in town.

New York had just taken a 2-0 lead in the last of the fifth and the Braves, still hoping for a four-game sweep, were chewing back in the sixth.

Red Schoendienst slammed a single to right that could have been a double except for fast fielding by Bauer. After Eddie Mathews whiffed out for the third straight time—becoming Larsen's eighth strikeout victim — Hank Aaron went to 3-2 and walked.

Then it happened. Wes Covington ripped a hard drive at first base. The ball glanced off Bill Skowron's mitt to the railing in front of the box seats. Skowron quickly retrieved it as Schoendienst started for home.

When Skowron threw to the plate, Red pulled up and pedaled back toward third only to see Aaron already there.

There was nothing for the redhead to do but make another try at the plate. Skowron's throw to Berra had been relayed to Jerry Lumpe at third by this time. As Schoendienst dashed for home, Lumpe let go with a throw that got past the falling Berra but was caught by Larsen, backing up at the plate.

Big Don, a man with a deceptively lazy gait, ran after Schoendienst and finally tagged him near third base. By this time, Aaron was back on second, probably wondering how he was going to explain all this.

Instead of one run in and men on first and third with one out, there was no run, men on first and second and two out. Just to turn the screws a little harder, Frank Torre then flied to Bauer in right, deep enough to score a man from third—if anybody were there.

All in all the Braves let 10 men on base in their first futile effort of the series that will be continued at Yankee Stadium Sunday in a fourth game. Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford, who hooked up in a battle of left-handers in the opener, won by Milwaukee, 4-3, in 10 innings, will meet once more.

Getting back to that man Bauer. He left no doubt about stretching his record series hitting streak because he beat out a roller to deep short for a single in the first inning. Until he singled in the fifth that was the only hit off Rush, who pitched a magnificent game until wildness caught up with him.

With a one-hitter going into the fifth, Rush went to 3-2 on Norm Sieberg and finally lost him on a walk. Jerry Lumpe flied out and Schoendienst went far to his left to throw out Bill Skowron on a beautiful play.

Manager Fred Haney's strategy called for an intentional pass to Gil McDougald, although pitcher Larsen is known as a real good hitter. Rush tried to be too careful with Larsen and finally lost him on a 3-2 pitch, loading the bases.

Bauer took a ball, a strike and missed another pitch before he dunked a fast-sinking fly to right. Hank Aaron couldn't quite reach it, picking it up with a scooping motion after it had hit the ground. Both Siebern and McDougald scooted home.

Aaron, incidentally, went hitless breaking his nine-game series streak. The Braves had only six hits, all singles. Schoendienst and Torre each had two, and Del Crandall and Covington one each.

Trailing 2-0 Haney sent Harry Hannebrink in to pinch hit for Rush in the seventh when the Braves got men to first and second with two out before Schoendienst flied out.

McMahon, the Braves' speed ball answer to Duren, took over. He struck out McDougald but walked pinch hitter Slaughter. The 42-year-old Enos soon came dashing around the bases when Bauer lined McMahon's fourth pitch into the lower stands in left at the 42-foot mark.

Bauer, with 3-for-4 Saturday, now has seven hits for 13 at bats for a .538 series average. He's driven in seven of the Yanks 12 runs.

Once again the hamburger and coffee was on Bauer in his Kansas City restaurant. He has a confederate call long distance that the eats are on the house every time he hits a homer. It was his third of this series and his sixth in series competition. This one cost him $134.

The big crowd, basking in warm sunshine on a hazy afternoon, got a big kick out of the arrival of Roy Campanella, the paralyzed Dodger catcher. Roy was carried to a box seat near the Yankee dugout and carried out again in the eighth. He sat with his wife and two of their children, exchanging nods with the Milwaukee players as they were waiting in the next batter's circle.

RUNS STREAK TO 16

Auburn Tumbles Moccasins, 30-8

By AL McCORMACK

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—Auburn's football powerhouse, held tight for three periods by scrappy Chattanooga, broke out a touchdown parade in the fourth Saturday for a 30 - 8 win, extending major football's longest streak to 16 games.

Auburn, fourth-ranked nationally and two - deep in experience all down the line, overwhelmed the smaller Moccasins in the three-touchdown finish.

But Chattanooga, a small college that never hesitates to take on the giants, put a rude dent in the Auburn defense that failed to yield a first down to Tennessee last week.

The Moccasins made twice as many first downs as Auburn in the first half and took the lead in the second quarter when quarterback Johnny Green flipped 18 yards to end Jim Tucker in the end zone and Chattanooga added a two - point conversion. Green passed to end Harold Wilkes on this play.

Not until Ed Dyas, a 190-pound sophomore fullback from Mobile just promoted to the first string, burst loose for a 62 - yard score in the third period did Auburn go ahead to stay.

Then the roof fell in for the gallant Mocs. Lloyd Nix, southpaw quarterback, led a 27-yard march, plunging over from the one. Nix passed 58 yards to halfback Jimmy Laster for another score and Richard Wood, third string quarterback, scored another on a two - yard plunge.

Auburn found early in the game that Chattanooga would be a handful and Johnny Kern, second - string quarterback, took to the air when he had a chance. Connecting with Laster for the first period score.

The game provided a shakedown test for the Auburn fullback corps which took a disheartening blow last week when Ronnie Robbs was injured against Tennessee. In addition to Dyas, Jimmy Reynolds, Bill Baggett and Junior Tomasino got in licks at the post, all playing well.

Score by Periods

Auburn	6	0	6	18—30
Chattanooga	0	8	0	0— 8

Auburn scoring: Laster 49 pass from Kern (run failed); Dyas 62 run (kick failed); Nix 1 run (kick failed); Laster 58 pass from Nix (kick failed); Wood 2 run (kick failed). Chattanooga scoring: Tucker 18 pass from Green (Wilkes pass from Green).

Quarterback Passes Navy To 28-14 Win

BOSTON (AP)—Navy quarterback Joe Tranchini scuttled a fighting Boston University football team with a superb passing display Saturday that paid off in three touchdowns and a 28-14 Middies' victory.

The 187-pound junior from Clairton, Pa., etched his name deeply in the list of recent great Navy field generals as he completed 18 of 27 aerials for 221 yards and an insurmountable 20-8 halftime lead.

Tranchini, a bold, confident future admiral, also directed the club well as the Midshipmen ran their unbeaten string to 10 straight.

Mixing buttonhook, flair, fullback screen and down-the-middle jump passes, Tranchini calmly hit end Tom Hyde with a fourth down touchdown strike from the three in the first period.

End John Kanuch made a fine diving catch of an eight-yard Tranchini toss early in the second period and just before intermission, Tranchini threw 15 yards to halfback Roland Brandquist in the rear of the end zone.

BU, employing wedge blocking in an effort to solve Navy's famed jitterbug defense, went 80 yards to score on a masterful 31-yard pass from Jim Grouard to Paul Cancro in the first period. But the failure to convert a two-point try left the Terriers behind 8-6 and it was only a matter of the final margin.

BU moved 69 yards, all but seven by air, just before the finish to score on Jimmy Dean's yard plunge after Navy collected its fourth aerial touchdowns fashioned by the reserves.

OUTPLAYED

Ohio State Edges Washington, 12-7

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's heavily favored Buckeyes, frustrated, bewildered and outplayed most of the day, converted two breaks into touchdowns Saturday for a 12-7 victory over a battling band of Washington Huskies who deserved a better fate.

The Bucks, third-ranked in the nation, boasting an 18-pound per man weight edge and favored by 20 points, cashed a first period pass interception and a third period blocked punt into touchdowns for their squeaky victory.

On each drive the ground-eating Bucks went 27 yards in seven players, all on runs.

The underdog Huskies broke away in front in the first five minutes, going 31 yards in four plays for a touchdown. Don McKeta, sophomore fullback from Robertsdale, Pa., only Easterner on the Husky squad, went for 16 yards on one of the four plays and breezed into the end zone for the score on a 12-yarder over tackle.

In the same first period, Bob White intercepted a Washington pass on the 27-yard line and sophomore Jerry Fields, substituting for injured Frank Kremblas at quarterback, plunged a foot for the score after White and Don Clark had moved the ball almost to the goal line. A pass for the extra point failed.

On the last play of the third quarter, with the ball in mid-field, a poor pass from center on a punt play gave the bucks their second big chance. Bob Schloredt, the punter, picked up the rolling ball, tried to punt, but it was blocked by onrushing Ohioans and rolled all the way to the Husky 27 where Ohio tackle Jim Marshall fell on it.

Clark and White again alternated for six plays and then Clark plunged four yards for the winning touchdown, his third score in two games.

Kansas State Dumped, 20-13

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — A spectacular 71 - yard touchdown run by Buddy Allen set Utah State off awinging in the first half and the westerners held on grimly as they upset Kansas State Saturday 20-13.

Kansas State's fumbles and straying passes cost them dearly as Utah State's alert 11 took advantage of the Wildcat miscues.

Californians Shock Wash. State, 34-14

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California relentlessly drove 96 yards for a opening touchdown Saturday and then capitalized on a pass interception en route to a 34-14 upset over Washington State.

A crowd of 25,000 in Memorial Stadium and a nationwide television audience saw Jack Hart pick off a Bobby Newman pass and dash 55 yards for the second California touchdown in the longest run of the Pacific Coast Conference game.

That gave the Bears a two-touchdown lead good for the rest of the game as quarterback Joe Kapp kept the California offense in high gear.

Clemson Tips Maryland For 3rd Straight

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Undefeated Clemson took to the air to go through Maryland's rugged defense Saturday and scored on a 50-yard pass from quarterback Harvey White to end Wyatt Cox for its third football victory 8-0.

Clemson's first touchdown this season on a pass came like a bolt from the blue less than a minute before the end of the third quarter of the game played before 24,000.

The score was made against Maryland's second eleven which relieved the first team after a magnificent defensive stand had stopped Clemson four yards from the goal.

End Ben Scotti of Long Branch, N. J., had made two great plays in a row to thwart the Tigers, ranked 10th in the nation by The Associated Press. Scotti tackled Bill Mathis for no gain on the 4 and then blocked a pass by White.

Maryland's second team punted to midfield and on the first play White let loose with a long heave. Cox gathered it in around the 20 and beat two Maryland defenders to the goal.

George Usry plunged over for the two extra points on the third try after Maryland was offside on the first two attempts.

TECH DEFENSE SPARKLES

Green Wave Errors Give Georgia Tech 14-0 Victory

By DAVID M. MOFFIT

ATLANTA (UPI) — Joe Delaney's pin-point punting and Larry Fonts' fumble - snatching set up two touchdowns for a 14-0 Georgia Tech victory over Tulane that was strictly the work of the defense.

A crowd of 38,000 watched Tech's bigger line bottle up Tulane's advertised passing attack and Tech backs move in fast when the breaks came.

The first score was set up in the second period on a punt by halfback Delany which went out of bounds on the Tulane two.

Tulane couldn't move to safety against the hard - charging Tech line and was forced to punt out weakly.

Delany returned the punt to the Tulane 21 and Tech marched the distance in five plays with quarterback waiter Howard going over from the one.

Delancy connected on a 14-yard lefthanded pass to end Fred Murphy for a third period score but the real hero here was fullback Fonts who recovered two Tulane fumbles within a span of two minutes.

Tech couldn't get moving after the first fumble recovery but struck on one play, the Delany-Murphy pass, after the second.

Tech came within an eyelash of scoring again in the closing moments but Tulane's defense rose up to stop Tech four times at the Tulane one-yard line after the winners had marched 65 yards.

Tech also got down to the Tulane five - yard line early in the fourth period. Halfback Tommy Wells, who kicked both conversions, tried a field goal from the left side of the field but it was wide of the mark.

Except for one drive midway in the first period, Tulane was unable to cope with Tech's defense. That drive carried 47 yards to the Tech 44, then bogged down after three first downs, exactly half the total Tulane got in the game. At no other time was Tulane able to move across midfield.

The Tulane passing attack, which had been averaging 18 completions per game, connected on only seven of 17 against Tech and two were intercepted.

PGA Names Finsterwald Best Golfer

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald has been named professional golfer of the year, the Professional Golfers' Assn. announced Saturday.

Harold Sargent, PGA president, said Finsterwald won by a landslide in a poll of PGA members and representatives of the press. Finsterwald, the 1958 PGA champion from Tequesta, Fla., received 427 of the 755 votes cast. A distant second was Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., with 133. They were followed by Tommy Bolt of Granada Hills, Calif., 89; Bill Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., 24: and Ken Ventury of Daly City, Calif., 15.

Finsterwald will receive the 1958 golfer-of-the-year award at the annual PGA meeting in Clearwater, Fla., on Nov. 11.

At 29, he is the youngest golfer ever to win the award

Nebraska Beats Iowa State, 7-6

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A 22-yard touchdown pass and George Harshman's unerring conversion kick carried Nebraska to a 7-6 win over Iowa State Saturday before a sun-baked crowd of 30,000.

Unable earlier even to cross the midfield stripe offensively, Nebraska launched a 68 - yard drive in the fourth quarter and made it good on Harshman's pass to end Roland McDole in the end zone.

AT DALLAS

Notre Dame Tips Balky Southern Methodist, 14-6

DALLAS, Texas, (UPI)—An explosive 41 - yard scamper by sophomore halfback William (Red) Mack and a 72-yard sustained power drive provided sixth-rated Notre Dame with the ammunition to subdue stubborn Southern Methodist 14 - 6 Saturday before 61,500 fans

The home town Methodists fought savagely to avenge a 54-21 licking handed them last season by Notre Dame, but fumbled away a golden opportunity to move ahead late in the third quarter and had to play the final period without its great passer, Don Meredith.

The hard - hitting Irish crippled two other S M U quarterbacks in the fourth quarter and forced the losers to dig deep on the bench to come up with someone to try and engineer a desperation drive that failed miserably.

Mack's sudden touchdown burst through a gaping hole at the SMU left guard capped a 90-yard drive and gave Notre Dame a 7-0 halftime lead, but the game never was quite in the Irish's possession until midway the final quarter when quarterback Bob Williams sneaked the 72nd yard of the payoff surge and end Monty Stickles had kicked his second conversion.

S M U uncorked an explosive runner of its own for its lone touchdown less than four minutes deep into the third quarter when Tirey Wilemon took a wide pitchout from Meredith and, behind some crunching blocks, pumped his way 44 yards for a score. But Stan Eckert's placement try was wide and S M U never was able to recoup.

Pietrosante, Odynicc, James Just and Pat Doyle led the Notre Dame ground attack that piled up 25 yards to S M U's 115 and more than offset S M U's 128 yards passing, 100 of the latter coming on Meredith's eight completions in 14 tries before he was hurt.

CROSS COUNTRY

Indian Trackmen To Open Friday

The Northeast Cross Country Team began its workouts in earnest last week in a bid for a top place in the Cross - Country competition. Prospects for the forthcoming season are bright. Track Coach Lewis Hartzog is extremely pleased with the performance of his team to this date. Even though the squad is a small one, all the boys are running in a tight group.

Hartzog has good reason to be optimistic since he has two returning lettermen in Charles McCullen, second place Gulf States Conference winner last year, and Jack Williams, who captured third place honors. Both boys are running even better this year than last.

These two are enough for any coach to base his optimism on but Coach Hartzog has much more. He has four freshman boys to work with McCullen and Williams that would make any cross country coach proud. They are Derrick Daily from West Monroe who has never run before but is showing up well in practice, Donald "Buddy" Eiland from Farmerville, who has been very impressive, and two boys from Golden, Colordado, Bill Frye and Bob Jaenicke. The Colorado pair were on Golden's team which won the Colorado Cross Country Championship for the past two years. Frye was the individual Colorado state champion last year and is doing equally ass well at Northeast. Jaenicke, who is actually a hurler, is doing a fine job and is giving the added strength needed for the team.

Coach Hartzog said that the boys are working out daily at 2:30 and he invites any Northeast student who is interested in either cross country running or regular track to meet with him between 2:30 and 4 p.m. any weekday afternoon at Brown Stadium.

The Cross Country Team has the best schedule the Northeast teams shave ever engaged in.

Oct. 10 — Northwestern State at Natchitoches.
Oct. 18 — McNeese State at Lake Charles.
Oct. 23 — Louisiana Tech at Ruston.
Oct. 25 — Southeastern at Hammond.
Nov. 1 — Northwestern State at Monroe.
Nov. 8 — Memphis State at Monroe.
Nov. 14 — Mississippi College at Clinton.
Nov. 22 — Louisiana Tech and McNeese at Monroe.
Nov. 27 — Turkey Day meet at New Orleans.
Dec. 5 — GSC meet at Ruston.

The Northeast Cross Country Team came out second in the GSC conference meet last year in Coach Hartzog's first season.

Outer Space, ridden by Willie Harmatz, got the verdict by a whisker over Calumet Farm's A Glitter. King Ranch's Dotted Line was third and George W. Widener's Rare Treat fourth.

West Monroe To Fete Its Little Boys All-Stars

All-star Little Boys Baseball clubs of West Monroe will be feted Wednesday night at a program scheduled for the Louisiana Power and Light Company's auditorium.

George Perry, Ferriday, state director of the Little Boys program, will present awards and the Southside All-Stars who won the Louisiana championship for West Monroe and participated in the Dixie Series at Columbus, Miss., will present their trophies to Major J. Allan Norris for display at the city hall.

At the same meeting Earl Duncan, outgoing president of the West Monroe leagues, will surrender his duties to Harold Hill, the new president. Other officers to be installed include Hollie Pankey and "Shorty" Rutledge, vice presidents, and Dick Smith, secretary and treasurer.

Greene Sparks Holy Cross To 1-Point Victory

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Quarterback Tommy Greene of Pilesville, Md., staged a fine exhibition of passing, running and field generalship today to lead the Holy Cross Crusaders to a hard fought 14-13 win over Syracuse.

The Purple's senior signal-caller, always a gambler in kicking plays in a tight spot, used the new two point after touchdown rule in the final quarter to give his team the needed one point margin.

RACING TODAY

Stock Cars Show Greater Rivalry

As the stock car racing season nears a close in this area, what with winter weather preparing to move in, the caliber of racing has been improving, and the Twin City Speedway, which had one of its finest shows of the year last Sunday, looks for another good day at its West Monroe oval this afternoon.

Gary Greenway, who drove his No. 16 to victory over Royce Whitlock's 13 in the feature last week, is finally favored to do it again. The mechanic for 16, after checking the car, has reported it sound and ready for another peak performance.

Whitlock, a consistent winner at Twin City, is capable of sweeping back into prominence. However, while he has did well in heat and feature races, he has had trouble winning trophy dashes recently.

But while Whitlock and Greenway are occupied with one another, H. L. Hale, always a contender in his 99, could rule the day. Hale has a new V8 Chevrolet motor installed in his '39 Ford body, and he may have some surprises in store.

Billy Bayles, in his Anding Brothers Special, also is making a very good showing lately after many long working hours to bring his car up to contending caliber.

Other machines ready are "Red" Futch's No. 7, Joe Mallard's 38, Jerry Smith's 33 1-3, Raymond Walters' 11, Frank Parker's 5, Curtis Newsom's 44, Johnny Hester's 77, Hale's 39, Whitlock's 101, and Johnny Causey's 63, plus 404 with an unlisted driver.

In addition to the usual heat races, trophy dashes, and feature race, today's show is scheduled to include a "powderpuff derby" for women drivers. The girls always put on a good show on the rare occasions on which they take command of the track. Time trials begin at 1 p.m.

Bill Majors Leads Vols To 13-8 Upset Of State

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Tailback Bill Majors, the kid brother of a fabulous football family, passed 15 yards to end Murray Armstrong with a minute to play Saturday to give Tennessee a 13-8 upset win over Mississippi State.

Majors turned from goat to hero in the final minutes by sparking the last-minute drive after Mississippi State, 14th ranked nationally, had gone ahead 8-7 with four minutes left, the result of a Majors' fumble.

A bi-partisan crowd of 27,279 was all set for a Mississippi State victory when Majors, living up to the tradition that produced his All-American brother, Johnny, sent the Vols on a victory surge.

Starting on its own 33, Tennessee drove 67 yards, largely on Majors' passing. He hit four times for gains of 30, 12, 9, and 15, the final one going to Armstrong in the end zone.

State, which outgained the Vols 223 yards to 163 had gone ahead in the final period when fullback Gil Peterson took a lateral from fullback Bill Schoenrock and raced five yards, crossing the goal standing up.

State end Ned Brooks had recovered Majors' fumble on the 16 to set up the score. Peterson and Schoenrock moved it down to the five then Peterson scored after Schoenrock, hit hard, lateraled off.

Armstrong scored both touchdowns for Tennessee. He had raced 53 yards with an intercepted pass in the third period to put the Vols out in front with the first score of the game. The wrong-way pass was thrown by State halfback Willie Daniels on a hand-off from quarterback Tom Miller.

Tennessee drove 70 yards in 17 plays in the first period, penetrating to the State six before Majors was thrown back.

State threatened in the second period, driving to the Tennessee 11, where fullback Jack Batte was stopped inches short of a first down.

It was a surging comeback for the Tennessee team that couldn't make a first down against Auburn last week and stamped Majors for future stardom.

Brother Johnny led Tennessee to the Sugar Bowl two years ago. Another brother, Joe, stars for Florida State and all are the sons of Shirley Majors, head coach at the University of The South.

The scoring:

Miss State	0	0	0	— 8
Tennessee	0	0	7	6—13

Tenn — Armstrong 53 run interception (Burklow kick); State—Peterson 5 run (Trammel run); Tenn — Armstrong 15 pass from Majors (Pass failed).

ON BASTROP CARD

Andrews Expects To Master Cook

BASTROP, La. (Special) — A crowd of at least 3,000, from all parts of north Louisiana and southeast Arkansas is expected to jam Bastrop's Rodeo Arena Tuesday night, when Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., and Bastrop's fighting policeman, Clarence Cook, clash in a ten round bout.

The Andrews-Cook fight may even outdraw the Flanagan-Cook and Martinez-Cook battles which were staged in Monroe.

Andrews, who has appeared in 22 television fights is a better known fighter today than were either Flanagan or Martinez when they first appeared in this area.

Boxing fans know that in Andrews, they will be seeing a fighter who has never been known to take a backward step, even in gory battles with such world's champions as Carmen Basilio, Gene Fullmer and Virgil Akins.

Andrews, who arrived in Monroe Friday night by air, has been doing light training at the Woodmen's gym in Bastrop, and said today he doesn't expect to have too much trouble with Cook. However, the latter has also been training hard and is in top shape for the battle. Cook knows that a victory over Andrews will put him right back in the "big time" class.

Few fighters ever to appear in Louisiana rings could boast the color and the impressive record listed for Andrews. Always a tough and willing mixer. Andrews has made it tough for such outstanding fighters as Joey Giardello, Joey Giambra, Rocky Castellani, Del Flanagan, Jimmy Martinez, Franz Szuzina, Billy Kilgore, Luther Rawlings, Chuck Davey, Jackie King and a host of others.

Andrews first came into national prominence when he stopped the sensational climb of Chuck Davey by winning a decision over the collegian TV idol. In a return bout, Andrews again defeated Davey.

Promoter Emmet West and matchmaker Ray Kruzer have lined up an impressive supporting card, with Al Boudreaux, New Orleans, facing Mickey Moore, Atlanta, in the eight round semi-final. These men staged a hair-raising brawl in Bastrop several weeks ago, with Boudreaux scoring a TKO in seven when Moore suffered cuts over both eyes.

Four rounders will pit DeWayne Garris, Monroe, against Jimmie Adams, Newellton; Don Ware, West Monroe, against Buck Young, New Orleans, and Ladell Pate, West Monroe, set to meet Johnny Allen, Bastrop, in a return engagement.

Best ringside seats are scaled at $4, with the second section priced at $3. Some 2,000 grandstand seats will be offered at $1.50 and children's tickets are set at 75 cents.

The first bout will get under way promptly at 8 p.m. with the Boudreaux-Moore fight going on after the main event. If the weather is bad, the fight will be postponed to Wednesday night.

Princeton Rolls Over Hapless Columbia, 43-8

MR. AND MRS. GYPSY JOE

MONDAY NIGHT

Gypsy Joe, Girls On Kallio's Card

The girls return to Kallio's Arena Monday night along with another long hair, Gypsy Joe, making his Monroe debut on the card against George Curtis in the second half of a double main event.

The girls are Peggy Allen, Silvia Torres, Kitty Adams and Ann Reagan. All appeared here last week before a packed house and promoter Gus Kallio has brought them back for another whirl.

Peggy and Silvia will again team up against Misses Adams and Reagan in a four-girl tag team fray. This one will have a 75-minute limit with two falls to win.

Since the girls have been in the area for the past week and have incurred no heavy travel expenses, promoter Kallio has returned admission prices to their regular level. Reserved seats will sell for $1.50, general admissions for $1.00 and children under 16 for 50 cents.

Gypsy Joe, a long-haired, mustashed nomad, has been touring the wrestling circuit for years with his wife, a palm-reader. Joe wears earrings and is evidently proud of his gypsy blood.

Joe met his wife at a carnival in northern Wisconsin about a dozen years ago. She told his fortune and must have liked what she saw in the future because she married him shortly after. She predicted a light-heavyweight championship for him and he came through and fulfilled the prophecy. Mrs. Joe also predicts the heavyweight title for her husband but has not made public a prediction on Monday's clash with Curtis, one of the better grapplers doing business in this part of the country.

Austin Sparks Rutgers Victory

HAMILTON, N.Y. (AP) — Just as he did a week ago against Princeton, Rutgers' Bill Austin put on a sensational one man show to lead the Scarlet to a 21-7 football win over Colgate Saturday.

More than 6,000 shirtsleeved fans watched the 170-pound triple threat back score two touchdowns and pass for a third as the Scarlet beat back persistent challenges by underdog Colgate.

12-12 UPSET

Michigan Ties Michigan State

By DAVE DILES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State sprung to life on a 90-yard punt return by halfback Dean Look, then drove 97 bitter yards in the final minutes and got a 12-12 tie with underdog Michigan Saturday before a record crowd of 76,434 in Spartan Stadium.

Sweeping the fourth-rated Spartans off their feet with a furious first-half assault, the Wolverines scored 12 points in the first half but stood by helplessly as Michigan State battled from behind in this long and storied backyard rivalry between Big Ten teams.

It took everything the Spartans had to come out as well as they did against an unranked Michigan team, hard-hit by injuries to key players. Michigan played without its best passer, Stan Noskin then lost the services of three leading performers during the rugged duel.

Fullback John Herrnstein, Michigan's best runner, suffered a head injury and sat out the entire second half.

Halfback Brad Myers and end Gary Prahst were injured in the second half and missed the late action.

The Wolverines, 13-point underdogs, coupled savage aggressiveness and a mixture of single wing and split-T effectiveness for a moral victory just as outstanding as many of the school's triumphs in the 51-game history of this feud.

After its fabled multiple offense sputtered most of the way, the Spartans got into the scoring when Look raced 90 yards with a punt about halfway through the third period.

As Michigan fans cheered the hopes of an upset victory, the Spartans marched almost methodically the length of the field for the tying touchdown with only 3½ minutes to play.

End Sam Williams missed the place kicks for extra points that would have produced the victory.

Dartmouth Stops Penn, 13-12, In Ivy League Tilt

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Dartmouth put together two long touchdown marches and they threw up a tight defense to hold on for a 13-12 victory over battling Penn Saturday in an Ivy League football thriller marked by the Quakers' failing gamble on a conversion attempt.

The one-point margin resulted as Penn missed a kick for the extra point after its first score and then gambled to win with a rushing play after the second touchdown. The ball was fumbled on the play.

Cornell Defeats Harvard, 21-14

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — When Cornell's football travels, it travels by air, as the Harvard Cantabs learned Saturday in a 21-14 lesson before an estimated 15,000 fans at Schoellkopf Field.

With quarterback Tommy Skypeck in the pilot's seat, the Big Red showed just enough of its vaunted passing game to send the Crimson on its second defeat in as many games this season.

Army Scoots To Win Over Nittany Lions

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army played two 30-minute football games Saturday. It was a flawless machine in rolling up 26 points against a bewildered Penn State defense in the first half, then wheezed and sputtered to a scoreless second half to be satisfied with a 26-0 victory.

The Cadets were strictly con artists in the first two periods as they scored twice in each, driving relentlessly over the ground and shaking loose adept pass receivers.

Everyone was in on the act, even the lonesome end, Bill Carpenter, who was so quiet in his isolation booth the Nittany Lions' defender against him got careless. Then Carpenter would sprint downfield to grab a pass, one of them good for 55 yards and a touchdown.

Taking the opening kickoff on their 37, the Cadets marched for 63 yards in eight plays, Pete Dawkins plunging the final six for the touchdown. Gil Roesler tried to run for the extra two points and failed, and that was the last time Army tried it. The time was 3:26.

The next time Army got the ball it was Bill Rowe had recovered Andy Mocomyi's fumble on the Lion 47. A Joe Caldwell-to-Carpenter pass carried to the 16, Dawkins rammed to the one-yard line in two drives, and Bob Anderson went for the touchdown.

According to the Rev. W. H. Bengtson, pastor, three sons of former minisers of the church assisted with the services.

They were the Rev. Ralph Cain, pastor of the Memorial Methodist Church of Monroe; the Rev. A. Jerome Cain, pastor of the Istrouma Methodist Church at Baton Rouge; and the Rev. Luther L. Boothe, pastor of the First Methodist Church of Bastrop. The Rev. Edwin H. House, Jr., pastor of the Crowville Methodist Church, and son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. House, Sr., who are members of the Winnsboro Church, also assisted with the services.

Peale Tells Of Criticism From Clergy

EDITORS NOTE: Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, in more than 30 years as a clergyman, has become one of America's most famous Protestant leaders, as a preacher, radio and television speaker, lecturer and writer of books, newspaper and magaine columns. He also has become a controversial figure in Protestanism. In the following story United Press International tells how widespread criticism of Peale's ministry nearly caused him to resign from the clergy and what made him change his mind.

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale was so deeply hurt by criticisms from his fellow clergymen three years ago that only his father's deathbed reminder of "the power of positive thinking" kept him from quitting the ministry, it was disclosed Saturday.

Peale, world famous preacher and author of "The Power of Positive Thinking" and other best sellers with a total circulation of more than four million, was so stung by attacks on his ministerial methods that he actually wrote a letter of resignation.

He changed his mind only after receiving a deathbed message from his minister father, urging him to ignore his critics as "just a bunch of jackasses."

The story of this crisis in the life of a minister who has helped thousands to hurdle problems of their own was told in a biography titled "Norman Vincent Peale, Minister to Millions," published Saturday.

Former magazine editor Arthur Gordon wrote the book with Peale's approval and cooperation. Gordon spent many weeks with Peale, and Peale read the finished manuscript. He even wrote a closing chapter, in which he said the biography probably was a more objective account of his life than he would have written but that he would have made it different in some places.

A spokesman for Prentice-Hall, publisher of the biography and of all of Peale's best sellers, said the mnister has stated privately he would have been happier if his near - resignation had been omitted. He did not request deletion of the incident, however, the spokesman said.

West Monroe Presbyterians Set Revival

The pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church, North 4th at Mill Street in West Monroe announced the beginning of a revival series in that church today at 7:30 p.m. The guest minister will be Reverend Robert G. Valentine, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Shreveport.

According to Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, services will be held at 10:00 a. m. each day Monday through Friday with sermons on Elijah as a man and prophet of the Lord. The theme of the 7:30 p.m. services will be "The Heart of the Master.' The evening services will begin Sunday evening and be concluded Friday evening October 10th.

Move Toward Merger Seen By Lutherans

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

You may be reading quite a bit next week about a subject dear to the hearts of most American Protestant churchmen. In a single word: merger.

It will be one of the chief topics of discussions and progress reports when the 21st biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America opens Wednesday in Dayton, Ohio.

The planned merger involves the ULCA, the largest single Lutheran body in America, and three smaller churches, the Augustana, Finnish and American Evangelical Lutheran churches.

When the union is accomplished, probably within the next three or four years, it will bring into a single fold some three million of the nearly 7½ million Lutherans in America.

There was a time when the Lutherans were one of the most fragmented denominations in American Protestantism. There were about 150 divisions. Since 1910, when concerted drives for unification began, the number has been reduced to 17.

Generally the divisions came, not over doctrine, but along notional lines and particularly over the languages in which services were conducted.

But as national and linguistic differences began disappearing among the grandsons and granddaughters of immigrants, the various Lutheran churches found themselves growing more and more alike.

The United Lutheran Church in America . . . 2,395,000 baptized members in 4,500 congregations. . . . Traces its founding back to the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, the first Lutheran synod in America, organized in 1748.

Its president is the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of New York, perhaps Americas best known Lutheran clergyman, who is also the first American to be elected head of the 50-million-member Luthran World Federation.

The Augustana Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 576,000 baptized members in 1,200 congregations . . . Organized as a synod of Swedes and Norwegians in 1860.

The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 38,000 baptized members in 155 congregations. . . . Better known as the Suomi Synod. . . . Organized in 1890 by Finnish Lutherans.

The American Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 23,000 baptized members in 80 congregations. . . . Organized in 1872 by Danish missionaries. . . . Sometimes called the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Another Lutheran merger is scheduled to take place in 1961 when the American Lutheran Church with 900,000 members, the Evangelical Lutheran Church with a million members and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church with 60,000 join forces.

Aloof to all the merger talk is the strict and conservative Missouri Synod, second largest Lutheran body with more than two million members, and its chief ally, the Joint Synod of Wisconsin and Other States with 340,000.

PLAN TIRE FACTORY

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The B. F. Goodrich Co. announced Friday it plans to build a tire factory in Iran to be financed in part by local investors.

P. D. Miller Will Address Churches Here

Dr. P. D. Miller, executive secretary of the board of church extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., was scheduled to speak at the evening service of the First Presbyterian Church 7:30 p.m. today. Dr. Miller has had pastorates in San Antonio and Atlanta. At present, he is in charge of the church extension work with its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Men of the Church of the central and eastern districts of Red River Presbytery have brought Dr. Miller to Monroe in connection with their fall rally. Since Dr. Miller is an outstanding speaker and Christian, the men have invited all of those interested in the development of the Presbyterian Church in this area to this service.

Dr. Miller will deliver the sermon at Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe at 11:00 a.m. today, according to Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor.

WEST MONROE YOUTH —Bobby Gayle Swammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Swammer of 702 Wood, was licensed to the ministry in a special service last week at Ridge Avenue Baptist Church. Young Swammer, a junior at West Monroe High School, plans to enter Baylor University after graduation here.

College Place Church To Hold Training Clinic

As many as 1000 persons are expected to attend the Training Union Improvement Clinic to be held tomorrow through Thursday at the College Place Baptist Church, 301 Sherrouse, Monroe. This Improvement Clinic is given for all Baptist Training Union members and church members that are interested in improving themselves. This is sponsored by the Training Union Department of La. Baptist Convention and the Ouachita Parish Association of Training Unions.

All the churches in the Baptist Ouachita Parish Association and the Trenton Association will participate in the clinic. Classes will start at 7 p.m. daily and will end at 9 p.m. The nursery will be open.

Serving as faculty members for the special school will be Kermit King Melvin Bradley, Jimmy Crowe and Miss Louise Hill in classes for teachers of adults; Mrs. Elmer Bilbrey and Miss Neta Stewart for teachers of intermediates and juniors; Mrs. A. L. Russell and Mrs. A. A. Greene for persons in charge of beginners and nurseries. Mrs. L. G. Andrews, Harvey McGraw and Mrs. Luttrell will also serve on the training improvement clinic.

MY ANSWER by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Why was Cain's offering to God rejected when he had not been instructed as to what it should consist of? M. R.

ANSWER: The story, as recorded in the fourth chapter of Genesis, would indicate that Cain and Abel had received identical instructions. But Cain decided that he would worship God in his own way while Abel followed God's command. It was not the sacrifice itself which was effective but rather the obedience and faith implicit in the act of worship. The sacrifice of a slain animal was a type of the great sacrifice yet to take place when Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was to die on the Cross for sinners. In the eleventh chapter of the book of Hebrews we read: "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh."

Today we should be very sure that we receive and act on God's way of salvation. This He offers through faith in His Son and that which He did for us on the Cross. By His one sacrifice, offered once and for all, we can be cleansed from our sins and changed into new persons. God offers us a complete plan and it is our privilege and duty to accept it.

New Church In College Town Sets Opening

The College Town Church of Christ, 3605 DeSiard St., holds its formal opening in the beautiful new building at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 5th just two years and nine months after the first service was conducted.

Services have been held temporarily in the auditorium of the Northeast Louisiana State College, and mid-week Bible study at 7223 DeSiard St.

The public is cordially invited to attend a series of Bible lectures by E. C. McKenzie, minister for the Jackson St. Church of Christ of this city. Services will begin each evening at 7:30

Ridge Avenue Pastors' Meet Church To Host

The Louisiana Baptist District III pastors conference will meet with the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, tomorrow at 10:00 a. m., according to Rev. Rawls Pierce, secretary of the conference.

Dr. Robert L. Lee, executive secretary for Louisiana Baptists, will be the speaker of the morning. He will tell of his recent around - the - world trip visiting Southern Baptist mission fields.

Each pastor and his wife is urged to attend this important fellowship meeting. After the morning service the Ridge Avenue Church will serve lunch.

World Communion Set At Churches

Along with many other churches in the community, the First Christian Church at St. John and Oak in Monroe will observe World-wide Communion Sunday today at a special service.

Today will also mark a rally day at the church, with each church school trying to reach attendance goals set earlier in the year.

Novel Was Completed Despite Fatal Illness

For a decade and more, the popular English author longed to write a novel with a religious theme that long had been on his mind.

Twice Cary tried to put the book together and twice he failed. Other successes came. His reputation in Britain and the United States grew with "The Horse's Mouth" and "The House of Children" and other novels, but the novel he most wanted to write remained undone.

When he was 65, in 1954, Cary began trying again. This time his ideas jelled. For nearly a year he wrote, until, gradually, he began detecting that just as the novel was coming within his grasps, this grasp was failing.

STRICKEN IN 55

For, in 1955, Cary was stricken with a creeping paralysis, which, his doctor said, would eventually kill him.

The novel became urgent. Cary struggled to keep his crippled body alive long enough to finish.

His mind sped up its labor, but his muscles, almost inch by inch, faded and ceased to function.

As his arms grew heavy he used an apparatus his doctors invented for him to suspend his arms over the writing board in slings hanging from the ceiling.

"It will break my heart if I don't finish this," he said.

He could no longer turn pages, so he wrote on long rolls of paper.

His fingers became lifeless — doctors fastened the pen to his hand, and on he wrote.

In March, 1957, Cary died.

NOVEL FINISHED

Now it has been announced that his last novel, called "The Captive and The Free" was finished in time and will be published next spring.

"This is one of his very important novels, from the point of view of theme and treatment," explained Mrs. Winnifred Davin, his old friend and literary executor. "The free and the captive are those who have freedom in their souls and those who haven't —those who have sold out in some way."

Cary wrote his last novel in the third person. His best - known novels were in the first person.

"I feel, however," Mrs. Davin went on, "that some of the passages in 'The Captive and The Free' are extremely personal. Some that deal with illness and death were surely close to his own experience at the time he was writing."

"The Captive and The Free" is set in London in the early 1950s, with a newspaper office and a faith healing mission as the main settings.

"The faith healer is the central figure of the plot," Mrs. Davin said. "On him converge all the pressures that might make a man lose his freedom, lose it to other people or to his own selfishness."

Mrs. Davin spent eight months selecting the final drafts of Cary's manuscript—he had drafted parts of the 135,000-word novel four times — and piecing them together. There were only two small gaps, she said, where she has supplied the missing events in brackets.

"His doctors at the Nuffield Orthopedic Center here in Oxford never told him, or anyone else, as far as I know, the exact nature of his paralysis," Mrs. Davin said. "We all simply called it a muscular atrophy."

ADVENTUROUS LIFE

Cary had known illness throughout his entire adventurous life. As a small boy in his native Ireland he suffered rheumatism and fainting spells.

At two different times he served as a political officer and magistrate in Africa — both times he caught malaria and had to return home to England.

Cary was married and had four sons. His wife died in 1949.

He was an officer in a Nigerian regiment during the first World War. At the battle of Mora Mountain, Lt. Cary led a charge up a hill and a bullet went into his ear.

"I thought I was dead," he said many years later. "I said to myself, 'It's a fine way to die.'

"But I wasn't to die so easily or so quickly."

For French Flavor Turn To The 'Law'

THE LAW. By Roger Vailland Translated from French by Peter Wiles Knopf. $3.95. BOULEVARD. By Robert Sabatier. Translated from French by Lowell Bair. McKay. $4. JACOB. By Jean Cabries. Translated from French by Gerard Hopkins. Dutton. $4.95. THE SONS OF AVROM. By Roger Ikor. Translated from French by Leonard Putnam. $4.50.

In Vailland's novel about a small unenlightened town in southern Italy, a boy, Francesco, has read Stendhal's "La Chartreuse de Parme" and this makes him realize, Vailland says, that though the buxom Donna Lucrezia is twice his weight as well as twice his age, he may make love to her. "This was," Vailland comments, "what came of reading French novels."

The author may not speak too seriously, yet this incident contains all the references required for some generalizations — not to be sure about the philosophy of French fiction — but about these particular four novels and their Frenchiness. Certainly Stendhal may be the greatest of them; only those who put Proust first would challenge this. Certainly the American as well as Italian notion is that a French novel—like so-called French postcards—is what makes a man kick over the traces.

Of these books, three won prizes at home, and two, Vailland's and Sabatier's, are specially French though not in any popular sense.

The two others, by contrast, are less French. Ikor writes of Russian Jews fleeing to France, settling in Paris, adopting the new ways, losing the edge of orthodoxy. The author calls human brotherhood his theme, it is indeed on a high level, but there is some sentimental essence, as the purposely happy ending indicates. "Jacob" concerns the man who wrestled with the antel, and who worked for seven years for Rachel only to have Leah fobbed off on him. We meet him when, with Rebecca's conniving, he has cozzened his twin Esau out of their blind father's blessing, and we leave him returning a rich man to his birthplace. There is nothing maudlin here, nor, in Ikor, but it has rather an Anglo-Saxon than a Gallic mood. No doubt both books come to us, not because they are typically French, but because they have some typically American qualities. Indeed the French sort of palm them off on foreign sources, and call Cabries the "son of Rembrandt" while they liken Ikor to Dickens.

There are no such references to Vailland or Sabatier. The latter tells of a boy living in a Montmartre garret and spending his time ill-advisedly with a drunken ex-boxer, a pretty Italian girl, a pair of homosexuals, a striptease artist and occasionally his own father and hateful stepmother. Vailland's novel, most French of all, is by any standards, literary or national, best of all. In his fishing town of Porto Manacore, Don Cesare loves a succession of women; Matteo Brizante takes his women by force; Marietta jumps in one wild night from girlhood to womanhood; there is a grand Stendhalian resolution.

Candor, clarity, conciseness — the three C' are perhaps the most distinguishing French characteristics demonstrated here. No gloss hides the facts of life. Vailland in particular cuts behind the surface to show whence the pretty bloom on the cheek, or the horrible scar or sore. Perhaps they share fundamentally a lack of squeamishness; you have it again in a recent translation of another Colette novel, "Claudine in Paris" (Farrar, Straus and Cudahy). The total effect is not lurid, not smutty; but they draw no more moral about the affairs of Venus than about the planet Venus. An American novelist would show the Sabatier boy getting better or worse; Sabatier just shows him static. We would make Marietta good or wicked, Vailland makes her Marietta. We think there is only love, the French say there are love and sex — it is unsentimental matter-of-factness which balks Colette of the large audience she deserves among us.

College of Hard Knocks for Your Children?

Not if you can help it, of course. But can you? By the time they reach college age, will the college you choose be able to take them in?

Let's hope so. But maybe not!

Many college classrooms are overcrowded today. By 1967, applications are expected to double. On top of that, low salaries are driving too many gifted teachers into other fields and reducing the number of capable people training for teaching careers today.

By the time your children are ready for college, there's a good chance the college of their choice just plain won't be ready for them—unless we take steps to remedy this situation now. You can help, by helping the college of your choice now.

2 Different Views About Wide Travel

CORNFLAKES AND BEAUJOLAIS. By Paul Roberts. Holt. $3.75. BUT I WOULDN'T WANT TO LIVE THERE. By Heather Jimenz. $3.50.

Heather, a Philadelphia girl fed up with too much music around the house, went to New York to learn to paint; fed up with too much painting, she went to Mexico City and married a Spaniard who in the interests of UNESCO rushed in and out of half a dozen European and Near Eastern countries and headed finally for Brazil; fed up with too much travel, she wrote this book.

It's a breezy account alive with quips and cracks about all the usual problems—language, passports, driving papers, illnesses, servants and children, of whom there are two as the family starts for South America.

Paul too begins his travel experiences in Mexico; then as a Fulbright professor, and with three children, he sets off for a post in Egypt—the Jimenez family got to Beirut, the Roberts, wanderings stop at Athens and Cairo. They too have a car sometimes with the proper papers and sometimes not. They too have a child that wants to go to the bathroom just when there's none to go to, and no time to stop anyway.

Mrs. Jimenez overstates, Roberts understates. You might enjoy her book, you'd certainly enjoy his. Is it practical to take children along, he asks? Will they like it? easily? He answers no three times. Then at what age should a child go abroad? He says: "About 35."

Large Group From State To FFA Meeting

Approximately 300 Louisiana members of the Future Farmers of America will board a special train to attend the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, Oct. 12, it was announced yesterday.

Nine young men from the state will receive the highest honor the National Association can bestow upon a member, the coveted American Farmer Degree. They are: Richard Dearman, Delhi Chapter; Vernon S. Brian, Pride Chapter; Lawrence D. Bruchhaus, Elton Chapter; Nolan Coleman, Delhi Chapter; Jerry Cox, Plain Dealing Chapter; Thomas F. Hippler, Many Chapter; Richard M. Johnson, Readheimer Chapter and Bill G. Lambert, Kinder Chapter.

COMPETING

Three outstanding state FFA chapters are competing for national honors based on their chapter's programs of work. They are Delhi, Slidell and Sulphur. Other awards to be made at the convention, other than judging contests, are the Star Farmer of America, with a regional winner from each of the four regions, national and regional winners in farm electrification, farm mechanics, soil and water management, farm safety, the national public speaking contest and the American Farmer degree.

The group will be treated to a tour of the Kansas City stockyards and packing houses, a tour of the automobile assembly plants, a Broadway musical, and a talent show presented by the future farmers.

Installation of new officers will close the convention with the group leaving Thursday night and arriving in Shreveport at noon Friday, October 17.

Another In Search For What Is Truth

THE DHARMA BUMS. By Jack Kerouac. Viking. $3.95.

Ray Smith is riding a freight out of Los Angeles when we first meet him, the narrator and spokesman for Kerouac, in this new novel by the leading representative of our fictional young Beat Generation. He is in the company of a "Dharma bum," a religious wanderer, a man seeking truth; he is one himself; and he will spend most of his time in this story, as he tells it, with the original D. B., Japhy Ryder.

Japhy is often seen in the full lotus position, that is, crossed legs with ankles on thighs, and telling his juju beads; and there is a whole Oriental ethical vocabulary to which these busy - body truth - seekers constantly revert: Samapatti, bhikku, Buddham, Saranam, Gocchami, Kwannon, Kasyapa, Tathagata, Maitreya, Bodhisattva Mahasattva, mandala, sutra, Dipankara — indeed when Ray mentions Sinatra, or cheddar, you're caught unawares and think for a moment it's still the higher life instead of a crooner and a cheese.

There is a lot of drinking of California wines, and every now and then the boys turn earthy and common on us, dance in the nude, and indulge in "yabyum," which means in Kerouachese a good time with the girls. But this is in the main a search, in which prayer takes a part, for a new and better life. The boys go climb a mountain, undergo the trials of the wilderness, look down on a promised land, and come out of it grandly self-sufficient, in love with the unsullied air of snow-covered peaks, and scornful of cities, determined to be better men and sit on a rock and meditate themselves into a state of goodness and grace.

This is more "On the Road," the novel which first called Kerouac to our attention: Ray bums rides on freights, or hitch-hikes, or rides by bus up and down the Pacific coast, comes east, goes west again, never stays still. It is pretentious in spots, and silly and inane. But a lively imagination, if not a profound one, is at play here, and there is sense behind the excess of posturing.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Books For Every Type Of Reader

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Among the new books added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week, there is something to appeal to every type of reader. The outstanding book of fiction is "Women and Thomas Harrow" by John P. Marquand. Critics acclaim it as one of the major achievements of Mr. Marquand's career. The scene shifts from that of the theatrical world to Clyde the New England town which has figured in so many of Mr. Marquand's stories. This is a long novel, peopled with a host of interesting characters and should have a great success. Another fiction title which is certain to be popular is Frank Yerby's new novel, "The Serpent and the Staff." This is the story of a physician and the setting is in New Orleans. With the popularity of the author, the subject and the setting, this book is certain to draw a large group of readers.

Another story about a doctor is "To Keep This Oath" by Hebe Weenolsen. This is the story of a twelfth - century physician - surgeon and the contrast of the practice of medicine now and then is remarkable. This is a long story and will appeal to the many readers who enjoyed a former book by this author called "The Last Englishman." "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick is the story of a group of Americans in Southeast Asia — their failures and heroism, their humors and passions, their drama in a land of turmoil. John Brick, who is a skillful artist in depicting American pioneer life has written a new novel, which he calls "Panther Mountain." With a setting in upper New York state, he has given us a fascinating picture of an interesting group of people.

The field of non - fiction has some very interesting titles this week. Probably the most timely one is called "Nine Men Against America." The author is Rosalie M. Gordon and she gives a stinging denouncement of the United States supreme court. Two new titles in the field of education are: "Common Sense about Gifted Children" by Willard Abraham and "The Education of the Individual" by Alfred Adler. Both are very significant books. A new title in the field of astronomy is "1001 Questions Answered about Astronomy" by James E. Pickering.

There are several new biographies among this week's offerings. "Jean Henri Dunant" by Josephine Rich is an interesting biography of the founder of the American Red Cross. "King of the French" by Agnes Stoeckl is a very penetrating biography of Louis Phillipe of France. Two biographies of outstanding literary figures are "Conrad the Noveiis" by Albert Guerard and "Dante Lights the Way" by Ruth Mary Fox. Last of all there is the life of "Mac Powell, Conqueror of the Grand Canyon" written by Leonard Wibberley. This is a story of adventure and excitement.

Two new books dealing with conditions in the world today are "A Short History of Cambodia" by Martin F. Herz and "Suez and After" by Michael Adams. Whatever your interest the Ouachita Parish Public Library will attempt to find the material which will help you satisfy it. If you are not a patron we invite you to become one as soon as possible.

Visit our booth at the Ouachita Valley Fair this next week and see what we have to offer you.

RECORDS

CONCERT
By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since "Cavalleria Rusticana" has only three essential parts, a new recording of that operatic tear-jerker must be placed at the head of the list since it has Renata Tebaldi, Jussi Bjoerling and Ettore Bastianini singing those parts.

If you were choosing an ideal cast for a recording (but not necessarily a performance) from among current opera singers, you'd probably choose those three (RCA Victor-LM6059.)

This handsome two - record set has curious sidelights. It is part of RCA Victor's collaboration with the Metropolitan Opera, but it was made in Florence with a Florentine orchestra and chorus, and the conductor is Alberto Erede who was Met conductor years ago but isn't any more. And Tebaldi is a London artist who has recorded just about the full Italian operatic repertoire for that label.

The first recording of Dmitri Shostakovich's 11th symphony takes two full records. That's a lot of symphony, much too much for anyone who does not share Soviet patriotic emotions and who is not familiar with the Czarist massacre of January 1905 which the music is said to depict.

Yet Shostakovich is at the forefront of living composers and the points of music interest are many. The recording is by the Houston Symphony, Leopold Stokowski conducting (Capitol-8448).

From the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Eugene Ormandy, emerges its usual high - polished sounds under the most exquisite control, projecting Respighi's tone poems "The Fountains of Rome" and "The Pines of Rome." These pieces supply wonderful meat for an orchestra able to exploit their brilliant colorations and dynamics. But does empty music become less so when it is beautifully played? (Columbia-ML5279).

Boris Karloff is the narrator of a new recording of Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," and a very impressive one. He should put the kiddies on the edges of their chairs, all right. The orchestra is the Vienna State Opera, the conductor Mario Rossi (Vanguard-1928).

POPULAR
By WILLIAM D. LAFFLER

NEW YORK (UPI) — The harmonica, in recent years, has emerged as a first - class musical instrument because of improvements in its construction and the inventiveness of certain professional artists.

Larry Adler's name is synonymous with the harmonica. But others have helped lift the harmonica from the mouth - organ stage. Among them is Johnny Puleo, the tiny foil of the late Borrah Minnevitch.

"Johnny Puleo and His Harmonica Gang, Vol. 2" (Audio-Fidelity AFLP-1859) shows what can be done with this instrument. Only harmonicas are used by Puleo and his group but often there is the illusion of a small orchestra.

Puleo's selections range from the pretentious "Sabre Dance" to "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." After hearing this group, the listener quickly will agree that you can play something other than "Home Sweet Home" on the mouth organ.

"The Harmonicats in the Land of Hi-Fi" (Mercury MG-20362) is more informal than the Puleo LP but is of equal interest. Unlike Puleo, the Harmonicats play with a combo instead of relying on harmonicas alone. But the 'cats are quite efficient and their presentation of "Diane," "Twelfth Street Rag" and "Heart of My Heart" is exhilarating.

Blind Sonny Terry is cast in a supporting role on "Brother John Sellers Sings Blues and Folk Songs" (Vanguard VRS - 9036). Sellers is a great blues singer alone but with the help of Terry's harmonica and such sidemen as Sir Charles Thompson on the piano, Ruby Braff on the trumpet and Jo Jones on the drums, he has turned out a collector's item.

Tops in pops — "Another Day, Another Sunset" by Diahann Carroll from the movie "The Big Country" (United Artists UA-142), "Martian Love Call" by Jack Owens (Orbit R-5208), "Blue Moon" by Jimmy Bowen (Roulette R-4102), "Be Mine Tonight" by Duke Mitchell with good backing by Billy Ward (Liberty F-55158). "Count Down" by Buddy Morrow (RCA-Victor 47-7333) and "Lover Boy" by the Gailtones (Decca 9-30726.)

LP of the Week — "Bernadine" by Bernadine Read (Epic LN-3497). Songs styled by a young lady worth watching.

Stereoscope — "South Pacific" by Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians. (Capitol ST-992). The music from Rodgers and Hammerstein's modern classic becomes even more enjoyable when played on a stereo phonograph. The quality of this recording is superb.

BOOKS

The Best of Everything, by Rona Jaffe (Simon & Schuster): The modern city-dwelling girl enjoys greater freedom than any other young woman in history, but she sometimes pays for it with a loss of security that can be tragic. This book concerns itself with five women on their own in New York. They all want the same things — mostly love accompanied by marriage—but life has other plans for them. Miss Jaffe, herself a young city-dweller, spares her characters nothing in this impressive first novel.

The Electoral College, by Lucius Wilmerding Jr. (Rutgers): As the time draws near for choosing a new President of the United States, arguments over the electoral college are renewed. Many feel the system should be overhauled, among them the author, a former professor and government economist. Since the present system does not insure that the President will be the real choice of the American people, Wilmerding offers a plan by which an election would go to Congress if the leading candidate failed to win 40 per cent of the electoral votes. Each Senator and House member would have one vote. There would also have to be other changes. But Wilmerding sees not much chance of anything being done "until there is a failure in the popular election and a choice by the House of Representatives of a President plainly obnoxious to a majority of the people."

The Business of War, by Maj. Gen. Sir John Kennedy (Morrow): Past wars will never be fought again, but they do offer some lessons that might be useful in the next. This is a report on World War II by one of Britain's top military technicians. The most heretical view expressed in this book is that the British contribution to the war was achieved despite rather than because of the (admittedly titanic) efforts of Sir Winston Churchill. But Kennedy's final analysis of Churchill's part adds rather than detracts ". . . neither his stature nor his place in our annals can be diminished by glimpses of his petulance, or revelations of how difficult it was to chase all the butterflies conjured up and released by his limitless fantasy. His glory remains."

The Housebreaker of Shady Hill, by John Cheever (Harper): A collection of perceptive stories giving a delightful look at a certain suburbia. All residents of Shady Hill have problems. The housebreaker is a Madison Avenue type looking for a quick buck in the homes of neighbors who'll never miss a few hundred.

RESEARCH BUREAU

Favors 16 Of 30 La. Amendments

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Bureau of Governmental Research said Saturday it favors 16 of 30 proposed state constitutional amendments on the Nov. 4 ballot. Among them was a court revision plan.

The private research group, interested in better government, opposed an amendment to authorize state financial assistance to students attending private non-sectarian elementary and secondary schools.

The bureau said the student assistance amendment places in the Legislature sweeping powers without controls or limitations with respect to the educational system of the state.

Disapproval of the measure, the bureau said, stems from implications and possibilities for misuse of public funds and functions the proposal contains.

"It is important that it be clearly understood that the Bureau in disapproving this amendment takes no position whatsoever either for or against segregation in the schools," the bureau said.

"The matter of segregation or non-segregation is one which concerns social and moral problems. Such problems are beyond the scope of the governmental problems with which the bureau deals."

The bureau said the constitutionality of the proposal is questionable both on the federal and state level.

Disregarding the segregation question, it said, the proposal would give the legislature tremendous power that could be used for purposes other than those intended by the authors.

The court revision plan favored by the research group would narrow the appellate jurisdiction of the State Supreme Court and grant additional appellate jurisdiction to the Courts of Appeal. A fourth appeal circuit would be added to accomodate the greater work load.

The Supreme Court would retain its supervisory and original jurisdiction over all inferior courts and its appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases and some others.

A reorganization of the courts is desirable, the bureau said, and would result in improved judicial administration.

"The proposal has received intensive study by responsible legal groups which have a first-hand knowledge of judicial operations," the bureau said. "For these reasons the Bureau approves this proposal, even though there is some doubt as to the need for ten additional judges."

The courts of appeal, it said, have operated without increase in personnel since 1907.

Other constitutional proposals receiving BGR approval were:

$5,000 homestead exemption for 10 years to veterans who served both in World War II and Korea.

Reopen and extend Korean bonus application period to Jan. 1, 1960.

Give Louisiana State University in New Orleans constitutional status.

Give adopted children the same inheritance rights as children born into families.

Increase the debt limit of political subdivisions from 10 to 15 per cent of assessed valuation.

Prohibit the legislature from amending measures proposing to amend the consitution by substituting new subject matter.

Change the title of the state auditor to comptroller.

Increase powers of political subdivision to maintain waterways and spans across waterways.

Clarify present constitutional provisions of Louisiana's industry inducement plan and provide for creation of industrial districts.

Allow cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population to establish a civil service system under constitutional protection.

Authorize parishes to create mosquito abatement districts.

The bureau opposed nine other proposed amendments. They would:

Revise distribution of revenues from 16th section lands to parish school boards.

Broaden agricultural property tax exemptions.

Allow parishes, wards or municipalities to levy taxes to provide homes for citizens 60 years old.

Boswell-Simons Marriage Is Announced

Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. Simons of Winnsboro, announce the marriage of their daughter, Frankie Sue, to Rue L. Boswell of El Dorado, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Crowville High School and of Warner Brown School of Nurses. The groom is a graduate of El Dorado High School and is now attending Engineering School at Louisiana Tech.

Vows Exchanged By Frances Carol Wilhite And Van Anderson, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Frances Carol Wilhite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilhite of this city, and Van Austin Anderson, Jr., son of Mrs. Van Anderson of Sterlington, and the late Mr. Anderson, was an event in September in the Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. D. W. Nix performed the double ring ceremony. Decorating the altar were baskets of white stock and bamboo. Tall white tapers carried out the decorations on the altar.

Mr. Jon Barker was the soloist, accompanied by Miss Elaine Knight at the piano.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in a gown of white silk organza. The bodice was covered in imported Chantilly lace with seed pearls outlining the scalloped neckline. The bottom of the bouffant skirt was scalloped with the Chantilly lace with seed pearls. The long sleeves came to points at the wrists and were fastened with tiny covered buttons. The finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a crown of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of tuberoses centered by a white purple-throated orchid over a white Bible.

BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were Miss Eloise Hankins and Miss Donna Welch. They were gowned in same shade of orchid and carried bouquets of orchid carnations. Miss Phyllis Hart served as flower girl. Her dress was pale orchid with matching velvet ribbon and carried an orchid crocheted basket of petals.

Miss Charlotte Coy and Miss Sheila Hart served as candlelighters. They were dressed in deep orchid dress with matching ribbons. Pinned on their waists were baby orchids.

Johnny Blake served the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Robert Coy and Robert Wilhite, brother of the bride.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered in lace over orchid polished cotton. The three tiered colonnade wedding cake adorned one end of the table while the crystal punch bowl was at the opposite end. The bridesmaids' bouquets formed the centerpiece flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Nelda Pettit and Mrs. Wanda Allen. Mrs. Nancy Coy registered the guests.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Barnett, William Lewis Johnson

The marriage of Miss Nelda Ruth Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Willard Barnett of Bastrop, and William Lewis Johnson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Lewis Johnson, was an event of September 28, in St. Joseph Catholic Church in Bastrop.

The Rev. Father Ervin Huntsha officiated over the double ring ceremony. White chrysanthemums, white gladioli and pom poms decorated the side altars, with smilax on the chancel rail and palm in the background.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned of white antique satin with a sabrina nekline. It featured an Empire waistline with a graceful bow flowing into a chapel train. The finger - tip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouqut of stephanotis and phalaenopfis orchids centered with a white hybrid orchid.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. Henry L. McDowell Jr., served the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Margo Smith of Baton Rouge; Annette Berry, Merrilee Parker and Mrs. Flint W. Robertson, all of Bastrop. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Mary and Martha Currie.

Their dresses had bodices of forest green and skirts of mint green with a large bustle bow flowing into a harem skirt giving a butterfly effect. They wore matching shoes and tiaras of seed pearls. They carried bouquets of white mums and satin bows.

William de Yampert of Wilmot, Arkansas, served the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Thomas Scannell Jr. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Charles Johnson, St. Louis, Missouri; George Gray, Shreveport; and Billy G. Barnett.

RECEPTION

The International House was the scene of the lovely reception given by the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a white cloth and held an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and stock in a silver container as the centerpiece. At either end of the table was a lovely silver punch service and the wedding cake. Mrs. A. W. Moore and Mrs. Ruth Wroten presided at the punch service and Mrs. Herman Dau and Mrs. Foy Houston served the cake.

TEA GIRLS

Tea girls were Misses Diane Garnier, Carol and Patricia Barnett, Carolee Nutt, Glenda and Nancy Becton and Carolyn Perry. Registering the guests was Mrs. B. F. Barnett of Crossett, Ark.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Wilmot, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Louisiana State University and was a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority and Alpha Beta Chi professional fraternity. Mr. Johnson attended Christian Brothers College in St. Louis, Missouri, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity and the Scabbard and Blades.

Let Teenager Help Style Own Room

When girls begin crowding into their teens, it isn't long before they become "experts" in home decorating, among other things. And it's probably a good idea to encourage them to express their tastes in home styling whenever and wherever possible.

One way to do this is through the use of the decorative covering materials now available. "Little Miss Expert" can put her ideas to work in re-covering some of the older furniture pieces in her room — tables, chairs, cabinets, phonograph stands, and even small wall areas.

Among the decorative coverings easiest to apply—even for teenagers who are all thumbs—are those with adhesive backing. One such covering has a durable plastic-coating — just the thing for easy cleaning.

This same particular covering comes in a wide variety of colors and patterns that will delight the young lady of the house. One of the newer patterns recently added to the line is called Patrician and has a free-form motif utilizing tiny gold and foil squares interlaced with gold foil threading. It's available in four background colors — turquoise, white pink and yellow.

Delta Kappa Pi Sorority Elects Officers

The regular meeting of Delta Kappa Pi sorority met in the home of Miss Wanda Mouton, 201 Chickasaw Drive, West Monroe.

Installation of the newly elected officers for the coming term was held.

NEW OFFICERS

The following members installed were: President, Miss Wanda Mouton; vice president, Miss Brenda Younse; secretary, Miss Priscilla Thompson; treasurer, Miss Betty Blair; historian, Miss Nancy Cash; parliamentarian, Miss Donna Moore; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Judy Lebengood; reporter, Miss Kay Harris and pledge advisors Miss Linda Bledsoe and Miss Cheryl Robeson.

OUT-GOING OFFICERS

The outgoing officers were: Vice president, Miss Martha Harris, secretary, Miss Norma Magee; treasurer, Miss Ann Duncan; reporter, Miss Sheila Watson; sergeant-at-arms Miss Virginia Watson; historian, Miss Brenda Younse; parliamentarian, Miss Judy Carter and pledge advisors, Miss Cheryl Robeson and Miss Nancy Cash.

PEAS

Chick peas may be bought in cans. Drain them and dress with olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper; serve with anchovies, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, boneless and skinless sardines and water cress or other greens for a first course.

Casual styles call for separates with a difference this year. That difference is mis-matching. Over blouses are designed to go with one skirt, but the outfit is not made in the same fabric. Velveteen tops are color coordinated with wool plaid skirts, or wool jersey overblouses combine with mohair skirts.

A Suit That Answers Many Fashion Needs

By BETH BLAIR

The "walking suit" is a wearable costume which can fill an important place in fall and early winter wardrobes. Slim jackets are usually straight in silhouette and range anywhere from finger-tip length to just a few inches above the knee. Consider one in tweed for everyday wear or in a dressy wool with fur trim for dress up. A reader writes —

Dear Miss Blair:

I have a good black and white tweed coat which I can't seem to wear out. I wonder if I could remodel it some way — it is a double-breasted style with shawl collar, slit pockets and the silhouette is straight.

There isn't much you can do to this type coat other than dye it a solid color or add a fur collar as black beaver or similar fairly flat fur. Fox might be good on it, too. You might enjoy the coat for another few seasons if you were to crop it above the knees, the new walking suit length. You could add a black wool skirt to wear under it — another in red or even winter white might be fun.

Dear Miss Blair:

I am little and do not like to wear heavy woolens or patterned fabrics since I feel they make me appear even smaller. For a winter wardrobe with a few cocktail dresses, I find it difficult to keep to my convictions. Have you any suggestions?

Keep your fashion preferences when planning new clothes and shopping for them. You may have to compromise, however, unless you make your own or can have them sewn for you. In any event avoid the bulky fabrics which would be all wrong for your type. Choose them with surface interest but these can be lightweight fabrics as well. One or two "patterns" might add more interest to your wardrobe, however. Why not consider a vertical stripe or one of the dark floral patterns which are so subtle they sometimes appear as a solid — usually in silk?

The walking suit, which designers established last spring, gathers speed for fall and winter. The style comes in a variety of fabrics and colors, often shown with fur detailing. It proved so popular that a companion style—the walking dress—also is making fashion news. The slender wool dresses are planned for wear without a wrap on a brisk fall day. The one - piecers also have fur collars.

Well, we got the crisp fall weather, just as we ordered. And with it the World Series and the football weekends. All of which leads inevitably to the short trip, (short in days, not distances) a pleasurable change from the regular routine.

The RALPH EINHORNS flew to New York Wednesday. They had tickets for the Series, "My Fair Lady" and "The Music Man." They plan to be home Tuesday.

Quite a group of our people went to Dallas this weekend for the Notre Dame-SMU game. The CLAY WILSONS drove over Thursday, accompanied by DOT MASUR and the MORGAN SIMONTONS. JACK MASUR flew over yesterday to join them . . . REGINA and HENRY HAMMONDS and MILTON FORD drove over on Friday.

The fall season at Highland Park country club started with a bang at the Holiday in Mexico party last Saturday night. The entrance courtyard set the South of the Border theme with a large sign reading "Casa Rio." Tethered nearby were two authentic, sleepy-looking live donkeys.

Inside the tables were covered with red checked cloths and centered with candles in bottles. Mexican hats and serapes were used on the walls. Tall standing arrangements of banana leaves and other greenery ringed the floor. Dinner, served from seven until nine, consisted of such Latin specialties as tacos, enchiladas, tamales, chili, guacammole and tortillas.

Dinner guest included the HERBERT RINEHARTS and their daughter ANN . WANDA and DON M'CORMICK of Ruston, who were guests of the FAIRELL KETCHELS . HELEN and DAVID AGNEW. Friends were congratulating Dave on being elected district governor of Kiwanis at the Gulf coast convention last week . The TED GRANTS of Baton Rouge were guests of his mother, MRS. FRED GRANT . . . and the JAY SULLIVANS of Winnsboro were guests of the GENE KOONTZ.

Music for dancing began in the main dining room at nine o'clock. The gaily costumed musicians specialized in rhumba and cha cha rhythms.

Among the dancers were the C. C. BELLS. He wore a striped shirt and a fringed sash, while Kathleen was in a red squaw dress . . . The KENNY HOLTS were celebrating their seventeenth wedding anniversary. Juanita's brown outfit was complimented with an exquisite yellow orchid . . . 'Twas a treat to watch the CLAYTON CALHOUNS and their clever dance steps.

Our popular visitor, GARLAND SPENCER, has been entertained with several lovely luncheons this week. (Garland and her husband, Dr. R. R. SPENCER of Sarasota, Florida, have been the guests of their son and his family, the NAT SPENCERS.) Tuesday's party was held at the Bayou DeSiard country club, where DAISY GRAY was hostess. The table, which was set up on the club porch, was centered with pale yellow Fuji mums arranged in a gold cornucopia. Lobster newburg was the main course of the meal served to twelve guests.

On Thursday VERA BROWN invited a congenial foursome for lunch and bridge. Garlands daughter - in - law, Barrie Spencer and aBrrie's mother, MAE WALSWORTH, were additional luncheon guests.

Saturday's hostess was ELOISE SLATER, who entertained at the Lotus club. Crysanthemums in shades of yellow, brown, and bronze centered the table. Shrimp cocktail was served as a first course, followed by broiled chicken with a green salad. Guests were Garland, Barrie, Mae, and LESSIE GARRETT, CHUNKIE LEMERT, CARRIE DEE DREW, AND FRANCES M'HENRY.

An informal supper party at the CORBIN TURPIN home honored the Spencers last night. Co - hosts were the FELIX WILLEYS. An arrangement of fruit was used on the dining table. Barbecued chicken, rice and giblets, and Dutch apple pie comprised the menu served to twelve guests.

SARA LEE and CHARLES LEDOUX entertained with a supper party at their camp last Saturday night. Barbecued Cornish hens were the main dish, accompanied by marinated plum tomatoes, asparagus casserole, and a tossed salad, with fudge cakes for dessert. Eighteen people attended the party, including MR. and MRS. W. A. JONES and MR. and MRS. RICHARD JONES of Ruston and ANN and JOE LEDOUX of Shreveport.

Sara Lee and Charles got quite a surprise Tuesday night, when they went for supper with MERLE and J. L. ADAMS. They were expecting a plain family supper type party, and here was the table all done up in white and silver in honor of the Ledoux's twenty - fifth wedding anniversary. A turkey dinner was served, ending with the honoree's favorite chocolate nut cake. Others attending were the BOB M'DOWELLS, the ARTHUR GRANTS, the JOHN EBYS, the SHELBY HILLS and the GROVER HOLLOWAYS.

On Wednesday CLAYTON KELLOGG was hostess to a bridge party at the Highland Park country club. The cool sunny weather brought out a number of new fall outfits such as JAYNE PEARCE'S floral print in autumn tones of brown and old gold. With this she wore a gold chain with apendant consisting of a large square -cut "J" . . . MAXINE BOARDMAN's green wool was fashioned on the new Empire lines . . . Special guest at the party was MRS. C. M. DOLAN (Monroe's former Satchie Cooper), of Eagle Pass, Texas. She was visiting for a few days, and will return home the first of the week . . . Seven tables played bridge, with CAMILLE WOOD winning high, and JOYCE KELLOGG, low. Prizes were boxes of bulbs for fall planting.

The BOB HANNAS had a small supper party at home last Saturday night. Barbecued chicken with green rice and a tossed salad made up the the menu, with lemon meringue pie for dessert. Attending were the GARLAND HAMMONS and the ED HAYWARDS, JR.

A dinner party on Friday night was the CHARLES WHITAKERS compliment to DR. and MRS. BENJAMIN RUSH. The Rushes are from New Orleans and will be in Monroe for a year, while Ben is a resident at E. A. Conway Memorial hospital . . . Virginia used an arrangement of fruit in a cornucopia on the mantel in the living room, and red spider lilies on the dining table. A fall menu of ham, with a potato and apple casserole and apple pie a la mode was served. Others guests were the CAVITT COOKSTONS and the BOLLING JONESES.

"Serious bridge," is the avowed intention of the new club organized Tuesday. The group plans to play three tables of duplicate on alternate weeks. Winners on the first day's play were ANN WESTROM, first; and JOAN SAGER, second.

MRS. L. O. SMITH and MRS. ALTON WESTBROOK of Jackson, Miss., (CISSY RYAN's grandmother and mother) drove over to spend Thursday and the night with the Ryans. Mrs. Smith brought her famous stuffed ham to be the main course for a neighborhood luncheon. Cissy prepared string beans with water chestnuts and a potato casserole. LEILA EWING brought a lemon ice box dessert. A total of eight guests enjoyed this unusual menu.

The C. C. BOARDMANS are in Florida, visiting their daughter, MRS. FRED PECK, the former Joan Boardman. They plan to be home by Wednesday.

The Monroe chapter of the American Cancer society is a large part of the Louisiana Division meeting in New Orleans this weekend. BRUCE SPIVEY served on the planning committee for the meeting. Taking part on the programs will be IRVING LEIBOWITZ, FRED HEUNEFELD, JR., and MAC WARD. Others from here who went down for the three day meeting at the Hotel Monteleone were GLADYS KULCKE, DAVID CHENNAULT, the FRED PETTYS, and LESLIE LIEBOWITZ.

And now its poem time. This column has received some poetry through the mail, but the letters and poems have been unsigned. The Monroe Morning World policy prohibits the publication of any anonymous communication. Here is "Souls' by Fannie Stearn's Davis:

My soul goes clad in gorgeous things,
Scarlet and gold and blue,
And at her shoulder sudden wings
Like long flames flicker through.
And she is swallow - fleet and free
From mortal bonds and bars.
She laughs, because Eternity
Blossoms for her with stars!
O folk who score by stiff gray gown,
My dull and foolish face,
Can ye not see my Soul flash down,
A singing flame through space?
And folk, whose earth - stained looks I hate,
Why may I not divine
Your Souls, that must be passionate,
Shining and swift as mine?

MRS. ROBERT EDWARD CRABTREE is the former Miss Martha Aline Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lankford of this city. The Rev. W. P. Carter performed the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Crabtree of West Monroe.

Parents Of Fun Club To Hold Meeting

Parents of members of the Beaux and Belles Eighth grade fun club will meet Thursday night, at St. Paul's church to make plans for the coming year, according to an announcement by Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr., outgoing president.

Membership for the coming year will be open through Thursday night, both for old and new members. Dues for the first semester must be paid by October 10.

The first party of the year for the Beaux and Belles was a hay ride held last Saturday night. The group met at the Northside Junior high school and rode on hay-filled trucks to an out of town camp. A barbecue supper was served to over a hundred youngsters.

Add A Gay Note To Linen Closet With Lining

When you clean out your linen closet this Fall in preparation for the heavier bed gear that soon will be needed, why not line the shelves with a colorful covering material while you're at it.

Some of the newer plastic-coated shelf lining materials not only are washable, thus easy to keep clean, but can add a gay note to a utilitarian storage area.

One covering comes in a wide choice of colors and patterns so that you'll have no trouble matching it to a hall or an adjoining room's color scheme. You can purchase the material with an adhesive backing, if you wish. In this form it adheres firmly to any smooth shelf surface.

Girl Scout News

There are few more exciting experiences for a young girl than her first few weeks, or year, even, as a Brownie Scout. However, a deeper satisfaction comes from renewing one's membership and looking forward to another year of fun and worthwhile activities. Proudly wearing membership stars, denoting a year of Scouting, are the following Brownie Scouts of Troop 3, made up of third - grade girls at Sherrouse School: Jennifer Davis, Gay Gill, Amy Griffin, Olivia Grower, Esther Hally, Deborah Harrison, Susan Head, Sharon Head, Sally Howell, Jo Ellen Otwell, Katherine Parrish, Elizabeth Poole, Ann Sherrouse, Carol Anne Stevenson, Jean Tolar, Susan Westbrook, Pat Zufall. Leaders are Mrs. O. K. Davis and Mrs. M. R Howell and members of the troop committee are: Mrs. John Tolar, Mrs. E. J. Zufall and Mrs. Betty Head.

At their first meeting of the school year the girls of Troop 44 at Our Lady of Fatima School discussed summer fun as a basis for planning fall activities. Bonnie Baldo described enthusiastically her opportunity to learn to sew, as well as the ten days she spent at Pine Wood at day camp. Susie Ellington was impressed with the swimming classes, while Gretchen Haas gave her impressions of fun at camp and urged the girls to exhibit their pieces of pottery, made either at camp or in the troop, at the Columbia Art Festival on October 11.

Eagerly looking forward to resumption of activities were Brownie Scouts of Troop 4, Mrs. F. W. Adams and Mrs. C. W. Cain, leaders. The troop was organized at Georgia Tucker School last spring and meets in a playroom at the home of the T. Mickel's. Leaders had a surprise for the girls in the form of a decorated cake topped by a Brownie toadstool on which was written, "Time for Brownies to get together." The meeting was a welcome for new members Linda Dixon, Emma Humble, Mickey Williams, Zell Williams, and Susan Williams and Evelyn Jones who transferred from Troop 4. Other girls who were registered in March are: Chris Adams, Chris Bonnette, Candace Cain, Pat Crawford, Margaret Anne Denoux Linda Law, Nancy Leigh, Diana Michel.

Training sessions for grownups continue to be well attended. Meetings this week are: Second year Brownie leaders Tuesday morning at 9:30, Pottery Workshop Wednesday at 9:30, continuation of training for new leaders Thursday at 9:30.

With United Givers Fund Drive starting tomorrow, it's good time to remind our readers that you support Girl Scouting in Ouachita Parish by this means.

Fall Purse Collection Makes Debut

In a splash of color, the fall and winter collection of purses makes its elegant debut. Created especially to present a better balanced picture with the free silhouette and shorter hemline, attention is focused on the slender, wider shape made in a galaxy of ready to wear hues ranging from dill green, tawny oranges and golds, fiery reds, and the basic blacks, fashion browns and briarwoods. Fabrics are supple surface interest types, creating a dressier feeling . . . loop mohair, cut velvet in solid shades, velour, cashmere, broadcloth, fake fur, calf, satin and peau d' soie with combinations of leather and fabric, satin with fabric comprise the exciting review, in which every category of purse is presented.

APPLAUSE

Solid and tweed mohair receives applause in a fresh rendition of casual handbags complementing the trapeze, with width exaggerated at either the base or frame. Self or calf handles frame and piping are in the majority.

Cut velvet appeals for daytime accessorizing . . . colors are perfectly coordinated with hues of fall and winter ready to wear . . . and the elegant design of the velvet is highlighted due to the oversized, slim formation of the purses, with gold clasps and bar detail. The fabric has been processed so that it is weather resistant.

Man made fur outdoes itself and looks more like mink, than mink itself. A dynel fiber with nylon guard hairs is the most exciting fake fur purse of the season. Designed in a large slim pouch manner in silver grey and autumn haze and found in calf it complements the sportswear of the period.

Cashmere purses are numerous and delightfully presented in a variety of slim shapes running the gamut from small to extra large. The most exciting innovation of the season is the combination of cashmere and satin introduced specifically to coordinate with evening shoes. Satin is interpreted in bows, bands, insets and handles.

Calf handbags are horizontally wide styles, in luscious moss green, fashion and town brown, briarwood, black and navy . . . throughout the collection calf purses are sparked with shiny gold . . . bar detail, clasps and frames.

LEMON

Always add lemon juice to mashed avocado to keep the fruit from turning dark. Serve the avocado dip, with an added seasoning of minced onion as well as salt, with crisp corn chips as a first course.

RECIPES

Handy to remember when you are using old-fashioned recipes that give some measurements by gill: ½ cup equals one gill.

A pound of rice equals 2¼ cups.

Women who like the new and different will be intrigued with shapes of heels this fall. The gracefully curved Louis heel, the matchstick type, and less curved heels will be standard. But also look for the odd shapes, such as tear-drop, pear, and the chic squared-off high heel.

The Beta Pi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Honors Nu Phi Nu At A Tea

The Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority entertained the Nu Phi Nu members at a tea last Sunday, between the appointed hours of three and five o'clock in the afternoon, at the penthouse of the Penn Hotel.

This occasion marked the first anniversary of the Beta Pi's here in Monroe. The color followed Nu Pi Nu's colors of pink and blue. Pink roses and burning blue tapers adorned the table where guest were registered.

Those assisting in the courtesies were members of Beta Pi Social Committee, of which Mrs. Walter Hinckley is chairman.

Greeting the guests upon arrival were Mrs. Marty Schempf, Beta Pi president: and Mrs. Llewellyn George, Nu Phi Nu president.

ATTENDANCE

And Mesdames, George Smaie Marty Schempf, Joe Lister, William A. Robinson, Furn Bailey Walter Hinckley, Steve Savanna, Llewellyn George, Eddie Kemp and Rosemary Williams.

A Tea-Shower For Newcomers To Simsboro

The home of Mrs. L. M. Napper in Simsboro was the setting of a lovely tea - shower honoring the Reverend and Mrs. James Jones recently. Beautiful fall flowers were used at various points throughout the house.

Mrs. Jones was presented with a pink carnation corsage to complement her beige sheath dress, one of her trousseau models she chose to wear for this occasion.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Napper, and Mrs. Harold Napper introduced them to the honoree.

Members of the W. S. C. S. served dainty white iced cakes, mints and punch. Mrs. Melton Methvin and Mrs. Alan Lowery alternated at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Revis Mays and Miss Carolyn Gray served the cakes.

Many lovely and useful gifts were displayed in the den.

A large number of guests called during the appointed hours, to warmly welcome Mrs. Jones to the community and the church.

Some Tips For Decorating Campus Home

Few things add cheer more quickly to a college freshman's first home away from familiar surroundings than do the colorful, personal touches she adds to her room.

After bedspreads and draperies have been selected, one of the easiest means of decorating is with today's interesting covering materials.

Closet shelves and dresser drawers can easily be brightened with pretty, practical linings. Waste baskets, picture frames, lamp bases and book shelves can be covered with matching material too, if the co-ed wishes.

For these dormitory decorating tasks, the soil - resistant, plastic-coated covering materials are most useful. There's an entire family of coverings, which simplifies the chore. It comes in shelf and drawer linings, an extra wide 46-inch width for covering large areas and one which has an adhesive backing that is easy to apply. All of these companion materials are available in the same or harmoniing colors and patterns.

Recently introduced, too, are three new high-fashion, metallic designs that should meet with approval of the young collegienne. They feature gold and silver foils and threads. Each is available in background colors of turquoise, white, pink or yellow.

Martha Long, W. B. Campbell Exchange Vows

Miss Martha Ann Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long of Sterlington was united in marriage to Winston Bernard Campbell, son of Mrs. Stephen Robert Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell of Pineville in the Kelly Baptist Church with the Reverend Paul Jones reading the marriage vows.

The double ring rites were performed before an altar flanked by baskets of pale pink chrysanthemums. Myriads of burning pink tapers in tall candelabra against a background of magnolia leaves and pink poms shed a soft glow over the nuptial scene.

Mrs. Paul Jones rendered a program of pre - nuptial music. Her selections included "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me." Miss Dorothy Day of Minden sang "Because," "O Perfect Love," and at the close of the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer."

MAID-OF-HONOR

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Freda Ann Keen of Minden. Bridesmaids were Miss Mollie Sue Guin and Miss Martha Ann Hargrove of Kelly. All the attendants wore identical dresses of pink brocades satin designed with a close fitting bodice and a V neckline. The straight street length dresses were accented by pink satin cummerbunds which crossed in front and flowed softly into a floating panel in the back. Their headpieces were self - covered bandeaus of pink satin and they carried a Juliet fan of pink poms arranged with pink satin poufs and streamers.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. A tight fitting bodice which featured a V neckline was joined to a billowing floor length skirt which fell into tiny pleats in the back. The long fitted sleeves tapered to a petal point over the hands and the shoulder length veil of illusion fell softly from a tiara of seed pearls. A tear drop pearl centered the tiara and the bride wore earrings of tear drop pearls which belonged to her paternal grandmother. For her neckpiece, she wore a lavalier borrowed from her aunt. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and was centered with a purple throated white orchid atop a white Bible

Mr. Jack Campbell of Bunkie served his brother as best man. Ushers were James Williams and Traylor McNeel of Pineville.

A dress of larkspur blue cupioni was selected by Mrs. Long for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a matching feather hat and gloves and black kid shoes and bag. Her corsage was of pink poms.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Campbell was attired in powder blue faille with a tiny black feather hat and black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink poms.

RECEPTION

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the home of Mrs. James A. Duke following the ceremony.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a handmade white cut work linen cloth. The attendants bouquets with six burning pink tapers formed the centerpiece. Miniature pink chrysanthemums wreathed the crystal punch bowl where Mrs. Beulah Lindsey of Bernice, an aunt of the bride presided.

Mrs. K. R. Russell of Kelly served the three tiered cake which was topped by two wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom.

The bride's book was placed on a table flanked by burning pink tapers Miss Patricia Smith of Grayson presided over the registering.

WEDDING TRIP

When the newly - weds left for the wedding trip, Mrs. Campbell was wearing an early fall creation of brown shantung. She wore brown metallic accessories and her hat was a bandeau of brown velveteen. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bouquet. Later they will be at home at 506 Trenton Street in Ruston where they will continue their studies at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Mrs. Campbell graduated from Kelly High School. In 1957, she won the title, "Miss Cadlwell Parish" and has represented Caldwell Parish in several events including the Miss Louisiana pageant.

Mr. Campbell is a graduate of Pineville High School. His social fraternity at Louisiana Tech is Tau Kappa Epsilon.

GUESTS

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Steve, Richard and Mark of Bunkie; Mr. David Long of Lake Charles; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jarmon and Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barham and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Poole of Dubach; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Massey, Larry and Kenny of Urania; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Russell, Jane and Linda of DeQuincy; Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Peacock of Shreveport; Mr. John Adcock of Jonesboro; Mrs. M. D. Guilbault and Miss Margaret Guilbault of Pineville and Mr. R. S. Tuimble of Monroe.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mr. David Grafton Long, brother of the bride, was host to the wedding party and friends on Friday evening at a local restaurant.

Attending were Miss Long, Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Stephen Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long, Miss Freda Keen, Miss Mollie Guin, Mr. R. S. Tuimble, Miss Martha Ann Hargrove, Mr. James Williams, Miss Patricia Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Miss Dorothy Day, Mr. John Adcock, Mrs. Joseph Guin, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Russell, Mrs. James A. Duke, Mrs. Davis Anderson, and Mr. David G. Long.

Add Storage Space To Your Kitchen

Here's a thought for added needed storage space in your kitchen: Put up inexpensive wooden shelves near the food preparation area for your jars of spices and herbs. They can be mighty attractive as well as useful if you cover the shelves with one of the smart decorative materials having adhesive backing.

Shellac the unpainted wood, let it dry thoroughly, then press the covering into the position where it will adhere smoothly.

It is obtainable in numerous colors and pa'tersns to fit in with virtually any kitchen decor.

Home Workshops Need Sprucing Up Now n' Then

In fixing up a corner of your basement as a workshop for the coming indoor months, consider dressing up old surfaces with the new decorative covering materials now obtainable.

Shelves and drawers lined with a bright, serviceable material are easier to keep clean and will lend a bit of life to the masculine domain.

The plastic-coated coverings are among the most practical for they can be wiped off as often as needed with a damp cloth. One of these, comes in matching colorss in shelf and drawer linings to aid the home decorator in carrying out a color scheme. This material also comes with an adhesive backing if you want a lining that adheres to the surface.

A choice of 10 solid colors and an array of checks and patterns are offered in housewares sections of department stores as well as in many hardware and novelty stores.

Miss Frasier Becomes Bride Of Clovis Tate

Miss Lorenne Frasier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier of Ruston, became the bride of Clovis Carlton Tate of Little Rock, Arkansas, at the Rock Corner Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold Lee Norsworthy before an altar decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli and a background of palmetto leaves. Four large floor candlebra held white cathedral tapers, which gave soft illusion for the ceremony.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a waltz-length gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. The molded bodice of taffeta had a deep yoke of lace which formed a sweetheart neckline scalloped with tiny seed pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught by a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was fashioned of a white orchid with feathered carnations and stephanotis, and satin ribbon streamers tied in love knots.

MATRON OF HONOR

The matron of honor, Mrs. Wendell Moore cousin of the bride, wore a frock of white lace over lavender taffeta with a satin lavender cummberbund. Her colonial nosegay was of lavender chrysanthemums matching the flowers worn in a coronet in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ragan Brewster, Mrs. Donald Holder, Mrs. J. F. Martin, and Miss Jo Ann Farris. Mrs. Brewster and Miss Farris wore frocks of yellow lace over yellow taffeta. They carried nosegays of green chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets. Mrs. Holder and Mrs. Martin were dressed in frocks of green lace over green taffeta and carried nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets.

Melinda Brewster was flower girl, and Jimmy Lee was ring-bearer.

Serving the groom as best man was Phillip Tackett, and groomsmen were Mr. Wendall Moore, Mr. Ragen Brewster, Mr. J. F. Martin and Mr W. H. Mabry. Wedding guests were shown to their places by ushers, James Fraiser and Frazier Bratton.

Mrs. Richard Trant provided the music for the ceremony and accompanied the soloist, Dr. Richard Trant.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier were hosts at a reception in their home.

Guests were invited to sign the bride's book by Miss Viva Hancock. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Nancy Simpson, and the cake was served by Miss Joy Gullet.

BISCUITS

Baking-powder biscuits may be prepared and cut out several hours ahead of the time they are to be baked if they are stored in the refrigerator during this waiting period.

French designers go for glamor at all times — even aboard a motor scooter. Bruyere shows harem hemline trouser-skirts for scooter riders. The skirts are combined with sweater tops of velvet or silk jersey, or hip-length jackets.

GUESTS for several days in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Worthen on Park Avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dunn, from Grand Rapids, Michigan. They were entertained on several informal occasions during their stay here.

Look for pleats in campus fashions. Newest are the overlapping box pleats in trapeze skirts, says Women's Wear Daily, a trade publication. Side pleats and stitched down accordion types also are popular in skirts. In jumpers, pleats are concentrated at the hemline.

BPW Celebrate National Business Women's Week

First in a series of events commemorating National Business Week, Oct. 5-11, will be observed by The Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club today. Members and guests will enjoy breakfast together at the Holiday Inn at 9:00 a.m. Mrs. Leo Skinner, chairman, promises delightful entertainment and surprises for all. Following breakfast they will, according to traditional practice, attend in a group church services at the First Baptist Church. Honor guest for this occasion will be Miss Violet Poindexter of New Orleans, the Louisiana Federation's First Vice President.

30 YEARS AGO

National Business Women's Week was originated in 1928 — exactly 30 years ago. The theme for 1958 is "More Power with Womanpower" and was chosen to spotlight the women who work and their responsibilities in their home towns, the nation, and the world. This annual week, sponsored throughout the United States by The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is set aside to pay tribute to women in business and the professions. The President of the United States and national leaders in all fields hail National Business Women's Week each year.

ORGANIZED IN 1919

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized in 1919 and is the largest organized group in the world devoted entirely to the affairs of business and professional women, with State Federations in all the 49 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Membership totals more than 175,000. The Federation is the only organization for women which includes all professions and occupations. National headquarters are in Washington, D.C.

The Federation's main objective is to promote the interests of B and P Women. BPW works to elevate standards for women through education, industrial and vocational activity programs. BPW is the leader in securing legislation in the interest of women. In 1930, BPW took the lead in founding the International Federation of Business ond Professional Women, which now has Federations in 22 countries. All members of BPW are also members of the International Organization.

SCHEDULE

Besides the breakfast and group church attendance today, other scheduled events in recognition of Business Women's Week are: Banquet at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Tuesday evening. Speaker for this occasion will be Louie E. Throgmorton, vice president and director of Public Services of the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas. Also honored guest at the banquet will be Mrs. Dana Beckworth, Louisiana Federation president, of Minden. The grand finale of the week will be a Fun Party, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Laura Slator, charter member.

MONROE BPW CLUB OFFICERS discuss plans for National Business Womens' Week which begins today with a breakfast at the Holiday Inn. Seated left to right are Mrs. B. L. Meek, president; Mrs. Sara Kennon, second vice-president; Mrs. Louie E. Mathis, corresponding secretary. Standing are Mrs. Frank McDermott, treasurer; and Mrs. James L. McElroy, recording secretary. Not pictured is Mrs. R. E. Harrell, first vice-president.

Mrs. Coon Is Hostess To Okaloosa HDC

Meeting Held By Jonesboro Garden Club

The Jonesboro - Hodge Garden Club held its first meeting of the year at the Jonesboro Methodist Church Recreation Building.

The yearbook chairmen are Miss Valrie Barnum and Mrs. Ben Pool. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald is program chairman. The new books were issued and briefly reviewed by Mrs. McDonald and Miss Barnum.

Mrs. McDonald then introduced the speaker Dr. J. P. Harvey.

Her subject was "Trees and Shrubs from My Garden." Dr. Harvey urged all of us to grow our own plants and explained how to do this. She exhibited many specimen cuttings.

The hostesses for the tea were Mrs. Charles Barnum, Miss Valrie Barnum, Mrs. Eddie Namie, and Mrs. Fred Negem.

The tea table was overlaid with a lovely lace cloth. The decorative unit was a tiered crystal epergne holding yellow dahlias and yellow plumed celosia. It was balanced by a lovely crystal bowl holding yellow punch. Mrs. Wilbur McDonald presided at the punch service.

Eastern Star Entertains For Mrs. Lafferty

At six o'clock Saturday afternoon the grand officers, past grand matrons and patrons and special guests of the Order of the Eastern Star assembled at the home of Mrs. Ona Mae Lafferty in West Monroe, which was quite a surprise to her. To begin the evening of fun they were accompanied by the long arm of the law which promptly placed Mrs. Lafferty under "protective custody" on a charge of "Traipsing Around In The South."

The caravan of nearly a hundred officers and guests then moved on to the home of Mrs. Willie Mae Painich for a chicken barbecue supper. At seven-thirty more than two hundred members and friends from the entire state gathered at the West Monroe Masonic Temple for the Kangaroo Court trial of Mrs Lafferty. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Becton.

The lone witness for the defense was Marjorie Becton of West Monroe who also turned out to be the "village idiot." Her testimony was completely discredited and Mrs. Lafferty was found guilty of the charge against her.

One of the highlights of the evening was Martha Ann Lafferty's mournful singing of "The Prisoner's Song" to her mother.

Refreshments were served in the social room and the centerpiece on the banquet table created a sensation. Inside a cage was a doll dressed in a prison outfit, both rands holding to the bars of the cage. Outside sat twelve dolls in prison stripes arranged as a jury. A "wanted" poster with a picture of Mrs. Lafferty, made some years ago, was tacked to the wall.

Impressive Array Slated For Monroe

A touch of Oriental glamor will be in Monroe tomorrow when Miss Pat Sans, exotic Japanese model will visit briefly in connection with the opening at the Paramount Theatre of the Twentieth Century - Fox super - reduction of "The Barbarian and The Geisha." The film begins its local engagement Sunday, October 12, at the Paramount.

Miss Sans will present gifts from officials of the Japanese embassy in New Orleans, as well as offerings from the star of "The John Wayne.

The entire film was shot on location in Japan and relates how one American, Townsend Harris, portrayed in the movie by Wayne, singlehandedly opened up the Far East to the Occidental world. The film is in CinemaScope and color by DeLuxe.

E. R. Edwards, manager of the Paramount Theatre, said the production slated for next week is one of a series of outstanding films slated for this area. Hollywood is rushing to completion some of its most potent box-office fares and the impressive array of hits will be seen throughout the South.

"The theme of this line-up is '1959 Comes Early This Year'," Edwards said.

The campaign is being conducted throughout the south in an effort to prove to Hollywood that good movies will sell anytime during the year rather than during the few specific times, principally around holidays or during the summer, when Hollywood now tries to release its big films, Edwards pointed out.

And no effort has been spared in arranging for Monroe's moviegoers to share in the rich harvest of super-attractions, the manager said. Among the top-rated products already assured movie goers here are such productions as "The Barbarian and the Geisha" starring John Wayne; Andy Griffith in "Onionhead"; Cary Grant and Sophia Loren in "Houseboat"; and later in the season, "Mardi Gras" starring Pat Boone, Christine Carere, Tommy Sands, Gary Crosby and Sheree North.

NOT BRIGITTE

Chevalier Likes Marilyn Monroe

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maurice Chevalier, who wrote the book on women and still has a few chapters to go, says that Marilyn Monroe appeals to him more than his own country's Brigitte Bardot.

"There's something warm, humble and sincere about Marilyn,," the jaunty, 70-year-old Frenchman said on the set of MGM's "The Blessing," in which he stars with Deborah Kerr.

"Of course," he said with a twingle in his eyes, "if I had my way, I think I would choose Marilyn for my right arm and Brigitte for my left. Ah, but perhaps I'm getting too old for that."

His famous lower lip curled into a roguish smile as he said "perhaps."

Chevalier, who would be France's greatest export if he could be bottled, admitted ruefully there is no truth to the legend that Frenchmen are the best lovers.

NO FRENCH PLAYBOYS

"Look," he said, "at the three biggest playboys in the world today: Aly Khan, Rubirosa and Baby Pignitari. There is not a Frenchman among them."

Then how did the legend get its start?

"Well," said the slender-gray-haired performer, "there was a time when everyone in France had more time to make love than nowadays. And, of course, France is one of the oldest nations. Put these two facts together, and you have the answer!"

He added wistfully:

"Things are so much faster today. Love used to be a much more important part of life."

What of his personal legend as an expert extraordinaire of the fairer sex?

"Actually," he confided, "outside of work, I've had no more love affairs than a lot of other fellows I know who are not talked about.

"The reputation came about because I always sang about love and the pretty side of life."

DELIGHTFUL

He admitted, however, that he cannot think of anything more delightful in life than a beautiful woman. He said:

"A beautiful woman is created by God to be the great reward of any man trying to prove he's good."

For himself, he said, a woman is at her best between the ages of 30 and 40.

By then she has had enough experience to become a real woman," he said. "She has learned how to take care of herself and is at her ripest."

Chevalier, who recently gave sparkling performances in "Love in the Afternoon" and "Gigi," is embarked on his second major Hollywood career.

"I remember when I was here many years ago — in 1932 or 1933 —and met Mae West," he said. "Nothing ever happened, but it could have.

"She never asked me to come up and see her some time — or anytime, for that matter. I might have. But not now—I'm to old."

Israel Honors Human Rights Day Dec. 10

"Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself" is the motto to be used by Israel in honor of Human Rights Day on Dec. 10. On that date Israel will issue a 750 pruta stamp commemorating the occasion.

The central design is a slab of stone inscribed with the above phrase which is a quotation from the book of Leviticus, Chapter 19, Verse 18. The emblem of the United Nations will appear in the lower right corner of each stamp. Colors will be yellow, blue, gray and black.

The issuance of this stamp will be the first time that Israel has issued a stamp honoring the United Nations - sponsored Human Rights Day.

A total of 365,072 first day covers was cancelled Aug. 15 when the 4-cent Atlantic Cable Centennial commemorative stamp was placed on sale in New York City. There were 1,929,375 stamps sold on that day.

Italy and Brail both have issued stamps honoring the visit of Italy's President Gronchi to Brazil. Italy's stamp depicts a plane flying from Rome to Rio de Janeiro.

THE HOME SHIFT

Spider Lilies Set Fall Aglow

By MILDRED SWIFT

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by name. Common, yes, but beautiful and spectacular, especially if planted in large masses.

There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one.

VERY RARE

One of the very rarest is a so-called white one. Actually it is not white, but a light cream. Flowers of this variety were grown by Mrs. R. R. Piggott, Wales Road, West Monroe. The gardener supplied quantities of these for Mrs. John McReynolds flower arranging at the September meeting of Monroe Garden Club. Needless to say, they attracted lots of attention.

THE YELLOW

Mrs. Raymond Boyd, 1400 Roselawn, Monroe, grows the yellow variety. It is so beautiful as to be startling. Each little floweret is so large that a first glance it resembles a day lily.

Shirley Boyd, one of Monroe's most enthusiastic and successful young gardeners, has several clumps of the yellow spider lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home. Mrs. B. U. Evans of Ferriday is growing a number of these.

TRUE NAMES

The red spider lily is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycoris aurea. There are several species of pinks but the lovely ones grown here are lycoris squamigera.

Many people refer to this lycoris family as Guernseys and Nerines. Botanists say this is an error, though.

Other common names given the lycoris family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter, and appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8, half and half.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll bruise and lose them when you force.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loamy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

CANDLE TREE

The Imperial candle tree is in bloom in Irene Reid's garden, 1621 Emerson, and at Mrs. W. W. Stevens, 306 Columbia Ave. Be sure to drive by and see these in bloom.

There's one thing for sure I can tell you about this plant If you plant seed too late, they will not have time to reach maturity and bloom. Neither can you plant them outside until danger of frost is over.

Your safest bet is to get plants from our nurseries. They're quite inexpensive, but must be planted every year. They just won't go through our cold winters.

No need to save seed from this candle tree. They do not mature. This is at heart a tropical plant. The seed will mature in the torrid zones with their very long summers. There are nurseries where you can order the seed, but it is best to buy the plants in May. When you see the blooms in the Reid and Stevens yards you'll certainly resolve to do just that.

A STAIN

So many flower growers are complaining about the stain on clothes from the banana plant. This seems to be the sap from the cut leaves or blooms. The stain is black, turning to red and refuses to come out.

Miss Rupert Perry, Home Management Specialist with L.S.U Extension is planning to take such a stain to a workshop in Washington next week. She hopes to come back with some help for us.

THE SMALL "FRY"

Never let it be said that America's youngster set doesn't keep up with the fashion parade. The kindergarten crowd and small glamour girls are proudly showing off their new beltless casual fall dresses.

Little girls look cute as buttons in these new frocks, wich faithfully follow grown-up trends.

Two styles are favorites — the middy with the pleated skirt and the straight full dress that hangs free from a shoulder yoke, trapeze effect.

For little boys, Ivy League still is big news. Trousers have narrower legs, buckled back strap and pleated fronts.

GALA OPENING

Each year opening of the fall season at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York sees New York's most beautifully dressed women. Of course they're wearing their newest and best, just as you and I would do if we should ever have the privilege of going there.

This unofficial fashion show gives one a pretty good idea of what will be high fashion for the season.

Most of the dresses were short and a surprising number were variations of the trapeze.

Black seemed to be the top color with bright red a close second. Lots of prints were there as well as a great deal of lace and chiffon.

Jewelry was on the large size.

HERE AND THERE

Shades of Grandma! Bar pins are back in style. Yes, those handsome bar pins that grandmother used to favor for her lapel are high fashion for fall and winter.

Plain tailored or stone studded, the newest bar pins make a hit where worn, one above the other, or in a staggered design on the new, bulky looking sweaters and high-waisted dresses.

The new shorter sleeves on the new coats offer a good opportunity to show off bracelets. Attractive designs include the wide cuffs, slim twisted beads and tasseled bracelets.

One of the most useful fall wardrobe additions is the new walking suit with its elongated jacket, long enough to be worn as a separate topper. Many of the jackets are interlined and fur-collared.

CONFUSING

Have you been wondering what the terms ban-lon, taslan, tycora and helanco mean? These are trade names for "textured" yarns. They are always made from the synthetic fibers.

The trade name refers to the method of obtaining the soft fluffy appearance and feel. The name does not specify a fiber. The trade names are found on many of the bulky fabrics. The name is your assurance that the material is not apt to peel or develop fuzz balls on the surface.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Lola Caldwell will show you how to make planters; Tuesday, Dorothy Russell will demonstrate the care of nylon fabrics; Wednesday, Peggy Garnett will lead us into her bird world; Thursday, Marketing with Mildred; Friday, fish recipes with home economist from Washington. See you next Sunday.

Good Selling Tip Gleaned From Rackets

OSSING, N. Y. (AP)—The illicit narcotics has given respectable business a selling tip: Make an addict and you make a good customer.

The National Garden Bureau for the past six months has been making gardening addicts out of new home owners in a suburban development here.

Hooked this year by free seed, bi-weekly instruction by experts and a prize contest, next year and thereafter they will be customers for seed, fertilizer, tools and how-to-do-it books.

The experimental project was set up and underwritten by an organization of the nations top seed - selling houses. It was designed to prove the existence of an untapped multi-million dollar market for flower seeds among new home owners of moderate income financially unable to swing immediate expenditures on more costly tree and shrub landscaping.

Chosen for the pilot project was Birch River, a development of $19,000 and $20,000 homes in this Hudson River commuting town an hour's train ride from New York City.

Few of the young couples — city dwellers before moving to the suburbs—knew the difference between crabgrass and false hellebore when the project got under way last April. By September, however, they were veteran diggers and weeders; their front and side lawns were ablaze with color They called plant by botanical names, complained about the bugs wryly, and were analyzing their mistakes — mistakes they would rectify next year when they are on their own.

The National Garden Bureau is delighted with the ease with which the happy guinea pigs have become addicted to gardening ("stimulating gardening enthusiasm," is the bureau phrase for the activity). It believes that such projects in thousands of communities across the nation could open up a garden seed market worth 57 million dollars a year by concentrating just on families in the $5,000 to $10,000 a year brackets.

W. Atlee Burpee III, bureau chairman, suggests that similar projects; with the initial gift of about $5 worth of flower seeds, expert instruction and contests, be instigated and underwritten by local seedsmen or garden supply stores, garden or service clubs, real estate men or even home-owner groups themselves.

Effect of exposure to gardening on Birch River residents was closely charted.

The visiting experts — horticulturists, landscape architects and others — noted that enthusiasm for "low cost landscaping" ran high when the contest was announced and plans drawn. Families set to work digging and hauling out rocks with a will. Interest flagged, however, once they had planted the seeds. It revived when the seedlings appeared and continued to mount as the growing season progressed.

Winter Chill Sends Garden Under Covers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. — Killing frosts are striking here and there around the country more frequently now as winter weather comes on, but before - handed gardeners can preserve their gardens for a little longer if they want to take the pain and the trouble.

Many of the bright annuals—particularly the hardier, sturdy types like zinnias — may be potted up and brought into the house where, after a suitable convalescence in a dark spot—they will continue to bloom in a sunny window.

When frost threatens — or your favorite source of weather information sends out the alarm—many of the more hardy annuals and fall perennials can live to bloom through Indian summer if protected during the emergency with covers of bushel baskets or even a tent made of stakes and thicknesses of newspaper held in place on the ground by stones.

Too many of us use our cold frames only to start seeds or harden off house-started seedlings in the spring. An important use for them during the cold months is as a storage place for plants of dubious hardiness. One year I wintered over a few clumps of chrysanthemums about whose resistence I was a little nervous.

Last winter I had my cold frame partly occupied by verbena cuttings I had rooted, and some snapdragons which had been left in a seedbed. As a result, I had a home-grown crop of flowering verbena as early as my neighbors who had bought nursery plants, and my snapdragons bloomed far ahead of any others around here. In southern areas, of course, snapdragons can be treated as perennials. And so can they be here, in a handy cold frame.

Fall is sa good time — provided of course other garden chores don't interfere — to organize some of those jobs we always mean to get around to but never seem to. It is, for one thing, an excellent period in which to buy and set up or to make a cold frame.

Very good ones can be purchased. Or by using one or more discarded storm doors or storm windows, it isn't too difficult to make one from scratch. Frames can be made of any size, of course, but it is always well to remember to make the dimensions convenient for the gardener who must work with its innards.

The frame should be low in front, high in back: about 10 inches in the front and 16 inches in the rear. The glass or transparent top may be hinged or—if light enough — removable. It should face south, have some protection—a house, wall or shrub screen — from the elements. The soil within must drain well, be rich and sifted — like a seed-bed. In bitter weather, the plants may be further protected by a mat or blanket over the glass cover.

With a cold frame it is possible to sow spring seed anywhere from six weeks to a month before the average date of the last killing frost in your neighborhood.

Another good fall project is the making of pools, repairing of stone walls, setting in a terrace or fixing flagging and stone steps. Make certain that any masonry work starts deep in the soil so that it will not be displaced and shattered by the alternate thawing and melting of frozen ground.

Keep mowing the lawn and trimming the edges of walks and garden beds as long as the grass keeps growing. And, just because the end of the season is near, maintain the battle against the weeds. At this period, in particular, every weed pulled is a next season's backsaver: it cannot drop seed to sprout next spring.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Cool Hothouse Used In South

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The very easiest kind of greenhouse to manage is what horticulturists call the "cool house." Very little heat is needed for such a conservatory because fifty degrees is the highest heat ever needed. Usually, the temperature ranges from forty to fifty degrees. More attention has to be given to keeping such a greenhouse cool than to keeping it warm here in the South where there so many sunny days.

CHOICE PLANTS

There are some very choice plants for such a cool conservatory. Actually, the number of plants one can grow "cool" is legion, but we shall discuss here those that bloom for a long time and are easiest to handle. Most greenhouse specialists would probably agree that the two pink primroses, Primula obconica and Primula malacoides should be near the top of the list. These oriental primroses have beautiful foliage and bloom on and on and on in winter. Some people prefer the second one named because it is less apt to give anyone the rash that some people get on their skin where they touch primroses.

Freesias are some of the most deliciously fragrant plants from bulbs. They like the cool house where they can come along slowly. They must not be "forced" along with heat. Cyclamens, those dainty flowers that look so like butterflies hovering over a patch of ivy leaves, are some of the most elegant of all plants. Incidentally, we shall all be growing the small flowers hardy cyclamens out of doors soon. Nurseries are beginning to offer the corms for sale in this country.

Small potted camellias will flower well in the cool greenhouse and are well worth growing for their early blossoms. Most of the best camellias we see at the early winter shows are greenhouse grown. Without these perfect blossoms, we could not have camellia shows in some seasons. Some fans are beginning to set up greenhouses with no heat in them for their choicest camellias.

PLANT VARIETY

One of the showiest shrubs to grow in a greenhouse is the South African heath. There are many fine varieties. The shrubs bloom for quite a long time and are almost sensational, so prolific is the bloom. Florists have the flowers for sale in winter. They can be grown in fair sized pots. In smaller pots, you can grow the ornamental cherries and peppers for Christmas. These little plants are almost weeds and easy to grow.

For bloom to enjoy in the greenhouse as well as to cut, calendulas and the light blue scrambling shrub, Plumbago capensis can hardly be beaten. This is the common plumbago you see in gardens from Norfolk to Houston in the warm country. Petunias can be potted at the end of the warm weather and taken in. They will grow lustily and can then be taken into a sunny window in the house to bloom. When they cease flowering, return them to the cool greenhouse cut them back and fertilize them, and off they will go again for they are really perennials!

Utilize Space With Small Vanity Table

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A good place for that little ol' vanity niche is between your two bedroom windows, space that sometimes isn't utilized at all You can create a charming area without taking up too much room.

Put up a small vanity shelf. made of lightweight plywood. It can be narrow and have a small drawer directly beneath it to hold all sorts of parapharnalia, if you like. Cover it with the same printed fabric you use in the window drapery. Put a piece of glass over the drapery fabric so that it will stay bright and clean as long as your window draperies last. Tack ball fringe around the shelf, if you like. The ideal spot for pictures — old family daguerrotypes, silhouettes, etc., is right above the vanity table to fill in the space between the windows.

Combine a solid color and print fabric and the windows — a straight panel in the print with a double width of solid colored material as an over drapery. Pin the over drapery back with a brass tie back.

A very charming bedroom brightener is a fabric that combines the subtle shades of gold and olive green in a jewel flower tones. The over drapery is bright white, outlined with gold ball fringe.

How To Fight Chinch Bugs

By AUDREY DAWSON

If brown spots appear on your St. Augustine lawn and you suspect chinch bugs, dig up about 6''x6'' section of the sod in an area where the grass is just beginning to turn yellow (not the dead grass.) Submerge the sod in water — if chinch bugs are present, they will float to the top of the water.

If chinch bugs are present, treat the entire area with DDT or Chlordane at the rate of ½ lb. technical material per 1000 square feet. Mr. Kirby Cockerham, our extension entomologist, also, recomends 5 per cent Dieldrin granules, or 20 fluid ounces of Dieldrin concentrate may be used. These materials should be thoroughly washed into the sod for maximum effectiveness.

FAIR

Yes it's fair time again. Things will be really buzzing at the fair grounds tomorrow. If you have time on your hands and you want to see some work going on, come to the Agricultural Exhibit building tomorrow. Mr. Birdsong, secretary and manager of the fair says everything is ready for the best fair yet. Be sure to come out and don't forget to visit the exhibits in the Agricultural Building any time during the week.

COUNCIL MEETING

There were 23 clubs present at the last council meeting. Only one club absent. That really means we have some very active Home Demonstration Club members here in Ouachita parish and we in the extension office are mighty proud of them. Major Whitfield of the juvenile division of Monroe city police brought a message that I wish every parent in Ouachita parish could have heard. It was an excellent talk.

CONDITION OF SOIL

It's almost time to start planting, but there's a job that you should do before buying your shrubbery or plants — and that is to get your soil in good condition. You cannot put your soil in good condition after plants are set out. Soils with good physical condition permit good root growth. Such soils absorb water faster and also drain better. They hold more water, if they contain a good amount of organic matter (humus.)

Organic matter is the best type of material to use for putting soils in good condition. Peat moss and well - rotted compost are perhaps best. The soil should be mixed well with a large amount of humus before setting out plants — a spade full of humus with each spade full of soil is good.

The mulch that is used in summer will usually rot and add humus each year. This should be mixed with top soil a little each year.

If raw organic matter such as un-decomposed leaves or sawdust is added to the soil, you will need to add a little extra nitrogen until this material is well rotted. Otherwise, your plant will not get enough nitrogen and will not grow well.

TEEN-AGERS' FOODS

Teen - agers favorite foods — hot dogs, hamburgers, and ice cream — can be easily included in the daily diet which supplies all required nutrients. To insure their physical well - being, teen-age diet deficiencies should be corrected — better breakfast habits and more nutritious between-meal snacks. The following recommended daily diet supplies a teen - ager's requirement for a day: One quart of Vitamin D milk; three generous portions of protein foods as meats, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese or peanut butter; five servings of fruits and-or vegetables including one dark green or yellow vegetable; one serving of citrus fruit; tomatoes, strawberries, cantaloupe or raw cabbage or other fruits and vegetables including potatoes.

Although this is a good diet foundation many teen - agers, of course, require greater quantities of these foods — and all of them will eat foods such as butter, margarine and sugars.

Lack of parental guidance or knowledge about food may result in children entering adolescence less healthy and happy and with a poor physical appearance. As teen - agers move toward independence, "going along with the crowd" becomes a must. In many cases, bizarre eating habits become a mark of distinction.

To insure their physical well being, teen - age diet deficiency should be corrected.

Opening lead: Spade king.

Extreme caution by declarer in the play of this hand prevented the loss of a game contract which might have been headed for the rocks.

The final contract was reached by easy stages. After North's response of two diamonds South chose to rebid three clubs. If an objection is raised to this call on the ground that a new suit by opener is not forcing on responder, it should be pointed out that when the response is made at the two level, indicating strength, any showing of a new suit by opener at the level of three is treated as a one round force.

North rebid his diamonds in the hope that this would be least apt to excite partner, and when South rebid three hearts, North, acting in accordance with partner's expectations, proceeded to four.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit. On the third round, routine play by declarer would have been to ruff an then extract trumps, holding the diamond finesse in reserve for an extra trick.

Had declarer indulged in such relaxation a sad ending would have been written to this tale, for when trumps broke in such an indecent manner a heart trick would have been built up for East, which together with the inevitable king of diamonds, would have sent the game contract down to defeat.

South, observing that a 5-1 trump break might ruin the contract, decided not to ruff the third round of spades but to discard a diamond instead. Now there was no return that East could make that would prevent South's taking the rest of the tricks.

It was especially gratifying to declarer that the safety he had purchased for himself at the maximum price of 30 points proved to have cost him nothing at all, for the diamond finesse would have failed anyhow.

The Ruston Quota Club Holds Meeting

The Ruston Quota Club met on Wednesday at a local cafe for their regular meeting.

Mrs. Lillian Pearce, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll.

Mr. Lawson Swearingen, vice - president of William Marbury Insurance in Ruston, gave an interesting talk on insurance and how it has advantages as well as problems.

Three new members were welcomed into the club. They are: Opal Choate, June Moore and Ruth Teagle.

Little Theatre

Workers have been requested to turn in money and applications for Little Theatre membership by this weekend. That will give us just a week to get all the tickets mailed before the gala opening on Friday. Be sure to send your check today to the worker who solicited you or to Mrs. L. H. Carter, 1300 Forsythe.

On Saturday, October 11th, our neighboring town of Columbia will have its third annual art festival in its Community Center. If the weather is good (surely we've had all our quota of rain for awhile), the pictures, sculpture and other art objects will be exhibited outdoors though there is ample room inside the Center in case of showers. This event is of particular interest to us because two of our Little Theatre workers will be featured on the program.

At the morning session, Lallage Feazel will give a reading of the Crucifixion scene from Ben Hur. In the afternoon, Robert H. Evans will speak on the subject "Art Can Be Family Fun". If you want a cultural treat, drive down to Columbia for the day. You can get back to Monroe in plenty of time for the second night of Visit to a Small Planet.

In New York on business this week, Scherck Bogen will find time to see a few shows. Scherck, a member of the Little Theatre publicity committee is — like the rest of us — a drama enthusiast.

When Louis Guerriero, son of the A.M. Guerriero's on Glenmar, came back from the war some years ago, he served as Little Theatre director before he went to live in Brooklyn. Lately he has been acting in summer stock, and in October he will have a part in a New York play called The Time of the Cuckoo. Some of our lucky members who will get to New York this winter will make a point of going to see him and all of us send good wishes for a successful run.

Our Mel Jones, the man in the cast in a cast, is in great demand for performances of a comedy act which he has done in various night clubs as well as on TV. The West Monroe Lions are having him on October 2, and the West Monroe Kiwanis Club on October 9. All this in addition to a full time job at KMLB. Mel's energy is positively atomic.

Many Crying That Our Schools Are Too Soft

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since Sputnik I threw its harsh spotlight on American public schools, a carping refrain has been heard o'er the land:

"Our schools are to soft. There are too many soft and silly courses. We need fewer frills, and more of the good ol' three R's."

In the initial heat of battle, extremists on both sides took stand-and-die positions, and belabored the opposition with facts, figures and fancies.

Now, a year later, there seem to have been some sobering second thoughts. The extremists are still with us, of course. But more and more the charges and countercharges are being boiled down to two basic questions:

Are the American people demanding too much of their schools? And have the schools, in trying to meet these demands, bitten off more than they can chew?

It isn't just a question of soft programs and frill courses. The debate probes hard at the very structure of U.S. education today —education of the complete child, life adjustment, something for everybody.

Take the question of discipline. Parents wail, "Our kids aren't disciplined in school." And the teachers wail right back, "Parents expect us to educate their children, and train them as well."

Who's really to blame?

HARD WORK

"Hard work is going out of style," he says. "And hard work is discipline. School is about the only place left where hard work is a way of life, and the schools are among the few places that still teach discipline."

If today's children aren't being disciplined in the home, as many teachers claim, the American parent is abdicating to the school his responsibility for raising his children properly. If he says "Let the school do it"—and gets way with it—the school program becomes jam packed with life adjustment courses.

That in itself may stand as a good example of the changed pattern of U.S. education. It used to be you got life adjustment at home and education in the schools.

The Oregon Education Policies Commission recently took note of what may be the new American way of life:

"In a busy world . . . of mothers working, and fathers serving the god of success, children are being overindulged to assuage the guilt feelings of adults. They are overfed, overdoctored and overallowanced. . . . They are kept from what should properly be expected of them by parents whose need is to overprotect. Schools become primarily havens of peace for these children, secondarily a place to get an education.

"Much of this has come about through 'social drift,' through an unwillingness on the part of some adult members of society to assume mature parenthood. It should also be noted that many adults are demanding that the schools get tougher, while they ask shorter hours for themselves."

Take the case of frill courses—the real nub of the "too soft" charges.

It's true, to the chagrin of many Americans, that some of our public high schools really have courses in such things as basket weaving, fly casting, telephone etiquette, "how to behave on a date," and folk dancing.

These courses may seem hard to defend, and few educators will even try.

"These are the ridiculous exceptions," they tell you. "They crop up here and there across the country, but the vast majority of our schools don't have anything like them—and never will have. Don't condemn the entire public school system on the basis of a few isolated cases."

All right, but how about the not-quite-so-frilly courses? How about consumer education, family relationships, co-ed cooking, ceramics and nutrition? Are these courses preparing American youth to meet the problems of world leadership in the space age?

SENSITIVE

This touches a sensitive point with most educators.

"It certainly wasn't our idea," they say, "but the pressures are terrific. The schools have to be what the parents want them to be. And American parents showed long ago that they want the schools to be more than just a place to learn Latin, Greek and calculus."

And yet, these same educators find it hard wholly to condemn the system.

We've mentioned the frill courses and the not-so-frilly courses. Now let's consider a non-academic course that has a firm standing in American education and is spreading year by year: driver education.

First off, there are two undoubted advantages to such courses. They reduce the accident rate and lower insurance premiums. It's hard to argue against anything that saves both lives and money.

But the rapid spread of such courses — more than 11,000 high schools now offer them in some form — raises a question: Why should the schools have to devote their time, money and effort in teaching junior to drive the family car? If the courses are worthwhile, why can't they be taken over by the automobile clubs, the police department, or service and civic groups?

Driver education courses, however, are so firmly entranched in the American schools they will probably become permanent fixtures. And educators, whether they like the idea or not, have accepted it.

Commercial Jet Age In 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The full-scale launching of the commercial jet air age still is three weeks away, but as far as the flying public is concerned, it has been here for years.

As long ago as 1952, people started applying for reservations on jet planes that had not even been built.

Airlines had all the first flight reservations they could handle long ago. Now they are being deluged by would-be first flighters, many of whom are even sending deposits.

One of the lucky jet enthusiasts is a Boston executive who travelled on American Airlines' first passenger flight in 1927. He plans to be aboard both Pan American World Airways first trans-Atlantic flight and America's first jet hop across the nation.

Another would-be first flighter is a Los Angeles dentist, who applied for reservations for himself, his wife and child on American's first jet flight back in 1952, before his first child was even born.

HUSBAND'S PLACE

The holder of ticket No. 1 on Pan American's scheduled inaugural flight to Paris and Rome Oct. 26 is Mrs. W. J. Eck, a veteran of four trips around the world. Her husband made the reservation for himself in 1955, but after his death last year, it was transferred to her name.

Eck made Pan American's first trans-Atlantic flight in 1939 and was aboard the first Scandinavian Airlines plane to fly over the polar route from Los Angeles to Copenhagen, Denmark.

His widow plans to make the jet flight a sort of memorial to Eck.

Thousands of persons are clamoring to be among the first passengers on various inaugural jet flights—first across the Atlantic, first across the country, first to Paris, first to London, first from London to New York, and even first to "just anywhere."

Airline employes are plowing through mountains of letters, notes and telephone memos trying to make fair distributions of seats on the few planes that will be available to usher in the jet era.

Pan American, scheduled to set off America's jet age effort with simultaneous flights each way across the Atlantic Oct. 26, has reduced a list of well over 2,000 applicants for its first flight from New York to Paris and Rome to about 500.

But there will be only 111 seats on that first Boeing 707 four-jet transport.

Approximately the same figures apply to the applications for Pan American's first flight from Rome to New York, by way of Paris.

DELUGED

The airline's offices in Chicago and Detroit each have been deluged with up to 200 calls a day asking about space on early jet flights. Other Pan American offices are getting smaller numbers of calls.

A Pan American spokesman said seats on inaugural flights are being distributed both geographically and in the order in which they have been requested.

RIGHT TO KNOW

The People Should Know What Officials Are Doing

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is National Newspaper Week. And why should anybody but a bunch of newspapermen pay much attention?

There are some 2,700,000,000 people on this planet, about half of whom enjoy political freedom.

The others can neither read, speak, nor pray as and when they please. And above all, they can't go inquiring as citizens and taxpayers—and as newsmen—into the affairs of their government.

Which brings us around to the fact that even in the United States, where a knowing electorate is considered the lifeblood of democracy, there are a good many public officials—federal, state, local—who hold that public business should be conducted like a private matter, especially where newspapers are concerned.

And it brings us to the further fact there is a small group, chiefly newspapermen, fighting to preserve the peoples' right to know on the grounds that if they don't know, democracy is headed for the graveyard.

These men are members of organizations little known to the general public, such as the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., and Sigma Delta Chi, a fraternity of professional news gatherers.

Since June 9, 1955, these fighters for the right-to-know have had an ally in the House Subcommittee on Government Information headed by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif).

Just about every taxpayer complains about the high cost of government, but did you know that:

The Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, which handles billions of dollars worth of public works projects, refuses to meet in public or even disclose the votes of board members.

The International Cooperation Administration has refused to make its reports on billions of dollars worth of foreign aid projects public, or even disclose them to Congress or the General Accounting Office which by law is the watchdog over federal spending.

The Defense Department won't even let the General Accounting Office know how it is spending large sums.

The Commerce Department issued orders restricting the meeting of certain officials with congressional committees.

The State Department issued an order restricting contacts between officials and newspapermen seeking background information on foreign policy.

While there is secrecy on the federal level aplenty, it also exists on the state and local level. Boards of education and assorted state and city commissions often meet in secret to set policies and spend public funds.

Through long experience, newspaperman have come to realize that when officials make it a practice to conduct public business in private, the door is open to eventual abuses.

So this business of the public's right to know involves an almost constant struggle on many fronts.

Since World War II it often has appeared that advocates of censorship, secrecy and propaganda have been gaining.

This year the advocates of freedom of information won a major battle though the campaign is far from over.

On Aug. 12 President Eisenhower signed into law a bill aimed at eliminating needless government secrecy. It was a one-line amendment to a 169-year-old law giving department heads the right to set up regulations concerning the use and storage of records.

The original law had been twisted to mean that access to the public's records could be denied merely by regulation. The amendment forbids this. Department heads in the government opposed the measure.

There is some indication of spreading alarm over suppression of information. The University of Missouri has established a Freedom-of-Information Center to keep tabs on abridgement of the public's right to know.

In Virginia the General Assembly passed a resolution urging all agencies of government to grant full access to information.

Right-to-know bills are before the New Jersey Legislature's Judiciary Committee. California already has an open meeting law.

The fight for open meetings lost in Michigan, South Carolina and Kentucky this year but editors have organized to keep up the battle.

Editors have organized in Maine, New Hampshire and West Virginia to fight for the public's right to know. Nebraska and Missouri are launching surveys in secrecy preparatory to a drive for new laws. The Texas Legislature will get a right-to-know bill at its next session.

Florida press groups have endorsed an open meeting proposal. Nevada's editors are planning to seek right-to-know laws next year. South Dakota's editors are in the process of organizing.

OF LANGUAGE, CULTURE

Colombian Girl Hurdles Barriers

By BOB LUCKETT
Staff Writer

Imagine a bewildered young girl being hustled through the puzzling maze of customs and immigration stations at the port of debarkation in New York.

A teenager, alone, weary, exasperated, who had no one to meet her and, although no stranger to English, had difficulty in understanding the language.

This was Jutta Backhaus upon her arrival in the largest city in the world after completing the long voyage across the Atlantic from Germany to the United States just a little more than two weeks ago.

She had come to this country to attend school at Northeast Louisiana State College here where she is now enrolled as a freshman.

Her first impression of the United States?

LONELY

"I was so lonely and confused that I could hardly keep the tears back," Jutta related in her serious manner of expression. "I did not know where to go or what to do. Fortunately I met a girl from my own country who helped me to clear customs and get my papers verified and directed me to the airport."

Her own country is Colombia, South America. She was born there of German parents in the town of Barranquilla where her father owns a soap factory. She has one older brother, Gert.

Both of the parents are bi-lingualists and taught the children Spanish and German as soon as they began to talk.

She and her brother attended a Catholic elementary school and a Protestant missionary high school. All of the classes were conducted in Spanish. German was spoken at home.

After finishing high school, Jutta and her brother were sent to Hanover, Germany to further their education.

Not satisfied with being able to speak just two languages, Jutta enrolled in the Berlitz School of Languages, taking English and French. Her brother studied engineering.

NEXT YEAR

For the next year and a half Jutta took the rigorous languages courses. Commenting on her extensive language training, Jutta said, "I attended classes five days a week for about eight hours each day. In my spare time I studied."

Offered several teaching positions on the continent while at the Berlitz School, she declined them to attend college.

Jutta was in a quandary as to whether she should go to college in England or in the United States. "What finally made up my mind," Jutta said, "was my comparison of an Englishman and an American I knew in Hanover."

"The Englishman was so reserved and formal and I seldom saw him smile. His stiff bearing and cool manner left me with the impression that England must be a culturally strict country with an atmosphere of solemness."

"On the other hand, the American was always smiling and joking, so by the same token, he gave me the impression that America must be a cheerful, friendly place. So my problem was solved; I chose America."

After her decision to come to America, Jutta began to correspond with a friend in Shreveport who sent her numerous catalogues from colleges and universities located in various parts of the country. Finally, after much deliberation, she picked Northeast.

Speaking in her measured, grammatically correct English, the attractive Colombian said, "When I first arrived in America, I could not understand the language so well because most Americans speak so fast, slur the words, and use a lot of slang and bad grammar."

Now she has little trouble in understanding American English but must watch the speaker's lips and still finds it hard to carry on a telephone conversation in Monroe.

Since being in Monroe, Jutta has seen her first American movies, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "Damn Yankees." She described the musical as "fantastic."

Jutta is taking all of the courses that any freshman at Northeast usually takes, including algebra, English, geometry and psychology. English is her hardest while psychology is her most interesting course.

Her favorite pastime is reading books, especially the classics. She has read "Gone With the Wind" in German, several Shakespearian plays in Spanish and many other books in French and English.

Commenting on the American way of life, the pretty brunette said, "You Americans have so many mechanical conveniences and really live a life of luxury compared to the people in South America and Germany."

AMAZED

"I was simply amazed at the number of cars here. They are much larger than the ones in Germany and probably are extremely expensive to run."

"In Germany most of the people ride bicycles, both young and old. Even college professors ride them to class in Hanover. Here a bicycle seems to be only a children's toy."

Unlike other foreign students going to Northeast under the student exchange program, Jutta entered this country under an immigration quota and will be permitted to remain here and work when she finishes her schooling.

She has made no definite plans as to what she wants to do after spending a year here but is contemplating being an air stewardess or a linguist.

Her advice to anyone trying to learn a foreign language is to get lots of practice speaking the language. "No matter how foolish you may think you sound, that is the only way to learn."

Good advice from someone who has mastered four languages and doesn't sound foolish at all.

All over the world young people like this Latin American girl are braving the loneliness and strangeness of a foreign country, transcending the language and cultural barriers that criss cross over the globe, weaving a cryptic and diverse pattern.

Jutta Backhaus and others like her, by their courage and thirst for learning, are laying the cornerstone for better world understanding, a foundation so essential in facing the turbulent tomorrow.

U.S. Ambassador Decorates Britons

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney Friday decorated five Britons who pioneered modern day aircraft carrier equipment. Whitney said all the free world was indebted to the men.

They were: Rear Adm. Dennis Royle Campbell, Legion of Merit; Cmdr. Hillary Goodhart, Legion of Merit; civilians Lewis Boddington, Dennis Lean and Colin Mitchell, Medal of Freedom.

Balloon Ride Is Thrilling But It Is A Big Crazy Idea

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — What makes a man—or woman—climb into a little wicker basket and go bobbing up thousands of feet in the air under a fat balloon stuffed with cooking gas?

What makes him enjoy hanging there, dreamy and happy, with only the thin skin of that balloon between him and destruction?

I don't know.

But I did try it—once.

It was a sunny morning when I clambered with four other people into a frail-looking basket about 8 by 6 feet. Above us, the round silver balloon tugged restlessly at the ropes holding it to the ground. A friend shook his head.

"I think you're cray," he said. I thought probably he was right.

Excited volunteers let go the lines. The balloon lurched eagerly into the sky, our basket trailing 10 feet below, held by a sort of foot high bag.
cargo net thrown over the big 0-

I stood tensely on the sand bags, each weighing about 30 pounds, which covered the bottom of the basket. As passengers go, I was a seven-bag man and I was afraid any movement would rock the boat.

The balloon soared soundlessly upward at 200 feet a minute. The world swept under us, around us, above us. But we were still.

"No sway," I remarked.

Pilot Peter Pelligrino misunderstood my tone. "No sway?" he repeated. "I can make it sway if you want."

CRIED

"No, no!" I cried.

Cautiously, I edged forward to look over the side. The basket's rim came up to my nervous middle. We were at 2,000 feet.

Below us, Pensylvania countryside was a green quilt, its neat squares of cultivated land sliced by precise highways and snaky rivers with punctuation dots of shiny green backyard swimming pools.

The basket was crowded, but friendly.

I peered over the side again. The balloon's noiseless shadow slid across the countryside.

I could see what Anthony Fairbanks meant. Fairbanks, 52-year-old aeronautical engineer from Swarthmore, Pa., who founded the Balloon Club of America six years ago, had tried to explain the lure of free flight before we took off.

"There's no noise, no moving parts," he said. "Troubles fade away in the silence." Then he added: "There's danger, all right. The pilot it always thinking, 'I hope she holds.' It's a long way down."

"What happens if we fall? I asked.

Pelligrino looked at me distastefully.

"Stay in the basket," he advised. "It's the safest place." I agreed with him—he said the only alternative was to jump out.

Balloonists can qualify as pilots after six practice flights and one solo. There are only two controls —up and down. Directionwise, balloonists go with the wind.

Balloon Club of America members pay $25 a flight, nonmembers pay $50. They arise at 3 a.m. to spend four hours filling the balloon with ordinary natural gas at $100 a flight. Leftover money is used to send equipment to Europe for races. Last year, club members finished fifth in a nine-balloon race in Holland.

Balloons sell for 4,000 new in Europe. The Pennsylvania club has six, all bought for a song from the Navy's balloon station in Lakehurst, N. J. The CAA inspects and licenses balloons for nothing.

Pellegrino began looking for a place to land. "After a couple of hours of this, I get bored," he said. The altimeter said we were at 3,800 feet-an average height, said Pelligrino.

Releasing gas and tossing sand, Pelligrino started the balloon sinking slowly downward. "Watch out for wires," he said, explaining that a brush against a live wire could mean explosion and fire.

I could see we were heading for a field of tall grass surrounded by wires. To the west—the direction we were drifting—was a large, wet pond.

TOWARD

The balloon swung toward the wires. Pelligrino threw out a long, 65-pound drag rope. It slowed us. Below, the club members who had tracked us by car grabbed the rope and reeled us in.

About 100 feet from the ground, Pelligrino turned to me. "Don't jump out" he said. I told him I wouldn't dream of it. "Bend your legs," he shouted as the basket settled easily into the grass.

I scrambled out. The balloon bounced, frisky after losing a seven-bag passenger. People who appeared in droves clutched the baskt. We had traveled seven miles in two hours.

His balloon floated higher and higher until it was a speck and the basket invisible.

Then it grew larger, the bag changing from a chubby sphere to a leaner pear. "They're losing gas too fast," worried Pelligrino.

Sand streamed from the basket as Shields fought to slow the plunge. The balloon drooped toward Whitemarsh, a heavily populated area. The crew tossed out four portable chairs and a hamper of ham sandwiches.

"They're in trouble," said Pelligrino when the sandwiches tumbled out.

The balloon caught on a tree limb and hung limply over the burial ground of St. Thomas Episcopal church about 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Shields said the sun had heated the gas and expanded it, sending the balloon soaring to 9,000 feet. Then the gas seeped out and plunged down at 600 feet a minute.

Club members deflated the balloon, packed it on a trailer and climbed into their cars.

"Understand now," Pelligrino said to me, "This has been another ordinary day."

Airline Safety Is Full Time Job

By WES COOK
Associated Press Writer

A red light flickered in the airplane control panel. An alarm bell split the muffled roar of the four big engines.

"Fire in number three," snapped the pilot.

Pilot, copilot, and engineer moved swiftly but smoothly to cut off the flaming engine, block its flow of oil and gasoline and set off the built in extinguisher to smother the fire.

A few minutes later the aircraft settled to the runway, tires squealing softly, and taxied gently to its parking place.

The crew unfastened safety belts and stepped from the cockpit onto the second floor of a building in downtown Kansas City.

They had just completed a trouble-plagued make-believe flight from Kansas City to Los Angeles. The nightmare flight included a fouled-up landing gear, engine failure, severe icing and other assorted difficulties.

Pretend flights in cockpits exactly like those of the big passenger planes—complete with sound effects—is one way in which airlines battle for greater safety in the sky.

CRASHES

Two recent crashes were grim reminders that the battle is never won. A KLM airliner went down in the Atlantic, killing 99 and a Northeast Airline plane crashed on the East Coast, claiming 23 lives.

But Jim Pyle, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, says air travel is four times safer than going by automobile.

In 1957, the combined U.S. scheduled domestic and international airlines had a fatality rate of only one passenger for 500 million passenger miles.

The CAA is working on a modernized program for air traffic control to avoid airplane collisions while the airlines themselves are working to prevent mechanical and human break-downs.

Airlines insist on putting veteran pilots and crews through refresher courses in emergency procedures—such as Trans World Airlines' Kansas City simulated cockpit course—year after year.

And Airlines keep an eagle eye on their personnel and their plans.

"We monitor the performance of our equipment and personnel 24 hours a day through a worldwide network of communications," said Jim Davis, director of line maintenance for TWA.

"In addition to preflight inspections, planes are subjected to more probing examinations after every 35 hours of flight.

"And at the end of every 160 hours logged by the aircraft, it is grounded while we spend some 200 man hours in cleaning, repairing and replacing."

"It is a great tragedy," said one airline official, "that a part of the price of progress in aviation has been the loss of loved ones.

"But it would be an even greater tragedy if we failed to take corrective action resulting in greater safety for other air passengers."

EXPLAINS ACHING BACKS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The California State Department of Mental Hygiene said failure to come to grips with everyday emotional problems is the most common cause of the common backache. It explained that such problems cause an excess of muscle function and electrical activity which lead to a gradual accumulation of potasium in the tissues.

What Does Pilot Think Of When His Plane's On Fire?

EDITOR'S NOTE: What goes through an airline pilot's mind when his plane is on fire? On Sept. 21, United Airlines Flight 705 left Washington National Airport for San Francisco with 58 passengers and a crew of five. Exactly 36 minutes later, the pilot safely landed the DC7 back at the airport with one engine aflame. This is the dramatic story of those 36 minutes, based on interviews with the crew and airport personnel.

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Flight 705, Capt. W. W. Breeding commanding, left the ground smoothly at 12:18 p. m. EDT.

Ground controller Ralph Johnson noted the time and told 705 to shift to departure control. 705 swam up through the heavy overcast. In the cabin, stewardesses Iris Peterson and Dorothy Smith unhooked their seat belts and started passing out magazines for what should have been a long flight.

In Washington departure control, controller Herb Auxier watched the tiny radar "blip" that represented a million-dollar DC7 and 63 human beings. He flicked on his mike.

"United seven zero five. We have you in radar contact, a mile south."

705 acknowledged politely. At 12:30 p.m., the flight called Auxier.

"Washington, this is United seven zero five."

Flight engineer Merle Akins had just noticed oil pressure dropping on No. 4 engine. But he didn't need the instrument to tell him something was wrong. He could sense it. It was even noticeable to one of the stewardesses, pert Iris Peterson, a comparative veteran on her job.

"I think we've got troubles with No. 4," she said to stewardess Smith.

"How can you tell?"

"I don't really know," Miss Peterson admitted. "I just feel it."

A puff of black smoke came from No. 4, like the backfire on an automobile. Stewardess Peterson, with a nonchalant smile and nodding to passengers, strode down the blue-carpeted aisle to the cockpit and closed the cabin door behind her.

"There was some smoke from No. 4," she said to Akins.

CAN'T FEATHER

Akins nodded. Stewardess Peterson hesitated, started to say something to the frowning Capt. Breeding, then left the cockpit. Breeding was just trying to raise Washington departure control.

"Washington, this is United seven zero five."

UAL 705: "We're maintaining 3,000. We just feathered No. 4.

Auxier: "You say you just feathered No. 4?"

UAL 705: "We've just feathered No. 4."

Auxier: "Okay, you want to return to Washington, is that correct?"

UAL 705: "We'll decide what we want to do in a couple of minutes."

Auxier: "What's the nature of the trouble?"

UAL 705: "Well, we're still trying to feather No. 4."

Eastern Flight 573 left National and checked in with departure control, but Auxier—slightly concerned but calm—told Eastern to stand by and again called 705.

"United seven zero five, can you circle where you are now to the right?"

UAL 705: "Roger, United seven zero four, we've got a runaway on No. 4 and we'll maintain our present position. We're at 25-hundred holding and circling to the right."

At this point, Breeding summoned stewardess Peterson, senior cabin attendant, and told her to move passengers out of the line of the windmilling propellor on No. 4. A windmilling prop, if unfeathered, could shake loose and pierce the cabin. Stewardess Peterson returned to the cabin, announced calmly that for precautionary reasons some passengers would have to move away from the balky engine. The two girls, still smiling and chatting with the passengers, moved 16 out of their forward seats to the aisle in the rear.

CIRCLES

Auxier wanted to know if Breeding wanted to return to the field immediately.

"Negative," said 705, "we've got to shut the engine down first."

Auxier: "Okay. Continue circling in that area and keep me advised."

Auxier began moving other traffic away from United 705. Then he heard from the crippled flight again.

UAL 705: "Washington departure, we're still maintaining 2,500 and we're roughly over Herndon (Va.). We're unable to feather No. 4. We're going to dump some fuel and we'd like to come back. What's your weather there?"

Breeding's voice was matter-of-fact, but the control tower realized that with the crew unable to feather the engine, a fire was possible if not probable. Supervisor Glen Tigner picked up an emergency phone and alerted the airport fire department.

UAL 705: "Washington Departure, we're proceeding back, and we'll be holding at 2,500 and we're going to have to dump gas, so will you give us a clearance to hold at Springfield (a radio check point) and we'll be off the air for awhile."

CIVIL RIGHTS ISSUE?

Gravel Meet Set Wednesday

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana Democrats, famous for family fussing, stage another showdown scrap here Wednesday over removal of Camille Gravel as national committeeman.

This time, its different. Segregation overshadows the customary namecalling. The issue cuts across traditional Long and anti-Long factional lines.

Gravel's foes say his endorsement of the national party position on civil rights legislation betrayed the South when its back was to the wall on segregation.

Gravel insists its all political. Gov. Earl Long, he says, wants to punish him for taking the wrong side in the Eighth District race for Congress. Gravel backed a winner, Long had the loser.

Most observers expect the State Central Committee to oust the Alexandria attorney but there is no assurance the national committee will recognize his successor.

Gravel is a close friend of national chairman Paul Butler and represents the South on the Democratic national advisory council. Vice chairman Sam Brightman said last Thursday only the national committee can remove a member.

Butler said he would withhold comment until after the committee acts Wednesday.

In 1950, the state committee fired W. H. Talbott of New Orleans, key man in the Dixiecrat movement that took Louisiana's Electoral votes away from former President Truman in 1948.

Talbott was ousted at request of the national committee because he bolted the party. Gov. Long was named in his place, and had some time left to serve when former Gov. Robert Kennon won the nomination and took over party control.

The committee under Kennon removed both Gov. Long and the national committeewoman, Mary Evelyn Dickerson (now Welfare Commissioner Parker). Neither ever contested the move.

Whatever the issue, the meeting in the House chamber at the state capitol promises to be colorful and explosive. In the spotlight are three tough political battlers.

Gravel, a leading Catholic layman, has been active in Louisiana politics for more than a decade. He was a key man in Gov. Long's campaign for governor in 1956, but split with the governor.

Even though the odds appear to be against him, Gravel is fighting hard for his job. He plans a New Orleans television appearance Sunday afternoon, then a half hour program over a statewide radio-television network Monday night.

Long, three-time governor and brother of the late Huey P. Long has been active in every governor's race since 1924.

Sen. W. M. Rainacr, Louisiana segregation leader who spearheaded the drive to remove Gravel, is serving his fifth term in the Legislature. He is anti-Long, but agrees with the governor on Gravel's removal.

The drive to fire Gravel began more than a year ago, but no central committee session was possible until Long gave his approval.

Rainach said the action of southerners such as Gravel encouraged the Eisenrower administration "to go to extremes in attempting to force integration."

This, the segregation leader added, was "very definitely a factor in the Little Rock affair."

"Gravel's stand gave both national parties a false picture of the real feeling of the people of the South," Rainach said. "He has seriously undercut the Southern position at a time when the South has had its back to the wall.

"We know we can't win this fight with people in high positions betraying us at every step."

Gravel, defending his vote on the Democratic national advisory council in support of civil rights legislation, said he pledged on election as national committeeman to support "the nominees of the national party and the platform. . . ."

When Congress enacted the civil rights act last year, Gravel said, "the civil rights bill is what it should be — a bill that seeks to protect the right to vote."

In a statement, he commented, "purely as a moral proposition, I think segregation is wrong. Legally the matter is settled to the extent that the U.S. district courts are empowered to enforce or delay integration as required by local conditions.

"Socially, economically and emotionally an attempt to integrate the schools in Louisiana at this time might well prove disastrous."

But when Long jumped into the fray, after staying out for more than a year, Gravel shifted his fire. He hammed at the "unholy marriage" between Long and Rainach.

"This whole meeting is a political deal between the governor, who could not get me to support his candidate for Congress and Sen. Rainach, who wants to keep this controversy boiling without any respect for the true facts. . ."

Central committee vice chairman Jeff Talbott of Bernice, a Long supporter, triggered the drive June 30, 1957. He asked for help from Rainach's legislative "watch dog" committee on segregation.

Segregation groups hammered away through the summer and fall.

Chairman Rufus Hayes of Baton Rouge, a Long political ally, said he would call the committee into session only if a majority of the 101 members asked for it in writing.

Although the call to quit echoed over the South — picked up by Democratic leaders in Georgia and South Carolina — the central committee did not meet.

Until recently, Long's position was, "I don't think I would have voted the way Gravel did, but I'm not criticizing him for doing it. . . Looks like a majority of the Democratic party is for that."

EASON PLACE

LIVE WIRE! Our phone, that is, for when word of the "new listing" gets around, bells will be a-buzzin'! It's a "heckuva" nice place, just 3 years old, and well kept inside and out. And just add these features: large bedrooms (11x14, 11x14, and 11x15 -- one with 2 closets), 14x24 living room and dining area with entry closet, kitchen has gleaming white cabinets with Formica tops, ventahood ... also shower over tub, attic fan, Venetian blinds, drapes, Coleman wall heating, carport, storage, and on a 75x125 ft. lot with St. Augustine, shrubbery, and well-arranged flower beds. $400 down plus closing is all it takes, so why not give us a "buzz" and we'll show you through!

SOUTH 5TH

CAMELLIA

NOT A "LICK OF WORK" TO DO before moving into this 2-year-old red brick home, thanks to the meticulous care of the owner. Among its 1115 sq. ft. are to be found 3 bedrooms with large closets, kitchen with natural finish cabinets and ventahood, striking black and white ceramic tile bath with shower over tub plus Venetian blinds, central heating, 42 in. attic fan, carport, and storage. On a 75x100 ft. lot, just 4 blocks to school! $450 down plus closing will move you in — wanta' look?

SOUTH 5TH

IF AN AD HAD SOUND EFFECTS, there'd be an "appreciative whistle" for this pink brick home with its attractive wrought iron trim, set on a well manicured (75x142) lawn with St. Augustine and good shrubbery. As you go inside, there's a paneled entry and throughout the house there's the most beautiful hardwood floors you'll see in many a day! RIDGEWAY

SIS AND BUD WILL NEVER FIGHT over the bathroom—not in this brick home—'cause it possesses 1½ ceramic tile baths! And that's not all it has: there's 3 bedrooms (one presently being used as den) plus all this: knotty pine cabinets, natural woodwork throughout, 42 in. attic fan with automatic shutters, wall furnace, blinds, carport and storage. The lot's large (91x105) and is partially fenced in back for privacy. $400 plus closing is all it takes to move. Wanta' look?

SOUTH 3RD

FOR MOMMIES AND DADDIES with lots of kiddies, we recommend that you not tarry in seeing this friendly family home! Among its 1483 sq. ft., you'll like its: 3 bedrooms, airy den, separate dining room, 1½ baths, kitchen with Formica topped cabinets, ventahood, and built-in China closet; attic fan, and Venetian blinds. And imagine this back yard, if you please — it's shady, fenced, and has a 14x20 barbecue house and 10x20 storage house. Within a stone's throw (2 blocks) of Mitchell School and can be bought by paying small equity ($1475) and assuming owner's 4½ per cent loan. Nope, you better not tarry on this one!

BLONDIE
by CHIC YOUNG
HOW ABOUT BAKING YOUR HONEY BOY ONE OF YOUR DELICIOUS ANGEL-FOOD CAKES?
SURE, DARLING
OH, HERBERT-- I JUST REMEMBERED-- I'M OUT OF SUGAR
I'LL BORROW A CUP FROM THE BUMSTEADS
BLONDIE-- CAN I BORROW A CUP---
HERB--YOU'RE JUST THE MAN WE NEED-- COME IN
I'M HAVING MY ANNUAL FURNITURE-MOVING SPREE AND I NEEDED ANOTHER BIG, STRONG MAN TO HELP
AM I GETTING ANY HELP IN THE BACK?
SURE, HERB
THANK YOU SO MUCH, HERB--- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF SUGAR
JUST ONE MOMENT, BLONDIE, UNTIL I CATCH MY BREATH
LOOK, HERBERT-- I FOUND A A WHOLE BOX OF SUGAR I DIDN'T KNOW I HAD
I'LL RETURN THIS CUP OF SUGAR-- I DON'T WANT TO BE OBLIGATED TO THE BUMSTEADS
BLONDIE--- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF--
OH, HERB, I'M SO GLAD YOU CAME BACK--WE NEED YOU AGAIN
WE DECIDED TO GET RID OF THE OLD PIANO AND HAVE IT CARTED AWAY
THIS IS THE LAST-- I'M GOING BACK HOME
THAT BUMSTEAD DRIVES ME CRAZY!
STOP STOMPING
NOW LOOK--YOU RUINED THE CAKE BY STOMPING THRU THE KITCHEN LIKE THAT MY BEAUTIFUL CAKE!
IT'S DAGWOOD, DEAR-- HE CAME OVER FOR A PIECE OF CAKE
I'LL GIVE HIM A PIECE OF CAKE!

LEAVING THE TILL TO THE CASH REGISTER OPEN WHEN YOU CLOSE THE STORE OFTEN PREVENTS DAMAGE TO THESE EXPENSIVE MACHINES BY BURGLARS. Dick Tracy
I NEVER KNEW FOOD COULD BE SO GOOD, EH, WHITEHALL?
RIGHTO! ANOTHER PIECE OF THAT BEEF, IF YOU PLEASE.
WE SENT MESSAGES TO YOUR RESPECTIVE HOME OFFICES, GENTLEMEN.
ALSO WE REQUESTED THAT YOUR FAMILIES BE GIVEN THE GOOD NEWS OF YOUR RESCUE.
FURTHERMORE, HERE'S A TELEPHONE. YOU MAY TALK TO YOUR WIVES DIRECT, IF YOU WISH.
---FROM NOW ON, TESS, I'LL ALWAYS HAVE A WARM PLACE IN MY HEART FOR MISSILE NOSE CONES---
HONEY, BONNIE BRAIDS WANTS TO SAY HELLO.
---"BOTH TRACY AND WHITEHALL ABOARD CRASH BOAT 267 HEADED FOR HAVANA. HEALTH GOOD—BOTH WILL BE TAKEN TO CENTRAL HOSPITAL, HAVANA, FOR CHECKUP."
CHIEF, HOW ABOUT MY TAKING AN AFTERNOON PLANE TO CUBA? I'D LIKE TO BE THERE WHEN HE ARRIVES.
GREAT, SAM!
MEANWHILE
YOU SEE, DROPPER, THAT FLOODING BASEMENT OF MINE WILL FINISH MISS EGGHEAD. LATER, WHEN WE RETURN TO THE HOUSE, WE'LL SPIRIT THE BODY TO A PUBLIC PARK WHERE IT CAN BE FOUND.
AND MISS EGGHEAD WILL BE JUST ANOTHER DROWNING VICTIM OF THE HURRICANE.
I DON'T LIKE IT!
HER $50,000
CHICORY, GO BACK AND FINISH THE JOB! SUPPOSE RESCUE PARTIES FIND THE BODY BEFORE YOU GET IT OUT?
HA! DON'T KID YOURSELF. RESCUERS WILL BE TOO BUSY IN THE LOWER SECTIONS OF TOWN TO CHECK MY PLACE.
AND MISS EGGHEAD FACES HER FATE, PANIC-STRICKEN AND HORRIFIED.
THAT WAS A FOOTSTEP! I KNOW IT WAS A FOOTSTEP ON THE FLOOR ABOVE.
IS SOMEONE COMING TO SAVE ME??

WHERE'S YER HAIRBRUSH, EMMY? KAYO JUST COST ME A WEEK'S TAKE FROM MY TAXI!
OH, NO YOU DON'T, MOON MULLINS.
I SAW THROUGH THE WINDOW EXACTLY WHAT DEAR LITTLE KAYO DID -- THANKS TO HIM, I NOW HAVE THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE ENSEMBLE LIKE THIS IN TOWN!
AND HE'S GOING TO GET A KISS FOR IT.
HEY-- CUT THAT OUT! NIX, EMMY! OW!
OH, NO!
HALT!
HECK. SOME DAYS IT JUST DON'T PAY TO GET UP OUTTA MY DRESSER DRAWER.

NEW PINK MIRACLE BAR

MAKES YOU FEEL YOU'VE REGAINED THE SKIN YOU WERE BORN WITH

(soft, smooth, clear as a baby's!)

PRAISE LEAVES DRY SKIN FEELING SOFT AS A BABY'S. You were born with a beautiful skin. But you've been using soap which dries and flakes it. Now, Lever Brothers has discovered that Dermasil can transform soap into a new skin-care idea. A miracle of cleanliness, as well as mildness, that loves you all over. The name of the miracle is Praise.

PRAISE LEAVES FLAKY SKIN FEELING AS SMOOTH AS A BABY'S. It's packed with rich cold cream. Praise's creamy lather babies your skin—creams your face and your body as you bathe!

PRAISE HELPS MAKE SKIN AS CLEAR AS A BABY'S. It contains a gentle germ remover. Praise washes away blemish-causing bacteria. Also the bacteria that cause body odor. And Praise never leaves any bathtub ring!

Praise
a new idea in skin care
Praise
leaves skin feeling soft as a baby's

IT'S BESS BOND! IT'S GOTTA BE HER!
PROVE IT!
HAVE 'EM DIG HER UP... THAT'D PROVE IT DARN QUICK, I BETCHA...
WHO'S GOING TO START THAT SORT OF TALK? NO OFFICIAL IN THIS TOWN WOULD DARE DO A THING, IF AL ATILLA SAID "FORGET IT"...
WHY'D HE HAVE TO KNOW?
BECAUSE, GOLDILOCKS, AL OWNS THIS TOWN, AND MOST OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE IN IT...
YEAH! BUT I STILL SAY, IF YOU'RE RIGHT.....
BESIDES... WE DON'T KNOW THAT IT'S MRS. BOND IN THERE... IT COULD BE ANYONE...
WELL, WE KNOW IT'S NOT AL'S WIFE ...SHE'S SAFE IN CHICAGO, IN TH' LOONY BIN...
MIGHT BE A CONNECTION... ABOUT THE SAME TIME... NOBODY KNOWS EXACTLY... ...IF MRS. BOND HAD A TIP AL WAS SENDING HIS WIFE TO AN ASYLUM...
BUT, GEE... EVER'BODY KNEW THAT PRETTY QUICK ANYWAY...
WELL, SHE HAD SOMETHING COOKING ABOUT HIM... BUT WHY "SYLVAN REST"? WHY DID SHE JOT THAT DOWN?
MAYBE AL, OR WHOEVER IT WAS, SENT WORD TO MEET'M OUT THERE...
WHATCHA GOT TO WORRY ABOUT, BOSS... NOBODY CAN PROVE NOTHIN'!
I JUST DON'T LIKE IT!
THAT BRAT'S A BORN SNOOPER... AND THAT SMART-ALECK REPORTER! NEVER KNOW WHAT THEY'LL COME UP WITH...
10-5-58
MAYBE YOU WANT I SHOULD...
NO! LET 'EM ALONE... SOONER OR LATER THEY'LL HANG THEMSELVES!
WHATCHA THINKIN' 'BOUT NOW, BILLY? HOW TO GET MRS. BOND DUG UP, WITHOUT GETTIN' US BURIED?
NO... ABOUT SOMETHING YOU SAID... IS AL ATILLA'S WIFE SAFE IN A CHICAGO LOONY BIN? YOU KNOW, "DOUBT CHARMS ME NO LESS THAN KNOWLEDGE."

Doctors Report President Is In Excellent Health

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower's doctors said Saturday he is in "an excellent state of health."

The report was issued after the chief executive underwent a complete physical examination at the Walter Reed Army Medical Center.

Maj. Gen. Leonard D. Heaton, commanding officer of the medical center and one of those who examined the President, told reporters the results of the check-up were "fine—best yet."

The brief medical bulletin Saturday said:

"The President underwent a complete physical examination, which included Barium studies of the gastro-intestinal tract and appropriate laboratory test, at Walter Reed Army Hospital on Oct. 3-4, 1958.

The results of these all-inclusive studies show that the President continues to maintain an excellent state of health."

TERSE REPORT

The terse report was signed by Maj. Gen. Howard McC. Snyder, the president's own physician, and by Heaton.

The President entered the hospital for the exaxmination late Friday and spent the night there.

As though to emphasize his good health, he drove directly from the hospital this afternoon to the Burning Tree Club in nearby Maryland for a game of golf.

He had lunch at the hospital before departing.

The new medical report came just 10 days before the President's 68th birthday and a few days before he planned to plunge into the political campaigns on behalf of Republican candidates.

After past medical checkups, the President's doctors have issued more detailed reports on their findings, providing such information as his blood pressure and the results of blood analyses.

Such details were completely absent from Saturday's two-paragraph report.

Mrs. Ann W. Wheaton, the associate White House press secretary, said the bulletin was deliberately brief because Eisenhower wanted it that way.

She said that the overnight examinations covered all areas of the President's medical background, including his 1955 heart attack, his 1956 surgery for ileitis, and the slight stroke he suffered last fall.

U.S. Army Begins Leaving Lebanon Despite Violence

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) — The United States Army begin leaving Lebanon Saturday despite a wave of kidnapings, beatings and strikes that threatened renewed civil war.

About 1,000 American soldiers, waving and shouting happily, rolled through the streets in open trucks to the Beirut dock area and boarded a ship to return to bases in Germany.

The last 90 Marines were expected to depart Sunday and the remaining 5,900 soldiers to go within two weeks, leaving the Lebanese army to handle the simmering new revolt by itself. In August there were 14,000 U.S. Troops in Lebanon.

Pro-and anti-government forces accused each other of hundreds of sectarian kidnapings and beatings.

Christian Phalangists maintain roadblocks on main roads leading into the city. They burned stacks of tires and sent women and children before the barricades to halt traffic.

Hurricane Churns Across Pacific

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A hurricane churned across the Pacific toward the Mexico coast Saturday with winds estimated at more than 85 miles an hour near the center, the Weather Bureau reported.

A hurricane advisory said the storm was located 80 nautical miles south southeast of Los Mochis, Mexico, and moving toward the north-northeast at 16 miles an hour. It will probably hit the coast 30 miles south of Los Mochis at about noon (pst).

The Weather Bureau said hurricane force winds extended 30 miles outward from the center.

Antiaircraft Missiles Go To Far East

TAIPEI, Formosa (AP)—A U S. Nike-Hercules battalion with its deadly antiaircraft missiles is expected to reach Formosa Wednesday to help guard Nationalist China against Communist bombing attack.

It will come during a period of concern about the possibility of new Red Chinese air assaults against Nationalist cargo planes air dropping supplies to bloackaded Quemoy.

The Nike-Hercules is a ground-to-air missile that can be fired effectively 75 to 100 miles, at speeds greater than sound. It has the capability of seeking out and destroying an aerial target despite evasive action.

POTENTIAL

Its potential will help free more Nationalist aircraft for use if necessary against more than 500 Red-starred MIG fighters poised on advanced mainland bases.

Four MIG17s attacked and heavily damaged a Nationalist C46 transport over Quemoy Friday. There is fear the swift, low level attacks will be repeated in the future as the air drop program grows. Strengthening this belief was a statement by Ango Tai, head of Nationalist China's privately owned Foshing Airlines.

He said he thought the unarmed Foshing PBY Catalina that

Smile

"Mix with others both old and young, give out a cheerful word, smile and thus banish all worries!"

This is the "fountain of youth" that has made the life and habits of Herbert H. Nobes a bright and shining light for many decades. On October 9, 1958, he will celebrate his 80th birthday in his home on Park Avenue.

Some days ago he made an appointment with this writer for a downtown hotel. Yesterday at the hour named he was there on the spot. He appeared attired in a down-to-the-minute fall suit. In his button hole was a tiny snowy zinnia. A fall hat, a gray Fedora, completed his attire, crowned over all by that smile that is ever - present. Also that round face and ruddy complexion make him resemble a man in his forties.

Nobes, in accent and attire, is ever in keeping with his British origin. He was born in Portsmouth, England, in 1878. He enlisted in Queen Victoria's Navy in 1898 and served for eight years. Then he left the Navy and the following year came to the United States where in time he became naturalized. His wife

Seven Killed As Explosion Rocks Home

INDIANA, Pa. (UPI) — An unemployed coal miner, his wife and five of his seven children died Saturday when fire touched off by a kerosene explosion swept their home 12 miles east of here.

One other child was rescued but suffered critical burns. Another escaped by clammering out a cellar coal chute at the direction of her father, who despite the flames which licked from his clothing made a desperate effort to save the other members of the family.

State police said the blast occurred as the father, Clair Kinter, 42, was using the kerosene to start a fire in the kitchen stove of his home.

Perishing in the flames were Kinter; his wife, Jennie, 39, and their children, Peggy, 13, Virginia,

United Drive Set In Parish Areas

The Ouachita Parish United Givers tomorrow will begin an all-out effort to raise $210,000 for the support of 13 service agencies.

Campaign Chairman R. L. Vanderpool Jr. expressed confidence yesterday the drive would reach its goal within three weeks of soliciting.

"Our division leaders and teams are equipped with the two vital elements for a successful fund raising drive — optimism and energy," Vanderpool declared.

United Givers President Clifford Strauss pointed to good organization on the part of Vanderpool as "a big hurdle out of the way before the drive opens tomorrow." Strauss noted the arrangement of the territories to be covered and the men and women chosen to solicit in particular fields assured the success of the campaign.

AGENCIES

Agencies incorporated into the single fund - raising effort of United Givers will include the Ouachita Parish Chapter of the American Red Cross, the Boy Scouts of America, the Carolyn Rose Strauss Rehabilitation Cen-

Ouachita Valley Fair Will Open Here This Week

The 1958 Ouachita Valley Fair, which will be held in West Monroe, Monday through Saturday, is said to be one of the largest and best ever planned in the Twin Cities area.

John Birdsong Sr., manager, said that 14 major rides and eight children rides are promised the fairgoers.

A nightly feature also promised, he said, will be two roller skaters on a 60 inch platform, raised 60 feet in the air, doing spins, double spins and other skating stunts. This feature will be held at 9 o'clock every night, he said.

Birdsong said no light bulbs will be used, that there will be all neon lighting.

Childrens day will be from 3 p. m. to 6 p.m. Friday, and all day Saturday, he stated. Children will have special prices during this time.

The Baptist children's home and other instutitions of the area will OUJDA, Morocco (UPI) — A warehouse packed with explosives blew up Friday in the Zelidja mines near here, destroying 18 buildings and five garages. Reports said four persons were injured seriously. Cause of the explosion was not determined immediately.

Former Area Man Dead In Plane Crash

KEY WEST, Fla. (Special) — A 23 - year - old Oak Grove native and former Twin City resident has been identified as one of seven men of a 10-man crew who died Monday when their airplane crashed off of Key West, Fla.

ADR3 J. H. Turnbow, son of Earl Turnbow, Sweetwater, Tex. was identified as one of the seven whose bodies have been found, his family said yesterday. He lived in the Monroe area for a number of years and was a 1954 graduate of West Monroe High School.

Search crews were still hunting the other three men last night.

Parts of the wrecked plane were found earlier this week, and the seven bodies were found Fri-

French Smith New Commission Head

The Monroe Utilities Commission yesterday announced the appointment of French L. Smith to the post of general manager of the commission which controls the city's power and water services.

A retired employee of Hope Producing Company, Smith succeeds T. H. Underwood, who resigned earlier in the week "for personal reasons. Underwood's salary was $15,500.

Travis Oliver Jr., newly elected commission chairman, announced that Smith's salary would be $7,800 annually.

After the commission was established, five of Monroe's leading citizens were appointed to authority over city utilities. They later hired Underwood, a registered engineer, to the general manager's post.

Smith was one of the original members of the commission. His two-year term was scheduled to expire yesterday.

Throughout the period of Smith's service he devoted full time to his post on the commission. For the past year he has served as chairman of the commission.

The commission issued a statement yesterday, announcing Smith's assignment to the gen-

New Integration Moves Aimed At Southern States

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The federal government and the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People Saturday aimed two new legal moves at Arkansas and Virginia where schools have been closed to block integration.

In a friend of the court brief, the government asked the U. S. 8th Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis to grant an NAACP request for an injunction against leasing of Little Rock schools to a private corporation for operation on a segregated basis.

The NAACP began a move to have federal courts reopen schools in three Virginia communities which were closed after they were ordered to integrate.

MEET MONDAY

The St. Louis court will meet Monday to consider the NAACP petition for an injunction against leasing Little Rock high schools to a private corporation. Gov. Orval E. Faubus vowed Friday the schools will never be reopened except on a segregated basis.

"Reopening of the high schools on a segregated basis would inflict an irreparable injury on the nation as a whole," the government brief said. It urged the court to "enter a comprehensive injunction which will in specific terms enjoin any and all persons, whether they be public officials or private individuals or organizations from taking any action in or out of the schools which would have the effect of denying, impairing or hindering" the rights of Negro children.

Holding that the plan to lease the Little Rock high schools for segregated, private operation is invalid, the government brief also declared "it is as plain as day that there is no alternative to compliance with the law and that no schemes or devices for operating public schools on a segregated basis can hope to succeed."

Virginia Gov. J. Lindsay Almond Jr., closed schools in Charlottesville, Norfolk and Warren County after they were ordered by federal courts to integrate.

The NAACP has petitioned the courts for further relief from what it contends is a violation of the Negro pupils' constitutional rights.

In Little Rock, reports circulated that the Arkansas Legislature may be asked to abolish the state's public school system and establish a statewide system of private schools.

Faubus could not be reached for comment, but sources who requested anonymity said under the proposal state aid would be given all students on a per capita basis.

Shortage Of Funds Loom For LSUNO

BATON ROUGE (AP) — President Troy Middleton warned Saturday Louisiana State University can no longer drain money from its Baton Rouge campus to operate the new branch in New Orleans.

The new four-year branch at New Orleans drew 1,459 students in its first year. Originally 750 were expected.

Middleton told the LSU Board of Supervisors more than half of this freshman class would be sophomores next fall, with a new freshman class coming in.

APPLICANTS

The 1958 Legislature, trimming the funds asked for. LSU in New Orleans, provided LSU could shift funds from its overall budget so the new branch could admit all applicants.

Middleton noted despite the large enrollment in New Orleans, the total on the main campus dropped only 40, with the freshman class showing the only decline.

"We estimate that out of the 1,400 white students at LSU in New Orleans 316 would have come to the Baton Rouge campus if the new school hadn't opened," the LSU president said.

"I do not feel we can continue

Ike Confident Of Support On Formosa Crisis

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower, hotly rebuking his critics, said confidently Saturday night that allies abroad and a unified people at home will support the United States if a Formosa Strait war is forced upon it.

Eisenhower told Democratic Chairman Theodore F. Green of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee that predictions of U.S. disunity such as Green has made could "embolden our enemies and make almost inevitable the conflict which, I am sure, we both seek to avoid."

WRITES GREEN

The President wrote Green that most of this country's allies do not oppose a policy of firmness in standing up to Communist military threats and pressures.

Rather, he said, they "would be appalled if the United States were spinelessly to retreat before the threat of Sino-Soviet armed aggression."

Eisenhower set forth these views in a letter, made public by the White House, replying to criticism of administration policy in the Formosa Strait expressed by Green.

In a letter to Eisenhower, the 91-year-old Rhode Island senator

Race Problems Shift To Fla., Officials Confer

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Arrival of a U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals ruling on the Palm Beach County school integration case stirred speculation Saturday on what specific effect might be felt in schools of other areas.

At the same time, officials of the Florida School Boards Assn. disclosed they and the State Principals Assn. would confer with the governor and the attorney general on a proposal that the state give financial aid to school boards confronted by integration law suits.

The U.S. Circuit Court at New Orleans, ruling on an appeal from Miami U.S. District Court dismissal of the Palm Beach case, said school boards are responsible for seeing that no child is deprived of his rights.

The Palm Beach County suit was initiated for William Holland Jr., Palm Beach Negro child, by his father, a lawyer, who contended the Negro school to which his son was assigned was substandard. He contended also that

By JACK HAND

NEW YORK (AP) — Bruiser Hank Bauer put the New York Yankees back into the World Series Saturday with the help of shutout pitching by Don Larsen and Ryne Duren and a base-running boner by the Milwaukee Braves. Bauer drove in all the Yankee runs in a 4-0 triumph, their first after two jarring defeats at Milwaukee.

The ex-Marine knocked in the only two runs off loser Bob Rush when he dunked a single to right with the bases loaded in the fifth. He crashed his third homer of the series with Enos Slaughter on base in the seventh off relief man Don McMahon. Hank now has nit safely in his last 17 series games.

Larsen who tired after throwing some 113 pitches in seven innings, struck out eight Braves. Casey Stengel took him out for a pinch hitter in the seventh after he had put two men on base in each of the last two innings.

Only a Stengel would yank a shutout pitcher, who once threw a perfect series game, when he still hadn't won a single game of this set. But he got away with it. Duren, the Yanks' flame thrower, was wild. He walked three and uncorked one wild pitch while protecting Larsen's victory.

The largest series crowd in five years, 71,599, gasped when the Braves pulled a base running blunder in the sixth. For a few sec-

eral managership. The text of the statement follows:

"The City of Monroe Utilities secured he services of French L. Smith, as general manager, effective Monday, October 6, 1958. Travis Oliver, newly elected chairman of the Commission, in announcing this appointment, stated that every member of the Commission was intensely gratified that Mr. Smith could be prevailed upon to accept this position. Mr. Oliver recalled that much of the success of the Commission's first two years of operation was directly attributable to the untiring efforts of Mr. Smith in the performance of a public service as an uncompensated member of the Commission.

"Mr. Smith was appointed as one of the original members of the Commission for a term of two years, which expired Saturday October 4th. Throughout that period Mr. Smith devoted his full time and energy to the work of the Commission, serving for more than a year as its chairman.

"T. H. Underwood, former general manager, for approximately two years, resigned from that post October first for personal reasons requiring his return to the West Coast area. Mr. Oliver commended the excellent work performed by Mr. Underwood; stating that the Commission, and the people of Monroe, confronted with Mr. Underwood's departure, and the loss of French Smith as a member of the Commission, were indeed fortunate that they could secure the continued service of Mr. Smith in a new capacity.

"The Commission also announced the election of Robert Cowden, as vice chairman, and David Kaplan, as secretary, effective October sixth."

Mayor W. L. (Jack) Howard also lauded Smith, saying, "Very few citizens have ever performed a greater civic job than Mr. Smith did over the two years — and without pay. His past efforts prove that he has Monroe at heart. Based on the past, I know the commission will be in good hands.'

When asked for comment, Smith said, "I took this job at the insistence of the commission. And I want it clearly understood that my policy will remain the same — right down the middle."

Two Small Boys Are Suffocated

Dead were Gary Paul Morris, 3, and Jack Kenny Morris, 7.

Willie Morris Jr., said his sons were playing in the box used to show calves in agricultural shows and became trapped inside. They were missed after about two hours and found when their sister unlocked the box.

Negro Lost In Catahoula Swamp Found

JONESVILLE (Special) — An Alexandria Negro, lost in the Catahoula swamps since early Thursday, was found yesterday afternoon and appeared to be in good condition.

Spencer Fells, 43, went squirrel hunting in the Little River section near Archie about 5:30 a.m. Thursday. He was accompanied by three other Negroes, Johnny Harris and Samuel and Andrew Williams, all of Alexandria, who said they became separated from Fells about 8:30 that morning. They began searching the area but were unable to locate Fells, they reported.

Later in the day, Catahoula Parish authorities were called in and officials at Alexandria were also alerted.

An all-night search Thursday which continued into Friday failed to locate the man and yesterday morning a helicopter from England Air Force Base was called to aid in the hunt.

The helicopter party saw the Negro early yesterday afternoon when he waved a white handkerchief at them, Officials said they motioned the man to start walking in one direction but that he took another and they lost sight of him.

However, the helicopter operators notified the ground crew of the general area in which they had spotted Fells, and they concentrated on the section and discovered him at 3:45 p.m.

He told his rescuers he "just got lost." Authorities said he was hungry and covered with mosquito bites but was in good condition otherwise.

He was found about two miles from where he had entered the swamp.

Members of each of the organizations pointed to the time and administrative expenditures saved by incorporating their efforts into a single, united, fund-raising drive.

This will mark the third effort of United Givers in the Ouachita Parish agency. Division leaders and workers called upon businesses and individuals in the area to consider now the amounts they would pledge so they could have a positive answer ready when contacted.

Officials and board members who have served with United Givers in the past pointed to the splendid spirit of cooperation and enthusiasm among the workers at kickoff time for 1958.

Sources here speculated Red China may be seeking out such targets since its fighters have taken such severe maulings from Nationalist fighters in five separate days of previous combat. The Nationalists claim 29 MIGs have been shot down with no Nationalists losses.

The Communist artillery bombardment of Quemoy slackened Saturday to only 2,467 round up to nightfall.

had warned of division at home and abroad if the administration persisted in a course of firm support for the Chinese Nationalist defense of the Quemoy and Matsu coastal islands.

In a speech Tuesday at Providence, R.I., Green contended the Eisenhower policy was not supported by a 1955 congressional resolution authorizing use of U.S. armed forces to help defend Formosa, seat of Chiang Kai-shek's Nationalist government.

The tone of Eisenhower's reply was brusque and at times almost Angry.

Publication of the letter left no doubt that he aimed it for a wide audience of both critics and supporters and that he wanted the Communists to know of his expressed conviction that if war comes, the present debate over Formosa policy will disappear in national unity.

to skimp the budget here on the main campus," Middleton said. "We cannot continue to accept all so-called qualified students without more funds.

Member Percy Roberts of Baton Rouge suggested New Orleans lawmakers should request a grant from the Board of Liquidation of State Debt.

Middleton replied a maximum $100,000 grant from the board would fall far short of the funds needed.

He added the extra money for the New Orleans branch was needed before the Legislature meets again next May, so renovation of buildings can begin for the larger enrollment next fall.

In other action, the board:

1. Accepted gifts and grants totaling $724,574, the largest $47,574 from the National Institute of Health to Dean W. W. Frye of the LSU school of medicine to establish a training program in tropical medicine.

2. Allocated an additional $70,000 for remodeling the old library building for other use. Total cost of the remodeling will be $120,000. The new 3.5 million dollar library was opened for use this fall.

3. Approved building sites for seven new buildings, the feed and fertilizer laboratory, home economics buildings, physics extension, electrical engineering building, poultry instruction and research building, industrial education and administration building.

Distance Mark To Be Attempted

KERRVILLE, Tex. (AP) —Airline pilot Charles Banfe Jr., thwarted in his attempt to fly a small Texas-built plane around the world in eight days, will try instead for a non-stop distance record next week with a Tokyo to San Francisco - or - beyond hop across the Pacific.

Hal Rachal, president of Mooney Aircraft, Inc., of Kerrville which sponsored the around the world venture, said Banfe will take off from Tokyo, probably Tuesday or Wednesday, and try to fly his Mooney Mark 20-A monoplane at least as far as San Francisco and possibly as far as Miami, Fla.

The children, a daughter and two sons were Vera, now wife of Richard "Dick" Troy, Monroe businessman; Eric, later a commander in the U. S. Navy serving in Spain, and the Rev. Clifford Nobes, now rector of St. Paul's Church in Kansas City, Mo.

This unusual man, Nobes, was through the years 1907-1943, manager of some of the fairly large hotels in New York City. When he retired, he came to Monroe to be near his daughter, Mrs. Troy.

He declares that he derived great pleasure in mingling with leaders in business operations, when engaged in the hostelry line, but his only club membership was that in the Sons of St. George, which is open to membership to men of English parentage and of English birth.

Many Friends

In Monroe, Nobes has made an army of friends. He is an active member and enjoys ushering in Grace Episcopal Church. For diversion, he is deeply interested in both baseball and football. Wrestling and boxing also are his delight.

He is one of the most active supporters of the Monroe Little Theatre and never misses seeing a show.

Early this year, Jes' Ramblin' on his way to the Monroe postoffice encountered Nobes, who was greeted with "Well, Mr. Nobes, guess I have you beaten this time. I got in the mail today a letter from a former Monroyan now in the U. S. Navy who sent me a few lines from the South Pole and accompanied it by a jar of some of the soil down there."

"Huh, that's nothing to talk about, I sent a New Year greeting to Queen Elizabeth of England and today I got her reply," Mr. Nobes countered.

He showed us the letter and that suppressed us for some time.

Monroe, we are sure, is proud of such a stalwart resident who is unwearied by the passage of years. He seems to have found the best remedy with which to combat the ravages of Old Man Time.

The main section of the plane was found in 40 feet of water 22 miles north of Key West. The craft was on an assignment from Brunswick Naval Air Station in Maine. Authorities said the mission was routine and that all 10 men were experienced fliers.

Turnbow's widow lives near Bronson, Me., where services are tentatively scheduled for Monday week. They had no children.

Besides his father and widow, he is survived by a brother, E. L. Turnbow, West Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Gene Salsbury, West Monroe, and Mrs. Rosalie Aldridge, Calhoun.

the school district was "gerrymandered" — artificially laid out — as a scheme to preserve segregation.

The county school board said it actually assigned the child to a school nearer his home than the white school at which the father tried to enroll him. Under Florida's pupil assignment law, a school board can send a child to a school without stating any specific basis for the assignment.

The appellate court said "so long as the appellant and other Negro children are segregated in public schools on the basis of race, they and each of them are being deprived of their rights."

be entertained at the galla affair, Birdsong said.

The livestock shows have more local interest than any other year, especially the hog exhibits he said, and several herds of beef cattle will arrive Sunday and Monday for the occasion.

J. J. Joyce, Jr. county agent, said that any persons wishing to enter exhibits, are welcomed to do so and also persons from other parishes are welcomed to enter exhibits or livestock, especially those from parishes that do not have fairs of their own.

Mrs. Audrey Dawson, home demonstration agent, said that 26 booths will be featured in the Exhibit Building which will include 14 agriculture booths and 12 homemaking booths.

The booths will contain the latest information concerning the stressing problems that plague the farmers and homemakers, she said. Each booth has lesson for someone to learn, she explained.

Mrs. Dawson and Joyce are assisting the agricultural and home demonstration clubs in getting the necessary information for their booths.

They said that Monday, at 7:00 p.m. will be the deadline for bringing in singular or personal exhibits.

The personal exhibits will include anything imaginable that is made or grown in the home or farm, the helpers said. They mentioned that the educational booths are the best that the fair has ever had.

POLICE BLOTTER

TWO ARRESTED

Two Monroe Negroes were arrested on charges of driving while intoxicated and reckless driving yesterday. One was involved in a wreck, police said.

Dora McDonald, 30 of 618 Marx St. was taken into custody in the 600 block of S. Second Street, charged, and placed in jail with bond set at $437.50.

Otis Kelly, 40, of Rt. 1, Box 279B, was arrested at the intersection of Jackson and Bry Streets at 12:20 p.m., after he collided with the back of a car driven by Mrs. Bonnie L. Lane, 713 Standifer St.

Both vehicles were going north of Jackson, police said. The right rear and rear of her car, and the front of his were damaged.

Kelly was charged with driving while intoxicated, reckless driving, and driving with improper brakes. Bond was set at $437.50.

FOUR CHARGES

A 75-year-old man was placed in the city jail yesterday, with bond set at $777.50, after he was arrested by Monroe police on four charges.

John H. Holman, 203 Sixth St., was taken in custody at home. charged with carrying two concealed weapons, a knife and a gun, discharging firearms in the city limits, and drunk and disorderly conduct.

JAILED

A 19-year-old youth was in the Monroe city jail last night with bond set at $460, after a policeman said he spotted him taking money from a cash register at the Majestic Hotel.

Police said yesterday that David E. Dougal, who had resided at the hotel, was charged with theft and vagrancy, at 1:10 yesterday morning.

The manager of the hotel alerted police to watch the register. When he had to leave the lobby, he locked the register, leaving Dougal in the room, police stated.

He is scheduled to appear for trial in city court Wednesday.

Dougal was treated at Conway Memorial Hospital at 10 last night, after he slashed himself on the arm with a spoon, Ouachita Parish Coroner Dr. John Burton stated.

He was returned to the Monroe police station and released to relatives.

The other child, Elizabeth, 12, said her father was having trouble getting the fire started and sent her to the cellar to get more kindling and he got a can of kerosene.

While Linda was in the cellar, the blast occurred. She said she ran back up stairs and saw her father in the kitchen, his clothing ablaze. Elizabeth said her father shouted to her to get out of the coal chute and said he was going upstairs to get the others.

Within minutes, Bill Pounds, Erie, Pa., who was visting at a house about 75 feet away arrived.

"I could hear a girl screaming," he said. "I ran into the flames and could see this little girl on the steps to the upstairs. I grabbed her and took her outside."

The rescued child suffered third degree burns of the entire body.

Firemen from Clymer and Dixonville were forced to pump water from a creek to fight the blaze because there are no water lines in the area.

Youth Unharmed After All Night Stay In Woods

HAMBURG, Ark. (Special) — Eleven - year - old Jimmy Carpenter, son of Clark Caprenter of the Fountain Hill community wandered unharmed into his grandfather's home east of Fountain Hill early yesterday morning after being lost all night in the woods.

The youth and his dog left on a squirrel hunt yesterday afternoon, and when they did not return by nightfall, Sheriff B. A. Courson was notified.

Courson, his deputies and a band of volunteers combed the section throughout the night but failed to find any trace of the boy or his dog.

The youngster said he spent the night on a tractor and soon after daylight managed to find his grandfather's house.

Four Arrested In Probe Of Forgery Ring

JONESVILLE (Special) —Four Jonesville Negroes are being held in the Catahoula Parish Jail at Harrisonburg for investigation in connection with a check forgery ring, according to the office of Catahoula Parish Sheriff George McGee.

Authorities said three checks were forged and cashed in Jena, in LaSalle Parish, and two others in Jonesville. The total amount was about $100, Deputy Sheriff Max Good of Catahoula Parish said.

Two of the men, identified as George Robertson and Elijah Johnson, admitted being implicated in the forgeries, Good said. Robertson was arrested at Rinehart late Friday by McGee and LaSalle Parish Sheriff D. Floyd.

Johnson was arrested Friday night at Jonesville by deputies from both sheriff departments.

L. E. Brown was arrested late yesterday by Good and Catahoula Deputy J. W. Adams, and is being held for questioning. Augustine Robertson, wife of George Robertson, is also being held for questioning.

LaSalle and Catahoula authorities said they had been working on the case since the first incidents occurred about four weeks ago.

Weather Is Being Watched

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) —Reconnaissance planes kept close tabs Saturday on a patch of bad weather which has the potentialities of developing into a tropical storm.

The area of squalls stretched late today from central Cuba south southwest into the western Caribbean. It was moving westward about 12 miles an hour. It has given no indication of developing the circulation characteristic of a tropical storm but "has all the potentialities."

Grave Mistake Made

It is difficult to imagine a graver mistake than that made by President Eisenhower when he said that any decision issued by the U. S. Supreme court is the law of the land. In making that statement, he seemingly handed over to the supreme court not only his own executive powers but the legislative powers of congress.

Congress is the legislative, or lawmaking, branch of our government. Its duties are to enact the laws of this country. The supreme court's duties are to decide on the legality or constitutionality of such laws. Enforcement of the laws is left to the executive branch.

Even though congress is empowered to enact laws, the president still has veto powers and no legislation enacted by congress can become law if vetoed by the president unless the veto is overridden by a two-thirds vote of both houses of congress.

Yet, in a single swoop, by his own statement, the president has turned all law-making authority over to the supreme court, not only depriving congress of this function but depriving himself of the right of veto.

If anything the supreme court says is law becomes law, as the president has stated, then we have lost our tri-partite form of government and have only the supreme court left to tell us what to do.

If this is true, we have lost our democracy, for we do not even have the right to elect the supreme court and therefore, as people and as citizens, have no control over its membership, since the members are appointed for life by the president. Once he has made an appointment, not even the president has the power to remove a supreme court member from office.

Under the president's interpretation that anything the supreme court holds to be law is law, that court could overrule any action taken either by the congress or the president and could become self-perpetuating.

We do not believe that anything the supreme court says is law must be the law. We do not believe we have lost our right to a three-division form of government.

If the supreme court could make any decision it chooses and could enforce that decision as the law, our country would be ruled by a politburo, presidium or central committee, such as that which ruled Russia during the reign of Stalin and which, on an expanded basis, continues to rule that nation.

These are matters which the president should have taken into consideration before he issued the statement in which he said any decision made by the supreme court becomes the law of the land.

If it is true that the supreme court's powers are supreme, there will be no sort of protection for any kind of private institution. Acting upon the authority which the president seemed to hand over to it, the supreme court could rule that any private school or other institution must accept as students or members anyone who applied for admission.

Anyone who has watched the actions of the supreme court since its 1954 Black Monday decision ordering integration of the schools cannot doubt that that is exactly what the supreme court will do. It has never refused a request of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and, under the sway of its own ardor, has even gone beyond those requests. One member of the supreme court is said to be a former attorney for the NAACP. It is difficult to see how he could have been more zealous then for the cause of that organization than he is now, although he should excuse himself in any case in which he has a personal interest.

In New York, Chicago, Detroit and other cities in the north which have been deluged with Negroes "immigrating" from the south, many hundreds of families, including those of modest means, have placed their children in private schools at a cost of several hundred dollars a year to avoid integration.

If the supreme court possesses all power, even this will not avail.

Are we compelled to admit that the whole country is powerless before the supreme court?

Kennedy-Ives Bill

When the Kennedy-Ives bill emerged as the last "labor reform" measure on which the last session of congress had an opoprtunity to vote, the proposal was defeated. A factor in the defeat was the opposition of those most strongly in favor of labor reform. Proposals to clean out hoodlumism and gangsterism in labor had been so watered down and twisted around that the Kennedy-Ives bill became an attack upon employers instead of a curb on mobster labor tactics.

Now Sen. John Kennedy (D-Mass.) co-author of the bill, has given assurance to the Massachusetts Association of Plumbers and Fitters that the Kennedy-Ives bill will be reintroduced in the next session of congress "and, as far as I am concerned, will receive top priority."

The plumbers and fitters loudly applauded this announcement. They applauded again when William Morse of Springfield, president of the union group, said the senator "will be back here again in 1960 and as the Democratic candidate for president."

Sen. Kennedy had high praise for George Meany, AFL-CIO president, and then ripped into witnesses who appeared before the McClellan committee in Washington. He said:

"A very, very minute group of those who appeared before that committee represented the rank and file of labor. They never worked, never ran a picket line, never held a job."

The Kennedy-Ives bill gave no protection to union members against the manipulations of the big labor bosses, who perpetuate themselves in office. It provided no assurance of secret, democratic elections in which union members would be protected from reprisals. It offered no way to keep gangsters, thugs and ex-convicts out of the unions. The only teeth it had were turned inward, instead of outward, and were designed to place industry still more at the mercy of such men as Dave Beck, James R. Hoffa and Walter Reuther. No wonder it was rejected by the non-radicals in congress.

Public Realizes Little Of Excise Tax Savings

It has been more than a month since Congress revised the excise tax laws theoretically to chop millions off the taxpayer's annual load, but if there has been any actual effect it has gone unnoticed.

A check on the prices of theater tickets, floor polishers, whiskey, certain type clocks, and soft drinks at "milk bars" — all affected by the legislation — failed to turn up any evidence that the American taxpayer is getting much of the estimated $40 million cut from the excise tax structure.

Congress undertook for the first time in 26 years to modernize the cumbersome and often - discriminatory provisions of the excise tax laws and in doing so kicked off a series of bitter struggles which at times threatened to push the Middle East crisis off the front pages.

The result was much - needed reforms which should help to stabilize and equalize excises taxes in many businesses, among them:

Exemption from the 10 per cent admissions tax of the first $1 of the price of a theater ticket regardless of the ticket's total cost. Under the old law, the first 90 cents was exempt if the ticket cost not more than 90 cents, but was taxed if the ticket cost more. Theoretically, tickets which used to cost $1 with the excise tax should only cost 90 cents without the tax, but there has been little evidence that the theater - owners intend to pass the saving on to the taxpayer.

Exemption from the manufacturer's excise tax for electric floor polishers and waxers. Under the old law, they were taxed but vacuum cleaner attachments which competed with them were not. There has been no trend toward a lower total price to date.

Exemption from the retailer's excise tax of clocks which are part of a regulatory device, such as a thermostat. Under the old law a clock was taxed but the rest of the device was not, sending some retailers into a mathematical nightmare of trying to figure out how much of the total price of the device war represented by the clock.

Exemption from the cabaret tax for so - called "milk bars" where teen - agers gathered to dance to a juke - box and sip soft drinks. Under the old law these establishments were subject to the cabaret tax even though they did not serve alcoholic beverages and did not charge for dancing.

But the most bitterly - debated and perhaps most - needed reform involved the so - called bonding period for payment of the federal excise tax on whiskey.

After a titantic struggle between America's two whiskey - producing giants, Schenley and Seagrams, Congress rewrote the law to extend the bonding period from eight to 20 years.

The final result represented a clear - cut victory for Schenley and other domestic distillers over the foreign distillers, which it is estimated postponed for at least 12 years a tax debt of $350 million.

Under the old law, distillers had to pay the $10.50 per gallon excise tax on whiskey held in bond when it became eight years old, whether or not there was a market for it.

American distillers contended that when they owed more eight-year old whiskey than they could sell, they could not hold the whiskey until they were able to sell it without paying the excise tax and they couldn't pay the excise tax until they had a market for the whiskey.

Distillers with their major operations in Canada, however, contended that the legislation was designed to bail the domestic industry out for bad guesses made when the Korean War began eight years ago.

That Congress chose to go along with the American distillers' view is one indication that there had been a definite inequity in the law. For instance, the new law will end the taxing of whiskey which may not exist when the tax is paid. Under the old law, the spirits were taxed on the amount existing at the end of the eight-year period, much of which evaporated after that time before it was sold.

The whiskey excise tax extension, as well as the other reforms, are expected to have a stabilizing effect on the industries affected. But the industries themselves are certain to reap the lion's share of the benefits.

The American taxpayer, in whose name so much is done, will not even notice the difference.

GEORGE SOKOLSKY'S DAYS

Victory Of DeGaulle Big Defeat For Russia

The victory of General Charles de Gaulle is undoubtedly the greatest defeat that Russia has known since the Russian Revolution of 1917. In the first place, all the world was given to believe that the Algerians were absolutely opposed to France, hated France, wanted to be free from France. The Algerian vote to remain part of France was 3,356,169 for to 118,615 against. This included Algerian Moslems. The Russian opposition to De Gaulle took hold only in Guinea where the premier is a Marxist. Otherwise all French colonies voted in the referendum to remain part of France. De Gaulle's judgment was correct.

While there is an Algerian independence movement, it did not show in the votes.

For years and years, the excuse for all France's weaknesses was the terrific strength of the French Communist Party. In fact, it is the French Communist Party that exercised a control over the United States Communist Party, Jacques Duclos, the French leader, stating the ground rules for the American party.

The strength of the French Party did not show up in the referendum. In fact, districts that have for years been regarded as Communist controlled did not vote against De Gaulle. In a word, the nationalistic spirit engendered by De Gaulle's movement has already produced a resistance to Soviet subversion in France.

The new constitution can kill the influence of the French Communist Party altogether. In the first place, under it, France can switch from proportional representation to majority rule. If that happens, France will enjoy the two-party system similar to that which exists in the United States and Great Britain. It would mean that the splinter parties would disappear and that the Communists, to hold any position, would have to become the principal party in opposition. The referendum vote on the constitution would not indicate that the Communists hold any such position in France today.

Furthermore, subversion will not be tolerated under the new constitution. Such a picture as Thorez presented some years ago when he became ill, will not be permitted again. With all the medical facilities available in France or in any nearly country, he was flown to Moscow to be treated and for recuperation, apparently because the Communists feared that he might talk under an anaesthetic. Then after a prolonged period of hospitalization and cure in Russia, Thorez came back to France. And the question arose in many minds as to whether Thorez is a citizen of France or of Soviet Russia. And that question must arise concerning Communists in all countries who accept the discipline of Russia.

Of course, it is true that even under the two-party system, Communists do operate, principally by infiltrating the major parties and, in the guise of liberalism or even conservatism, doing the jobs the Kremlin needs to have done. But it is likely that De Gaulle, who has some considerable knowledge of Communist operations in France, particularly during the days of the Resistance, will know how to handle Communist sabotage of France. Also Andre Malraux, one of De Gaulle's ministers, was once in the Communist Party and has had experience with its machinations. He had been in China which in the 1925-27 period was the training ground for Communist leadership.

Therefore it is safe to assume that sooner of later, De Gaulle will find a method of eliminating Communist influence from French life. The great vote he received during the referendum justifies him in assuming that he has a mandate to do just that and being a man of action, he will.

How Moscow will react to this is still to be seen because the loss of prestige to Russia in De Gaulle's emergence to power by a popular referendum is enormous. For France has ever exercised an intellectual and spiritual leadership over Europe; it is, therefore, impossible for such a startling event as the emergence of De Gaulle and his acceptance by a referendum to have taken place without the whole of Europe being affected by it. This will have responses in every European country and will during the next year bring about unexpected changes in many European attitudes.

Politicians, in all countries, since 1945, have been rather fearful men. They have never understood the Communist phenomenon and have therefore been driven to absurd compromises by it. De Gaulle leads a new way—a hopeful way.

Better Fuel For Athletes Needed

There are no high octane or rocket fuels to give an athlete the extra energy needed to win. He must rely upon food—the fuel that was designed specifically for the human body.

Oxygen is the limiting factor in all muscular effort, because it is needed to help the fuel burn. The energy that the body is capable of producing depends upon the quantity of this gas that can be delivered to the interior of a muscle fiber at any one time. There is a limit to the amount the lungs can absorb, even when panting, huffing, or puffing. Oxygen reaches the tissues via the blood and the circulatory system can be made more efficient thru training.

Training helps also by improving muscle coordination and skill. In this way, the muscles require less energy to perform a given task. The trained athlete may be able to coast along while his less conditioned competitor is using up his reserve sources of energy.

The average athlete thrives on a well balanced diet consisting of a variety of foods. But the champion considers details. Some foods develop more energy than others in the presence of the same amount of oxygen. Others produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important because even a slight improvement may make the difference between losing and winning.

Carbohydrates and fats are the most important fuels for muscular activity. Both have their merits but the best diet for the athlete contains ample servings of both.

There is evidence to show that certain products of fat metabolism are utilized most rapidly by the heart and other muscles. But this does not detract from the value of carbohydrates; those consumed in the ordinary diet are converted ultimately into fats and stored or burned as needed.

In addition, carbohydrates can be metabolized partly to produce energy in the absence of oxygen. This is important to know for those doing heavy muscular work; when the supply of oxygen is about to be exhausted, the body falls back on the carbohydrates for energy.

Furthermore, the brain depends upon sugars and starches for its energy. When the blood sugar is used up thru physical exertion, the efficiency of the athlete will suffer because the brain and nervous system are not functioning properly.

BRUCELLOSIS

REPLY

Possibly but they are not the usual symptoms of the disease. In addition, they could occur in a variety of conditions, varying from an ordinary cold to nervousness.

DR. CRANE SAYS

Liquor, Tobacco Advice Attacked

Bert criticizes me. But I am a moralizing educator who places the ultimate good of children above my own gluttony. To get the point, read this case more fully and then ask yourself: Who else in America keeps warning youth against liquor and tobacco?" Over 70,000,000 non - church folks read no church papers, so this newspaper serves as their moral "Bible".

Case Z-336: Bert Z, aged 48, is a successful Hoosier dentist.

"Dr. Crane, why don't you omit cases about liquor and tobacco," he admonished, as he was driving me to the Country Club for dinner.

"After all, you have plenty of other psychological problems to discuss without stepping on the corns of people who take a highball.

"Just today, for instance, one of your medical admirers told me he wished you'd quit mentioning alcohol, for he liked to drink a little.

"So I'd advise you to lay off of such controversial problems."

When I moved from the college lecture room to the broader educational field of the newspaper, I still remained an educator.

I am not writing this column primarily for fat oldsters, but for starry-eyed teen-agers and even grade schoolers who have the world ahead of them.

As the father of five youngsters, and an active worker in the Boy Scouts, the YMCA and the church, I feel an obligation to youth.

So if I cause the consciences of some of you oldsters to twinge, then act like an adult and take your medicine.

Every intelligent adult knows that a lot of high pressure advertising is trying to stampede our youth into slavery to various bad habits.

Alas, we have a great many hypocrites in America, and a lot of them are educated men.

Because they happen to fall into a bad habit, they don't want anybody to mention liquor or tobacco lest their own consciences twinge.

In my own case, I admit that I am overweight. But I don't criticize any columnist who vetoes obesity.

Not at all! I am glad to see him try to prevent young folks from following my own bad example, for I know our job is to place the torch of truth in front of teen-agers.

But a publisher in Texas cancelled this column of mine because he liked to go on a binge on a Saturday night, so he felt angry at my warning teen-agers against whiskey!

That is hypocrisy. And you encounter it almost every time a smoking doctor tries to tell you that tobacco doesn't cause lung cancer or heart trouble.

If that doctor were honest, why would he take his cardiac patients off tobacco, as almost every medic in America has done for 50 years?

(Always write to Dr. Crane in care of this newspaper, enclosing a long 4 cent stamped, addressed envelope and 20 cents to cover typing and printing costs when you send for one of his booklets.)

HOLMES ALEXANDER

Letter Written To Dead Father

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Honored Sir: This is the last letter I shall ever write you. Hundreds of letters, I suppose, have passed between us in the years that our lives overlapped.

You wrote every week to my brother and me when we were in Europe in World War II. You also wrote to Jonas Jones, our colored groom in the days long past, and later your gardener who not only grew and tended the most delicate tulips and orchids, but filled your big house with floral arrangements of breath - taking beauty.

I remember the unfinished letter you wrote me when you learned (before I could know) that my brother was killed in action deep in the German Black Forest in the final days of battle. Your dictation stopped in the midst of the passage which was more than you could speak. The lady to whom you were dictating, for nearly 30 years your secretary, stood weeping last week beside your grave in the glorious sunshine of a Maryland autumn. Jonas Jones, of course, was there, standing not far from former U. S. Senator Millard Tydings and from Arthur Holley, the colored chauffeur who came to work for us in 1918 while still in his World War I uniform, and never left.

You were all the things that I most admire. You were that finest thing, the southern gentleman. Without vanity, you were proud of two memberships which speak of ancestry. You belonged to the Society of the Cincinnati, a father-to-son heritage which began with officers of the American Revolution. The other membership was in the Society of the Lees of Virginia. Your grandmother was Hanna Lee Washington, who was born at Mount Vernon.

You knew, and you taught me, that it takes more than blood to make a gentleman. It takes courage, meaning grace under pressure. It also takes a sense of command which must be married to an awareness of obligation toward others. This combination allowed you to start from a Shenandoah Valley family, impoverished and reduced by the War of 1861-65, and to found a company of great success and prosperity. Its benefits were shared by the many whom you helped through college or out of financial troubles. The ownership was passed along after your death to your associates, not to your family.

You yourself were an invalid who went to sea as a Merchant Marine cadet, instead of to college. You were very homesick at the end of your first round-trip to Britain, and wanted to quit. But your mother wrote you: "There will always be a place for you at home; but my son, if you want a welcome, you must finish out your enlistment." So you stuck it out. It was the beginning of courage.

Later, you rode on your business through the dangerous Hatfield - McCoy section of West Virginia. There you learned to cuss so much that you had to teach yourself the elegant circumlocutions which always flavored the conversation that I heard around home:

"Great Jumpin' Jehoshaphat! Gosh, all Hemlock."

You also taught yourself about English letters by reading all of Blackstone's Commentaries and all the novels of Dickens. The love of reading never left you, and your most reread author was Joseph Conrad. Your love of truth and beauty made you scornful of their opposites, both in literature and in political thought, I remember when F. D. Roosevelt was going to give the human race "freedom from fear." You collected into one expression all the displeasure of a realist and all the contempt of an aristocrat for a faker who was taking advantage of his intellectual inferiors. You said: "Oh, piffle!"

You lost a son who was barely past 30. You lost a daughter who was a radiant 18. For years you kept the lonely vigil at the bedside of a stricken wife. You witnessed and you experienced so much hell - on - earth that you did not believe in further suffering in the after life. But you believed in God, and love and compassion, and I think you never went to bed without kneeling to pray.

Quoted below from memory is a stanza which I learned so long ago in college that I forget its author. But you, my father, lived these lines as no other man I ever met:

"Life is mainly foam and bubble;
Two things stand like stone—
Kindness in another's trouble —
Courage in your own."

Installment Plan Education Is Being Offered

The California Institute of Technology said Friday that starting next year tuition will increase to $1,275 from $900.

To ease the financial strain on students and families, the school will arrange loans up to $1,275 a year for four years, repayable at $50 a month at 5 per cent interest.

Loans of $900 a year will be made for four years, with the student paying interest only while in school. After graduation he'll repay at a minimum of $50 monthly, plus interest.

Chester Usry Guest Speaker Before CPA

Chester A. Usry, district director of Internal Revenue Service, was guest speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Monroe Chapter of Certified Public Accountants held here recently.

Usry gave a short talk on the functions of his office and discussed recent changes in policy and procedures affecting the processing of income tax returns.

He then introduced the members of the New Orleans District who were Vernon Kennedy, chief of collections division; Ralph Hebert, chief of audit division; Ed Roussel, chief of intelligence division, and John Tolar, senior revenue agent of Monroe.

Each member gave a brief discussion of recent changes of policy or procedure affecting the handling of income tax returns and audits by local Certified Public Accountants.

UNITED GIVERS AGENCY

No Section Safe From Mental Ills

(EDITOR'S NOTE: This is another in a series of articles about various United Givers fund agencies.)

No community today is safe from mental illness.

It is a number one health problem in our cities, our suburbs, our towns. No matter where you live, mental illness has struck and may strike again.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is the only citizens organization devoted exclusively to the fight against our nation's No. one health problem — mental illness. This association is another pillar of our community welfare supported by the United Givers Fund.

Mental illness afflicts one person in every 10 and costs U. S. tax payers $3,000,000 every day of the year. Today, however, 70 per cent of all mental patients could be helped if we had the staff and equipment needed.

We are, nonetheless, hearing good news about the progress that is being made in the fight against mental illness - about the thousands of patients who are recovering from mental disorders.

As we rejoice, let's not forget that with recovery only half of the problem is solved. Recovered mental patients need a warm welcome, a job, a place to live. Unfortunately, too many recovered mental patients are met with suspicion and rejection, only to break down again.

EDUCATIONAL

The function of the Mental Health Association is educational. This organization is helping the mentally ill to come back by changing the public's attitude toward mental illness and the mentally ill. It dissipates the legacy of superstition and social stigma, by creating understanding, confidence and hope.

The Northeast Branch of the Louisiana Mental Health Association is affiliated with the state organization. It continues sustained programs to provide the patient and his family with information on where and how to get help. Information is given to patients' families in order to help them understand and help rehabilitate the individual when he returns to the community.

This local organization holds public meetings monthly dealing with such topics as alcoholism, juvenile delinquency and emotional aspects of mental health. Many experts in various fields are brought to Monroe to discuss these problems with the citizens of this city.

The October meeting will concern itself with the Mental Health Association in an attempt to make known to the public just what the organization does and can do. Other meetings will be concerned with available facilities such as the guidance center, guidance and counseling services, vocational rehabilitation, etc.

MANY PROJECTS

Many important projects are presently being carried on by the committees of the association. Magazines are collected at all fire stations in this area for distribution to patients at Central Louisiana Hospital in Pineville.

Another committee plans to show a movie each month, highlighting such things as problems faced by a person when he returns to his job after being in a mental hospital. Another film deals with disabilities that develop in old age and how they may be minimized to enable one to lead a satisfying, active life of personal self - sufficiency.

Other films deal with children and emotional problems and how the community can join forces to help them.

An educational program is being developed for the YMCA on juvenile delinquency and will be directed not only to boys, but to their parents as well. Authorities who work with delinquents will lead discussions which will aid the group in understanding the problems in this area. Films will also be used to highlight various problems.

Still another committee plans to work witht high school senior girls around the theme of "Milestones to Marriage." It hopes to help the young girls find the answer to such questions as How should two young people feel about each other and how well should they know each other in order to marry? What are the realistic and important problems of young married couples?

What age is "too young" to marry?

SPECIAL WEEK

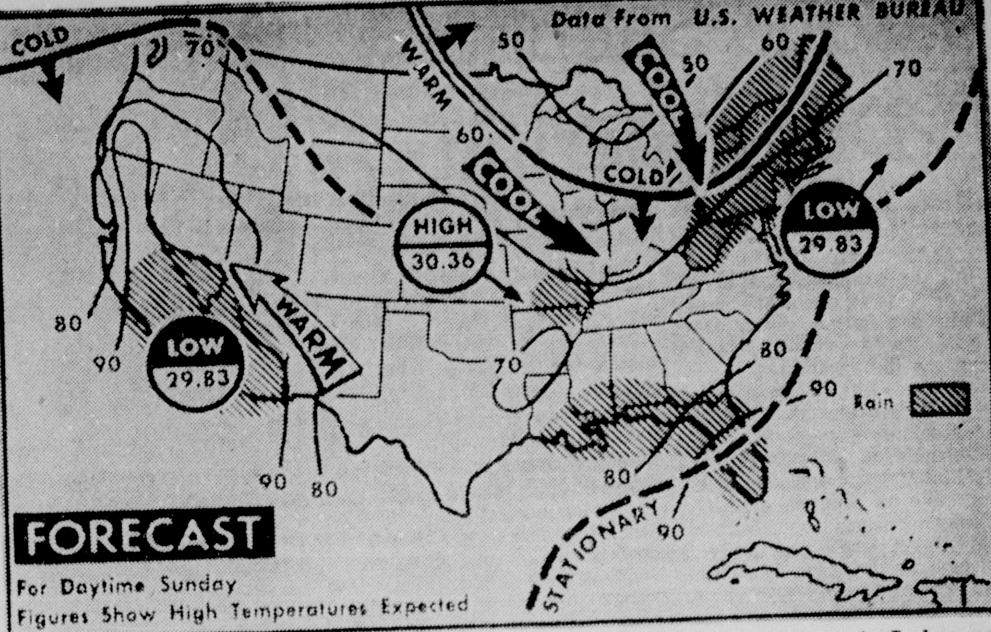
This year, the Northeast Branch of the Mental Health Association joined with more than 5,000 organizations all over the country in observing Mental Health Week.

Proclamations were signed by mayors of the Twin Cities signaling the beginning of a week of publicity, open panel discussions locally and in neighboring communities, and the showing of mental health films.

The Northeast Branch of the Mental Health Association is supported by you through the United Givers Fund. The turning point in the fight against mental illness has been passed and now we are moving along the high road to ultimate victory. Though the gains are real, they are small. The volunteer worker is the life blood of our organization.

If you would like information concerning mental illness or the Mental Health Association, or if you would like to join the organization, write to David M. McArthur, president, Box 253, Monroe, La.

Aid in this fight against mental illness by joining the work of your local Mental Health Association and by supporting it through the United Givers fund campaign.



WEATHER FORECAST — Rain areas expected today should include central Appalachians, Northeast, Southwest, along Gulf coast and in parts of Missouri. It will be cooler over Appalachians with some sharp drops in Lakes region; warmer in Montana, Texas and middle Atlantic states. (AP Wirephoto Map)

Airline Strike By 1,720 Pilots Is Threatened

CHICAGO (UPI)—The 1,720 pilots who man the planes of Eastern Air Lines were prepared to strike at 11:59 p.m., local times, Saturday night to back demands for the manning of jet aircraft.

A spokesman for the Air Lines Pilots Assn., which represents the pilots, said there was no last-ditch meeting between the ALPA and EAL to avert the strike.

The ALPA spokesman also said there was no indication that the National Mediation Board might step into the dispute and postpone a walkout.

Officials of the air line here had no comment on the situation. Eastern, with headquarters in New York City, serves 99 cities in 25 states and the District of Columbia, and in Canada, Argentina and Bermuda.

At issue is the union's demand that the third crew member on jet aircraft be pilot - qualified. ALPA President C. N. Sayen said a presidential fact - finding board found that "jet safety and efficiency required that all three crew members on the jets have pilot qualifications."

The first recognized teachers' training school in the United States was conducted near Concord, Vt., by the Rev. Samuel Read Hall in 1823.

Rites Scheduled This Afternoon For R.J. Hall

Final rites for R. J. Hall, 52-year-old Monroe resident, will be conducted today at 3:30 p.m. in the Mulhearn Funeral Home Chapel, with the Rev. George W. Pomeroy, pastor of the First Methodist Church, officiating.

Interment will be in Memorial Park Cemetery under the direction of Mulhearn.

Mr. Hall died Friday night in a local hospital after suffering a heart attack early that morning.

He was a member of the Graham Surghnor Masonic Lodge and the First Methodist Church here and had operated a service station in Monroe since 1937.

Mr. Hall is survived by his widow, Mrs. Audrey Hall; two daughters, Mrs. Harry Greenwood and Miss Emma Jean Hall, both of Monroe; a son, James Hall, West Monroe; his mother, Mrs. Henry Hall, Temple; two brothers, Arthur and Ernest Hall, both of West Monroe; two sisters, Mrs. Earl Roark, West Monroe, and Mrs. Merritt Baldwin, Temple, and five grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be J. B. Reeves, A. J. Durham, J. N. Coon, Don Gannaway, W. H. Greenwood and J. P. Lewis.

MAIL BOX THEFTS

WASHINGTON (AP)—Mail box thefts continue to top the list of criminal offenses against the Postal Service.

Chief Postal Inspector David H. Stephens reported Saturday that the inspection service made 7,495 arrests for mail crime in the fiscal year ending last June 30, and obtained convictions in 98.7 per cent of the cases brought to trial.

Twenty per cent of all the fires in the U.S. in 1957 were caused by electricity and electrical equipment.

Basque Shepherd Is Disappearing

By DALE NELSON

BOISE, Idaho (AP)—Eddie Orbea says:

"All the old-timers' tricks—the kids don't go for them any more.'

Eddie is a Basque, one of 40,000 in this country whose old world ways are disappearing.

Sometimes he thinks wistfully of the time when the typical Basque was a solitary sheepherder in the Western United States, wearing a colorful beret and speaking a language like no other on earth.

Today Basques are bankers, businessmen, tradesmen. Eddie is bell captain at the Owyhee Hotel.

But in the face of changing times, some customs still live. They still hold the sheepherders ball here, for example, every Christmas season.

This used to be the one time in the year when the sheepherders came down from the hills and danced the centuries-old dances of the Basque homeland in the Pyrenees Mountains of Spain.

The ball is still well attended, but. . . .

"Johnny Asumendi, who's the vice president of the bank, throws on his sheepherder's duds and comes down," says an old-timer, "but it's not the same thing."

With the Basques, many things are no longer the same.

The court where they played the ancient games of pelota is now a parking lot.

The Goicoecheas and the Yturris live next door to the Smiths and the Jones.

These are the signs which speak plainly: the culture of the Basques is fading from the West.

Some 800,000 of them live in the Basque provinces which slope from the Bay of Biscay in northern Spain up over the Pyrenees into France.

At the middle of the last century, many left their homeland The first of these olive-skinned people reached Idaho in the 1880s Others settled in California, Nevada, eastern Oregon, Utah and Colorado.

They answered a need for reliable sheepherders, earning $15 or $20 a month.

Later, many were taken into partnerships or acquired ranches of their own. Only a few years ago, Basque names were the biggest in the sheep industry.

Now, fewer and fewer of them herd sheep.

WEEK IN REVIEW

By HARRY WILSON SHARPE

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Election-year politics boiled up all over the landscape this week with President Eisenhower blasting his own party for "apathy" and Democrats marching to what they regarded as certain victory.

The main prize is control of the next Congress. Politicians are giving the Democrats a big edge.

On other news fronts the school integration and Formosan crisis smouldered angrily, labor peace came to the strike-menaced auto industry, the atom-powered submarine Seawolf set a new world's record of 60 days for submerged operation, and Pvt. Elvis Presley arrived in West Germany to the happy acclaim of young German females.

The most significant political development was Ike's decision to make a coast-to-coast campaign swing on behalf of hard-pressed Republican congressional candidates. He used his weekly press conference as a forum to warn his party it would take a drubbing unless it shakes off its apathy and gets to work. In addition to allowing himself to be booked for nine or more speaking engagements, he called party sachems to meet with him here Monday on ways to overcome GOP gloom and put some pep into the campaign.

NO HOLDS BARRED

Meantime the "clean politics" pact piously agreed to recently by Republican and Democratic chieftains dissolved swiftly in a welter of mutual recrimination.

Vice President Richard M. Nixon set the tone at an Indianapolis GOP rally where he said "we will lose if we allow ourselves to be a punching bag for the cheap below-the-belt cracks of Harry Truman and his ilk."

Truman countered at Cheyenne, Wyo., that the Republicans had "adapted Madison Avenue advertising techniques to politics . . . in a great brain - washing of the American people."

Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey (D-Minn.) chimed in at Madison, Wis. hat Eisenhower is a "cautious, ired old man" and Nixon "a deodorized ward worker" who aspires to be President.

And so it went.

The Formosa crisis remained on lead center. Eisenhower and Secetary of State John Foster Dules restated basic U.S. policy: No appeasement of Chinese Red ggression against Quemoy but villingness to negotiate after a ease-fire.

Chinese Nationalist Generalissino Chiang Kaishek kas reasured that this did not mean a 'softer'' U.S. policy. He was larmed, however, by an Eisenower suggestion that his 85,000-nan garrison on Quemoy was in a vulnerable position and also should be reduced as a prelude to peace talks with the Reds.

The United States, as further warning to the Reds, bolstered Chiang's Quemoy forces with eight-inch howitzers, used immediately against mainland - based Red artillery, and sent high altitude B57 jet bombers to Formosa to increase U.S. striking power in the Formosa Strait.

The United States confirmed also that Nationalist fighter planes had been equipped with deadly Sidewinder air-to-air missiles, with telling effect against Russian-made MIG's.

Tow Operation Proves Risky

J. L. Ford, 19 of 809 Thomas t. found out yesterday that even car being towed can be dangerus.

The mishap occurred in the 1500 lock of S. Second Street. Ford, riving a car owned by H. F. Vadley, 1709 Forsythe Ave., was owing another car owned by Wadey.

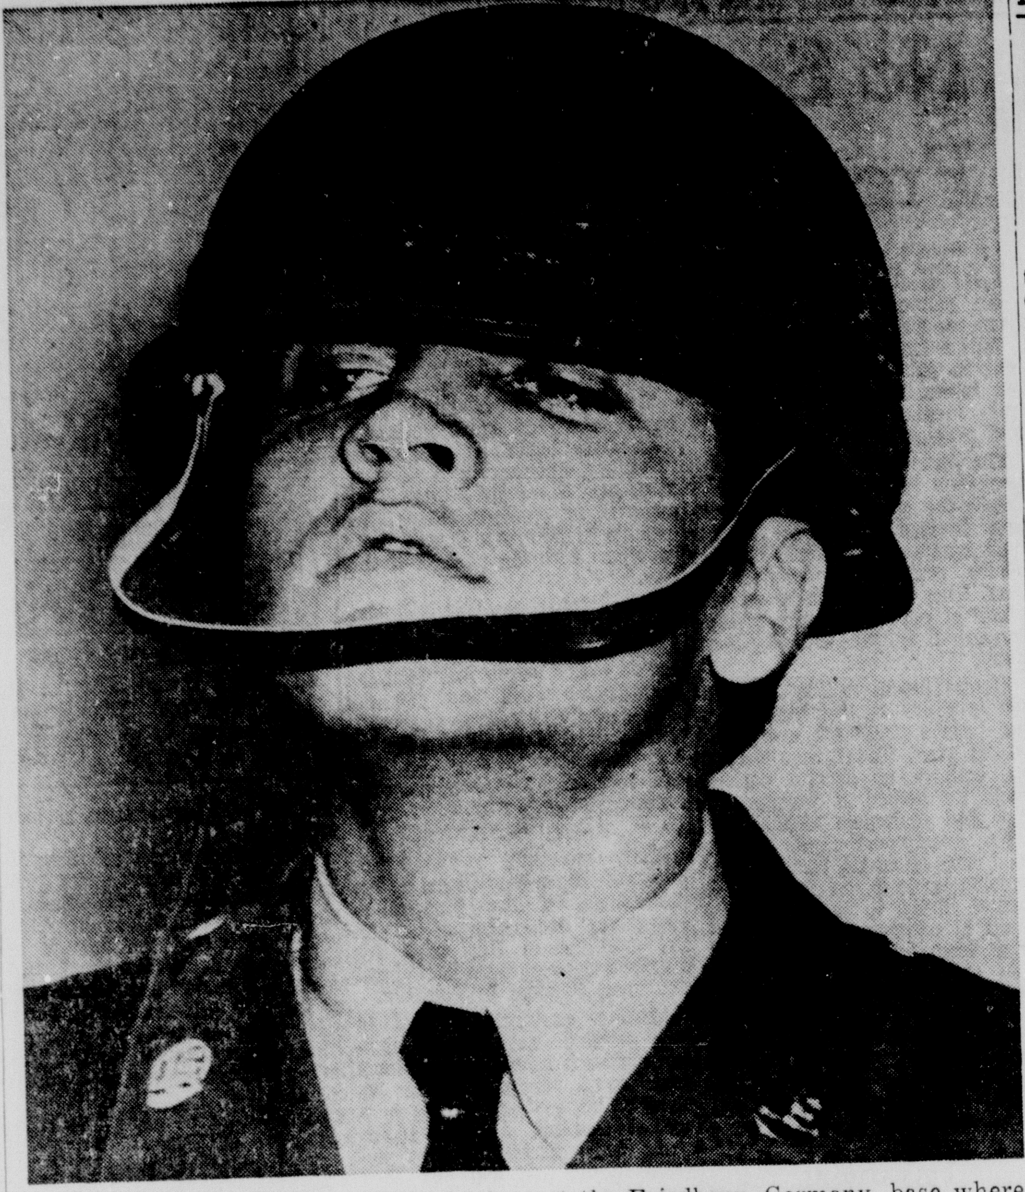
A third car suddenly pulled out front of Ford. He slammed on his brakes, avoided hitting the ehicle, then was shocked when e was hit from the back.

That's right - the towed car kept ight on coming when Ford epped on the brakes. No one as injured.

Man Struck By Auto In Monroe

Herbert J. Goins, 29, Negro of 3 Blanks Alley was treated for ruises at Conway Memorial Hosital last night, after he walked to the path of a car in the 2900 lock of Jackson Street.

Monroe police who investigated aid that Johnny Gospel, 40, Nero of 608 North 10 St. told him e was driving north on Jackson hen the lights of an oncoming ar blinded him, and he did not see oins walk in front of him.



GUESS WHOM!!—You're right, that's our Elvis, now Pvt. Elvis Presley of the U.S. Army. The rock 'n' roll star found everything getting darker as he tried a helmet on for size after arrival at the Friedberg, Germany, base where he'll serve as a tank crewman with the Seventh Army. The supply sergeant came to the rescue with a better-fitting hardtop chapeau. (AP Wirephoto)

'True Facts' Of Coroner's Deed Related

Two members of the Ouachita Parish Sheriff's Department revealed the "true facts" on a deed done by the parish coroner Friday night.

they decided that the whole story should be known.

Parish Coroner Dr. John P. Burton, sent out by the Welfare Department to check on a request for aid, found a husband, wife and four young children without a scrap of food in the house.

Relatives had helped the family during the past two years — a long struggle while the husband has been totally unable to work.

Now, it was decided that official assistance must be requested.

Dr. Burton saw the need was real — and that it was a time for immediate help.

After he left the home, he contacted Deputies Wright and Moncrief, gave them money, and asked them to purchase a l st of groceries and take it to the family Staples, such as flour, lard, rice, peas were what the mother had voiced a need for, if Welfare aid was given her — "but Dr. Burton paid for it himself" the deputies emphasized.

They called West Monroe groceryman I. W. Rogers. "He easily packed up double the amount that the money would buy" the deputies added.

Man Hospitalized Following Wreck Near Jonesboro

HODGE (Special) —Clayton Jordan, about 40, of Hodge was in a Hodge clinic last night suffering from cuts, bruises and a possible broken rib after his car hit a bridge on Highway 167 between Jonesboro and Hodge.

He told authorities he was blinded by lights from an oncoming car and ran into the bridge.

A few minutes later, before his car had been moved, another vehicle hit the rear of the Jordan car, officials said. They identified the driver as Grady L Korn, about 19, of Clay.

Korn was not hurt but both cars were badly damaged. Korn will be charged with reckless driving, according to Jackson Parish Deputy Sheriff McBride. State Trooper Jack Thomas also investigated both accidents.

Hodge Resident Stabbing Victim

NATCHITOCHES (Special) —A Hodge resident, Ray Thomas, was in a clinic there last night after suffering stab wounds in a fight at Black Lake Camp near Creston about 9:20 p.m., authorities said.

Officials in the Natchitoches Parish Sheriff's Department said Thomas told them he was stabbed by a Castor man.

Deputies said no charges had been filed late last night, and added that Thomas was not believed to be in serious condition.

SHOULD BE EXPERT

GENOA, Italy (UPI) — Carlo Botta applied recently for participation on Italy's TV "Double or Quits" quiz program as an expert on the Italian penal code, it was made known Friday. Botta, 39, currently is in a Genoa prison awaiting trial on swindling charges.

Space Ship To Be Ready By Oct. 15

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — The rocket powered X15 in which man will attempt his first flight to the edges of space will be rolled from the assembly line Oct. 15, the Air Force announced Saturday.

The revolutionary research aircraft has been completed after several years of construction work by North American Aviation, Los Angeles. It is designed to reach altitudes greater than 100 miles and to exceed a speed of 3,600 miles an hour. It is supposed to travel about 1,400 miles an hour faster than man has ever travelled.

The X15 was built for research in stability and control at speeds of more than six times that of sound and to explore the problems of heat generated on the surface of an airplane by friction.

The craft has a long, slender body with a slight bulge at the nose where the cockpit is situated. Far aft on the fuselage are tiny diamond-shaped wings, swept back at the leading edge and swept forward at the trailing edge with squared-off tips. There is a swept back horizontal tail with vertical stablizers both on top and beneath the fuselage.

First pilot of the X15, who will put it through its paces before deliver to the Air Force, will be Scott Crossfield, North American test pilot, who was the first man ever to fly at twice the speed of sound, or 1,320 miles an hour. He did that feat as a test pilot for the National Advisory Committee for Aeronautics, flying the Douglas Skyrocket.

Veterans Asked To See Officer

Ouachita Parish veterans between the ages of 50 and 65 are asked by Service Officer H. B. McClendon to see him at his office, Room 204 in the Parish Courthouse, if they are receiving or are entitled to receive social security disability insurance benefits.

He explains that recent law changes may now benefit some of these men and enable them to draw more money.

IN MEXICO

Several Arrested In Killer Search

MEXICO CITY (UPI)—Authorities Saturday reported the arrest of several persons in an intensified manhunt for the smooth-talking slayer who beat and poisoned a socially prominent Florida interior decorator and robbed her of cash and jewelry.

Officials said the entire federal district police force has been ordered to concentrate on finding the man, believed to be an American or a Canadian, who forced Mrs. Harriet Ann Hicks, 52, to drink a lethal dose of poison and left her on a wooded path on the highway leading to Puebla. Two peasants found her Sept. 22 and she was rushed to the American-British Hospital where she died Friday.

One of her three sons, Phillips E. Hicks, 29, a broker in Coral Gables, Fla., said his mother told him what happened when she gained consciousness in the hospital before her death.

She described her attacker as being about 45 years old with light hair and blue eyes.

He accosted her Sept. 21 in downtown Mexico City and invited her to see "Indian dances" in a nearby village. After some hesitation she accompanied him on a bus and they got off at Puebla Road four miles outside the capital.

Hicks said his mother told him the man grabbed her by the throat, beat her and forced her to drink a liquid. Authorities said the poison apparently was wood alcohol.

The slayer robbed the woman of cash, jewelry and traveler's checks amounting to $1,000 and fled.

Hicks an two other sons, John and Robert Francis, are grandsons of the late Col. John Hicks, one-time governor of Wisconsin and former U. S. ambassador to Chile, Peru and Argentina. The Hicks family once was principal owner of the Os'[illegible] Northwestern Corp., publishers of the Oshkosh, Wis., Northwestern a daily newspaper.

Handicapped Hiring Week Observance

"Hire the Handicapped Week" begins today, according to Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathorn. He told a true story yesterday, about a "handicapped" man.

"Robert H. Barton lost his right arm in 1918. He had been right-handed until machinery in a sugar beet refinery turned him into a left-hander.

"Now, he is postmaster of Layton, Utah, presents one-man showings of his oil and pastel paintings and is a near - champion horse-shoe pitcher.

"He is only one example of the determination which the handicapped use to prove they do work well, if they receive the right job," Hathorn stated.

Starting today, and continuing through Saturday, "Hire the Handicapped Week" will be observed.

COMMENT

President Eisenhower commented that "Opportunity" means happiness for the individual — an opportunity to expand and be useful, to know that he is contributing his share to the advancement of society.

"We cannot afford for one moment to neglect placing opportunity in front of all who are capable of doing anything whatsoever with it. And the mere fact that a person may be minus a limb or one of his senses, or anything else, has nothing to do with it, anymore than do the other differences among humans," the President pointed out.

Rotarians Hear Research Speech By K. Lenneau

Lenneau spoke on research and how it effects everyday living in Louisiana and the United States.

"Forty years ago," he said, "we were living in the machine age, then it advanced to the air age, and 10 years ago we were in the atomic age. Now we are in what is known as the space age, or could it be better designated as the research age."

In Lenneau's speech to the Rotary Club he explained that research, as a whole, affects everyone in their home and business lives.

Ouachita High Seniors Elect Class Officers

Class officers were chosen by the Senior Class of Ouachita Parish High School in an election conducted this week by the election committee of the Student Council, it was learned today.

The officers icnluded president: David Barker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Barker; vice - president: Jack Oglesbee, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Oglesbee; secretary: Alice Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James M. Smith; and treasurer: Carol Shipp, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garland A. Shipp. They will serve throughout the current school year.

The officers were nominated and elected by their class members It is required that class officers have an over-all C average in their school work and be in good standing of all the school personnel.

Three Couples Charged On Tax

MEMPHIS, (UPI)—The Internal Revenue Service charged Saturday three Memphis couples owe a a total of more than $50,000 in back taxes.

The IRS contends that Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Shainberg, Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Shainberg, and Mr. and Mrs. Ben Goldstein owe respectively $17,099, $15,947, and $17,170.

The couples have charged the government erred in making the claim because it disallowed various deductions for insurance construction of utility lines, street work and other expenses.

Man In Space In 6 Years Seen

BANGOR, Maine (AP) — International rocketry expert Dr. Willy Ley told a gathering of educators here Friday man will be in space within six years at the outside.

He said that despite the fact a human has yet to reach the nearest of the heavenly bodies — the moon — preliminary planning is already under way for interplanetary voyaging.

He did not elaborate on the latter, however, in a speech before a science symposium in connection with the Maine Teachers Assn. convention.

Sen. Smathers Sees No Help In Ike's Talks

WASHINGTON, (UPI) — Sen. George A. Smathers (D-Fla.) said Saturday President Eisenhower's decision to step up his campaigning for Republican candidates won't provide "much benefit" to the GOP.

The President has called top Republicans to the White House Monday for a political conference on how to combat party apathy in the congressional and governorship races. He also will discuss his own role in the campaign.

Eisenhower already has increased to nine his planned campaign appearances, and GOP National Chairman Meade Alcorn said these in turn would be "increased materially."

Smahters, who heads the Democrats' drive to retain control of the Senate, said we won't "need to revise our strategy" in view of the President's stepped - up plans.

"We've got the rabbit running out ahead of us and all we have to do is keep up."

Smathers recalled that Eisenhower's efforts for GOP congressional candidates did little to help them in 1956. Even though the President won a landslide reelection victory two years ago, Democrats managed to strengthen their hold on both Senate and House.

Smathers said the chief executive's campaigning this year will produce "less" for GOP candidates.

The President's political forays are being dovetailed with those of Vice President Richard M. Nixon, who has just wound up his first week of intensive speaking.

Part of the GOP leaders' problem at Monday's conference apparently involves handling Democratic attacks on the President's policy on Quemoy and Matsu as defense outposts of Formosa. Alcorn has hinted at the GOP stand by accusing Democratic campaign speakers of "preaching appeasement," with specific reference to Smathers' accusation that the President has "blundered" in promising to fight if necessary to keep the off-shore islands out of Communist hands.

Smathers fired back it was now clear the President has "abandoned" his earlier "inflexible" position on defending the islands. He said the administration's revised policy will "come nearer to getting Democratic support because it is in line with logic."

REDS EYE GUINEA

LONDON (AP)—Moscow Radio announced Saturday the Soviet Union has recognized the newly independent republic of Guinea, former French West African possession.

The broadcast said Russia had agreed to a proposal by Guinea's premier, Sekou Toure, that the two nations exchange envoys.

Man Is Injured In Car-Truck Crash Yesterday

An 18-year-old West Monroe man suffered injuries to his head and left hand at 4:30 yesterday afternoon, when he was involved in a head-on crash on the Jonesboro Road, just north of Eros.

The mishap occurred on "a bad curve" according to his family.

Authorities said his auto was involved in the collision with a pickup truck, driven by "Jiggs" Capps, about 35, of Eros. Both vehicles turned over and skidded into the ditch.

Capps said that he was uninjured, Perritt stated. Hyrum Chambless, a friend of Perritt, drove past within minutes, and took Perritt to the home of his mother, Mrs. Elsie Perritt in Eros. The injured man was then brought to the hospital.

Perritt's auto was demolished, and the truck was extensively damaged.

State Police investigated the mishap last night.

Monroe Police Investigating Hit-Run Case

Huey P. Wheeler, 518 Calypso St., told Monroe police yesterday that a hit-run driver had damaged his car during the night.

Police who investigated found that a vehicle had jumped the curb on Hart Street, 35 feet south of Calypso, tore down a "one-way street" sign, and hit the rear of the parked car.

Damage to the right rear fender of the 1958 auto was estimated at $150. Police are continuing investigation.

Commercial Jet Flights Are Started

NEW YORK (UPI) — Two sleek British airplanes blazed a new trail over the Atlantic Saturday with the first commercial jet passenger flights.

One British Overseas Airways Corp. Comet IV set an eastbound passenger plane record of 6 hours and 12 minutes. It left New York at 6:01 a.m. EST and landed in London at 12:13 p.m. EST.

The other Comet made the trip from London to New York in the elapsed time of 10 hours and 20 minutes, including a refueling stop of 1 hour and 10 minutes at Gander, Nfld. The plane left London at 3:55 a.m. EST and landed at New York's Idlewild International Airport at 2:15 p.m. EST.

The actual flying time fron London to New York was 9 hours and 10 minutes.

FELL SHORT

This fell short of the mark of a Pan-American World Airways 707 jet plane that arrived at Idlewild Airport on a shakedown flight from London a flying time of 7 hours and 58 minutes.

The Pan American plane left London at 5:42 a.m. EST and landed here at 2:40 p.m. It made a fueling stop of 1 hour and 18 minutes at Keflavik, Iceland.

The flights trimmed the average time of the conventional propeller-driven, piston engine planes by about one third. The eastbound piston engine flights usually take about 10-½ hours and the west bound usually take about 13 hours.

A total of 18 paying passengers were aboard the two Comets to help get the commercial jet air age off the ground. The rest of the 92 persons aboard the two planes were airline employes and officials and newsmen.

The launching of jet passenger service was heralded in aviation circles as being as momentous as the switch from sail to steamboat in sea travel a century ago.

Twelfth Anniversary

Howard Bros. Firm Issues Statement

Howard Bros. Jewelers begin the thirteenth year of their business in Monroe this month after seeing twelve years of steady growth serving the Twin City area. In order to celebrate the success of the past years, the well known firm is conducting a huge anniversary sale.

Alton Howard, manager of the firm, is enthusiastic and states, "Twelve marvelous years brought by our friends and customers. We surely do thank them for the wonderful business."

Howard further stated, "We built our business on the principle of Friendship and Service, rather than on Profit Alone! Just to make a sale is not our only aim. A sale means more to us than just the ring of the cash register. We are still old fashioned enough to believe that we are obligated morally to honestly represent what we sell!"

Howard made mention of the fact that, "We personally listen to any complaints and make OUR OWN DECISIONS as to ADJUSTMENTS. The customer is dealing with the OWNERS when they SHOP with us."

In connection with the profit angle, Howard said, "We believe in fair prices at a reasonable profit. We make no claims of giving something for nothing. Personl attention and buying just for the needs of our area make it possible for us to compete with any other outlet. Personal grading enables us to save the customer dollars that otherwise would be added to the price tag in the form of inferior merchandise."

The members of the jewelry firm will not make bold and unreasonable claims that they cannot live up to, according to Howard, who said, "While competition is the Life Blood of American Business, we do not try to copy our competitors but SET OUR OWN STANDARDS and then try to live up to them."

The Howard Bros. Jewelers attained the honor some time ago of becoming a Registered Jewelry firm in the American Gem Society. The aims of the organization is stated in the following, "Many years ago a group of highly ethical leaders of the jewelry profession decided to band together to establish a protective code of ethics, a system of gemological study and examinations, to raise the standards of practice and to offer protection to the buying public."

From this beginning, the American Gem Society of the United States and Canada was formed which today is an elective nonprofit organization which "numbers several hundred leading jewelers, scholars and scientists pledged as the guilds of old, to heighten the honor, integrity and knowledge of the jewelry industry."

"Upon election to membership in the Society, a well-rounded gemological program is established for the jeweler. This program also encompasses knowledge of precious metals, jewelry and silverware. If to acquire this knowledge, a course of study is necessary, it usually extends over several years' period punctuated with a successive series of comprehensive examinations and actual practical tests. Many fail to clear these qualifications, but those who do qualify, unquestionably have authoritative knowledge that enables them to deal capably with gems."

Howard asked, "that the patronge of the past twelve years be continued and we assure you we pledge to continue our good service to the community."—Adv.

WHEN HOUSE CATCHES FIRE

Mother Rushes Five Children To Safety

A 28-year-old mother rushed her five young daughters to safety yesterday afternoon, when their home at 316 N. Sixth St. caught fire.

Mrs. Frances Pickron and her daughters, ranging in age from 3 to 8 years, escaped injury, but all the youngster's clothing was lost.

Fire engines 1, 3, ladder 2 and car 4 of the Monroe Fire Department were summoned at 4:37 p.m., had the fire extinguished and returned to their stations by 5:30.

Fire damage was limited to a back bedroom, but the rest of the one-story house was extensively smoke - damaged.

The brick home is located next to the residence of its owner, Joe Messina, 318 N. Sixth St.

TAKING NAP

The Messinas related that Mrs. Pickron told them she had just finished ironing 18 dresses for her daughters, and was taking a nap when the fire broke out.

A young girl who was helping to babysit entered the back bedroom and found flames leaping up to the ceiling. She ran to Mrs. Pickron and alerted her.

After making sure her children were safely out of the house, Mrs. Pickron summoned help from the Messinas, and they used a garden hose to keep the flames under control until firemen arrived.

The fire, of undetermined origin, reached to the ceiling and scorched floorboards in the attic.

"We had some insurance on the home — but Mrs. Pickron really needs some help now. She works as a waitress at the Toddle House at night, but she has all those girls to take care of and with the loss of their clothes she has a big problem now," Mrs. Messina stated.

AGENCY SAVES LIVES

BERLIN (UPI)— An agency known as "Suicides Anonymous" claimed today it has saved 2,200 persons from killing themselves during hte past year. The West Berlin organization, run by the Evangelical Church, provides spiritual and medical aid without cost to persons who feel they want to end their lives.

Governor To Be Questioned

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. James P. Coleman of Mississippi, chairman of the Southern Governors' Conference, will be questioned on NBC's "Meet the Press" television program Sunday.

Coleman, appearing from Washington, will go on the air at 6 p.m. EDT.

He will be questioned by Clayton Fritchey of the Northern Virginia Sun, Jack Kirkpatrick of the Richmond News-Leader and May Craig, who represents a group of New England newspapers.

FOR AUTO MAKERS

Encouraging Points In '59 Autos Noted

DETROIT (AP)—Growing signs of improving economic prospects and enhanced eye-appeal of new model cars encourage the auto makers in their optimism for 1959. Two other factors are:

1. New car sales in 1958 barely replaced the vehicles that were scrapped.

2. Only a small part of the cars sold in 1955—the industry's record year—were traded in this year.

The reasoning of industry forecasters goes like this: normal market demand now stands at approximately six million new cars annually. Sales are indicated at about 4,300,000 this year. That means a sizable volume of unsatisfied demand has been piled up for 1959.

Normal replacement demand plus several hundred thousand first - time purchases combined with the deferred demand of 1958 should boost overall requirements at least 1¼ million units. Most estimates are 5½ to 6 million car sales in 1959.

With the coming of 1959 models the 7¼ million cars bought in 1955 —even those acquired late in the year—become four years old for trading purposes. At that point their trade-in value shrinks. Many should begin to appear in the market.

Some industry experts have called 1959 the stylists' year in the auto industry. But that was by accident. Styling was decided upon before the recession hit the auto industry.

The 1959 cars have new eye-appeal, some major engineering advances and numerous new gadgets besides the pent-up demand many makers are counting upon to boost sales. But the auto makers are not going to depend on the cars and the circumstance of unsatisfied demand alone to do the 1959 selling job. The drive for new car sales in the new model year probably will be the toughest in industry history.

Most 1959 models will reach the market this month. In many instances they will be on sale from two to three weeks earlier than the 1958 models were last year. The new cars will be presented with dealer inventories lower than they have been in nearly two years.

If the industry's planning is carried out this year's final quarter, marking the first three months of the new model year, will bring about 1¼ million cars from the assembly plants.

No authoritative source has made a retail sales estimate, but deliveries could match factory output. They totaled 1,381,147 units in the October-December quarter of 1957.

Business Briefs

Principal Speaker

Jack Trichel, produce merchandiser for F. Strauss and Son, Monroe, will be one of the principal speakers at the first annual convention of the Louisiana Retail Food Dealers Association to be held at the Monteleone hotel in New Orleans, Oct. 5 and 6.

Trichel will discuss the importance of an attractive produce section in the food store.

Service Pin

R. L. Phillips, Sr., general superintendent of power for Louisiana Power and Light Company, has been awarded his 35 - year company service pin.

Shares Report

CROSSETT, Ark. (Special) — Sales of all forest products by the Crossett Company during the first nine months of 1958 showed a 3 per cent decline when compared with the same period last year.

However, results during the latter part of the third quarter gave cause for "some optimistic thinking that our worst period is behind us," according to the firm's third quarterly report just issued.

The report said that sales for the nine months totaled $28,958,000 compared to $29,753,000 last year. Nine months earnings were $2,774,000 versus $3,166,000 in 1957. This is equivalent to $1.22 per share on 2,275,654 shares outstanding this year as compared with $1.39 on the 2,271,154 shares last year.

A dividend of $.10 per share on Class A and Class B stock was declared payable November 1, 1958, to stockholders of record October 15, 1958.

State Realtor Group Meet Is Scheduled

The Louisiana Realtor Association will hold its 1958 convention in Lake Charles October 9 to 11.

A full program of business, education and entertainment is planned for the realtors and their sales people in attendance.

A program feature will be a full day real estate seminar co-sponsored with Sowela Vocational-Technical School, Lake Charles, Louisiana. Speakers on this program will include Eugene P. Conser, executive vice - president of the National Association of Real Estate Boards; Harrison L. Todd, Camden, New Jersey, realtor and nationally known speaker; Lucille Beckner, Houston realtor and regional vice - president of the Women's Council of N. A. R. E. B.; Ervin W. Luedtke, executive secretary of the Texas Real Estate Association of Austin, Texas and Grant Webster, Bellaire, Texas realtor.

Sam H. Jones, former Louisiana governor will be the speaker at the Saturday luncheon. The "Louisiana Realtor of the Year" will be presented at this time.

Frank J. Zuzak of Shreveport, president of the association will preside at all the business meetings. Other officers are: J. Beverly Brignac of Lafayette, vice-president; Charles J. Pumilia of New Orleans secretary and Jules Reinauer of Lake Charles, treasurer. Mr. Reinauer is the general chairman of the convention.

Many local realtors plan to attend.

BEE INVASION

SINOIA, Southern Rhodesia (AP)—Bees swarming by the million terrorized the 2,000 population of this small mining community 80 miles from Salisbury Saturday.

Twice in the past three days the invasion brought life to a standstill. Banks, offices, shops and restaurants closed their doors. Scores of people have been stung and many hospitalized. Saturday's attack came during the shopping rush. Police cars warned people to get off the streets and take cover.

City Of Laurel May Be Built On Oil Dome

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — The city of Laurel in southeast Mississippi may be built atop an oil dome after all.

Central Oil Co. and Zach Brooks resumed coring below 8,314 feet in the Mississippi Investments No. 1, sec. 1-8n-12w after logging 40 feet of oil sand this week.

Old timers who advocated the oil dome theory happily said, "I told you so."

The potential new field discovery logged shows in the Lower Tuscaloosa sand at 8,122 feet. A drill stem test at 8,122-40 feet recovered nine barrels of 22 gravity oil with no water during an hour's test.

Operator's second core at 8,140-74 feet logged 33 feet of oil sand.

The well is within the city limits of Laurel near the country club. Contract depth is 13,500 feet.

The wildcat is 10 miles southeast of the giant Soso field and seven miles southwest of the Reedy Creek field.

Central Oil and Lone Star Producing Co. have completed another Jones County wildcat, the Masonite No. 1, sec. 25-10n-10w as the discovery well of Bryan field.

The well flowed 304 barrels of 39 gravity oil from the lower Glen Rose zone at 10,710-22 feet.

Another sand, in the Rodessa Zone at 10,240-66 feet, appears commercial but was not perforated on tests.

The Texas Co. is testing the Board of Supervisors No. 1, sec. 16-3N-7E in the Boykin Church field of Smith County.

In Simpson County, Monterey Oil Co. is below 13,100 feet in the wildcat Gaylord Container Corp. No. 1, sec. 21-2N-3E. No information is being released. Contract depth is 13,800 feet.

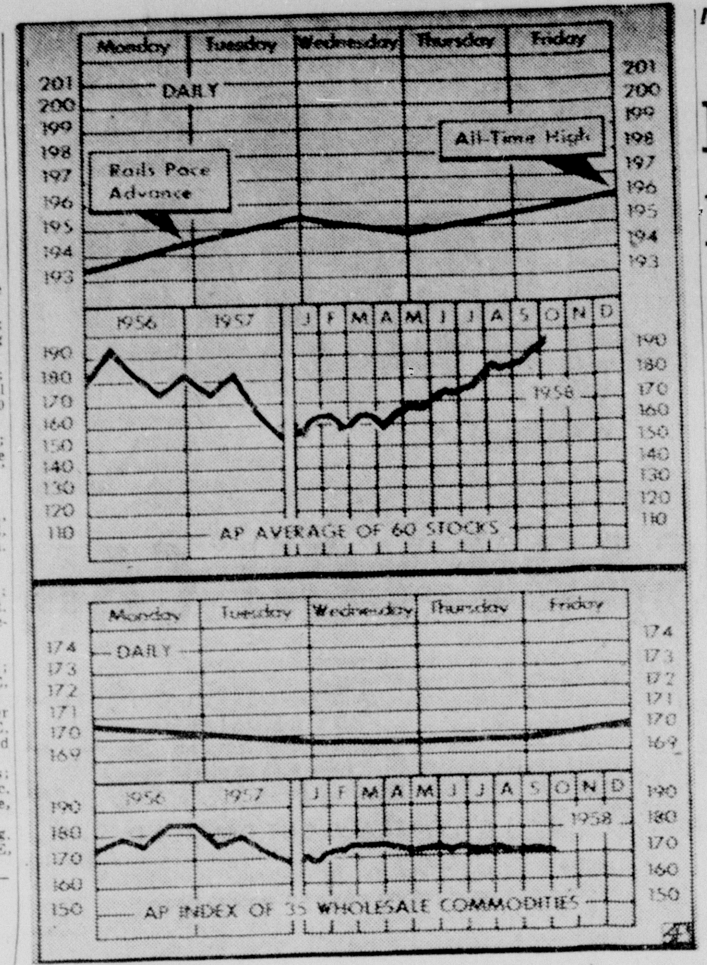
The venture is seven miles southeast of Starkville. Contract depth is 10,000 feet.

In Franklin County's Wells Creek field, Cameron Operating Co. and John Callon completed the Anderson No. 4, sec. 43-5N-1E, at 1222 barrels of oil daily froma Wilcox sand at 6,956-98 feet.



STOCK AVERAGE UP — Advancing for seventh straight week, The Associated Press average of 60 stocks rose to an all-time high when it closed at 196.1 from 193.3 a week ago. The weekly turnover was the heaviest since the latter part of October, 1957. Led by livestock, the commodity index declined for the third week in a row, closing at 170.2 from 170.6 in the preceding period. (AP Wirephoto Chart)

Reds Firing Many Duds In Quemoy Battle

BIG QUEMOY (UPI) — The Chinese Communists have been firing an unusually high percentage of dud shells at Big Quemoy, suggesting possible sabotage behind the Bamboo Curtain, American military advisers said Saturday.

Army Col. Douglas Lane of Maysville, Okla., chief of the U.S. Military Advisory Detachment on the beleaguered island, said duds and misfires have accounted for the relatively low percentage of Chinese Nationalist casualties in the saturation shelling.

Lane said he believed that the Russians either have supplied the Chinese Communists old ammunition with faulty fuses or else there has been sabotage in Russia or China.

"There are bound to be some duds in every concentration of artillery fired," Lane said. "But the percentage of misfires, short rounds and duds counted on Quemoy runs four to five times the average expectable.

"This is attributable to only two things. Either the Russians are supplying the Chicoms (Army slang for Chinese Communists) with old, outdated ammunition or somewhere along the line, the ammunition is being tampered with to cause the misfires."

Maj. Han Ken Lee, a Korean-American from Niles, Mich., said most of the dud shells found on Quemoy were made in Russia.

Lee said there were "dozens of places" from factory to gun where shells easily could be sabotaged.

"It is not difficult to sabotage ammunition either during manufacture or in handling, Lee said.

Fate Of Negro To Be Argued

BIRMINGHAM, Ala. (AP) — The fate of a Negro who claims his civil rights were violated when he was sentenced to die for the 1954 murder of a white woman in Mississippi will be argued before the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals Monday.

Attorneys for Robert Lee Goldsby, 32, of Canton, Miss., and St. Louis, Mo., contend there were no Negroes on the Carroll County grand jury that indicted him or on the petit jury that convicted him.

Goldsby has lost 13 appeals to various state and federal appellate courts. His original execution date was May 13, 1955.

Goldsby was convicted of murder in the pistol death of Mrs. Moselle Nelms in the parking lot of her husband's roadside cafe near Vaiden, Miss.

Trial testimony showed that Goldsby and a party of Negroes drove onto the parking lot and cafe owner Bryant Nelms ordered them off.

Goldsby shot Nelms, contending later that the white man had threatened him with a mallet. As Mrs. Nelms ran to her fallen husband, Goldsby shot her and sped away in the car.

He was arrested a few miles away.

When the state Supreme Court rejected Goldsby's appeal last April 20, the justices reviewed his appeals. They were:

March 28, 1955: State Supreme Court affirmed the November 1954 conviction and sentence and set May 12, 1955 as execution date.

May 11, 1955: State Supreme Court stayed execution pending appeal to the U.S. Supreme Court.

Dec. 12, 1955: U.S. Supreme Court denied appeal.

Jan. 16, 1956: State Supreme Court set Feb. 24, 1956 as execution date.

Feb. 21, 1956: State Supreme Court denied appeal on grounds of new evidence but stayed execution pending appeal to U.S. Supreme Court.

Dec. 10, 1956: U.S. Supreme Court set Feb. 12, 1957 as execution date.

Feb. 8, 1957: U. S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans denied motion for stay of execution.

Feb. 11, 1957: Chief Justice Earl Warren of U.S. Supreme Court granted stay of execution until all rights exhausted.

July 29, 197: Federal District Court at Oxford, Miss., denied petition for writ of habeas corpus.

Nov. 20, 1957: U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals at New Orleans returned case to district court.

April 3, 1958: District court dismissed the petition.

April 20, 1958: State Supreme Court set May 29, 1958 as execution date.

Then, atty. George Leighton of Chicago filed another appeal to the federal court of appeals.

'Coolness' Is Noted In Oil Issue In Tex.

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—Rather cool exchanges are being made between Texas independent oil operators and the administrator of the federal program to curtail imports.

The situation is in sharp contrast with that of last May when the Texans acknowledged "sincere and outstanding" efforts by Capt. Matthew V. Carson for securing compliance within the framework of the program.

The coolness began to develop in August when Carson announced that a new type of curtailment plan was under study. The proposed program, formally announced Sept. 9, promptly was termed inadequate by officials of the Texas Independent Producers & Royalty Owners Assn. (TIPRO).

On Sept. 20 in a letter to Rep. Lindley Beckworth (D-Tex), Carson said TIPRO's "normal negative approach" was not in the best interests of the domestic petroleum industry or the nation as a whole.

Carson said TIPRO's action resulted only in an attempt to destroy public confidence in the only means available to him to reduce crude imports.

The TIPRO executive committee this week said:

"We regret that Captain Carson in a letter defending the oil imports program which he now proposes to scrap, clouded the issue with personal references to us. While we have no intention to debate these references, we think it proper to point out that our objectives with respect to imports are the same as those declared by Congress and the executive branch of our government."

These objectives, the committee said, are to maintain a healthy domestic oil industry which will restore exploration drilling and developments to levels sufficient to increase oil reserves.

The committee said the curtailment program has failed and that the newly proposed plan cannot succeed.

Eugene M. Locke, TIPRO president from Dallas, told reporters the association has not opposed the program but believes it does not carry out congressional intent that foreign oil must not supplant domestic production.

Carson received a standing ovation when he spoke before TIPRO's annual convention in San Antonio May 12. TIPRO officials, although frankly stating disagreed in part, described the speech as an able defense of the voluntary oil imports program.

But on Sept. 11 the TIPRO executive committee met in Laredo and said there were weaknesses in "a new imports program possibly to be instituted by the administration." The committee said preliminary reports indicated the new plan lacks features essential to an effective and lasting solution.

TIPRO, other independents, and importers have been asked to comment on the proposed change. The current program establishes quotas for individual importers. The proposal that would become effective Jan. 1 would limit imports to a percentage of domestic refinery runs.

Board Of Trade Futures Market At Its Dullest

CHICAGO (AP)—Except for a brief flurry engendered by a report that winter wheat acreage will be smaller this year, the Board of Trade futures market was at its dullest this week.

Demand generally was at a low ebb in most grain pits and there was no export business worthy of mention. Traders, standing idle much of the trading periods, complained of lack of outside interest in the futures markets.

As a result, all grains, with the exception of December oats, ended the week lower compared with Friday a week ago. Wheat finished ¼ to 1 cent a bushel lower; rye was off 1¼ to 2 cents, and soybeans declined 3⅜ to 4½ cents a bushel.

Wheat, lower the early part of week, rallied Thursday and Friday after a private crop report came out indicating that more farmers in the southwest winter wheat belt will participate in the 1958 acreage allotment program than did so last year.

The acreage report was part of a crop survey made by C. M. Galvin, market analyst for Francis I. Du Pont & Co., in Nebraska, Kansas, Oklahoma, Texas and Colorado. It placed the number of acres to be planted to wheat this fall at around 25,337,000, about 90,000 acres less than in 1957.

Bonds Decline During Week

Government bond losses ranged out to two full points and several long range issues neared two-year lows.

Investment quality corporates were steady for the week but rails, industrials, utilities and foreign bonds moved lower. Trading declined to $29,839,000 par value on the New York Stock exchange from $31,451,100 the previous week. A year ago it was $18,452,000.

LABOR PEACE HELPS

Economy Upturn For U.S. Noted

NEW YORK (AP) — Return of labor peace in the pace-setting auto industry signaled the start of a broad new upturn in the country's economy last week.

Signing of union contracts with Chrysler and General Motors — Ford signed the week before — came as auto makers reported an avalanche of advance orders for 1959 models.

The clean, classic lines of the wider and lower 1959 cars were expected to make a resounding hit with consumers who had reacted coolly to much of Detroit's 1958 production. Buick said it had received dealer orders for 37,429 new 1959 models in the first 10 days; Ford Motor Co.'s Ford division reported one billion dollars in orders.

Ford said many of its plants are going on overtime.

The brightening picture in Detroit topped a week in which steel production inched up to a 1958 high and stock price averages crashed through to a new series of historic peaks.

Stock sales during the week totaled 19,227,870 shares compared with 18,481,130 shares the previous week and 8,067,455 shares in the corresponding 1958 week.

Bond sales had a par value of $29,839,000 compared with $31,451,100 the previous week and $18,452,000 in the same 1957 week.

The government reported a downturn in unemployment in most major U.S. cities. A survey of the hiring plans of big employers indicated that an increasing number of jobs will be opening for factory workers, retail clerks, industrial salesmen, and office secretaries in the weeks ahead.

Official government figures on instalment debt showed that consumers have finally stepped up their on-the-cuff buying after months of holding back.

Rain put a damper on retail sales in many parts of the country last week, but merchants were far from pessimistic.

The failure of commodity price trends to show any significant rise was interpreted by some observers as a sign that a real, honest-to-goodness business boom is still a long way off.

RED POLICE ARREST BOY

BERLIN (UPI) — Communist East German police have arrested a 13-year-old West Berlin boy because he carried some American Wild West stories and comic books with him on a visit to East Berlin, West Berlin police reported today.

MASS TRIAL PLANNED

BUDAPEST, Hungary (UPI)—The present wave of Hungarian corruption trials will be climaxed later this month by a mass trial of 76 persons charged with having caused extensive damage to state property, it was reported today.

One of life's rare pleasures

There aren't many pleasures like having an extra income. One from your job. Another from the profits of some company of which you are part-owner. In other words, from dividends on common stock.

And it may be far easier than you suppose. Because you can acquire shares of some fine American company for as little as $40 every three months, up to $1000 a month, through the Monthly Investment Plan.

The MIP helps you form the excellent habit of investing regularly. And it can help you become an owner of good stock you might otherwise never own if you had to buy it all at once.

You can stop or start a Plan any time you like. And your dividends will be automatically used to buy more stock, unless you prefer to take them in cash.

You pay as you go. There are no down payments. You don't owe any "balance." You're never in debt. And the Plan solves the problem of when to buy, since you buy at regular intervals. If the stock goes down in price, your next regular investment buys more shares. It would be hard to find a more sensible, convenient way to become a shareowner.

When you select a stock, proceed with care. Don't try to get rich quick. Never depend on tips or rumors. A company may not pay a dividend, may lose ground to competition. And stock prices go down as well as up. So get facts before you buy. And use extra money left over after living expenses are paid and emergencies provided for.

Begin with two free booklets. One gives the records of more than 300 stocks that have paid dividends every year from 25 to more than 100 years. It's called "DIVIDENDS OVER THE YEARS." You'll find which stocks have paid 5 to 6 percent at recent prices. Which have paid progressively higher dividends over the past ten years. Which have been preferred by MIP investors. The other booklet, "THE STORY OF THE MONTHLY INVESTMENT PLAN," gives you the details of that easy method of becoming an owner of American business. The coupon brings both booklets, free.

Next, make a valuable friend —a broker. Make sure he's with a Member Firm of the New York Stock Exchange. Ask him for advice—he'll give it gladly without cost. Ask him about bonds and preferred stocks, too. He'll help you buy or sell. And from time to time ask him to review your holdings with you.

Right now, send the coupon. It may lead to part ownership of a famous company. And extra income from dividends.

Fire Hazards Precautions Advised Here

During Fire Prevention Week, Oct. 5 through 11, postmen join with firemen this year in fighting fires.

Not in the way which firemen actually battle the flames — but in a preventive manner.

Monroe Postmaster Woodrow W. Hathron pointed out yesterday that postal workers are responsible for cooperating in Fire Prevention Week programs, and for stressing more widespread efforts to prevent fires in post offices.

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield informed Hathorn that postal workers should learn how to use extinguishers and fire hose.

He also focused attention on general conditions which exist in any home or business, and indicated how they could be improved upon.

Summerfield urged that trash, waste paper, oily rags and other fire hazards be cleaned up. "Provide receptacles and schedule removal at regular intervals," he stated.

Care in discarding matches and cigarettes was also stressed.

Frayed or defective electrical extension cords should be replaced, and electrical equipment needs to be checked for overloading and maintenance.

Flammable liquids need careful handling and storage. Local fire inspectors will check the premises if requested, Summerfield added.

Group To Meet On Observance Of Civil War

JACKSON, Miss. (AP) — A special commission to plan Mississippi's part in a proposed nationwide observance of the 100th anniversary of the Civil War will meet Oct. 15 in the governor's office.

Miss Charlotte Capers, director of the State Department of Archives and History, will act as temporary chairman until the group elects officers.

Gov. J. P. Coleman appointed the commission this summer.

Commission members include: Sidney Roebuck of Mississippi Automobile Club; William D. McCain, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Ned O'Brien, Agricultural and Industrial oBard travel director; Edwin C. Bearss, Vicksburg National Military Park.

Mrs. John Wamble, United Daughters of the Confederacy; J. Paul Faulkner, Civil War Round Table; William Winter, Mississippi Historical Society; Frank Everett, Mississippi Economic Council; John Gregg, Mississippi Manufacturers Assn.

Claude Gentry, Brice's Crossroads (battlefield) Assn.; Tom White Crigler, Sons of Confederate Veterans; Mrs. Calvin S. Browns, United Daughters of the Confederacy; Mrs. Everett Slayden, Garden Clubs of Mississippi; and Miss Pearl Guyton, Natchez author of a historical booklet on the seige of Vicksburg.

COMMUNITY CONCERT

Three Events Are Signed Already

Concert-goers in the Monroe area have a promising season in the Community Concerts offerings, all of which will be held in Neville Auditorium.

Three concerts have already been signed, with more in prospect if this week's membership campaign goes well. Maurice Glazer, president of the local organization which gets a subscription audience together each season for the concerts, pointed out a greater area was being covered this year than heretofore. He said there was no reason to doubt continued success of the concert group when enthusiastic receptions of the past were considered.

He referred to appearances here of the Boston Pops Orchestra, Eleanor Steber, the Chicago Opera Ballet and numerous star attractions of the concert field—all of whom have included Monroe on their tours through Community Concerts.

This year's attractions include Dance Jubilee, featuring Bambi Linn and Rod Alexander with orchestra and a corps of supporting dancers. Bambi Linn, it will be recalled, danced the lead in the movie version of Oklahoma. Dance Jubilee is a review of the American dance from pioneer days to swingtime. This concert is scheduled here for Saturday, November 22.

Balloting at the final concert last year showed a great number of persons desiring to hear a full symphony orchestra. The Detroit Symphony was contacted and will include Monroe on its tour next March.

Duo-pianists Whittemore and Lowe got an ovation from the local audience when they performed here several seasons back. In that same bracket, the Teltschik Brothers from Texas, will perform here next spring.

Top talent in all countries has viewed the system of supply and demand with some misgivings. As a result, most European countries grant opera and concert companies a governmental subsidy.

In the United States, the problem has been solved — fortunately without resort to governmental interference — through local groups who drum up an audience without cost to the performing artists.

This system has been in effect in virtually every major city in the country since 1930, and has gained ground steadily. That it has proven successful is best shown by the fact that European artists are most happy to give American tours. Among other reasons ,they are pleased with the opportunity to increase their shoe-string subsidy budgets offered by European tours.

As for American artists, they have increased in number as a result of incentive offered by the civic groups which continue as community concerts, to build up a market for top concert talent.

Common Boil Is Becoming Big Problem

BILOXI, Miss. (AP) — The common boil is becoming a public health problem, the Southeastern regional meeting of the American College of Physicians was told here Friday.

Boils — technically called staphylococcal infections — were among subjects discussed in scientific papers by leading physicians at the opening session.

Dr. Clarence A. Smith of Atlanta, chief deputy of the communicable disease center of the Public Health Service, emphasized the idea of a hospital committee to evaluate all infections and follow up the patient's progress to keep them from spreading.

Functional disorders such as headaches are related to definite changes that take place in the body functions, and are not imaginary, said Dr. J. W. Fleming of Pensacola, Fla.

These functional type disorders are mostly symptoms of stress and anxiety, he said, and positive diagnoses should be made and treatment given.

Dr. Kenneth Phillips of Miami discussed clinical studies of hypoglycemia which he said is a direct opposite of diabetes.

The symptoms are the pancreas glands producing too much insulin, or they are weakness, fatigue, fainting or nervousness, he said.

The main treatment is diet along with a new ultra-sound energy.

Dr. William Hammack of the Medical College of Alabama, in Birmingham, reported that a disease called macroglobulinemia is responding in some cases to treatment with steroid type drugs.

He described this as a condition affecting certain cells of the body that produce proteins in the blood, causing them to produce abnormally large protein molecules.

Ellender Asks Revamping Of Cotton Loans

WASHINGTON (Special) — Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D) La. asked Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson Friday to revamp one-year government production loans so that disaster-stricken cotton farmers can stretch repayment over a longer period.

If Benson approves, farmers whose cotton crops have been ruined by harvest-time rains—some for two years in a row—could consolidate their loans on a long-term basis.

Ellender, who is in Louisiana, noted that many farmers who borrowed from the Farmers Home Administration to meet planting expenses this year cannot recoup their losses because of severe damage to their crops.

Kenneth L. Scott, Administrator of the Agriculture Credit Services, scheduled a meeting here Thursday with a representative of Ellender's staff to discuss whether the department has the authority to permit consolidation of the loans. Farmers Home Administration Director K. H. Hansen will also attend.

Agriculture officials, it was learned, were not sure the farm laws will permit extension of all loans granted in disaster areas: They said the consolidation may be permissible for familty-type farms that hire no outside labor, but apparently not for large-scale farms.

Some of the larger farms, however, including tenant-farmer units have been hardest hit by the harvest downpours in 1957 and this year.

Ellender, chairman of the powerful Senate Agriculture Committee, termed the situation a "disaster piled on disaster. There were indications in Washington that if Benson rules against consolidation of the loans—or permits them only for small farms—attempts will be made in Congress to amend the Farm Credit Laws early next session.

A major problem in extension present production loans, it was understood, is just how long the loans can be extended beyond the normal one-year repayment period another question involved in the legal tangle is whether the extensions can be granted on loans which are not leins on necessary operating equipment. The law is silent on this matter.

Looks 'Em Over

The New York Yankees won the third game of the 1958 World Series yesterday, but they still face almost unsurmountable odds since only one team to win the first two games has ever lost this autumnal classic. The Milwaukee Braves won the first two this time.

Oddly it was the Yankees of 1921 that won the first two games from the New York Giants yet lost the best-of-nine series in eight games. The Giants led 4-3 after seven that year.

It's the Braves Warren Spahn against Ole Case's Whitey Ford in today's game at Yankee Stadium. If the Braves can win just one of the three games in New York they should have the series about wrapped up, but of the Yanks win the next two at home, including a likely chance to break the Lou Burdette jinx tomorrow, they'll be hard to beat back in Milwaukee.

The Neville victory over Jonesboro-Hodge Friday night caught a lot of us flatfooted as J-H is sporting one of its finest teams in recent years. J-H coach Jimmy Gil- claiming for a long time—when Bill Ruple is moaning bert is learning what "Hoss" Garrett of Ruston has been the loudest, you had better watch out.

True, Neville lost all starters from last year's club except three, and Ruple has been poor-mouthin' all over the place. He has even been quoted as saying the reason the Neville gridders didn't go away for their usual football camp in August was because "these kids are too young to take away from their mamas." Neville now stands at the doorway of becoming the first team in the state to win a seasonal district championship. All the Bengals have to do is beat Ruston here Friday night. That's going to be some chore with Ruston fairly warned of what these "poor little Tigers" can do after what happened to Haynesville and Jonesboro-Hodge.

Ouachita, too, offered its surprise. Just when we were about to figure West Monroe, Bossier, and possibly Bastrop to be the main contenders in the district triple - A race, Ouachita stuns Bastrop, 6-0—after Bastrop has beaten Neville, and Jonesboro-Hodge had stopped Ouachita and West Monroe. West Monroe, Bossier, and Ouachita currently lead the race with wins in their only league starts. Byrd, the pre-seasonal favorite, has lost two and is virtually out of the chase. Bastrop is one down but still a contender. That leaves Fair Park as the darkhoese, and the Shreveport Indians have a habit of growing strong as the season progresses.

Another stunner was Columbia's upset of the Mangham Dragons to just about crush the Dragons' hopes to return to the district 2-B throne vacated by Delhi's climb to Class A. Only a week earlier Columbia had been beaten by an Oak Grove club that was tasting victory for the first time in 15 games. Of course "Woody" Boyles has Oak Grove playing a surprising brand of ball, as Rayville's Hornets will testify after their squeaker, but Columbia still wasn't figured to take charge of even a crippled Dragon club.

Conquering Mangham may serve the Tide as a heady stimulant, but Jim Turner's boys still have some tough battles ahead, particularly with Holly Ridge and Lake Providence at the conference level.

The Sicily Island Tigers, once a district 3-B power, appear out of the chase this season, leaving the district title to be settled among Block's defending champs of Jonesville, and unbeaten powers at Waterproof and Crowville. Waterproof boasts its finest club since Ronald Dry's Tensas Tigers were challenging Ferriday for the district "B" crown a few years ago. Crowville, which came up with a contender last year after some lean seasons, appears as good or better than '57.

Ferriday's fortunes in Class A are dimmer than they were a year ago, and Tallulah appears on its way to recapturing its district crown, especially since the 6-0 win over a Delhi club that had been figured as the chief rival. But if Tallulah should fall in any of the remaining league games with Rayville, Winnsboro, or Ferriday, Delhi would be back in the picture.

But if the upset average continues, even those teams enjoying clear sailing would do well to beware of the shallows.

Gypsy Joe, one of the most colorful matmen in the wrestling business, will be at Gus Kallio's Arena here tomorrow night with a quartet of girl tusslers who'll appear in a tag scramble. Kallio figures this one of his finest cards of the season. The girls, as the main attraction last week, filled the house. The addition of Gypsy Joe vs. George Curtiss makes the show even more attractive this week.

Not since the old Dee Keltner - "Squatty" Young boxing rivalry of nearly 30 years ago and the Clarence Cook - Norris Ray campaigning of a few years ago has Bastrop offered a fistic show such as Promoter Emmet West and matchmaker Ray Kruger is offering Tuesday night when nationally known Al Andrews, who has fought three champions and a host of other top-flight battlers, invades Bastrop's Rodeo Arena with the intentions of spoiling the comeback of Cook, now a Bastrop policeman. It's for ten rounds. An eight and three four - rounders complete a good card.

Every so often schools of the area permit classes to make a tour of the News-Star—World plant and various office personnel serve as "guides." A few days ago a class from South Monroe Junior High visited our plant at a time when we were available to show off the place. As susual, we enjoyed the tour. Of course the students all said they enjoyed the trip, but it was a pleasant surprise to open yesterday's mail and find Louis Leggett writing us a personal letter to thank us for his class.

"Our class certainly enjoyed the visit we made to the News-Star," wrote Louis. "Some of us have never been in a paper office before and everything was unusual. I especially liked the part where the paper was printed.

"I am a paper boy and now I have a pretty good idea of how the paper is made, thanks to you."

Sooners Pressed To Defeat Oregon

NORMAN, Okla. (AP) — Top-ranked Oklahoma ran into the stubborn defense of Oregon Saturday and the Sooners were fortunate to come out with a 6-0 victory.

The well-coached Oregon club allowed the Sooners the game's only touchdown in the second quarter when it lost the ball on a fumble.

The Webfoots held an edge in statistics over the Sooners which were ranked the nation's top offensive team after opening last week with a 47-14 pasting of West Virginia.

The teams battled evenly in the middle of the field, but Oregon couldn't sustain its drive when it got near pay dirt.

Unlike Oklahoma's opening game, when it ran 31 plays in the first quarter, Oregon held the initiative early in Saturday's game. The Sooners ran off only 11 plays after moving within the 30 three times without scoring. Oklahoma's Dick Corbitt recovered a fumble by Paul Grover on the Oregon 17.

On fourth down, quarterback Bobby Boyd hit Dick Carpenter in the end zone from the nine for the touchdown. An attempted run for the two extra points failed.

The closest Oregon got to the Sooner goal was at the end of the third period when a drive featuring a 53-yard run by left half Willie West carried to the 20 before bogging down.

Big 10 Team Upsets West Virginia, 13-12

BLOOMINGTON, Ind. (AP)—Senior tailback Ted Smith streaked down the sidelines on touchdown runs of 55 and 47 yards for Indiana Saturday and the Hoosiers turned in a 13-12 upset over West Virginia.

He rounded out his day's work by knocking down a West Virginia pass and spoiling an extra-points gamble that could have won the game for the Mountaineers.

With West Virginia trailing by one point in the final quarter after Dick Longfellow's one - yard sneak, Longfellow tried to pass for the two extra points. Sophomore end Earl Faison of Indiana first was credited with knocking down the pass, but Indiana coach Phil Dickens said in the dressing room that Smith was the player who did it.

Take Fourth Straight, 1st In Conference

LAFAYETTE, La. (Special) — Northeast's rampaging Indians stretched their winning streak to four games here last night by drubbing Gulf States Conference rival Southwestern, 29-8 in a dazzling offensive and defensive show.

Jack Rowan's Braves rambled for touchdowns in the first and second periods and added two more in the third before giving way to third and fourth stringers in the final period when SLI made its lone touchdown.

Northeast's four - game winning streak is the longest season - opening string in the school's senior college history. The win was the Indians' first in GSC play for the year and the loss was SLI's third in succession and second in GSC action.

Big Lloyd Ray Smith and Robert McGough again paced the Redskins on the ground while quarterback Everett Reynolds had another field day in the pitcher's box. The Texas signal caller completed five of seven passes for 127 yards and two touchdowns.

Laudadio took a 28-yard pass from second - string quarterback Robert Randel for the first Northeast touchdown and kicked the PAT. The TD capped a 45 yard drive.

Smith finished a 56-yard march in the second quarter with a 9-yard rush fo ra touchdown and Laudadio ran for the two-pointer.

All - GSC end Joe Driskill set up the third touchdown for the Indians with a fumble recovery on the Northeast 49 and scored it on a beautiful 49-yard pass from Reynolds. Reynolds passed 11 yards to McGough for the final touchdown. Smith ran for the two points after the final TD.

SLI counted on a three-yard run by halfback Ronnie Roberts and Vernon Lott passed to Leonard Mott for the extra points.

Driskill and Jim Knox were outstanding on defense for the Indians, sharing a blocked punt, along with Wally Cox, Alfred Feeney and Billy McGraw.

Rebels Gain Third Victory Over Trinity

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — The University of Mississippi started slowly but the Rebels post a 21-0 victory over Trinity Saturday night in a game slowed by mud and penalties.

It was the third victory of the season for the unbeaten Sugar Bowl champions, who are ranked sixth in the nation.

Mississippi notched its first score in the second quarter, when quarterback Bobby Franklin went over from the 1.

The Rebels made it 14-0 two minutes later when Franklin passed eight yards to left end Jimmy Grantham.

Three minutes into the fourth quarter Mississippi's Charles Flowers burst through the middle and went 37 yards for a touchdown.

Duke Defeats Illinois, 15-13, In First Half

DURHAM, N. C. (AP) — Duke struck for two first half touchdowns behind the running of halfback Wray Carlton and George Dutrow and withstood a determined last half rally to edge Illinois 15-13 Saturday. Twice Illinois was stopped on the 1.

A crowd of 25,000 saw the twice-beaten Blue Devils score in the first period when quarterback Bob Brodhead dived over from the 1. Guard Mike McGee set up the score in the first period when quarterback Bob Brodhead dived over from the 1. Guard Mike McGee set up the score on the Illinois 40 when he recovered a fumble by halfback L. T. Bonner. Brodhead passed to Dutrow for the two important extra points.

In the second period, substitute fullback Bobby Cruikshank went over from the 1 for another Duke score to climax an 80-yard drive featured by the running of Carlton and Dutrow.

THIRD STRAIGHT WIN

Cannon, Rabb Lead LSU In Hardin-Simmons Rout

By W. B. RAGSDALE JR.

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Warren Rabb and Billy Cannon, a pair of home-grown heroes, sparked Louisiana State to a two-touchdown edge, then the Tigers held on for a 20-6 victory Saturday night over pass-happy Hardin-Simmons.

The Baton Rouge juniors each scored a touchdown as the Southeastern Conference team won its third straight victory against coach Sammy Baugh's explosive Cowboys.

Quarterback Rabb, playing despite the death earlier Saturday of his father after a lingering illness, completed 6 of 10 passes for 88 yards and scored the first LSU touchdown on a two-yard sprint around left end.

Cannon, LSU's All-America halfback candidate intercepted a pass, gained 83 yards on 11 carries for a 7.5 average and scored the third Tiger touchdown on an 11-yard dash around right end as time ran out in the first half.

Jim Tom Butler and Harold Stephens, Hardin-Simmons quarterbacks, completed 19 of 34 passes for 201 yards and kept the 45,000 fans on the edge of their seats until the game's end.

The Hardin-Simmons touchdown came on a 94-yard drive early in the second quarter. Fullback Gene Uccelini bucked over from the one for the score.

Second unit quarterback Durel Matherne scored the other LSU touchdown, swinging around right end four yards on an option play, capping a 43-yard march after a Cowboy fumble.

Gamecocks Drop Bulldogs, 28-14

ATHENS, Ga. (UPI) — Alex Hawkins raced 45 yards with an interception, scored two two-point conversions, and passed for a third Saturday to lead South Carolina to a 24-14 win over Georgia before 28,000 drizzle - moistened fans.

The platinum blonde halfback from South Charleston, W. Va., got South Carolina off to a quick lead when he picked off Charle Britt's pass at the Georgia 45 and raced untouched to score.

His pass to halfback Buddy King Dixon made it 8-0 and South Carolina was ahead to stay.

However, the Gamecocks needed one of their next two touchdowns as Georgia's junior quarterback from North Augusta, S. C., Charlie Britt, engineered two lightning-like touchdown thrusts for Georgia scores.

The second was an 89-yard pass play from Britt to halfback George Guisler for the final Georgia score two minutes before the game's end.

Guisler, who also score Georgia's first touchdown, took Britt's long heave at the South Carolina 39 and 10 yards behind the nearest Gamecock defender.

But Georgia's two-point conversional try, that would have put the Bulldog's within a touchdown of a tie, failed when Britt was snowed under.

Georgia 0 8 0 6—14
South Carolina 8 8 0 8—24

Scoring: South Carolina—Hawkins 45 interception return (Dixon pass from Hawkins); Saunders 3 run (Hawkins pass from Dixon); Bunch 1 sneak (Hawkins pass from Bunch). Georgia — Guisler 8 run (Soberdash pass from Britt; Guisler 89 pass from Britt (run failed).

Pitt Rallies In Fourth To Beat Gophers

The victory ended 25 years of Pittsburgh failure against Minnesota. The Gophers had won nine straight games in the Series, dating back to 1933, and seemed on the high road to making it 10 in a row until quarterbacks Kaliden and Ed Sharockman triggered the Panthers' late game comeback.

Tech Puts Skids Under McNeese

RUSTON, La. (Special) —Louisiana Tech's Bulldogs put the skids under McNeese State's vaunted offense here last night and displayed a crushing ground game of their own to roll to an impressive 17-0 victory over the Cowboys before a packed house of 8,000 fans.

The defeat was especially humiliating to the Cowboys because two boys from their own backyard, Paul Hynes and Jack Howard of Sulphur, helped pace the Tech team to victory.

The Techmen scored in practically every way, scoring a field goal early in the second period, a touchdown on a pass in the same quarter, a safety in the third period, and another TD on a pass just before the game ended.

McNeese's only serious threat came in the first period when a Tech kick was blocked, but the Tech defense held and the Bulldogs took over on their own four.

STATISTICS

	Tech	McNeese
First downs	20	4
Net yards rushing	242	70
Net yards passing	84	0
Passes attempted	17	3
Passes completed	8	0
Pass intercepted by	1	1
Fumbles lost	2	3
Punts	5-178	5-165
Punting average	35.6	33
Penalties	7-85	4-48

Tech's defense stopped McNeese cold as Joe Aillet scored his 100th win as a Tech coach. The Cowboys were able to mark up only four first downs and did not complete a pass. Tech rolled up 249 rushing and 84 passing. McNeese gained only 70 yards on the ground.

James McCabe and Jim Orton alternated at quarterback in moving the Techmen with Hynes, Howard, and Jerry Frasier doing most of the ball carrying. Howard was billiant as a pass defender and averaged 43.3 on three kicks, one of them out of bounds on the McNeese one.

Tech completely dominated play in the first half after McNeese missed a golden opportunity when end Benny Hawkins blocked a punt on the Tech 38 which was recovered by guard Johnny Fuller on Tech's 23. The Cowboys drove to Tech's four and lost on downs. With mostly second unit performers in action, Tech drove 93 yards to the Cowboy four. McNeese held, and end "Bud" Alexander booted a field goal from the ten to give Tech a 3-0 lead.

Orton directed the long drive brilliantly with he and halfbacks Hynes and Howard eating up most of the yardage. McNeese took the ensuing kickoff but couldn't move, punted to halfback J. W. Slack on the 34 and he returned to his 41. McCabe took to the air, hitting end Jerry Hudson on nine and 11-yard passes, and connected with Hynes on 26-yard aerial which carried to the three. Frazier and Slack moved to the one, and, on fourth down, McCabe passed to Hudson for the TD. Alexander's placement try was wide.

Bottled in their own territory in the third period, McNeese elected to take a safety that moved the score to 11-0. Tech's final score came in the last 40 seconds after center Jim Campbell recovered a fumble on the McNeese five. On fourth down Orton passed to end Tom Causey for a TD, and Howard's extra point try was wide.

Last Quarter Score Downs Razors, 12-7

By HAROLD V. RATLIFF

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP)—A 39-yard run by Jack Spikes set up a touchdown with only five minutes to go Saturday night as Texas Christian edged surprising Arkansas 12-7 in a Southwest Conference football game.

Arkansas led 7-6 at the half.

Texas Christian virtually camped on the Arkansas goal line the last half but found the lightweight Razorbacks, 18-point underdogs, tough. Also, TCU was fumbling and making all sorts of mistakes that stalled the goalward drives.

Finally, in desperation, Spikes, the only consistent runner for TCU tried a field goal from the Arkansas 21 and it was too low to even reach the goal posts.

But Arkansas kicked out and speedster Harry Moreland ran the punt back to the Arkansas 47. Spikes went over left tackle down to the Arkansas 8. He tried two more runs and got three yards then quarterback Hunter Ennis flipped over the goal line to end Justin Rowland for the score.

Ennis tried to pass for the conversion and failed.

Until the sputtering Texas Christian team pulled itself together for the one last desperate surge, a point after touchdown by Don Horton loomed large. Twice TCU rolled within the shadow of the Arkansas goal posts before making the drive that set up the field goal try.

Oregon State Passes Beat UCLA, 14-0

By GORDON MACNAB

CORVALLIS, Ore. (AP)—Oregon State unleashed Paul Lowe and the forward pass Saturday. UCLA could not cope with either and the Staters took a Pacific Coast Conference victory 14-0.

The Bruins made a valient effort to score late in the game and brilliant catches by end John Brown, and Jim Steffen throwing, moved them to the OSC 10.

There the Oregon State defense, stout and crisp all day, held and took over. It was the last—and best—of the visitor's threats.

Oregon State startled the 18,532 fans in the sunny stadium by turning immediately to forward passes not one of its best weapons in the past. They failed to produce early results, but they hinted at the new attack that the Staters turned loose.

Both defenses were stout, both on the ground and against passes, when threats developed during the game's early stages but as the second quarter opened OSC's speedy tailback Paul Lowe started.

Lowe drove with a bewildering change of pace. He danced. And he passed. He handled the ball eight times on the 10 plays it took OSC to march from its own 15 to the opening touchdown. His nine yard run was the payoff. A pass try failed and OSC was in front 6-0.

Pass interceptions played a major role and OSC center Bruce Hake raced 50 yards for a touchdown on one of them.

Air Academy Battles Iowa To 13-13 Tie

IOWA CITY, Iowa (AP)—The Air Force Academy Falcons earned their football wings today by battling Iowa to a 13-13 tie. And they blocked a kick to preserve the tie.

Playing only their third year of varsity football, and at least a two touchdown underdog, the Falcons made the Big Ten team look a bit foolish at times.

Led by southpaw passer John Kuenzel, the Air Force soared to a 13-7 halftime lead and then gave up only the tying points against a sputtering Iowa team trying desperately to retrieve lost ground and prestige.

Iowa, ranked No. 8 in The Associated Press poll, made its final bid for victory with nine seconds left. Bob Prescott, dropping back to the 21, attempted a field goal which was wide to the right and seconds later some 800 academy cadets swarmed from the stands to engulf their heroes.

Iowa started fast, scoring on a 22-yard screen pass, Randy Duncan to Bob Jeter. Prescott made the conversion.

The Air Force tied the score when Mike Quinlan swept around end for 23 yards and George Pupich converted.

Iowa drove 99 yards for the tying points in 15 plays in the third period, John Nocera punching over from the 3.

Howard Bronson blocked Prescott's kick and it was 13-13.

Brown Batters Yale, 35-29 To Keep Ivy Lead

Yanks Bounce Back Into Series As Bauer Sparkles

onds it seemed the old Dodgers were back in town.

New York had just taken a 2-0 lead in the last of the fifth and the Braves, still hoping for a four-game sweep, were chewing back in the sixth.

Red Schoendienst slammed a single to right that could have been a double except for fast fielding by Bauer. After Eddie Mathews whiffed out for the third straight time—becoming Larsen's eighth strikeout victim — Hank Aaron went to 3-2 and walked.

Then it happened. Wes Covington ripped a hard drive at first base. The ball glanced off Bill Skowron's mitt to the railing in front of the box seats. Skowron quickly retrieved it as Schoendienst started for home.

When Skowron threw to the plate, Red pulled up and pedalled back toward third only to see Aaron already there.

There was nothing for the redhead to do but make another try at the plate. Skowron's throw to Berra had been relayed to Jerry Lumpe at third by this time. As Schoendienst dashed for home, Lumpe let go with a throw that got past the falling Berra but was caught by Larsen, backing up at the plate.

Big Don, a man with a deceptively lazy gait, ran after Schoendienst and finally tagged him near third base. By this time, Aaron was back on second, probably wondering how he was going to explain all this.

Instead of one run in and men on first and third with one out, there was no run, men on first and second and two out. Just to turn the screws a little harder, Frank Torre then flied to Bauer in right, deep enough to score a man from third—if anybody were there.

All in all the Braves let 10 men on base in their first futile effort of the series that will be continued at Yankee Stadium Sunday in a fourth game. Warren Spahn and Whitey Ford, who hooked up in a battle of left-handers in the opener, won by Milwaukee, 4-3, in 10 innings, will meet once more.

Getting back to that man Bauer. He left no doubt about stretching his record series hitting streak because he beat out a roller to deep short for a single in the first inning. Until he singled in the fifth that was the only hit off Rush, who pitched a magnificent game until wildness caught up with him.

With a one-hitter going into the fifth, Rush went to 3-2 on Norm Sieberg and finally lost him on a walk. Jerry Lumpe flied out and Schoendienst went far to his left to throw out Bill Skowron on a beautiful play.

Manager Fred Haney's strategy called for an intentional pass to Gil McDougald, although pitcher Larsen is known as a real good hitter. Rush tried to be too careful with Larsen and finally lost him on a 3-2 pitch, loading the bases.

Bauer took a ball, a strike and missed another pitch before he dunked a fast-sinking fly to right. Hank Aaron couldn't quite reach it, picking it up with a scooping motion after it had hit the ground. Both Siebern and McDougald scooted home.

Aaron, incidentally, went hitless breaking his nine-game series streak. The Braves had only six hits, all singles. Schoendienst and Torre each had two, and Del Crandall and Covington one each.

The Yanks made their paltry total of four hits off to a maximum.

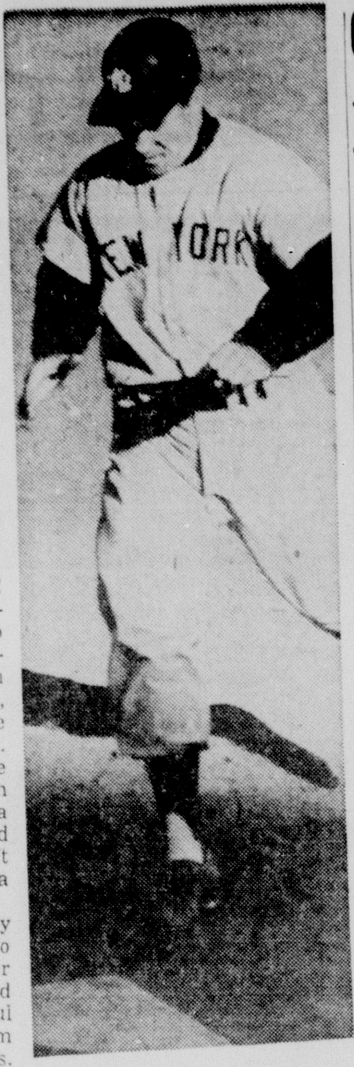
Trailing 2-0 Haney sent Harry Hannebrink in to pinch hit for Rush in the seventh when the Braves got men to first and second with two out before Schoendienst flied out.

McMahon, the Braves' speed ball answer to Duren, took over. He struck out McDougald but walked pinch hitter Slaughter. The 42-year-old Enos soon came dashing around the bases when Bauer lined McMahon's fourth pitch into the lower stands in left at the 42-foot mark.

Bauer, with 3-for-4 Saturday, now has seven hits for 13 at bats for a .538 series average. He's driven in seven of the Yanks 12 runs.

Once again the hamburger and coffee was on Bauer in his Kansas City restaurant. He has a confederate call long distance that the eats are on the house every time he hits a homer. It was his third of this series and his sixth in series competition. This one cost him $134.

The big crowd, basking in warm sunshine on a hazy afternoon, got a big kick out of the arrival of Roy Campanella, the paralyzed Dodger catcher. Roy was carried to a box seat near the Yankee dugout and carried out again in the eighth. He sat with his wife and two of their children, exchanging nods with the Milwaukee players as they were waiting in the next batter's circle.



HANK'S HOMER—Yankee Hank Bauer crosses the plate after hitting a homer and driving in the last two runs in yesterday's Series game, a 4-0 victory for the Yanks over the Braves. (AP Wirephoto)

Auburn Tumbles Moccasins, 30-8

By AL McCORMACK

AUBURN, Ala. (UPI)—Auburn's football powerhouse, held tight for three periods by scrappy Chattanooga, broke out a touchdown parade in the fourth Saturday for a 30 - 8 win, extending major football's longest streak to 16 games.

Auburn, fourth-ranked nationally and two - deep in experience all down the line, overwhelmed the smaller Moccasins in the three-touchdown finish.

But Chattanooga, a small college that never hesitates to take on the giants, put a rude dent in the Auburn defense that failed to yield a first down to Tennessee last week.

The Moccasins made twice as many first downs as Auburn in the first half and took the lead in the second quarter when quarterback Johnny Green flipped 18 yards to end Jim Tucker in the end zone and Chattanooga added a two - point conversion. Green passed to end Harold Wilkes on this play.

Not until Ed Dyas, a 190-pound sophomore fullback from Mobile just promoted to the first string, burst loose for a 62 - yard score in the third period did Auburn go ahead to stay.

Then the roof fell in for the gallont Mocs. Lloyd Nix, southpaw quarterback, led a 27-yard march, plunging over from the one. Nix passed 58 yards to halfback Jimmy Laster for another score and Richard Wood, third string quarterback, scored another on a two - yard plunge.

Auburn found early in the game that Chattanooga would be a handful and Johnny Kern, second - string quarterback, took to the air when he had a chance. Connecting with Laster for the first period score.

The game provided a shakedown test for the Auburn fullback corps which took a disheartening blow last week when Ronnie Robbs was injured against Tennessee. In addition to Dyas, Jimmy Reynolds, Bill Baggett and Junior Tomasino got in licks at the post, all playing well.

Score by Periods

Auburn	6	0	6	18—30
Chattanooga	0	8	0	0— 8

Auburn scoring: Laster 49 pass from Kerh (run failed); Dyas 62 run (kick failed); Nix 1 run (kick failed); Laster 58 pass from Nix (kick failed); Wood 2 run (kick failed). Chattanooga scoring: Tucker 18 pass from Green (Wilkes pass from Green).

Quarterback Passes Navy To 28-14 Win

BOSTON (AP)—Navy quarterback Joe Tranchini scuttled a fighting Boston University football team with a superb passing display Saturday that paid off in three touchdowns and a 28-14 Middies' victory.

The 187-pound junior from Clairton, Pa., etched his name deeply in the list of recent great Navy field generals as he completed 18 of 27 aerials for 221 yards and an insurmountable 20-8 halftime lead.

Tranchini, a bold, confident future admiral, also directed the club well as the Midshipmen ran their unbeaten string to 10 straight.

Mixing buttonhook, flair, fullback screen and down-the-middle jump passes, Tranchini calmly hit end Tom Hyde with a fourth down touchdown strike from the three in the first period.

End John Kanuch made a fine diving catch of an eight-yard Tranchini toss early in the second period and just before intermission, Tranchini threw 15 yards to halfback Roland Brandquist in the rear of the end zone.

BU, employing wedge blocking in an effort to solve Navy's famed jitterbug defense, went 80 yards to score on a masterful 31-yard pass from Jim Grouard to Paul Cancro in the first period. But the failure to convert a two-point try left the Terriers behind 8-6 and it was only a matter of the final margin.

BU moved 69 yards, all but seven by air, just before the finish to score on Jimmy Dean's yard plunge after Navy collected its fourth aerial touchdowns fashioned by the reserves.

OUTPLAYED

Ohio State Edges Washington, 12-7

By FRITZ HOWELL

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio State's heavily favored Buckeyes, frustrated, bewildered and outplayed most of the day, converted two breaks into touchdowns Saturday for a 12-7 victory over a battling band of Washington Huskies who deserved a better fate.

The Bucks, third-ranked in the nation, boasting an 18-pound per man weight edge and favored by 20 points, cashed a first period pass interception and a third period blocked punt into touchdowns for their squeaky victory.

On each drive the ground-eating Bucks went 27 yards in seven players, all on runs.

The underdog Huskies broke away in front in the first five minutes, going 31 yards in four plays for a touchdown. Don McKeta, sophomore fullback from Robertsdale, Pa., only Easterner on the Husky squad, went for 16 yards on one of the four plays and breezed into the end zone for the score on a 12-yarder over tackle.

In the same first period, Bob White intercepted a Washington pass on the 27-yard line and sophomore Jerry Fields, substituting for injured Frank Kremblas at quarterback, plunged a foot for the score after White and Don Clark had moved the ball almost to the goal line. A pass for the extra point failed.

On the last play of the third quarter, with the ball in mid-field, a poor pass from center on a punt play gave the bucks their second big chance. Bob Schloredt, the punter, picked up the rolling ball, tried to punt, but it was blocked by onrushing Ohioans and rolled all the way to the Husky 27 where Ohio tackle Jim Marshall fell on it.

Clark and White again alternated for six plays and then Clark plunged four yards for the winning touchdown, his third score in two games.

Kansas State Dumped, 20-13

MANHATTAN, Kan. (AP) — A spectacular 71 - yard touchdown run by Buddy Allen set Utah State off awinging in the first half and the westerners held on grimly as they upset Kansas State Saturday 20-13

Kansas State's fumbles and straying passes cost them dearly as Utah State's alert 11 took advantage of the Wildcat miscues.

Californians Shock Wash. State, 34-14

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP)—California relentlessly drove 96 yards for a opening touchdown Saturday and then capitalized on a pass interception en route to a 34-14 upset over Washington State.

A crowd of 25,000 in Memorial Stadium and a nationwide television audience saw Jack Hart pick off a Bobby Newman pass and dash 55 yards for the second California touchdown in the longest run of the Pacific Coast Conference game.

That gave the Bears a two-touchdown lead good for the rest of the game as quarterback Joe Kapp kept the California offense in high gear.

'Y' Will Offer Adult Program In Physical-Ed

Sam Rubin, Jr., chairman of the physical education committee of the Twin Cities YMCA, announced yesterday that the adult co-ed physical education class will begin Monday evening at 7 o'clock in the Lexington School gymnasium.

All adults interested in light exercise, volleyball, basketball, and other activities are welcome to join the group. This class is designed for fun and sports-loving men and women as well as those who are interested in getting more exercise.

Those participating must be eighteen years of age or over. The club will meet weekly throughout the school year.

Athletic Group Formed At West Monroe Jr. High

An Athletic Association to promote physical development in athletics of all kinds for students has been formed at West Monroe Junior High School.

According to Lonnie Smith, newly elected president, plans are now under way to provide an intra - mural program for every child interested in participating in athletics. Support of parents and friends of children attending West Monroe Junior High is urgently needed to make this program a success, stated President Smith.

Other officers for the association are Mrs. James Greene, vice-president, and Mrs. W. C. Smith, secretary - treasurer.

Clemson Tips Maryland For 3rd Straight

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP)—Undefeated Clemson took to the air to go through Maryland's rugged defense Saturday and scored on a 50-yard pass from quarterback Harvey White to end Wyatt Cox for its third football victory 8-0.

Clemson's first touchdown this season on a pass came like a bolt from the blue less than a minute before the end of the third quarter of the game played before 24,000.

The score was made against Maryland's second eleven which relieved the first team after a magnificent defensive stand had stopped Clemson four yards from the goal.

End Ben Scotti of Long Branch, N. J., had made two great plays in a row to thwart the Tigers, ranked 10th in the nation by The Associated Press. Scotti tackled Bill Mathis for no gain on the 4 and then blocked a pass by White.

Maryland's second team punted to midfield and on the first play White let loose with a long heave. Cox gathered it in around the 20 and beat two Maryland defenders to the goal.

George Usry plunged over for the two extra points on the third try after Maryland was offside on the first two attempts.

TECH DEFENSE SPARKLES

Green Wave Errors Give Georgia Tech 14-0 Victory

By DAVID M. MOFFIT

ATLANTA (UPI) — Joe Delaney's pin-point punting and Larry Fonts' fumble - snatching set up two touchdowns for a 14-0 Georgia Tech victory over Tulane that was strictly the work of the defense.

A crowd of 38,000 watched Tech's bigger line bottle up Tulane's advertised passing attack and Tech backs move in fast when the breaks came.

The first score was set up in the second period on a punt by halfback Delany which went out of bounds on the Tulane two.

Tulane couldn't move to safety against the hard - charging Tech line and was forced to punt out weakly.

Delany returned the punt to the Tulane 21 and Tech marched the distance in five plays with quarterback waiter Howard going over from the one.

Delaney connected on a 14-yard lefthanded pass to end Fred Murphy for a third period score but the real hero here was fullback Fonts who recovered two Tulane fumbles within a span of two minutes.

Tech couldn't get moving after the first fumble recovery but struck on one play, the Delany-Murphy pass, after the second.

Tech came within an eyelash of scoring again in the closing moments but Tulane's defense rose up to stop Tech four times at the Tulane one-yard line after the winners had marched 65 yards.

Tech also got down to the Tulane five - yard line early in the fourth period. Halfback Tommy Wells, who kicked both conversions, tried a field goal from the left side of the field but it was wide of the mark.

Except for one drive midway in the first period, Tulane was unable to cope with Tech's defense. That drive carried 47 yards to the Tech 44, then bogged down after three first downs, exactly half the total Tulane got in the game. At no other time was Tulane able to move across midfield.

The Tulane passing attack, which had been averaging 18 completions per game, connected on only seven of 17 against Tech and two were intercepted.

PGA Names Finsterwald Best Golfer

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Dow Finsterwald has been named professional golfer of the year, the Professional Golfers' Assn. announced Saturday.

Harold Sargent, PGA president, said Finsterwald won by a landslide in a poll of PGA members and representatives of the press. Finsterwald, the 1958 PGA champion from Tequesta, Fla., received 427 of the 755 votes cast. A distant second was Arnold Palmer of Latrobe, Pa., with 133. They were followed by Tommy Bolt of Granada Hills, Calif., 89; Bill Casper Jr., of Bonita, Calif., 24; and Ken Ventury of Daly City, Calif., 15.

Finsterwald will receive the 1958 golfer-of-the-year award at the annual PGA meeting in Clearwater, Fla., on Nov. 11.

At 29, he is the youngest golfer ever to win the award

Nebraska Beats Iowa State, 7-6

LINCOLN, Neb. (AP)—A 22-yard touchdown pass and George Harshman's unerring conversion kick carried Nebraska to a 7-6 win over Iowa State Saturday before a sun-baked crowd of 30,000.

Unable earlier even to cross the midfield stripe offensively, Nebraska launched a 68 - yard drive in the fourth quarter and made it good on Harshman's pass to end Roland McDole in the end zone.

AT DALLAS

Notre Dame Tips Balky Southern Methodist, 14-6

DALLAS, Texas, (UPI)—An explosive 41 - yard scamper by sophomore halfback William (Red) Mack and a 72-yard sustained power drive provided sixth-rated Notre Dame with the ammunition to subdue stubborn Southern Methodist 14 - 6 Saturday before 61,500 fans.

The home town Methodists fought savagely to avenge a 54-21 licking handed them last season by Notre Dame, but fumbled away a golden opportunity to move ahead late in the third quarter and had to play the final period without its great passer, Don Meredith.

The hard - hitting Irish crippled two other S M U quarterbacks in the fourth quarter and forced the losers to dig deep on the bench to come up with someone to try and engineer a desperation drive that failed miserably.

Mack's sudden touchdown burst through a gaping hole at the SMU left guard capped a 90-yard drive and gave Notre Dame a 7-0 halftime lead, but the game never was quite in the Irish's possession until midway the final quarter when quarterback Bob Williams sneaked the 72nd yard of the payoff surge and end Monty Stickles had kicked his second conversion.

S M U uncorked an explosive runner of its own for its lone touchdown less than four minutes deep into the third quarter when Tirey Wilemon took a wide pitchout from Meredith and, behind some crunching blocks, pumped his way 44 yards for a score. But Stan Eckert's placement try was wide and S M U never was able to recoup.

Pietrosante, Odyniec, James Just and Pat Doyle led the Notre Dame ground attack that piled up 25 yards to S M U's 115 and more than offset S M U's 128 yards passing, 100 of the latter coming on Meredith's eight completions in 14 tries before he was hurt.

CROSS COUNTRY

Indian Trackmen To Open Friday

The Northeast Cross Country Team began its workouts in earnest last week in a bid for a top place in the Cross - Country competition. Prospects for the forthcoming season are bright. Track Coach Lewis Hartzog is extremely pleased with the performance of his team to this date. Even though the squad is a small one, all the boys are running in a tight group.

Hartzog has good reason to be optimistic since he has two returning lettermen in Charles McCullen, second place Gulf States Conference winner last year, and Jack Williams, who captured third place honors. Both boys are running even better this year than last.

These two are enough for any coach to base his optimism on but Coach Hartzog has much more. He has four freshman boys to work with McCullen and Williams that would make any cross country coach proud. They are Derrick Daily from West Monroe who has never run before but is showing up well in practice, Donald "Buddy" Eiland from Farmerville, who has been very impressive, and two boys from Golden, Colorado, Bill Frye and Bob Jaenicke. The Colorado pair were on Golden's team which won the Colorado Cross Country Championship for the past two years. Frye was the individual Colorado state champion last year and is doing equally ass well at Northeast. Jaenicke, who is actually a hurler, is doing a fine job and is giving the added strength needed for the team.

Coach Hartzog said that the boys are working out daily at 2:30 and he invites any Northeast student who is interested in either cross country running or regular track to meet with him between 2:30 and 4 p.m. any weekday afternoon at Brown Stadium.

The Cross Country Team has the best schedule the Northeast teams shave ever engaged in.

Oct. 10 — Northwestern State at Natchitoches.
Oct. 18 — McNeese State at Lake Charles.
Oct. 23 — Louisiana Tech at Ruston.
Oct. 25 — Southeastern at Hammond.
Nov. 1 — Northwestern State at Monroe.
Nov. 8 — Memphis State at Monroe.
Nov. 14 — Mississippi College at Clinton.
Nov. 22 — Louisiana Tech and McNeese at Monroe.
Nov. 27 — Turkey Day meet at New Orleans.
Dec. 5 — GSC meet at Ruston.

The Northeast Cross Country Team came out second in the GSC conference meet last year in Coach Hartzog's first season.

Outer Space, ridden by Willie Harmatz, got the verdict by a whisker over Calumet Farm's A Glitter. King Ranch's Dotted Line was third and George W. Widener's Rare Treat fourth.

West Monroe To Fete Its Little Boys All-Stars

All-star Little Boys Baseball clubs of West Monroe will be feted Wednesday night at a program scheduled for the Louisiana Power and Light Company's auditorium.

George Perry, Ferriday, state director of the Little Boys program, will present awards and the Southside All-Stars who won the Louisiana championship for West Monroe and participated in the Dixie Series at Columbus, Miss., will present their trophies to Major J. Allan Norris for display at the city hall.

At the same meeting Earl Duncan, outgoing president of the West Monroe leagues, will surrender his duties to Harold Hill, the new president. Other officers to be installed include Hollie Pankey and "Shorty" Rutledge, vice presidents, and Dick Smith, secretary and treasurer.

Greene Sparks Holy Cross To 1-Point Victory

WORCESTER, Mass. (AP) — Quarterback Tommy Greene of Pilesville, Md., staged a fine exhibition of passing, running and field generalship today to lead the Holy Cross Crusaders to a hard fought 14-13 win over Syracuse.

Syracuse	0	6	7	0—13
Holy Cross	6	0	0	8—14

Holy Cross—Stagnone 4 run (run failed)
Syracuse—Bowers 8 run (kick failed)
Syracuse—Skonieczki 35 pass from Zimmerman (Rackiewicz kick)
NC—Greene 3 run (Greene run).

RACING TODAY

Stock Cars Show Greater Rivalry

As the stock car racing season nears a close in this area, what with winter weather preparing to move in, the caliber of racing has been improving, and the Twin City Speedway, which had one of its finest shows of the year last Sunday, looks for another good day at its West Monroe oval this afternoon.

Gary Greenway, who drove his No. 16 to victory over Royce Whitlock's 13 in the feature last week, is finally favored to do it again. The mechanic for 16, after checking the car, has reported it sound and ready for another peak performance.

Whitlock, a consistent winner at Twin City, is capable of sweeping back into prominence. However, while he has did well in heat and feature races, he has had trouble winning trophy dashes recently.

But while Whitlock and Greenway are occupied with one another, H. L. Hale, always a contender in his 99, could rule the day. Hale has a new V8 Chevrolet motor installed in his '39 Ford body, and he may have some surprises in store.

Billy Bayles, in his Anding Brothers Special, also is making a very good showing lately after many long working hours to bring his car up to contending caliber.

Other machines ready are "Red" Futch's No. 7, Joe Mallard's 38, Jerry Smith's 33 1-3, Raymond Walters' 11, Frank Parker's 5, Curtis Newsom's 44, Johnny Hester's 77, Hale's 39, Whitlock's 101, and Johnny Causey's 63, plus 404 with an unlisted driver.

In addition to the usual heat races, trophy dashes, and feature race, today's show is scheduled to include a "powderpuff derby" for women drivers. The girls always put on a good show on the rare occasions on which they take command of the track. Time trials begin at 1 p.m.

Bill Majors Leads Vols To 13-8 Upset Of State

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UPI)—Tailback Bill Majors, the kid brother of a fabulous football family, passed 15 yards to end Murray Armstrong with a minute to play Saturday to give Tennessee a 13-8 upset win over Mississippi State.

Majors turned from goat to hero in the final minutes by sparking the last-minute drive after Mississippi State, 14th ranked nationally, had gone ahead 8-7 with four minutes left, the result of a Majors' fumble.

A bi-partisan crowd of 27,279 was all set for a Mississippi State victory when Majors, living up to the tradition that produced his All-American brother, Johnny, sent the Vols on a victory surge.

Starting on its own 33, Tennessee drove 67 yards, largely on Majors' passing. He hit four times for gains of 30, 12, 9, and 15, the final one going to Armstrong in the end zone.

State, which outgained the Vols 223 yards to 163 had gone ahead in the final period when fullback Gil Peterson took a lateral from fullback Bill Schoenrock and raced five yards, crossing the goal standing up.

State end Ned Brooks had recovered Majors' fumble on the 16 to set up the score. Peterson and Schoenrock moved it down to the five then Peterson scored after Schoenrock, hit hard, lateraled off.

Armstrong scored both touchdowns for Tennessee. He had raced 53 yards with an intercepted pass in the third period to put the Vols out in front with the first score of the game. The wrong-way pass was thrown by State halfback Willie Daniels on a hand-off from quarterback Tom Miller.

Tennessee drove 70 yards in 17 plays in the first period, penetrating to the State six before Majors was thrown back.

State threatened in the second period, driving to the Tennessee 11, where fullback Jack Batte was stopped inches short of a first down.

It was a surging comeback for the Tennessee team that couldn't make a first down against Auburn last week and stamped Majors for future stardom.

Brother Johnny led Tennessee to the Sugar Bowl two years ago. Another brother, Joe, stars for Florida State and all are the sons of Shirley Majors, head coach at the University of The South.

The scoring:

Miss State	0	0	0	— 8
Tennessee	0	0	7	6—13

Tenn — Armstrong 53 run interception (Burklow kick); State—Peterson 5 run (Trammel run); Tenn — Armstrong 15 pass from Majors (Pass failed).

ON BASTROP CARD

Andrews Expects To Master Cook

BASTROP, La. (Special) — A crowd of at least 3,000, from all parts of north Louisiana and southeast Arkansas is expected to jam Bastrop's Rodeo Arena Tuesday night, when Al Andrews, Superior, Wis., and Bastrop's fighting policeman, Clarence Cook, clash in a ten round bout.

The Andrews-Cook fight may even outdraw the Flanagan-Cook and Martinez-Cook battles which were staged in Monroe.

Andrews, who has appeared in 22 television fights is a better known fighter today than were either Flanagan or Martinez when they first appeared in this area.

Boxing fans know that in Andrews, they will be seeing a fighter who has never been known to take a backward step, even in gory battles with such world's champions as Carmen Basilio, Gene Fullmer and Virgil Akins.

Andrews, who arrived in Monroe Friday night by air, has been doing light training at the Woodmen's gym in Bastrop, and said today he doesn't expect to have to much trouble with Cook. However, the latter has also been training hard and is in top shape for the battle. Cook knows that a victory over Andrews will put him right back in the "big time" class.

Few fighters ever to appear in Louisiana rings could boast the color and the impressive record listed for Andrews. Always a tough and willing mixer, Andrews has made it tough for such outstanding fighters as Joey Giardello, Joey Giambra, Rocky Castellani, Del Flanagan, Jimmy Martinez, Franz Szuzina, Billy Kilgore, Luther Rawlings, Chuck Davey, Jackie King and a host of others.

Andrews first came into national prominence when he stopped the sensational climb of Chuck Davey by winning a decision over the collegian TV idol. In a return bout, Andrews again defeated Davey.

Promoter Emmet West and matchmaker Ray Kruger have lined up an impressive supporting card, with Al Boudreaux, New Orleans, facing Mickey Moore, Atlanta, in the eight round semifinal These men staged a hair-raising brawl in Bastrop several weeks ago, with Boudreaux scoring a TKO in seven when Moore suffered cuts over both eyes.

Four rounders will pit DeWayne Garris, Monroe, against Jimmie Adams, Newellton; Don Ware, West Monroe, against Buck Young, New Orleans, and Ladell Pate, West Monroe, set to meet Johnny Allen, Bastrop, in a return engagement.

Best ringside seats are scaled at $4, with the second section priced at $3. Some 2,000 grandstand seats will be offered at $1.50 and children's tickets are set at 75 cents.

The first bout will get under way promptly at 8 p.m. with the Boudreaux-Moore fight going on after the main event. If the weather is bad, the fight will be postponed to Wednesday night.

MR. AND MRS. GYPSY JOE

MONDAY NIGHT

Gypsy Joe, Girls On Kallio's Card

The girls return to Kallio's Arena Monday night along with another long hair, Gypsy Joe, making his Monroe debut on the card against George Curtis in the second half of a double main event.

The girls are Peggy Allen, Silvia Torres, Kitty Adams and Ann Reagan. All appeared here last week before a packed house and promoter Gus Kallio has brought them back for another whirl.

Peggy and Silvia will again team up against Misses Adams and Reagan in a four-girl tag team fray. This one will have a 75-minute limit with two falls to win.

Since the girls have been in the area for the past week and have incurred no heavy travel expenses, promoter Kallio has returned admission prices to their regular level. Reserved seats will sell for $1.50, general admissions for $1.00 and children under 16 for 50 cents.

Gypsy Joe, a long-haired, mustashed nomad, has been touring the wrestling circuit for years with his wife, a palm-reader. Joe wears earrings and is evidently proud of his gypsy blood.

Joe met his wife at a carnival in northern Wisconsin about a dozen years ago. She told his fortune and must have liked what she saw in the future because she married him shortly after. She predicted a light-heavyweight championship for him and he came through and fulfilled the prophecy. Mrs. Joe also predicts the heavyweight title for her husband but has not made public a prediction on Monday's clash with Curtis, one of the better grapplers doing business in this part of the country.

12-12 UPSET

Michigan Ties Michigan State

By DAVE DILES

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)—Michigan State sprung to life on a 90-yard punt return by halfback Dean Look, then drove 97 bitter yards in the final minutes and got a 12-12 tie with underdog Michigan Saturday before a record crowd of 76,434 in Spartan Stadium.

Sweeping the fourth-rated Spartans off their feet with a furious first-half assault, the Wolverines scored 12 points in the first half but stood by helplessly as Michigan State battled from behind in this long and storied backyard rivalry between Big Ten teams.

It took everything the Spartans had to come out as well as they did against an unranked Michigan team, hard-hit by injuries to key players. Michigan played without its best passer, Stan Noskin then lost the services of three leading performers during the rugged duel.

Fullback John Herrnstein, Michigan's best runner, suffered a head injury and sat out the entire second half.

Halfback Brad Myers and end Gary Prahst were injured in the second half and missed the late action.

The Wolverines, 13-point underdogs, coupled savage aggressiveness and a mixture of single wing and split-T effectiveness for a moral victory just as outstanding as many of the school's triumphs in the 51-game history of this feud.

After its fabled multiple offense sputtered most of the way, the Spartans got into the scoring when Look raced 90 yards with a punt about halfway through the third period.

As Michigan fans cheered the hopes of an upset victory, the Spartans marched almost methodically the length of the field for the tying touchdown with only 3½ minutes to play.

End Sam Williams missed the place kicks for extra points that would have produced the victory.

Dartmouth Stops Penn, 13-12, In Ivy League Tilt

HANOVER, N. H. (AP)—Dartmouth put together two long touchdown marches and they threw up a tight defense to hold on for a 13-12 victory over battling Penn Saturday in an Ivy League football thriller marked by the Quakers' failing gamble on a conversion attempt.

The one-point margin resulted as Penn missed a kick for the extra point after its first score and then gambled to win with a rushing play after the second touchdown. The ball was fumbled on the play.

Cornell Defeats Harvard, 21-14

ITHACA, N. Y. (AP) — When Cornell's football travels, it travels by air, as the Harvard Canetabs learned Saturday in a 21-14 lesson before an estimated 15,000 fans at Schoellkopf Field.

With quarterback Tommy Skypeck in the pilot's seat, the Big Red showed just enough of its vaunted passing game to send the Crimson on its second defeat in as many games this season.

Army Scoots To Win Over Nittany Lions

WEST POINT, N. Y. (AP)—Army played two 30-minute football games Saturday. It was a flawless machine in rolling up 26 points against a bewildered Penn State defense in the first half, then wheezed and sputtered to a scoreless second half to be satisfied with a 26-0 victory.

The Cadets were strictly con artists in the first two periods as they scored twice in each, driving relentlessly over the ground and shaking loose adept pass receivers.

Everyone was in on the act, even the lonesome end, Bill Carpenter, who was so quiet in his isolation booth the Nittany Lions' defender against him got careless. Then Carpenter would sprint downfield to grab a pass, one of them good for 55 yards and a touchdown.

Taking the opening kickoff on their 37, the Cadets marched for 63 yards in eight plays, Pete Dawkins plunging the final six for the touchdown. Gil Roesler tried to run for the extra two points and failed, and that was the last time Army tried it. The time was 3:26.

The next time Army got the ball it was Bill Rowe had recovered Andy Mocomyi's fumble on the Lion 47. A Joe Caldwell-to-Carpenter pass carried to the 16, Dawkins rammed to the one-yard line in two drives, and Bob Anderson went for the touchdown.

Peale Tells Of Criticism From Clergy

EDITORS NOTE: Dr. Norman Vincent Peale, in more than 30 years as a clergyman, has become one of America's most famous Protestant leaders, as a preacher, radio and television speaker, lecturer and writer of books, newspaper and magaine columns. He also has become a controversial figure in Protestanism. In the following story United Press International tells how widespread criticism of Peale's ministry nearly caused him to resign from the clergy and what made him change his mind.

By CLAIRE COX

NEW YORK (UPI)—Dr. Norman Vincent Peale was so deeply hurt by criticisms from his fellow clergymen three years ago that only his father's deathbed reminder of "the power of positive thinking" kept him from quitting the ministry, it was disclosed Saturday.

Peale, world famous preacher and author of "The Power of Positive Thinking" and other best sellers with a total circulation of more than four million, was so stung by attacks on his ministerial methods that he actually wrote a letter of resignation.

He changed his mind only after receiving a deathbed message from his minister father, urging him to ignore his critics as "just a bunch of jackasses."

The story of this crisis in the life of a minister who has helped thousands to hurdle problems of their own was told in a biography titled "Norman Vincent Peale, Minister to Millions," published Saturday.

Former magazine editor Arthur Gordon wrote the book with Peale's approval and cooperation. Gordon spent many weeks with Peale, and Peale read the finished manuscript. He even wrote a closing chapter, in which he said the biography probably was a more objective account of his life than he would have written but that he would have made it different in some places.

A spokesman for Prentice-Hall, publisher of the biography and of all of Peale's best sellers, said the mnister has stated privately he would have been happier if his near - resignation had been omitted. He did not request deletion of the incident, however, the spokesman said.

West Monroe Presbyterians Set Revival

The pastor of Memorial Presbyterian Church, North 4th at Mill Street in West Monroe announced the beginning of a revival series in that church today at 7:30 p.m. The guest minister will be Reverend Robert G. Valentine, pastor of the Westminster Presbyterian Church of Shreveport.

According to Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, services will be held at 10:00 a. m. each day Monday through Friday with sermons on Elijah as a man and prophet of the Lord. The theme of the 7:30 p.m. services will be "The Heart of the Master.' The evening services will begin Sunday evening and be concluded Friday evening October 10th.

Move Toward Merger Seen By Lutherans

By TOM HENSHAW
AP Religion Writer

You may be reading quite a bit next week about a subject dear to the hearts of most American Protestant churchmen. In a single word: merger.

It will be one of the chief topics of discussions and progress reports when the 21st biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America opens Wednesday in Dayton, Ohio.

The planned merger involves the ULCA, the largest single Lutheran body in America, and three smaller churches, the Augustana, Finnish and American Evangelical Lutheran churches.

When the union is accomplished, probably within the next three or four years, it will bring into a single fold some three million of the nearly 7½ million Lutherans in America.

There was a time when the Lutherans were one of the most fragmented denominations in American Protestantism. There were about 150 divisions. Since 1910, when concerted drives for unification began, the number has been reduced to 17.

Generally the divisions came, not over doctrine, but along notional lines and particularly over the languages in which services were conducted.

But as national and linguistic differences began disappearing among the grandsons and granddaughters of immigrants, the various Lutheran churches found themselves growing more and more alike.

The United Lutheran Church in America . . . 2,395,000 baptized members in 4,500 congregations. . . . Traces its founding back to the Ministerium of Pennsylvania, the first Lutheran synod in America, organized in 1748.

Its president is the Rev. Dr. Franklin Clark Fry of New York, perhaps Americas best known Lutheran clergyman, who is also the first American to be elected head of the 50-million-member Luthran World Federation.

The Augustana Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 576,000 baptized members in 1,200 congregations . . . Organized as a synod of Swedes and Norwegians in 1860.

The Finnish Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 38,000 baptized members in 155 congregations. . . . Better known as the Suomi Synod. . . . Organized in 1890 by Finnish Lutherans.

The American Evangelical Lutheran Church . . . 23,000 baptized members in 80 congregations. . . . Organized in 1872 by Danish missionaries. . . . Sometimes called the Danish Evangelical Lutheran Church in America.

Another Lutheran merger is scheduled to take place in 1961 when the American Lutheran Church with 900,000 members, the Evangelical Lutheran Church with a million members and the United Evangelical Lutheran Church with 60,000 join forces.

Aloof to all the merger talk is the strict and conservative Missouri Synod, second largest Lutheran body with more than two million members, and its chief ally, the Joint Synod of Wisconsin and Other States with 340,000.

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The B. F. Goodrich Co. announced Friday it plans to build a tire factory in Iran to be financed in part by local investors.

P. D. Miller Will Address Churches Here

Dr. P. D. Miller, executive secretary of the board of church extension of the Presbyterian Church, U. S., was scheduled to speak at the evening service of the First Presbyterian Church 7:30 p.m. today. Dr. Miller has had pastorates in San Antonio and Atlanta. At present, he is in charge of the church extension work with its headquarters in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Men of the Church of the central and eastern districts of Red River Presbytery have brought Dr. Miller to Monroe in connection with their fall rally. Since Dr. Miller is an outstanding speaker and Christian, the men have invited all of those interested in the development of the Presbyterian Church in this area to this service.

Dr. Miller will deliver the sermon at Memorial Presbyterian Church in West Monroe at 11:00 a.m. today, according to Dr. Hugh E. Bradshaw, pastor.

WEST MONROE YOUTH —Bobby Gayle Swammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. L. T. Swammer of 702 Wood, was licensed to the ministry in a special service last week at Ridge Avenue Baptist Church. Young Swammer, a junior at West Monroe High School, plans to enter Baylor University after graduation here.

College Place Church To Hold Training Clinic

As many as 1000 persons are expected to attend the Training Union Improvement Clinic to be held tomorrow through Thursday at the College Place Baptist Church, 301 Sherrouse, Monroe. This Improvement Clinic is given for all Baptist Training Union members and church members that are interested in improving themselves. This is sponsored by the Training Union Department of La. Baptist Convention and the Ouachita Parish Association of Training Unions.

All the churches in the Baptist Ouachita Parish Association and the Trenton Association will participate in the clinic. Classes will start at 7 p.m. daily and will end at 9 p.m. The nursery will be open.

Serving as faculty members for the special school will be Kermit King Melvin Bradley, Jimmy Crowe and Miss Louise Hill in classes for teachers of adults; Mrs. Elmer Bilbrey and Miss Neta Stewart for teachers of intermediates and juniors; Mrs. A. L. Russell and Mrs. A. A. Greene for persons in charge of beginners and nurseries. Mrs. L. G. Andrews, Harvey McGraw and Mrs. Luttrell will also serve on the training improvement clinic.

MY ANSWER

by Billy Graham

QUESTION: Why was Cain's offering to God rejected when he had not been instructed as to what it should consist of? M. R.

ANSWER: The story, as recorded in the fourth chapter of Genesis, would indicate that Cain and Abel had received identical instructions. But Cain decided that he would worship God in his own way while Abel followed God's command. It was not the sacrifice itself which was effective but rather the obedience and faith implicit in the act of worship. The sacrifice of a slain animal was a type of the great sacrifice yet to take place when Jesus Christ, the Son of God, was to die on the Cross for sinners. In the eleventh chapter of the book of Hebrews we read: "By faith Abel offered unto God a more excellent sacrifice than Cain, by which he obtained witness that he was righteous, God testifying of his gifts: and by it he being dead yet speaketh."

Today we should be very sure that we receive and act on God's way of salvation. This He offers through faith in His Son and that which He did for us on the Cross. By His one sacrifice, offered once and for all, we can be cleansed from our sins and changed into new persons. God offers us a complete plan and it is our privilege and duty to accept it.

New Church In College Town Sets Opening

The College Town Church of Christ, 3605 DeSiard St., holds its formal opening in the beautiful new building at three o'clock Sunday afternoon, October 5th just two years and nine months after the first service was conducted.

Services have been held temporarily in the auditorium of the Northeast Louisiana State College, and mid-week Bible study at 7223 DeSiard St.

The public is cordially invited to attend a series of Bible lectures by E. C. McKenzie, minister for the Jackson St. Church of Christ of this city. Services will begin each evening at 7:30

Charles Clark and Rod Hickman are song leaders for the congregation and Meredith Johnson and W. N. Ferguson are the ministers.

Ridge Avenue Pastors' Meet Church To Host

The Louisiana Baptist District III pastors conference will meet with the Ridge Avenue Baptist Church, West Monroe, tomorrow at 10:00 a. m., according to Rev. Rawls Pierce, secretary of the conference.

Dr. Robert L. Lee, executive secretary for Louisiana Baptists, will be the speaker of the morning. He will tell of his recent around - the - world trip visiting Southern Baptist mission fields.

Each pastor and his wife is urged to attend this important fellowship meeting. After the morning service the Ridge Avenue Church will serve lunch.

World Communion Set At Churches

Along with many other churches in the community, the First Christian Church at St. John and Oak in Monroe will observe World-wide Communion Sunday today at a special service.

Today will also mark a rally day at the church, with each church school trying to reach attendance goals set earlier in the year.

Novel Was Completed Despite Fatal Illness

For a decade and more, the popular English author longed to write a novel with a eligious theme that long had been on his mind.

Twice Cary tried to put the book together and twice he failed. Other successes came. His reputation in Britain and the United States grew with "The Horse's Mouth" and "The House of Children" and other novels, but the novel he most wanted to write remained undone.

When he was 65, in 1954, Cary began trying again. This time his ideas jelled. For nearly a year he wrote, until, gradually, he began detecting that just as the novel was coming within his grasps, this grasp was failing.

STRICKEN IN 55

For, in 1955, Cary was stricken with a creeping paralysis, which, his doctor said, would eventually kill him.

The novel became urgent. Cary struggled to keep his crippled body alive long enough to finish.

For months he wrote lying in bed at his home, looking over the towers of Oxford.

His mind sped up its labor, but his muscles, almost inch by inch, faded and ceased to function.

As his arms grew heavy he used an apparatus his doctors invented for him to suspend his arms over the writing board in slings hanging from the ceiling.

"It will break my heart if I don't finish this," he said.

He could no longer turn pages, so he wrote on long rolls of paper.

His fingers became lifeless — doctors fastened the pen to his hand, and on he wrote.

In March, 1957, Cary died.

NOVEL FINISHED

Now it has been announced that his last novel, called "The Captive and The Free" was finished in time and will be published next spring.

"This is one of his very important novels, from the point of view of theme and treatment," explained Mrs. Winnifred Davin, his old friend and literary executor. "The free and the captive are those who have freedom in their souls and those who haven't—those who have sold out in some way."

Cary wrote his last novel in the third person. His best - known novels were in the first person.

"I feel, however," Mrs. Davin went on, "that some of the passages in 'The Captive and The Free' are extremely personal. Some that deal with illness and death were surely close to his own experience at the time he was writing."

"The Captive and The Free" is set in London in the early 1950s, with a newspaper office and a faith healing mission as the main settings.

"The faith healer is the central figure of the plot," Mrs. Davin said. "On him converge all the pressures that might make a man lose his freedom, lose it to other people or to his own selfishness."

Mrs. Davin spent eight months selecting the final drafts of Cary's manuscript—he had drafted parts of the 135,000-word novel four times — and piecing them together. There were only two small gaps, she said, where she has supplied the missing events in brackets.

"His doctors at the Nuffield Orthopedic Center here in Oxford never told him, or anyone else, as far as I know, the exact nature of his paralysis," Mrs. Davin said. "We all simply called it a muscular atrophy."

ADVENTUROUS LIFE

Cary had known illness throughout his entire adventurous life. As a small boy in his native Ireland he suffered rheumatism and fainting spells.

At two different times he served as a political officer and magistrate in Africa — both times he caught malaria and had to return home to England.

Cary was married and had four sons. His wife died in 1949.

He was an officer in a Nigerian regiment during the first World War. At the battle of Mora Mountain, Lt. Cary led a charge up a hill and a bullet went into his ear.

"I thought I was dead," he said many years later. "I said to myself, 'It's a fine way to die.'

"But I wasn't to die so easily or so quickly."

For French Flavor Turn To The 'Law'

THE LAW. By Roger Vailland. Translated from French by Peter Wiles. Knopf. $3.95. BOULEVARD. By Robert Sabatier. Translated from French by Lowell Bair. McKay. $4. JACOB. By Jean Cabries. Translated from French by Gerard Hopkins. Dutton. $4.95. THE SONS OF AVROM. By Roger Ikor. Translated from French by Leonard Putnam. $4.50.

In Vailland's novel about a small unenlightened town in southern Italy, a boy, Francesco, has read Stendhal's "La Chartreuse de Parme" and this makes him realize, Vailland says, that though the buxom Donna Lucrezia is twice his weight as well as twice his age, he may make love to her. "This was," Vailland comments, "what came of reading French novels."

The author may not speak too seriously, yet this incident contains all the references required for some generalizations — not to be sure about the philosophy of French fiction — but about these particular four novels and their Frenchiness. Certainly Stendhal may be the greatest of them; only those who put Proust first would challenge this. Certainly the American as well as Italian notion is that a French novel—like so-called French postcards—is what makes a man kick over the traces.

Of these books, three won prizes at home, and two, Vailland's and Sabatier's, are specially French though not in any popular sense.

The two others, by contrast, are less French. Ikor writes of Russian Jews fleeing to France, settling in Paris, adopting the new ways, losing the edge of orthodoxy. The author calls human brotherhood his theme, it is indeed on a high level, but there is some sentimental essence, as the purposely happy ending indicates. "Jacob" concerns the man who wrestled with the antel, and who worked for seven years for Rachel only to have Leah fobbed off on him. We meet him when, with Rebecca's conniving, he has cozzened his twin Esau out of their blind father's blessing, and we leave him returning a rich man to his birthplace. There is nothing maudlin here, nor, in Ikor, but it has rather an Anglo-Saxon than a Gallic mood. No doubt both books come to us, not because they are typically French, but because they have some typically American qualities. Indeed the French sort of palm them off on foreign sources, and call Cabries the "son of Rembrandt" while they liken Ikor to Dickens.

There are no such references to Vailland or Sabatier. The latter tells of a boy living in a Montmartre garret and spending his time ill-advisedly with a drunken ex-boxer, a pretty Italian girl, a pair of homosexuals, a striptease artist and occasionally his own father and hateful stepmother. Vailland's novel, most French of all, is by any standards, literary or national, best of all. In his fishing town of Porto Manacore, Don Cesare loves a succession of women; Matteo Brigante takes his women by force; Marietta jumps in one wild night from girlhood to womanhood; there is a grand Stendhalian resolution.

Candor, clarity, conciseness — the three C' are perhaps the most distinguishing French characteristics demonstrated here. No gloss hides the facts of life. Vailland in particular cuts behind the surface to show whence the pretty bloom on the cheek, or the horrible scar or sore. Perhaps they share fundamentally a lack of squeamishness; you have it again in a recent translation of another Colette novel, "Claudine in Paris" (Farrar, Straus and Cudahy). The total effect is not lurid, not smutty; but they draw no more moral about the affairs of Venus than about the planet Venus. An American novelist would show the Sabatier boy getting better or worse; Sabatier just shows him static. We would make Marietta good or wicked, Vailland makes her Marietta. We think there is only love, the French say there are love and sex — it is unsentimental matter-of-factness which balks Colette of the large audience she deserves among us.

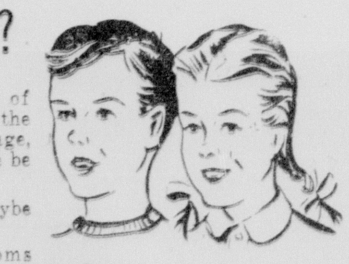
College of Hard Knocks for Your Children?

Not if you can help it, of course. But can you? By the time they reach college age, will the college you choose be able to take them in?

Let's hope so. But maybe not!

Many college classrooms are overcrowded today. By 1967, applications are expected to double. On top of that, low salaries are driving too many gifted teachers into other fields and reducing the number of capable people training for teaching careers today.



By the time your children are ready for college, there's a good chance the college of their choice just plain won't be ready for them—unless we take steps to remedy this situation now. You can help, by helping the college of your choice now.

2 Different Views About Wide Travel

CORNFLAKES AND BEAUJOLAIS. By Paul Roberts. Holt. $3.75. BUT I WOULDN'T WANT TO LIVE THERE. By Heather Jimenz. $3.50.

Heather, a Philadelphia girl fed up with too much music around the house, went to New York to learn to paint; fed up with too much painting, she went to Mexico City and married a Spaniard who in the interests of UNESCO rushed in and out of half a dozen European and Near Eastern countries and headed finally for Brazil; fed up with too much travel, she wrote this book.

It's a breezy account alive with quips and cracks about all the usual problems—language, passports, driving papers, illnesses, servants and children, of whom there are two as the family starts for South America.

Paul too begins his travel experiences in Mexico; then as a Fulbright professor, and with three children, he sets off for a post in Egypt—the Jimenez family got to Beirut, the Roberts, wanderings stop at Athens and Cairo. They too have a car sometimes with the proper papers and sometimes not. They too have a child that wants to go to the bathroom just when there's none to go to, and no time to stop anyway.

Mrs. Jimenez overstates, Roberts understates. You might enjoy her book, you'd certainly enjoy his. Is it practical to take children along, he asks? Will they like it? easily? He answers no three times. Then at what age should a child go abroad? He says: "About 35."

Large Group From State To FFA Meeting

Approximately 300 Louisiana members of the Future Farmers of America will board a special train to attend the National FFA Convention in Kansas City, Missouri, Oct. 12, it was announced yesterday.

Nine young men from the state will receive the highest honor the National Association can bestow upon a member, the coveted American Farmer Degree. They are: Richard Dearman, Delhi Chapter; Vernon S. Brian, Pride Chapter; Lawrence D. Bruchhaus, Elton Chapter; Nolan Coleman, Delhi Chapter; Jerry Cox, Plain Dealing Chapter; Thomas F. Hippler, Many Chapter; Richard M. Johnson, Readheimer Chapter and Bill G. Lambert, Kinder Chapter.

COMPETING

Three outstanding state FFA chapters are competing for national honors based on their chapter's programs of work. They are Delhi, Slidell and Sulphur. Other awards to be made at the convention, other than judging contests, are the Star Farmer of America, with a regional winner from each of the four regions, national and regional winners in farm electrification, farm mechanics, soil and water management, farm safety, the national public speaking contest and the American Farmer degree.

The group will be treated to a tour of the Kansas City stockyards and packing houses, a tour of the automobile assembly plants, a Broadway musical, and a talent show presented by the future farmers.

Installation of new officers will close the convention with the group leaving Thursday night and arriving in Shreveport at noon Friday, October 17.

Another In Search For What Is Truth

THE DHARMA BUMS. By Jack Kerouac. Viking, $3.95.

Ray Smith is riding a freight out of Los Angeles when we first meet him, the narrator and spokesman for Kerouac, in this new novel by the leading representative of our fictional young Beat Generation. He is in the company of a "Dharma bum," a religious wanderer, a man seeking truth; he is one himself; and he will spend most of his time in this story, as he tells it, with the original D. B., Japhy Ryder.

Japhy is often seen in the full lotus position, that is, crossed legs with ankles on thighs, and telling his juju beads; and there is a whole Oriental ethical vocabulary to which these busy-body truth - seekers constantly revert: Samapatti, bhikku, Buddham, Saranam, Gocchami, Kwannon, Kasyapa, Tathagata, Maitreya, Bodhisattva Mahasattva, mandala, sutra, Dipankara — indeed when Ray mentions Sinatra, or cheddar, you're caught unawares and think for a moment it's still the higher life instead of a crooner and a cheese.

There is a lot of drinking of California wines, and every now and then the boys turn earthy and common on us, dance in the nude, and indulge in "yabyum," which means in Kerouachese a good time with the girls. But this is in the main a search, in which prayer takes a part, for a new and better life. The boys go climb a mountain, undergo the trials of the wilderness, look down on a promised land, and come out of it grandly self-sufficient, in love with the unsullied air of snow-covered peaks, and scornful of cities, determined to be better men and sit on a rock and meditate themselves into a state of goodness and grace.

This is more "On the Road," the novel which first called Kerouac to our attention: Ray bums rides on freights, or hitch-hikes, or rides by bus up and down the Pacific coast, comes east, goes west again, never stays still. It is pretentious in spots, and silly and inane. But a lively imagination, if not a profound one, is at play here, and there is sense behind the excess of posturing.

GUIDE TO GOOD READING

Books For Every Type Of Reader

By FRANCES FLANDERS
Ouachita Parish Librarian

Among the new books added to the collection of the Ouachita Parish Public Library during the past week, there is something to appeal to every type of reader. The outstanding book of fiction is "Women and Thomas Harrow" by John P. Marquand. Critics acclaim it as one of the major achievements of Mr. Marquand's career. The scene shifts from that of the theatrical world to Clyde the New England town which has figured in so many of Mr. Marquand's stories. This is a long novel, peopled with a host of interesting characters and should have a great success. Another fiction title which is certain to be popular is Frank Yerby's new novel, "The Serpent and the Staff." This is the story of a physician and the setting is in New Orleans. With the popularity of the author, the subject and the setting, this book is certain to draw a large group of readers.

Another story about a doctor is "To Keep This Oath" by Hebe Weenolsen. This is the story of a twelfth - century physician - surgeon and the contrast of the practice of medicine now and then is remarkable. This is a long story and will appeal to the many readers who enjoyed a former book by this author called "The Last Englishman." "The Ugly American" by William J. Lederer and Eugene Burdick is the story of a group of Americans in Southeast Asia — their failures and heroism, their humors and passions, their drama in a land of turmoil. John Brick, who is a skillful artist in depicting American pioneer life has written a new novel, which he calls "Panther Mountain." With a setting in upper New York state, he has given us a fascinating picture of an interesting group of people.

The field of non - fiction has some very interesting titles this week. Probably the most timely one is called "Nine Men Against America." The author is Rosalie M. Gordon and she gives a stinging denouncement of the United States supreme court. Two new titles in the field of education are: "Common Sense about Gifted Children" by Willard Abraham and "The Education of the Individual" by Alfred Adler. Both are very significant books. A new title in the field of astronomy is "1001 Questions Answered about Astronomy" by James E. Pickering.

There are several new biographies among this week's offerings. "Jean Henri Dunant" by Josephine Rich is an interesting biography of the founder of the American Red Cross. "King of the French" by Agnes Stoeckl is a very penetrating biography of Louis Phillipe of France. Two biographies of outstanding literary figures are "Conrad the Noveiis" by Albert Guerard and "Dante Lights the Way" by Ruth Mary Fox. Last of all there is the life of "Mac Powell, Conqueror of the Grand Canyon" written by Leonard Wibberley. This is a story of adventure and excitement.

Two new books dealing with conditions in the world today are "A Short History of Cambodia" by Martin F. Herz and "Suez and After" by Michael Adams. What ever your interest the Ouachita Parish Public Library will attempt to find the material which will help you satisfy it. If you are not a patron we invite you to become one as soon as possible.

Visit our booth at the Ouachita Valley Fair this next week and see what we have to offer you.

CONCERT

By DELOS SMITH

NEW YORK (UPI) — Since "Cavalleria Rusticana" has only three essential parts, a new recording of that operatic tear-jerker must be placed at the head of the list since it has Renata Tebaldi, Jussi Bjoerling and Ettore Bastianini singing those parts.

If you were choosing an ideal cast for a recording (but not necessarily a performance) from among current opera singers, you'd probably choose those three (RCA Victor-LM6059.)

This handsome two - record set has curious sidelights. It is part of RCA Victor's collaboration with the Metropolitan Opera, but it was made in Florence with a Florentine orchestra and chorus, and the conductor is Alberto Erede who was Met conductor years ago but isn't any more. And Tebaldi is a London artist who has recorded just about the full Italian operatic repertoire for that label.

The first recording of Dmitri Shostakovich's 11th symphony takes two full records. That's a lot of symphony, much too much for anyone who does not share Soviet patriotic emotions and who is not familiar with the Czarist massacre of January 1905 which the music is said to depict.

Yet Shostakovich is at the forefront of living composers and the points of music interest are many. The recording is by the Houston Symphony, Leopold Stokowski conducting (Capitol-8448).

From the Philadelphia Orchestra, under Eugene Ormandy, emerges its usual high - polished sounds under the most exquisite control, projecting Respighi's tone poems "The Fountains of Rome" and "The Pines of Rome." These pieces supply wonderful meat for an orchestra able to exploit their brilliant colorations and dynamics. But does empty music become less so when it is beautifully played? (Columbia-ML5279).

Boris Karloff is the narrator of a new recording of Prokofieff's "Peter and the Wolf," and a very impressive one. He should put the kiddies on the edges of their chairs, all right. The orchestra is the Vienna State Opera, the conductor Mario Rossi (Vanguard-1928).

NEW YORK (UPI) — The harmonica, in recent years, has emerged as a first - class musical instrument because of improvements in its construction and the inventiveness of certain professional artists.

Larry Adler's name is synonymous with the harmonica. But others have helped lift the harmonica from the mouth - organ stage. Among them is Johnny Puleo, the tiny foil of the late Borrah Minnevitch.

"Johnny Puleo and His Harmonica Gang, Vol. 2" (Audio-Fidelity AFLP-1859) shows what can be done with this instrument. Only harmonicas are used by Puleo and his group but often there is the illusion of a small orchestra.

Puleo's selections range from the pretentious "Sabre Dance" to "Sweetheart of Sigma Chi." After hearing this group, the listener quickly will agree that you can play something other than "Home Sweet Home" on the mouth organ.

"The Harmonicats in the Land of Hi-Fi" (Mercury MG-20362) is more informal than the Puleo LP but is of equal interest. Unlike Puleo, the Harmonicats play with a combo instead of relying on harmonicas alone. But the 'cats are quite efficient and their presentation of "Diane," "Twelfth Street Rag" and "Heart of My Heart" is exhilarating.

Blind Sonny Terry is cast in a supporting role on "Brother John Sellers Sings Blues and Folk Songs" (Vanguard VRS - 9036). Sellers is a great blues singer alone but with the help of Terry's harmonica and such sidemen as Sir Charles Thompson on the piano, Ruby Braff on the trumpet and Jo Jones on the drums, he has turned out a collector's item.

Tops in pops — "Another Day, Another Sunset" by Diahann Carroll from the movie "The Big Country" (United Artists UA-142), "Martian Love Call" by Jack Owens (Orbit R-5208), "Blue Moon" by Jimmy Bowen (Roulette R-4102), "Be Mine Tonight" by Duke Mitchell with good backing by Billy Ward (Liberty F-55158). "Count Down" by Buddy Morrow (RCA-Victor 47-7333) and "Lover Boy" by the Gailtones (Decca 9-30726.)

LP of the Week — "Bernadine" by Bernadine Read (Epic LN-3497). Songs styled by a young lady worth watching.

Stereoscope — "South Pacific" by Fred Waring and the Pennsylvanians. (Capitol ST-992). The music from Rodgers and Hammerstein's modern classic becomes even more enjoyable when played on a stereo phonograph. The quality of this recording is superb.

The Best of Everything, by Rona Jaffe (Simon & Schuster): The modern city-dwelling girl enjoys greater freedom than any other young woman in history, but she sometimes pays for it with a loss of security that can be tragic. This book concerns itself with five women on their own in New York. They all want the same things — mostly love accompanied by marriage—but life has other plans for them. Miss Jaffe, herself a young city-dweller, spares her characters nothing in this impressive first novel.

The Electoral College, by Lucius Wilmerding Jr. (Rutgers): As the time draws near for choosing a new President of the United States, arguments over the electoral college are renewed. Many feel the system should be overhauled, among them the author, a former professor and government economist. Since the present system does not insure that the President will be the real choice of the American people, Wilmerding offers a plan by which an election would go to Congress if the leading candidate failed to win 40 per cent of the electoral votes. Each Senator and House member would have one vote. There would also have to be other changes. But Wilmerding sees not much chance of anything being done "until there is a failure in the popular election and a choice by the Holse of Representatives of a President plainly obnoxious to a majority of the people."

The Business of War, by Maj. Gen. Sir John Kennedy (Morrow): Past wars will never be fought again, but they do offer some lessons that might be useful in the next. This is a report on World War II by one of Britain's top military technicians. The most heretical view expressed in this book is that the British contribution to the war was achieved despite rather than because of the (admittedly titanic) efforts of Sir Winston Churchill. But Kennedy's final analysis of Churchill's part adds rather than detracts ". . . . neither his stature nor his place in our annals can be diminished by glimpses of his petulance, or revelations of how difficult it was to chase all the butterflies conjured up and released by his limitless fantasy. His glory remains."

The Housebreaker of Shady Hill, by John Cheever (Harper): A collection of perceptive stories giving a delightful look at a certain suburbia. All residents of Shady Hill have problems. The housebreaker is a Madison Avenue type looking for a quick buck in the homes of neighbors who'll never miss a few hundred.

RESEARCH BUREAU

Favors 16 Of 30 La. Amendments

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The Bureau of Governmental Research said Saturday it favors 16 of 30 proposed state constitutional amendments on the Nov. 4 ballot. Among them was a court revision plan.

The private research group, interested in better government, opposed an amendment to authorize state financial assistance to students attending private nonsectarian elementary and secondary schools.

The bureau said the student assistance amendment places in the Legislature sweeping powers without controls or limitations with respect to the educational system of the state.

Disapproval of the measure, the bureau said, stems from implications and possibilities for misuse of public funds and functions the proposal contains.

"It is important that it be clearly understood that the Bureau in disapproving this amendment takes no position whatsoever either for or against segregation in the schools," the bureau said.

"The matter of segregation or non-segregation is one which concerns social and moral problems. Such problems are beyond the scope of the governmental problems with which the bureau deals."

The bureau said the constitutionality of the proposal is questionable both on the federal and state level.

Disregarding the segregation question, it said, the proposal would give the legislature tremendous power that could be used for purposes other than those intended by the authors.

The court revision plan favored by the research group would narrow the appellate jurisdiction of the State Supreme Court and grant additional appellate jurisdiction to the Courts of Appeal. A fourth appeal circuit would be added to accomodate the greater work load.

The Supreme Court would retain its supervisory and original jurisdiction over all inferior courts and its appellate jurisdiction in criminal cases and some others.

A reorganization of the courts is desirable, the bureau said, and would result in improved judicial administration.

"The proposal has received intensive study by responsible legal groups which have a first-hand knowledge of judicial operations," the bureau said. "For these reasons the Bureau approves this proposal, even though there is some doubt as to the need for ten additional judges."

The courts of appeal, it said, have operated without increase in personnel since 1907.

Other constitutional proposals receiving BGR approval were:

$5,000 homestead exemption for 10 years to veterans who served both in World War II and Korea.

Reopen and extend Korean bonus application period to Jan. 1, 1960.

Give Louisiana State University in New Orleans constitutional status.

Give adopted children the same inheritance rights as children born into families.

Increase the debt limit of political subdivisions from 10 to 15 per cent of assessed valuation.

Prohibit the legislature from amending measures proposing to amend the consitution by substituting new subject matter.

Change the title of the state auditor to comptroller.

Increase powers of political subdivision to maintain waterways and spans across waterways.

Clarify present constitutional provisions of Louisiana's industry inducement plan and provide for creation of industrial districts.

Allow cities of 10,000 to 50,000 population to establish a civil service system under constitutional protection.

Authorize parishes to create mosquito abatement districts.

The bureau opposed nine other proposed amendments. They would:

Revise distribution of revenues from 16th section lands to parish school boards.

Broaden agricultural property tax exemptions.

Allow parishes, wards or municipalities to levy taxes to provide homes for citizens 60 years old.

Establish and authorize construction of a Baton Rouge Charity hospital.

Provide increased pensions to some retired judges recalled to active duty.

Increase the State House by one to 102 members.

Create a Lake Providence port commission and allow it to issue revenue bonds.

Make the commissioner of insurance a constitutional officer and give constitutional status to the Greater Krotz Springs Port Commission.

The bureau took no stand on four amendments. They would give zoning powers to Calcasieu and West Baton Rouge Parishes, create another judgeship for Washington and St. Tammany parishes, and authorized consolidated sewerage districts for East Baton Rouge Parish.

A graduate of Bastrop High School, he has for his manager Floyd Hyddleston who composed several hit songs, among them "Swanee River Rock."

Burl Olswanter is Hefner's musical director and arranger, and has coached numerous singers, including Pat Boone and Snooky Lanson.

Hefner's two songs now released are "I'm Wrapped Up In A Dream" and "Papa Don't You Roll Them Bones."

Booster Singing Convention Set This Afternoon

Gospel singers and teachers from throughout Northeast Louisiana, along with Otis Deaton of Newsome, Tex. and Videt Polk and Dave Pearce, both of Baton Rouge, will be among those gathering here today for the regular Booster Singing Convention.

The session will start at 1:30 p.m. at Booster Hall on Ouachita Avenue.

Convention Chairman Garland May said today's singing will be the best of any session held this year, and invites all who are interested to attend.

Monroe Woman Dies, Funeral Services Set

Last rites will be conducted today for Mrs. Elizabeth Walters, 75, of 1216 South Second Street, Monroe, who died in a local hospital at 3:30 p.m. Friday following a short illness. She was the widow of Art Walters.

Funeral services will be held from the Central Assembly of God Church in Monroe at 2 o'clock today with the Rev. Mr. Trotter officiating. Burial will be in Rocky Branch Cemetery under the direction of Kilpatrick Funeral Home of West Monroe.

Mrs. Walters had lived in Ouachita Parish during the earlier years of her life, but had resided in Red River Springs, N. M., before returning here some time ago.

She is survived by six daughters, Mrs. Hazel Simpson and Mrs. Grace Long, both of Los Angeles, Calif.; Mrs. Beatrice Tumlinson, Puyallup, Wash.; Mrs. Pauline Williams, Inglewood, Calif.; Mrs. Wanda Swayer, Rocky Branch; Mrs. Mary Burton of Kingman, Ariz.; four sons, Joe Turner, Albuquerque, N. M.; Jesse Turner, Puyallup; James C. Turner, Wilder, Idaho; Roy Turner, of Puyallup; 12 grandchildren and two great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers will be Melvin Moon Randall Fletcher, M. B. Lane, Jack Hammons, Louis Gene Garrett and Ray Plair.

Grave Photos Now Available

Photographs of graves of American soldiers buried overseas are now available to families, according to Parish Service Officer H. B. McClendon.

He says the next of kin may contact him for necessary information.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion L. Simons of Winnsboro, announce the marriage of their daughter, Frankie Sue, to Rue L. Boswell of El-Dorado, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Crowville High School and of Warner Brown School of Nurses. The groom is a graduate of El Dorado High School and is now attending Engineering School at Louisiana Tech.

Vows Exchanged By Frances Carol Wilhite And Van Anderson, Jr.

The marriage of Miss Frances Carol Wilhite, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy L. Wilhite of this city, and Van Austin Anderson, Jr., son of Mrs. Van Anderson of Sterlington, and the late Mr. Anderson, was an event in September in the Calvary Baptist Church.

The Rev. D. W. Nix performed the double ring ceremony. Decorating the altar were baskets of white stock and bamboo. Tall white tapers carried out the decorations on the altar.

Mr. Jon Barker was the soloist, accompanied by Miss Elaine Knight at the piano.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. She was dressed in a gown of white silk organza. The bodice was covered in imported Chantilly lace with seed pearls outlining the scalloped neckline. The bottom of the bouffant skirt was scalloped with the Chantilly lace with seed pearls. The long sleeves came to points at the wrists and were fastened with tiny covered buttons. The finger-tip veil of illusion fell from a crown of tulle and seed pearls. She carried a bouquet of tuberoses centered by a white purple-throated orchid over a white Bible.

Miss Betty Parker served the bride as maid of honor. She wore light orchid taffeta princess-style dress decorated with same velvet ribbons on the sleeves and skirt. She carried a bouquet of orchid carnations.

BRIDESMAIDS

The bridesmaids were Miss Eloise Hankins and Miss Donna Welch. They were gowned in same shade of orchid and carried bouquets of orchid carnations. Miss Phyllis Hart served as flower girl. Her dress was pale orchid with matching velvet ribbon and carried an orchid crocheted basket of petals.

Miss Charlotte Coy and Miss Sheila Hart served as candlelighters. They were dressed in deep orchid dress with matching ribbons. Pinned on their waists were baby orchids.

Johnny Blake served the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Robert Coy and Robert Wilhite, brother of the bride.

RECEPTION

A reception was held in the church parlor following the ceremony. The bride's table was covered in lace over orchid polished cotton. The three tiered colonnade wedding cake adorned one end of the table while the crystal punch bowl was at the opposite end. The bridesmaids' bouquets formed the centerpiece flanked by silver candelabra holding white tapers. Serving at the reception table were Mrs. Nelda Pettit and Mrs. Wanda Allen. Mrs. Nancy Coy registered the guests.

Double Ring Ceremony Unites Miss Barnett, William Lewis Johnson

The marriage of Miss Nelda Ruth Barnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Willard Barnett of Bastrop, and William Lewis Johnson, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Delmar Lewis Johnson, was an event of September 28, in St. Joseph Catholic Church in Bastrop.

The Rev. Father Ervin Huntsha officiated over the double ring ceremony. White chrysanthemums, white gladioli and pom poms decorated the side altars, with smilax on the chancel rail and palm in the background.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride was escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father. Her gown was fashioned of white antique satin with a sabrina nekline. It featured an Empire waistline with a graceful bow flowing into a chapel train. The finger - tip veil of illusion was attached to a tiara of seed pearls. She carried a cascade bouqut of stephanotis and phalaenopfis orchids centered with a white hybrid orchid.

MATRON OF HONOR

Mrs. Henry L. McDowell Jr., served the bride as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Misses Margo Smith of Baton Rouge; Annette Berry, Merrilee Parker and Mrs. Flint W. Robertson, all of Bastrop. Junior bridesmaids were Misses Mary and Martha Currie.

Their dresses had bodices of forest green and skirts of mint green with a large bustle bow flowing into a harem skirt giving a butterfly effect. They wore matching shoes and tiaras of seed pearls. They carried bouquets of white mums and satin bows.

William de Yampert of Wilmot, Arkansas, served the groom as best man. The groomsmen and ushers were Thomas Scannell Jr. of Milwaukee, Wisconsin; Charles Johnson, St. Louis, Missouri; George Gray, Shreveport; and Billy G. Barnett.

The bride's mother chose to wear for the wedding, a dusty blue lace ensemble. Mrs. Thomas Scannell, aunt of the groom, was attired in a fashionable gown of blue silk, and Mrs. John Currie, aunt of the groom, wore a soft blue lace model. All wore orchid corsages.

RECEPTION

The International House was the scene of the lovely reception given by the bride's parents following the ceremony.

The table was covered with a white cloth and held an arrangement of white chrysanthemums and stock in a silver container as the centerpiece. At either end of the table was a lovely silver punch service and the wedding cake. Mrs. A. W. Moore and Mrs. Ruth Wroten presided at the punch service and Mrs. Herman Dau and Mrs. Foy Houston served the cake.

TEA GIRLS

Tea girls were Misses Diane Garnier, Carol and Patricia Barnett, Carolee Nutt, Glenda and Nancy Becton and Carolyn Perry. Registering the guests was Mrs. B. F. Barnett of Crossett, Ark.

Following a wedding trip, the couple will be at home in Wilmot, Arkansas.

The bride is a graduate of Bastrop High School and Louisiana State University and was a member of Pi Beta Phi social sorority and Alpha Beta Chi professional fraternity. Mr. Johnson attended Christian Brothers College in St. Louis, Missouri, where he was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity and the Scabbard and Blades.

Let Teenager Help Style Own Room

When girls begin crowding into their teens, it isn't long before they become "experts" in home decorating, among other things. And it's probably a good idea to encourage them to express their tastes in home styling whenever and wherever possible.

One way to do this is through the use of the decorative covering materials now available. "Little Miss Expert" can put her ideas to work in re-covering some of the older furniture pieces in her room — tables, chairs, cabinets, phonograph stands, and even small wall areas.

Among the decorative coverings easiest to apply—even for teenagers who are all thumbs—are those with adhesive backing. One such covering has a durable plastic-coating — just the thing for easy cleaning.

This same particular covering comes in a wide variety of colors and patterns that will delight the young lady of the house. One of the newer patterns recently added to the line is called Patrician and has a free-form motif utilizing tiny gold and foil squares interlaced with gold foil threading. It's available in four background colors — turquoise, white pink and yellow.

Delta Kappa Pi Sorority Elects Officers

The regular meeting of Delta Kappa Pi sorority met in the home of Miss Wanda Mouton, 201 Chickasaw Drive, West Monroe.

Installation of the newly elected officers for the coming term was held.

NEW OFFICERS

The following members installed were: President, Miss Wanda Mouton; vice president, Miss Brenda Younse; secretary, Miss Priscilla Thompson; treasurer, Miss Betty Blair; historian, Miss Nancy Cash; parliamentarian, Miss Donna Moore; sergeant-at-arms, Miss Judy Lebengood; reporter, Miss Kay Harris and pledge advisors Miss Linda Bledsoe and Miss Cheryl Robeson.

OUT-GOING OFFICERS

The outgoing officers were: Vice president, Miss Martha Harris, secretary, Miss Norma Magee; treasurer, Miss Ann Duncan; reporter, Miss Sheila Watson; sergeant-at-arms Miss Virginia Watson; historian, Miss Brenda Younse; parliamentarian, Miss Judy Carter and pledge advisors, Miss Cheryl Robeson and Miss Nancy Cash.

PEAS

Chick peas may be bought in cans. Drain them and dress with olive oil, vinegar, salt, pepper; serve with anchovies, sliced tomatoes and cucumbers, boneless and skinless sardines and water cress or other greens for a first course.

Casual styles call for separates with a difference this year. That difference is mis-matching. Overblouses are designed to go with one skirt, but the outfit is not made in the same fabric. Velveteen tops are color coordinated with wool plaid skirts, or wool jersey overblouses combine with mohair skirts.

A Suit That Answers Many Fashion Needs

By BETH BLAIR

The "walking suit" is a wearable costume which can fill an important place in fall and early winter wardrobes. Slim jackets are usually straight in silhouette and range anywhere from fingertip length to just a few inches above the knee. Consider one in tweed for everyday wear or in a dressy wool with fur trim for dress up. A reader writes —

Dear Miss Blair:

I have a good black and white tweed coat which I can't seem to wear out. I wonder if I could remodel it some way — it is a double-breasted style with shawl collar, slit pockets and the silhouette is straight.

There isn't much you can do to this type coat other than dye it a solid color or add a fur collar as black beaver or similar fairly flat fur. Fox might be good on it, too. You might enjoy the coat for another few seasons if you were to crop it above the knees, the new walking suit length. You could add a black wool skirt to wear under it — another in red or even winter white might be fun.

Dear Miss Blair:

I am little and do not like to wear heavy woolens or patterned fabrics since I feel they make me appear even smaller. For a winter wardrobe with a few cocktail dresses, I find it difficult to keep to my convictions. Have you any suggestions?

Keep your fashion preferences when planning new clothes and shopping for them. You may have to compromise, however, unless you make your own or can have them sewn for you. In any event avoid the bulky fabrics which would be all wrong for your type. Choose them with surface interest but these can be lightweight fabrics as well. One or two "patterns" might add more interest to your wardrobe, however. Why not consider a vertical stripe or one of the dark floral patterns which are so subtle they sometimes appear as a solid — usually in silk?

The walking suit, which designers established last spring, gathers speed for fall and winter. The style comes in a variety of fabrics and colors, often shown with fur detailing. It proved so popular that a companion style—the walking dress—also is making fashion news. The slender wool dresses are planned for wear without a wrap on a brisk fall day. The one - piecers also have fur collars.

Well, we got the crisp fall weather, just as we ordered. And with it the World Series and the football weekends. All of which leads inevitably to the short trip, (short in days, not distances) a pleasurable change from the regular routine.

The RALPH EINHORNS flew to New York Wednesday. They had tickets for the Series, "My Fair Lady" and "The Music Man." They plan to be home Tuesday.

Quite a group of our people went to Dallas this weekend for the Notre Dame-SMU game. The CLAY WILSONS drove over Thursday, accompanied by DOT MASUR and the MORGAN SIMONTONS. JACK MASUR flew over yesterday to join them . . . REGINA and HENRY HAMMONDS and MILTON FORD drove over on Friday.

The fall season at Highland Park country club started with a bang at the Holiday in Mexico party last Saturday night. The entrance courtyard set the South of the Border theme with a large sign reading "Casa Rio." Tethered nearby were two authentic, sleepy-looking live donkeys.

Inside the tables were covered with red checked cloths and centered with candles in bottles. Mexican hats and serapes were used on the walls. Tall standing arrangements of banana leaves and other greenery ringed the floor. Dinner, served from seven until nine, consisted of such Latin specialties as tacos, enchiladas, tamales, chili, guacammole, and tortillas.

Dinner guest included the HERBERT RINEHARTS and their daughter ANN. . .WANDA and DON M'CORMICK of Ruston, who were guests of the FAIRELL KETCHELS . HELEN and DAVID AGNEW. Friends were congratulating Dave on being elected district governor of Kiwanis at the Gulf coast convention last week. . The TED GRANTS of Baton Rouge were guests of his mother, MRS. FRED GRANT . . . and the JAY SULLIVANS of Winnsboro were guests of the GENE KOONTZ.

Music for dancing began in the main dining room at nine o'clock. The gaily costumed musicians specialized in rhumba and cha cha rhythms.

Among the dancers were the C. C. BELLS. He wore a striped shirt and a fringed sash, while Kathleen was in a red squaw dress . . . The KENNY HOLTS were celebrating their seventeenth wedding anniversary. Juanita's brown outfit was complimented with an exquisite yellow orchid . . . 'Twas a treat to watch the CLAYTON CALHOUNS and their clever dance steps.

Our popular visitor, GARLAND SPENCER, has been entertained with several lovely luncheons this week. (Garland and her husband, Dr. R. R. SPENCER of Sarasota, Florida, have been the guests of their son and his family, the NAT SPENCERS.) Tuesday's party was held at the Bayou DeSiard country club, where DAISY GRAY was hostess. The table, which was set up on the club porch, was centered with pale yellow Fuji mums arranged in a gold cornucopia. Lobster newburg was the main course of the meal served to twelve guests.

On Thursday VERA BROWN invited a congenial foursome for lunch and bridge. Garlands daughter - in - law, Barrie Spencer and aBrrie's mother, MAE WALSWORTH, were additional luncheon guests.

Saturday's hostess was ELOISE SLATER, who entertained at the Lotus club. Crysanthemums in shades of yellow, brown, and bronze centered the table. Shrimp cocktail was served as a first course, followed by broiled chicken with a green salad. Guests were Garland, Barrie, Mae, and LESSIE GARRETT, CHUNKIE LEMERT, CARRIE DEE DREW, AND FRANCES M'HENRY.

An informal supper party at the CORBIN TURPIN home honored the Spencers . last night. Co - hosts were the FELIX WILLEYS. An arrangement of fruit was used on the dining table. Barbecued chicken, rice and giblets, and Dutch apple pie comprised the menu served to twelve guests.

SARA LEE and CHARLES LEDOUX entertained with a supper party at their camp last Saturday night. Barbecued Cornish hens were the main dish, accompanied by marinated plum tomatoes, asparagus casserole, and a tossed salad, with fudge cakes for dessert. Eighteen people attended the party, including MR. and MRS. W. A. JONES and MR. and MRS. RICHARD JONES of Ruston and ANN and JOE LEDOUX of Shreveport.

Sara Lee and Charles got quite a surprise Tuesday night, when they went for supper with MERLE and J. L. ADAMS. They were expecting a plain family supper type party, and here was the table all done up in white and silver in honor of the Ledoux's twenty - fifth wedding anniversary. A turkey dinner was served, ending with the honoree's favorite chocolate nut cake. Others attending were the BOB M'DOWELLS, the ARTHUR GRANTS, the JOHN EBYS, the SHELBY HILLS and the GROVER HOLLOWAYS.

On Wednesday CLAYTON KELLOGG was hostess to a bridge party at the Highland Park country club. The cool sunny weather brought out a number of new fall outfits such as JAYNE PEARCE'S floral print in autumn tones of brown and old gold. With this she wore a gold chain with apendant consisting of a large square -cut "J" . . . MAXINE BOARDMAN'S green wool was fashioned on the new Empire lines . . . Special guest at the party was MRS. C. M. DOLAN (Monroe's former Satchie Cooper), of Eagle Pass, Texas. She was visiting for a few days, and will return home the first of the week . . . Seven tables played bridge, with CAMILLE WOOD winning high, and JOYCE KELLOGG, low. Prizes were boxes of bulbs for fall planting.

The BOB HANNAS had a small supper party at home last Saturday night. Barbecued chicken with green rice and a tossed salad made up the the menu, with lemon meringue pie for dessert. Attending were the GARLAND HAMMONS and the ED HAYWARDS, JR.

A dinner party on Friday night was the CHARLES WHITAKERS compliment to DR. and MRS. BENJAMIN RUSH. The Rushes are from New Orleans and will be in Monroe for a year, while Ben is a resident at E. A. Conway Memorial hospital . . . Virginia used an arrangement of fruit in a cornucopia on the mantel in the living room, and red spider lilies on the dining table. A fall menu of ham, with a potato and apple casserole and apple pie a la mode was served. Others guests were the CAVITT COOKSTONS and the BOLLING JONESES.

MRS. ROBERT EDWARD CRABTREE is the former Miss Martha Aline Lankford, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lankford of this city. The Rev. W. P. Carter performed the ceremony. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. V. J. Crabtree of West Monroe.

"Serious bridge," is the avowed intention of the new club organized Tuesday. The group plans to play three tables of duplicate on alternate weeks. Winners on the first day's play were ANN WESTROM, first; and JOAN SAGER, second.

MRS. L. O. SMITH and MRS. ALTON WESTBROOK of Jackson, Miss., (CISSY RYAN'S grandmother and mother) drove over to spend Thursday and the night with the Ryans. Mrs. Smith brought her famous stuffed ham to be the main course for a neighborhood luncheon. Cissy prepared string beans with water chestnuts and a potato casserole. LEILA EWING brought a lemon ice box dessert. A total of eight guests enjoyed this unusual menu.

The C. C. BOARDMANS are in Florida, visiting their daughter, MRS. FRED PECK, the former Joan Boardman. They plan to be home by Wednesday.

The Monroe chapter of the American Cancer society is a large part of the Louisiana Division meeting in New Orleans this weekend. BRUCE SPIVEY served on the planning committee for the meeting. Taking part on the programs will be IRVING LEIBOWITZ, FRED HEUNEFELD, JR., and MAC WARD. Others from here who went down for the three day meeting at the Hotel Monteleone were GLADYS KULCKE, DAVID CHENNAULT, the FRED PETTYS, and LESLIE LIEBOWITZ.

And now its poem time. This column has received some poetry through the mail, but the letters and poems have been unsigned. The Monroe Morning World policy prohibits the publication of any anonymous communication. Here is "Souls' by Fannie Stearn's Davis:

My soul goes clad in gorgeous things,
Scarlet and gold and blue,
And at her shoulder sudden wings
Like long flames flicker through.
And she is swallow - fleet and free
From mortal bonds and bars.
She laughs, because Eternity
Blossoms for her with stars!
O folk who score by stiff gray gown,
My dull and foolish face,
Can ye not see my Soul flash down,
A singing flame through space?
And folk, whose earth - stained looks I hate,
Why may I not divine
Your Souls, that must be passionate,
Shining and swift as mine?

Parents Of Fun Club To Hold Meeting

Parents of members of the Beaux and Belles Eighth grade fun club will meet Thursday night, at St. Paul's church to make plans for the coming year, according to an announcement by Mrs. Leon Noland, Jr., outgoing president.

Membership for the coming year will be open through Thursday night, both for old and new members. Dues for the first semester must be paid by October 10.

The first party of the year for the Beaux and Belles was a hay ride held last Saturday night. The group met at the Northside Junior high school and rode on hay-filled trucks to an out of town camp. A barbecue supper was served to over a hundred youngsters.

I. C. Batsons Celebrate Their 50th. Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Batson celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary in their home on September 21.

Children attending the occasion were Mrs. Alma Aston, Amarillo, Texas; A. E. Batson, Franklin; Mrs. O. F. Stewart, Swartz; Mrs J. C. Green, Swartz; F. W. Batson, Skellytown, Texas; Mrs. J. E. Lowery, New Orleans; Mrs. Daniel DeMatamoras, Tequcigalpa, Honduras; and Mrs. W. R. Hicks of Sterlington.

Among the out - of - town guests attending were Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Witt and daughter, Ronda, Amarillo, Texas; Mrs. Kenneth Morgan and daughter, Marge, of El Paso, Texas; and Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Baney of Jones.

Approximately one-hundred and fifty guests called between the hours of two and five o'clock in the afternoon.

Clean-Up Tip

Use a water-moistened sponge or cloth to wipe smudges from the newer plastic-coated decorative coverings now available. This treatment will remove stains without fading the pattern or colors.

THE ENGAGEMENT and approaching marriage of their daughter, Janet Louise, to Mr. Robert Cowan Wagner of Jena is being announced this week by Mr. and Mrs. John Warford Gladden of Laquey, Mo. Mr. Wagner is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Walter Wagner of Jena. The marriage will be solemnized at 2 o'clock in the afternoon, Sunday, Oct. 12, at the First Baptist church of Waynesville, Mo. A reception will be held at the church immediately following the ceremony. Miss Gladden is a graduate of Waynesville high school and Mr. Wagner is a 1951 graduate of Jena high school and a 1955 graduate of Louisiana State University. He will complete three years of service with the U. S. Army on Oct. 3, after which he plans to return to civilian life.

Add A Gay Note To Linen Closet With Lining

When you clean out your linen closet this Fall in preparation for the heavier bed gear that soon will be needed, why not line the shelves with a colorful covering material while you're at it.

Some of the newer plastic-coated shelf lining materials not only are washable, thus easy to keep clean, but can add a gay note to a utilitarian storage area.

One covering comes in a wide choice of colors and patterns so that you'll have no trouble matching it to a hall or an adjoining room's color scheme. You can purchase the material with an adhesive backing, if you wish. In this form it adheres firmly to any smooth shelf surface.

Girl Scout News

There are few more exciting experiences for a young girl than her first few weeks, or year, even, as a Brownie Scout. However, a deeper satisfaction comes from renewing one's membership and looking forward to another year of fun and worthwhile activities. Proudly wearing membership stars, denoting a year of Scouting, are the following Brownie Scouts of Troop 3, made up of third - grade girls at Sherrouse School: Jennifer Davis, Gay Gill, Amy Griffin, Olivia Grower, Esther Hally, Deborah Harrison, Susan Head, Sharon Head, Sally Howell, Jo Ellen Otwell, Katherine Parrish, Elizabeth Poole, Ann Sherrouse, Carol Anne Stevenson Jean Tolar, Susan Westbrook, Pat Zufall. Leaders are Mrs. O. K. Davis and Mrs. M. R. Howell and members of the troop committee are: Mrs. John Tolar, Mrs. E. J. Zufall and Mrs. Betty Head.

At their first meeting of the school year the girls of Troop 44 at Our Lady of Fatima School discussed summer fun as a basis for planning fall activities. Bonnie Baldo described enthusiastically her opportunity to learn to sew, as well as the ten days she spent at Pine Wood at day camp. Susie Ellington was impressed with the swimming classes, while Gretchen Haas gave her impressions of fun at camp and urged the girls to exhibit their pieces of pottery, made either at camp or in the troop, at the Columbia Art Festival on October 11.

Eagerly looking forward to resumption of activities were Brownie Scouts of Troop 4, Mrs. F. W. Adams and Mrs. C. W. Cain, leaders. The troop was organized at Georgia Tucker School last spring and meets in a playroom at the home of the T. Mickel's. Leaders had a surprise for the girls in the form of a decorated cake topped by a Brownie toadstool on which was written, "Time for Brownies to get together." The meeting was a welcome for new members Linda Dixon, Emma Humble, Mickey Williams, Zell Williams, and Susan Williams and Evelyn Jones who transferred from Troop 4. Other girls who were registered in March are: Chris Adams, Chris Bonnette, Candace Cain, Pat Crawford, Margaret Anne Denoux Linda Law, Nancy Leigh, Diana Michel.

Training sessions for grownups continue to be well attended. Meetings this week are: Second year Brownie leaders Tuesday morning at 9:30, Pottery Workshop Wednesday at 9:30, continuation of training for new leaders Thursday at 9:30.

With United Givers Fund Drive starting tomorrow, it's good time to remind our readers that you support Girl Scouting in Ouachita Parish by this means.

Fall Purse Collection Makes Debut

In a splash of color, the fall and winter collection of purses makes its elegant debut. Created especially to present a better balanced picture with the free silhouette and shorter hemline, attention is focused on the slender, wider shape made in a galaxy of ready to wear hues ranging from dill green, tawny oranges and golds, fiery reds, and the basic blacks, fashion browns and briarwoods. Fabrics are supple surface interest types, creating a dressier feeling . . . loop mohair, cut velvet in solid shades, velour, cashmere, broadcloth, fake fur, calf, satin and peau d' soie with combinations of leather and fabric, satin with fabric comprise the exciting review, in which every category of purse is presented.

APPLAUSE

Solid and tweed mohair receives applause in a fresh rendition of casual handbags complementing the trapeze, with width exaggerated at either the base or frame. Self or calf handles frame and piping are in the majority.

Cut velvet appeals for daytime accessorizing . . . colors are perfectly coordinated with hues of fall and winter ready to wear . . . and the elegant design of the velvet is highlighted due to the oversized, slim formation of the purses, with gold clasps and bar detail. The fabric has been processed so that it is weather resistant.

Man made fur outdoes itself and looks more like mink, than mink itself. A dynel fiber with nylon guard hairs is the most exciting fake fur purse of the season. Designed in a large slim pouch manner in silver grey and autumn haze and found in calf it complements the sportswear of the period.

Cashmere purses are numerous and delightfully presented in a variety of slim shapes running the gamut from small to extra large. The most exciting innovation of the season is the combination of cashmere and satin introduced specifically to coordinate with evening shoes. Satin is interpreted in bows, bands, insets and handles.

Calf handbags are horizontally wide styles, in luscious moss green, fashion and town brown, briarwood, black and navy . . . throughout the collection calf purses are sparked with shiny gold . . . bar detail, clasps and frames.

LEMON

Always add lemon juice to mashed avocado to keep the fruit from turning dark. Serve the avocado dip, with an added seasoning of minced onion as well as salt, with crisp corn chips as a first course.

RECIPES

Handy to remember when you are using old-fashioned recipes that give some measurements by gill: ½ cup equals one gill.

A pound of rice equals 2¼ cups.

Women who like the new and different will be intrigued with shapes of heels this fall. The gracefully curved Louis heel, the matchstick type, and less curved heels will be standard. But also look for the odd shapes, such as tear-drop, pear, and the chic squared-off high heel.

The Beta Pi Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Honors Nu Phi Nu At A Tea

The Beta Pi chapter of Beta Sigma Phi sorority entertained the Nu Phi Nu members at a tea last Sunday, between the appointed hours of three and five o'clock in the afternoon, at the penthouse of the Penn Hotel.

This occasion marked the first anniversary of the Beta Pi's here in Monroe. The color followed Nu Pi Nu's colors of pink and blue. Pink roses and burning blue tapers adorned the table where guest were registered.

Those assisting in the courtesies were members of Beta Pi Social Committee, of which Mrs. Walter Hinckley is chairman.

Greeting the guests upon arrival were Mrs. Marty Schempf, Beta Pi president; and Mrs. Llewellyn George, Nu Phi Nu president.

ATTENDANCE

Attending were Misses Jean Beebe, Martha Hibbard, Lorna Montgomery, Anne Adams, Gye Rowell, Pat Davis, Joyce Lanier Peggy Warner, Janis Joyce, Ingrid Peterson, Jonnie Avery, Shirley Averett and Helen Johnson.

And Mesdames, George Smale Marty Schempf, Joe Lister, William A. Robinson, Furn Bailey Walter Hinckley, Steve Savanna, Llewellyn George, Eddie Kemp and Rosemary Williams.

A Tea-Shower For Newcomers To Simsboro

The home of Mrs. L. M. Napper in Simsboro was the setting of a lovely tea - shower honoring the Reverend and Mrs. James Jones recently. Beautiful fall flowers were used at various points throughout the house.

Mrs. Jones was presented with a pink carnation corsage to complement her beige sheath dress, one of her trousseau models she chose to wear for this occasion.

Guests were greeted at the door by Mrs. Napper, and Mrs. Harold Napper introduced them to the honoree.

Members of the W. S. C. S. served dainty white iced cakes, mints and punch. Mrs. Melton Methvin and Mrs. Alan Lowery alternated at the punch bowl, while Mrs. Revis Mays and Miss Carolyn Gray served the cakes.

Many lovely and useful gifts were displayed in the den.

A large number of guests called during the appointed hours, to warmly welcome Mrs. Jones to the community and the church.

Some Tips For Decorating Campus Home

Few things add cheer more quickly to a college freshman's first home away from familiar surroundings than do the colorful, personal touches she adds to her room.

After bedspreads and draperies have been selected, one of the easiest means of decorating is with today's interesting covering materials.

Closet shelves and dresser drawers can easily be brightened with pretty, practical linings. Waste baskets, picture frames, lamp bases and book shelves can be covered with matching material too, if the co-ed wishes.

For these dormitory decorating tasks, the soil - resistant, plastic-coated covering materials are most useful. There's an entire family of coverings, which simplifies the chore. It comes in shelf and drawer linings, an extra wide 46-inch width for covering large areas and one which has an adhesive backing that is easy to apply. All of these companion materials are available in the same or harmoniing colors and patterns.

Recently introduced, too, are three new high-fashion, metallic designs that should meet with approval of the young collegienne. They feature gold and silver foils and threads. Each is available in background colors of turquoise, white, pink or yellow.

POULTRY MEAT

Basting poultry and meat as it roasts is a good way to keep the surfaces from becoming dry.

Martha Long, W. B. Campbell Exchange Vows

Miss Martha Ann Long, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long of Sterlington was united in marriage to Winston Bernard Campbell, son of Mrs. Stephen Robert Campbell and the late Mr. Campbell of Pineville in the Kelly Baptist Church with the Reverend Paul Jones reading the marriage vows.

The double ring rites were performed before an altar flanked by baskets of pale pink chrysanthemums. Myriads of burning pink tapers in tall candelabra against a background of magnolia leaves and pink poms shed a soft glow over the nuptial scene.

Mrs. Paul Jones rendered a program of pre - nuptial music. Her selections included "I Love You Truly," and "O Promise Me." Miss Dorothy Day of Minden sang "Because," "O Perfect Love," and at the close of the ceremony, "The Wedding Prayer."

MAID-OF-HONOR

The bride's maid of honor was Miss Freda Ann Keen of Minden. Bridesmaids were Miss Mollie Sue Guin and Miss Martha Ann Hargrove of Kelly. All the attendants wore identical dresses of pink brocades satin designed with a close fitting bodice and a V neckline. The straight street length dresses were accented by pink satin cummerbunds which crossed in front and flowed softly into a floating panel in the back. Their headpieces were self - covered bandeaus of pink satin and they carried a Juliet fan of pink poms arranged with pink satin poufs and streamers.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father who gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of Chantilly lace over white satin. A tight fitting bodice which featured a V neckline was joined to a billowing floor length skirt which fell into tiny pleats in the back. The long fitted sleeves tapered to a petal point over the hands and the shoulder length veil of illusion fell softly from a tiara of seed pearls. A tear drop pearl centered the tiara and the bride wore earrings of tear drop pearls which belonged to her paternal grandmother. For her neckpiece, she wore a lavalier borrowed from her aunt. Her bouquet was a cascade arrangement of stephanotis and was centered with a purple throated white orchid atop a white Bible

Mr. Jack Campbell of Bunkie served his brother as best man. Ushers were James Williams and Traylor McNeel of Pineville.

A dress of larkspur blue cupioni was selected by Mrs. Long for her daughter's wedding. With it she wore a matching feather hat and gloves and black kid shoes and bag. Her corsage was of pink poms.

The mother of the groom, Mrs. Campbell was attired in powder blue faille with a tiny black feather hat and black accessories. Her corsage was also of pink poms.

RECEPTION

The bride's parents were hosts at a reception in the home of Mrs. James A. Duke following the ceremony.

The bride and groom, their parents and the members of the wedding party formed the receiving line for the occasion.

The bride's table was beautifully decorated with a handmade white cut work linen cloth. The attendants bouquets with six burning pink tapers formed the centerpiece. Miniature pink chrysanthemums wreathed the crystal punch bowl where Mrs. Beulah Lindsey of Bernice, an aunt of the bride presided.

Mrs. K. R. Russell of Kelly served the three tiered cake which was topped by two wedding bells and a miniature bride and groom.

The bride's book was placed on a table flanked by burning pink tapers. Miss Patricia Smith of Grayson presided over the registering.

WEDDING TRIP

When the newly - weds left for the wedding trip, Mrs. Campbell was wearing an early fall creation of brown shantung. She wore brown metallic accessories and her hat was a bandeau of brown velveteen. Her corsage was the white orchid from her bouquet. Later they will be at home at 506 Trenton Street in Ruston where they will continue their studies at Louisiana Polytechnic Institute.

Mrs. Campbell graduated from Kelly High School. In 1957, she won the title, "Miss Cadlwell Parish" and has represented Caldwell Parish in several events including the Miss Louisiana pageant.

Mr. Campbell is a graduate of Pineville High School. His social fraternity at Louisiana Tech is Tau Kappa Epsilon.

GUESTS

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Jack Campbell, Steve, Richard and Mark of Bunkie; Mr. David Long of Lake Charles; Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Jarmon and Mildred, Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Barham and Carol, Mr. and Mrs. Odis Poole of Dubach; Rev. and Mrs. W. A. Massey, Larry and Kenny of Urania; Mr. and Mrs. Willard Russell, Jane and Linda of DeQuincy; Mr. and Mrs. John Earl Peacock of Shreveport; Mr. John Adcock of Jonesboro; Mrs. M. D. Guilbault and Miss Margaret Guilbault of Pineville and Mr. R. S. Tuimble of Monroe.

REHEARSAL SUPPER

Mr. David Grafton Long, brother of the bride, was host to the wedding party and friends on Friday evening at a local restaurant.

Attending were Miss Long, Mr. Campbell, Mrs. Stephen Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Thompson Long, Miss Freda Keen, Miss Mollie Guin, Mr. R. S. Tuimble, Miss Martha Ann Hargrove, Mr. James Williams, Miss Patricia Smith, Rev. and Mrs. Paul Jones, Miss Dorothy Day, Mr. John Adcock, Mrs. Joseph Guin, Mr. and Mrs. K. R. Russell, Mrs. James A. Duke, Mrs. Davis Anderson, and Mr. David G. Long.

Home Workshops Need Sprucing Up Now n' Then

In fixing up a corner of your basement as a workshop for the coming indoor months, consider dressing up old surfaces with the new decorative covering materials now obtainable.

Shelves and drawers lined with a bright, serviceable material are easier to keep clean and will lend a bit of life to the masculine domain.

The plastic-coated coverings are among the most practical for they can be wiped off as often as needed with a damp cloth. One of these, comes in matching colorss in shelf and drawer linings to aid the home decorator in carrying out a color scheme. This material also comes with an adhesive backing if you want a lining that adheres to the surface.

A choice of 10 solid colors and an array of checks and patterns are offered in housewares sections of department stores as well as in many hardware and novelty stores.

CHERRIES

Small - size (about 8 ounces) cans of cherries and blueberries in syrup make good hurry - up toppings for ice cream.

Add Storage Space To Your Kitchen

Here's a thought for added needed storage space in your kitchen: Put up inexpensive wooden shelves near the food preparation area for your jars of spices and herbs. They can be mighty attractive as well as useful if you cover the shelves with one of the smart decorative materials having adhesive backing.

Shellac the unpainted wood, let it dry thoroughly, then press the covering into the position where it will adhere smoothly.

It is obtainable in numerous colors and pa'tersns to fit in with virtually any kitchen decor.

Miss Frasier Becomes Bride Of Clovis Tate

Miss Lorenne Frasier, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier of Ruston, became the bride of Clovis Carlton Tate of Little Rock, Arkansas, at the Rock Corner Baptist Church.

The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arnold Lee Norsworthy before an altar decorated with two large baskets of white gladioli and a background of palmetto leaves. Four large floor candlebra held white cathedral tapers, which gave soft illusion for the ceremony.

BRIDAL GOWN

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was radiant in a waltz-length gown of lace and tulle over taffeta. The molded bodice of taffeta had a deep yoke of lace which formed a sweetheart neckline scalloped with tiny seed pearls and sequins. Her fingertip veil of illusion was caught by a tiara of seed pearls. Her bouquet was fashioned of a white orchid with feathered carnations and stephanotis, and satin ribbon streamers tied in love knots.

MATRON OF HONOR

The matron of honor, Mrs. Wendell Moore cousin of the bride, wore a frock of white lace over lavender taffeta with a satin lavender cummberbund. Her colonial nosegay was of lavender chrysanthemums matching the flowers worn in a coronet in her hair.

The bridesmaids were Mrs. Ragan Brewster, Mrs. Donald Holder, Mrs. J. F. Martin, and Miss Jo Ann Farris. Mrs. Brewster and Miss Farris wore frocks of yellow lace over yellow taffeta. They carried nosegays of green chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets. Mrs. Holder and Mrs. Martin were dressed in frocks of green lace over green taffeta and carried nosegays of yellow chrysanthemums and wore matching floral coronets.

Miss Jean Hancock, Miss Pam Brewster, Mr. James Frasier, brother of the bride, and Mr. Frasier Bratton lighted the candles.

Melinda Brewster was flower girl, and Jimmy Lee was ringbearer.

Serving the groom as best man was Phillip Tackett, and groomsmen were Mr. Wendall Moore, Mr. Ragen Brewster, Mr. J. F. Martin and Mr W. H. Mabry. Wedding guests were shown to their places by ushers, James Fraiser and Frazier Bratton.

Mrs. Richard Trant provided the music for the ceremony and accompanied the soloist, Dr. Richard Trant.

Following the ceremony, Mr. and Mrs. Elton Frasier were hosts at a reception in their home.

Guests were invited to sign the bride's book by Miss Viva Hancock. Presiding at the punch bowl were Miss Nancy Simpson, and the cake was served by Miss Joy Gullet.

BISCUITS

Baking-powder biscuits may be prepared and cut out several hours ahead of the time they are to be baked if they are stored in the refrigerator during this waiting period.

French designers go for glamor at all times — even aboard a motor scooter. Bruyere shows harem hemline trouser-skirts for scooter riders. The skirts are combined with sweater tops of velvet or silk jersey, or hip-length jackets.

GUESTS for several days in the home of Dr. and Mrs. E. F. Worthen on Park Avenue, were Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Dunn, from Grand Rapids, Michigan. They were entertained on several informal occasions during their stay here.

Look for pleats in campus fashions. Newest are the overlapping box pleats in trapeze skirts, says Women's Wear Daily, a trade publication. Side pleats and stitched down accordion types also are popular in skirts. In jumpers, pleats are concentrated at the hemline.

BPW Celebrate National Business Women's Week

First in a series of events commemorating National Business Week, Oct. 5-11, will be observed by The Monroe Business and Professional Women's Club today. Members and guests will enjoy breakfast together at the Holiday Inn at 9:00 a.m. Mrs. Leo Skinner, chairman, promises delightful entertainment and surprises for all. Following breakfast they will, according to traditional practice, attend in a group church services at the First Baptist Church. Honor guest for this occasion will be Miss Violet Poindexter of New Orleans, the Louisiana Federation's First Vice President.

30 YEARS AGO

National Business Women's Week was originated in 1928 — exactly 30 years ago. The theme for 1958 is "More Power with Womanpower" and was chosen to spotlight the women who work and their responsibilities in their home towns, the nation, and the world. This annual week, sponsored throughout the United States by The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc., is set aside to pay tribute to women in business and the professions. The President of the United States and national leaders in all fields hail National Business Women's Week each year.

ORGANIZED IN 1919

The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs was organized in 1919 and is the largest organized group in the world devoted entirely to the affairs of business and professional women, with State Federations in all the 49 states, Hawaii, Puerto Rico, and the District of Columbia. Membership totals more than 175,000. The Federation is the only organization for women which includes all professions and occupations. National headquarters are in Washington, D.C.

The Federation's main objective is to promote the interests of B and P Women. BPW works to elevate standards for women through education, industrial and vocational activity programs. BPW is the leader in securing legislation in the interest of women. In 1930, BPW took the lead in founding the International Federation of Business and Professional Women, which now has Federations in 22 countries. All members of BPW are also members of the International Organization.

SCHEDULE

Besides the breakfast and group church attendance today, other scheduled events in recognition of Business Women's Week are. Banquet at Bayou DeSiard Country Club Tuesday evening. Speaker for this occasion will be Louie E. Throgmorton, vice president and director of Public Services of the Republic National Life Insurance Co. of Dallas. Also honored guest at the banquet will be Mrs. Dana Beckworth, Louisiana Federation president, of Minden. The grand finale of the week will be a Fun Party, Friday evening, at the home of Mrs. Laura Slator, charter member.

Eastern Star Entertains For Mrs. Lafferty

At six o'clock Saturday afternoon the grand officers, past grand matrons and patrons and special guests of the Order of the Eastern Star assembled at the home of Mrs. Ona Mae Lafferty in West Monroe, which was quite a surprise to her. To begin the evening of fun they were accompanied by the long arm of the law which promptly placed Mrs. Lafferty under "protective custody" on a charge of "Traipsing Around In The South."

The caravan of nearly a hundred officers and guests then moved on to the home of Mrs. Willie Mae Painich for a chicken barbecue supper. At seven-thirty more than two hundred members and friends from the entire state gathered at the West Monroe Masonic Temple for the Kangaroo Court trial of Mrs Lafferty. The program was under the direction of Mrs. Marjorie Becton.

The lone witness for the defense was Marjorie Becton of West Monroe who also turned out to be the "village idiot." Her testimony was completely discredited and Mrs. Lafferty was found guilty of the charge against her.

One of the highlights of the evening was Martha Ann Lafferty's mournful singing of "The Prisoner's Song" to her mother.

Refreshments were served in the social room and the centerpiece on the banquet table created a sensation. Inside a cage was a doll dressed in a prison outfit, both rands holding to the bars of the cage. Outside sat twelve dolls in prison stripes arranged as a jury. A "wanted" poster with a picture of Mrs. Lafferty, made some years ago, was tacked to the wall.

Impressive Array Slated For Monroe

A touch of Oriental glamor will be in Monroe tomorrow when Miss Pat Sans, exotic Japanese model will visit briefly in connection with the opening at the Paramount Theatre of the Twentieth Century - Fox super - reduction of "The Barbarian and The Geisha." The film begins its local engagement Sunday, October 12, at the Paramount.

Miss Sans will present gifts from officials of the Japanese embassy in New Orleans, as well as offerings from the star of "The John Wayne.

The entire film was shot on location in Japan and relates how one American, Townsend Harris, portrayed in the movie by Wayne, singlehandedly opened up the Far East to the Occidental world. The film is in CinemaScope and color by DeLuxe.

E. R. Edwards, manager of the Paramount Theatre, said the production slated for next week is one of a series of outstanding films slated for this area. Hollywood is rushing to completion some of its most potent box-office fares and the impressive array of hits will be seen throughout the South.

"The theme of this line-up is '1959 Comes Early This Year'," Edwards said.

The campaign is being conducted throughout the south in an effort to prove to Hollywood that good movies will sell anytime during the year rather than during the few specific times, principally around holidays or during the summer, when Hollywood now tries to release its big films, Edwards pointed out.

And no effort has been spared in arranging for Monroe's moviegoers to share in the rich harvest of super-attractions, the manager said. Among the top-rated products already assured movie goers here are such productions as "The Barbarian and the Geisha" starring John Wayne; Andy Griffith in "Onionhead"; Cary Grant and Sophia Loren in "Houseboat"; and later in the season, "Mardi Gras" starring Pat Boone, Christine Carere, Tommy Sands, Gary Crosby and Sheree North.

NOT BRIGITTE

Chevalier Likes Marilyn Monroe

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Maurice Chevalier, who wrote the book on women and still has a few chapters to go, says that Marilyn Monroe appeals to him more than his own country's Brigitte Bardot.

"There's something warm, humble and sincere about Marilyn,," the jaunty, 70-year-old Frenchman said on the set of MGM's "The Blessing," in which he stars with Deborah Kerr.

"Of course," he said with a twingle in his eyes, "if I had my way, I think I would choose Marilyn for my right arm and Brigitte for my left. Ah, but perhaps I'm getting too old for that."

His famous lower lip curled into a roguish smile as he said "perhaps."

Chevalier, who would be France's greatest export if he could be bottled, admitted ruefully there is no truth to the legend that Frenchmen are the best lovers.

NO FRENCH PLAYBOYS

"Look," he said, "at the three biggest playboys in the world today: Aly Khan, Rubirosa and Baby Pignitari. There is not a Frenchman among them."

Then how did the legend get its start?

"Well," said the slender-gray-haired performer, "there was a time when everyone in France had more time to make love than nowadays. And, of course, France is one of the oldest nations. Put these two facts together, and you have the answer!"

He added wistfully:

"Things are so much faster today. Love used to be a much more important part of life."

What of his personal legend as an expert extraordinaire of the fairer sex?

"Actually," he confided, "outside of work, I've had no more love affairs than a lot of other fellows I know who are not talked about.

"The reputation came about because I always sang about love and the pretty side of life."

DELIGHTFUL

He admitted, however, that he cannot think of anything more delightful in life than a beautiful woman. He said:

"A beautiful woman is created by God to be the great reward of any man trying to prove he's good."

For himself, he said, a woman is at her best between the ages of 30 and 40.

By then she has had enough experience to become a real woman," he said. "She has learned how to take care of herself and is at her ripest."

Chevalier, who recently gave sparkling performances in "Love in the Afternoon" and "Gigi," is embarked on his second major Hollywood career.

"I remember when I was here many years ago — in 1932 or 1933 —and met Mae West," he said. "Nothing ever happened, but it could have.

"She never asked me to come up and see her some time — or anytime, for that matter. I might have. But not now—I'm to old."

Israel Honors Human Rights Day Dec. 10

"Thou Shalt Love Thy Neighbor As Thyself" is the motto to be used by Israel in honor of Human Rights Day on Dec. 10. On that date Israel will issue a 750 pruta stamp commemorating the occasion.

The central design is a slab of stone inscribed with the above phrase which is a quotation from the book of Leviticus, Chapter 19, Verse 18. The emblem of the United Nations will appear in the lower right corner of each stamp. Colors will be yellow, blue, gray and black.

The issuance of this stamp will be the first time that Israel has issued a stamp honoring the United Nations - sponsored Human Rights Day.

A total of 365.072 first day covers was cancelled Aug. 15 when the 4-cent Atlantic Cable Centennial commemorative stamp was placed on sale in New York City. There were 1,929,375 stamps sold on that day.

Italy and Brail both have issued stamps honoring the visit of Italy's President Gronchi to Brazil. Italy's stamp depicts a plane flying from Rome to Rio de Janeiro.

SEGREGATION VOTE

ALEXANDRIA (UPI) — The Rapides parish school board voted Thursday to postpone action on a resolution calling for more action to protect school segregation. C.O. Slay, board vice - president called for the resolution because "our senators have not moved as fast as they should on segregation problems." But Slay commended Gov. Long and Sen. Rainach for their part in maintaining segregation.

THE HOME SHIFT

Spider Lilies Set Fall Aglow

By MILDRED SWIFT

Red spider lilies are so common that even children recognize them by name. Common, yes, but beautiful and spectacular, especially if planted in large masses.

There are other colors of spider lilies, but none as vigorous as the red one.

VERY RARE

One of the very rarest is a so-called white one. Actually it is not white, but a light cream. Flowers of this variety were grown by Mrs. R. R. Piggott, Wales Road, West Monroe. The gardener supplied quantities of these for Mrs. John McReynolds flower arranging at the September meeting of Monroe Garden Club. Needless to say, they attracted lots of attention.

THE YELLOW

Mrs. Raymond Boyd, 1400 Roselawn, Monroe, grows the yellow variety. It is so beautiful as to be startling. Each little floweret is so large that a first glance it resembles a day lily.

Shirley Boyd, one of Monroe's most enthusiastic and successful young gardeners, has several clumps of the yellow spider lily.

Several varieties of pink spider lilies are grown in different parts of the world and here at home, Mrs. B. U. Evans of Ferriday is growing a number of these.

TRUE NAMES

The spider lily's family name is lycoris. Each color is a different species.

The red spider lily is lycoris radiata; the white is lycoris albaflora; the yellow is lycoris aurea. There are several species of pinks but the lovely ones grown here are lycoris squamigera.

Many people refer to this lycoris family as Guernseys and Nerines. Botanists say this is an error, though.

Other common names given the lycoris family are: surprise lily and hurricane lily. However, botanists say the spider lilies cannot qualify as lilies at all.

HABITS

The foliage of the lycoris family stays green all winter, and appears soon after the flower. At the time the foliage appears is the best time to fertilize them, because the fertilizer is used by the leaves in the production of plant food. Use a mixture of bone meal and 8-8-8, half and half.

The foliage stays green all winter, thus making this a perfect plant for winter ground cover.

In the spring the foliage turns brown, because the plant is going dormant. This is a perfect time to transplant your spider lilies. When doing this job, don't try to force any two bulbs apart. You'll bruise and lose them when you force.

Plant with the necks sticking out of the ground in a well drained spot. Soil should be of good loamy texture. Working bone meal in the soil at planting time starts the bulb off to a healthy life.

CANDLE TREE

The Imperial candle tree is in bloom in Irene Reid's garden, 1621 Emerson, and at Mrs. W. W. Stevens, 306 Columbia Ave. Be sure to drive by and see these in bloom.

There's one thing for sure I can tell you about this plant If you plant seed too late, they will not have time to reach maturity and bloom. Neither can you plant them outside until danger of frost is over.

Your safest bet is to get plants from our nurseries. They're quite inexpensive, but must be planted every year. They just won't go through our cold winters.

No need to save seed from this candle tree. They do not mature. This is at heart a tropical plant. The seed will mature in the torrid zones with their very long summers. There are nurseries where you can order the seed, but it is best to buy the plants in May. When you see the blooms in the Reid and Stevens yards you'll certainly resolve to do just that.

A STAIN

So many flower growers are complaining about the stain on clothes from the banana plant. This seems to be the sap from the cut leaves or blooms. The stain is black, turning to red and refuses to come out.

Miss Rupert Perry, Home Management Specialist with L.S.U Extension is planning to take such a stain to a workshop in Washington next week. She hopes to come back with some help for us.

THE SMALL "FRY"

Never let it be said that America's youngster set doesn't keep up with the fashion parade. The kindergarten crowd and small glamour girls are proudly showing off their new beltless casual fall dresses.

Little girls look cute as buttons in these new frocks, wich faithfully follow grown-up trends.

Two styles are favorites — the middy with the pleated skirt and the straight full dress that hangs free from a shoulder yoke, trapeze effect.

For little boys, Ivy League still is big news. Trousers have narrower legs, buckled back strap and pleated fronts.

GALA OPENING

Each year opening of the fall season at the Metropolitan Opera House in New York sees New York's most beautifully dressed women. Of course they're wearing their newest and best, just as you and I would do if we should ever have the privilege of going there.

This unofficial fashion show gives one a pretty good idea of what will be high fashion for the season.

Most of the dresses were short and a surprising number were variations of the trapeze.

Black seemed to be the top color with bright red a close second. Lots of prints were there as well as a great deal of lace and chiffon.

Jewelry was on the large size.

HERE AND THERE

Shades of Grandma! Bar pins are back in style. Yes, those handsome bar pins that grandmother used to favor for her lapel are high fashion for fall and winter.

Plain tailored or stone studded, the newest bar pins make a hit where worn, one above the other, or in a staggered design on the new, bulky looking sweaters and high-waisted dresses.

The new shorter sleeves on the new coats offer a good opportunity to show off bracelets. Attractive designs include the wide cuffs, slim twisted beads and tasseled bracelets.

One of the most useful fall wardrobe additions is the new walking suit with its elongated jacket, long enough to be worn as a separate topper. Many of the jackets are interlined and fur-collared.

CONFUSING

Have you been wondering what the terms ban-lon, taslan, tycora and helanco mean? These are trade names for "textured" yarns. They are always made from the synthetic fibers.

The trade name refers to the method of obtaining the soft fluffy appearance and feel. The name does not specify a fiber. The trade names are found on many of the bulky fabrics. The name is your assurance that the material is not apt to peel or develop fuzz balls on the surface.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

Your Open House programs for next week are: Monday, Lola Caldwell will show you how to make planters; Tuesday, Dorothy Russell will demonstrate the care of nylon fabrics; Wednesday, Peggy Garnett will lead us into her bird world; Thursday, Marketing with Mildred; Friday, fish recipes with home economist from Washington. See you next Sunday.

Winter Chill Sends Garden Under Covers

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Newsfeatures Writer

CHAPPAQUA, N.Y. — Killing frosts are striking here and there around the country more frequently now as winter weather comes on, but before - handed gardeners can preserve their gardens for a little longer if they want to take the pain and the trouble.

Many of the bright annuals—particularly the hardier, sturdy types like zinnias — may be potted up and brought into the house where, after a suitable convalescence in a dark spot—they will continue to bloom in a sunny window.

When frost threatens — or your favorite source of weather information sends out the alarm—many of the more hardy annuals and fall perennials can live to bloom through Indian summer if protected during the emergency with covers of bushel baskets or even a tent made of stakes and thicknesses of newspaper held in place on the ground by stones.

Too many of us use our cold frames only to start seeds or harden off house-started seedlings in the spring. An important use for them during the cold months is as a storage place for plants of dubious hardiness. One year I wintered over a few clumps of chrysanthemums about whose resistence I was a little nervous.

Last winter I had my cold frame partly occupied by verbena cuttings I had rooted, and some snapdragons which had been left in a seedbed. As a result, I had a home-grown crop of flowering verbena as early as my neighbors who had bought nursery plants, and my snapdragons bloomed far ahead of any others around here. In southern areas, of course, snapdragons can be treated as perennials. And so can they be here, in a handy cold frame.

Fall is sa good time — provided of course other garden chores don't interfere — to organize some of those jobs we always mean to get around to but never seem to. It is, for one thing, an excellent period in which to buy and set up or to make a cold frame.

Very good ones can be purchased. Or by using one or more discarded storm doors or storm windows, it isn't too difficult to make one from scratch. Frames can be made of any size, of course, but it is always well to remember to make the dimensions convenient for the gardener who must work with its innards.

The frame should be low in front, high in back: about 10 inches in the front and 16 inches in the rear. The glass or transparent top may be hinged or— if light enough — removable. It should face south, have some protection—a house, wall or shrub screen — from the elements. The soil within must drain well, be rich and sifted — like a seed-bed. In bitter weather, the plants may be further protected by a mat or blanket over the glass cover.

With a cold frame it is possible to sow spring seed anywhere from six weeks to a month before the average date of the last killing frost in your neighborhood.

Another good fall project is the making of pools, repairing of stone walls, setting in a terrace or fixing flagging and stone steps. Make certain that any masonry work starts deep in the soil so that it will not be displaced and shattered by the alternate thawing and melting of frozen ground.

Keep mowing the lawn and trimming the edges of walks and garden beds as long as the grass keeps growing. And, just because the end of the season is near, maintain the battle against the weeds. At this period, in particular, every weed pulled is a next season's backsaver: it cannot drop seed to sprout next spring.

Good Selling Tip Gleaned From Rackets

OSSING, N. Y. (AP)—The illicit narcotics has given respectable business a selling tip: Make an addict and you make a good customer.

The National Garden Bureau for the past six months has been making gardening addicts out of new home owners in a suburban development here.

Hooked this year by free seed, bi-weekly instruction by experts and a prize contest, next year and thereafter they will be customers for seed, fertilizer, tools and how-to-do-it books.

The experimental project was set up and underwritten by an organization of the nations top seed - selling houses. It was designed to prove the existence of an untapped multi-million dollar market for flower seeds among new home owners of moderate income financially unable to swing immediate expenditures on more costly tree and shrub landscaping.

Chosen for the pilot project was Birch River, a development of $19,000 and $20,000 homes in this Hudson River commuting town an hour's train ride from New York City.

Few of the young couples — city dwellers before moving to the suburbs—knew the difference between crabgrass and false hellebore when the project got under way last April. By September, however, they were veteran diggers and weeders; their front and side lawns were ablaze with color They called plant by botanical names, complained about the bugs wryly, and were analyzing their mistakes — mistakes they would rectify next year when they are on their own.

The National Garden Bureau is delighted with the ease with which the happy guinea pigs have become addicted to gardening ("stimulating gardening enthusiasm," is the bureau phrase for the activity). It believes that such projects in thousands of communities across the nation could open up a garden seed market worth 57 million dollars a year by concentrating just on families in the $5,000 to $10,000 a year brackets.

W. Atlee Burpee III, bureau chairman, suggests that similar projects, with the initial gift of about $5 worth of flower seeds, expert instruction and contests, be instigated and underwritten by local seedsmen or garden supply stores, garden or service clubs, real estate men or even home-owner groups themselves.

Effect of exposure to gardening on Birch River residents was closely charted.

The visiting experts — horticulturists, landscape architects and others — noted that enthusiasm for "low cost landscaping" ran high when the contest was announced and plans drawn. Families set to work digging and hauling out rocks with a will. Interest flagged, however, once they had planted the seeds. It revived when the seedlings appeared and continued to mount as the growing season progressed.

CHARM AT WINDOWS—Little vanity shelf constructed of light wood is means of making use of unused space.

Utilize Space With Small Vanity Table

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Newsfeatures Writer

A good place for that little ol' vanity niche is between your two bedroom windows, space that sometimes isn't utilized at all You can create a charming area without taking up too much room.

Put up a small vanity shelf, made of lightweight plywood. It can be narrow and have a small drawer directly beneath it to hold all sorts of paraphernalia, if you like. Cover it with the same printed fabric you use in the window drapery. Put a piece of glass over the drapery fabric so that it will stay bright and clean as long as your window draperies last. Tack ball fringe around the shelf, if you like. The ideal spot for pictures — old family daguerrotypes, silhouettes, etc., is right above the vanity table to fill in the space between the windows.

Combine a solid color and print fabric and the windows — a straight panel in the print with a double width of solid colored material as an over drapery. Pin the over drapery back with a brass tie back.

A very charming bedroom brightener is a fabric that combines the subtle shades of gold and olive green in a jewel flower tones. The over drapery is bright white, outlined with gold ball fringe.

THE SOUTHERN GARDENER

Cool Hothouse Used In South

By WILLIAM LANIER HUNT

The very easiest kind of greenhouse to manage is what horticulturists call the "cool house." Very little heat is needed for such a conservatory because fifty degrees is the highest heat ever needed. Usually, the temperature ranges from forty to fifty degrees. More attention has to be given to keeping such a greenhouse cool than to keeping it warm here in the South where there so many sunny days.

CHOICE PLANTS

There are some very choice plants for such a cool conservatory. Actually, the number of plants one can grow "cool" is legion, but we shall discuss here those that bloom for a long time and are easiest to handle. Most greenhouse specialists would probably agree that the two pink primroses, Primula obconica and Primula malacoides should be near the top of the list. These oriental primroses have beautiful foliage and bloom on and on and on in winter. Some people prefer the second one named because it is less apt to give anyone the rash that some people get on their skin where they touch primroses.

Freesias are some of the most deliciously fragrant plants from bulbs. They like the cool house where they can come along slowly. They must not be "forced" along with heat. Cyclamens, those dainty flowers that look so like butterflies hovering over a patch of ivy leaves, are some of the most elegant of all plants. Incidentally, we shall all be growing the small flowers hardy cyclamens out of doors soon. Nurseries are beginning to offer the corms for sale in this country.

Small potted camellias will flower well in the cool greenhouse and are well worth growing for their early blossoms. Most of the best camellias we see at the early winter shows are greenhouse grown. Without these perfect blossoms, we could not have camellia shows in some seasons. Some fans are beginning to set up greenhouses with no heat in them for their choicest camellias.

PLANT VARIETY

One of the showiest shrubs to grow in a greenhouse is the South African heath. There are many fine varieties. The shrubs bloom for quite a long time and are almost sensational, so prolific is the bloom. Florists have the flowers for sale in winter. They can be grown in fair sized pots. In smaller pots, you can grow the ornamental cherries and peppers for Christmas. These little plants are almost weeds and easy to grow.

For bloom to enjoy in the greenhouse as well as to cut, calendulas and the light blue scrambling shrub, Plumbago capensis can hardly be beaten. This is the common plumbago you see in gardens from Norfolk to Houston in the warm country. Petunias can be potted at the end of the warm weather and taken in. They will grow lustily and can then be taken into a sunny window in the house to bloom. When they cease flowering, return them to the cool greenhouse, cut them back and fertilize them, and off they will go again for they are really perennials!

EXTENSION NEWS AND VIEWS

How To Fight Chinch Bugs

By AUDREY DAWSON

If brown spots appear on your St. Augustine lawn and you suspect chinch bugs, dig up about 6"x6" section of the sod in an area where the grass is just beginning to turn yellow (not the dead grass.) Submerge the sod in water — if chinch bugs are present, they will float to the top of the water.

If chinch bugs are present, treat the entire area with DDT or Chlordane at the rate of ½ lb. technical material per 1000 square feet. Mr. Kirby Cockerham, our extension entomologist, also, reccomends 5 per cent Dieldrin granules, or 20 fluid ounces of Dieldrin concentrate may be used. These materials should be thoroughly washed into the sod for maximum effectiveness.

FAIR

Yes it's fair time again. Things will be really buzzing at the fair grounds tomorrow. If you have time on your hands and you want to see some work going on, come to the Agricultural Exhibit building tomorrow. Mr. Birdsong, secretary and manager of the fair says everything is ready for the best fair yet. Be sure to come out and don't forget to visit the exhibits in the Agricultural Building any time during the week.

COUNCIL MEETING

There were 23 clubs present at the last council meeting. Only one club absent. That really means we have some very active Home Demonstration Club members here in Ouachita parish and we in the extension office are mighty proud of them. Major Whitfield of the juvenile division of Monroe city police brought a message that I wish every parent in Ouachita parish could have heard. It was an excellent talk.

CONDITION OF SOIL

It's almost time to start planting, but there's a job that you should do before buying your shrubbery or plants — and that is to get your soil in good condition. You cannot put your soil in good condition after plants are set out. Soils with good physical condition permit good root growth. Such soils absorb water faster and also drain better. They hold more water, if they contain a good amount of organic matter (humus.)

Organic matter is the best type of material to use for putting soils in good condition. Peat moss and well - rotted compost are perhaps best. The soil should be mixed well with a large amount of humus before setting out plants — a spade full of humus with each spade full of soil is good.

The mulch that is used in summer will usually rot and add humus each year. This should be mixed with top soil a little each year.

If raw organic matter such as un-decomposed leaves or sawdust is added to the soil, you will need to add a little extra nitrogen until this material is well rotted. Otherwise, your plant will not get enough nitrogen and will not grow well.

TEEN-AGERS' FOODS

Teen - agers favorite foods — hot dogs, hamburgers, and ice cream — can be easily included in the daily diet which supplies all required nutrients. To insure their physical well - being, teen-age diet deficiencies should be corrected — better breakfast habits and more nutritious between-meal snacks. The following recommended daily diet supplies a teen - ager's requirement for a day: One quart of Vitamin D milk: three generous portions of protein foods as meats, fish, poultry, eggs, cheese or peanut butter; five servings of fruits and-or vegetables including one dark green or yellow vegetable; one serving of citrus fruit; tomatoes, strawberries, cantaloupe or raw cabbage, or other fruits and vegetables including potatoes.

Although this is a good diet foundation many teen - agers, of course, require greater quantities of these foods — and all of them will eat foods such as butter, margarine and sugars.

Lack of parental guidance or knowledge about food may result in children entering adolescence less healthy and happy and with a poor physical appearance. As teen - agers move toward independence, "going along with the crowd" becomes a must. In many cases, bizarre eating habits become a mark of distinction.

To insure their physical well being, teen - age diet deficiency should be corrected.

Opening lead: Spade king.

Extreme caution by declarer in the play of this hand prevented the loss of a game contract which might have been headed for the rocks.

The final contract was reached by easy stages. After North's response of two diamonds South chose to rebid three clubs. If an objection is raised to this call on the ground that a new suit by opener is not forcing on responder, it should be pointed out that when the response is made at the two level, indicating strength, any showing of a new suit by opener at the level of three is treated as a one round force.

North rebid his diamonds in the hope that this would be least apt to excite partner, and when South rebid three hearts, North, acting in accordance with partner's expectations, proceeded to four.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit. On the third round, routine play by declarer would have been to ruff an then extract trumps, holding the diamond finesse in reserve for an extra trick.

Had declarer indulged in such relaxation a sad ending would have been written to this tale, for when trumps broke in such an indecent manner a heart trick would have been built up for East, which together with the inevitable king of diamonds, would have sent the game contract down to defeat.

South, observing that a 5-1 trump break might ruin the contract, decided not to ruff the third round of spades but to discard a diamond instead. Now there was no return that East could make that would prevent South's taking the rest of the tricks.

It was especially gratifying to declarer that the safety he had purchased for himself at the maximum price of 30 points proved to have cost him nothing at all, for the diamond finesse would have failed anyhow.

The Ruston Quota Club Holds Meeting

The Ruston Quota Club met on Wednesday at a local cafe for their regular meeting.

Mrs. Lillian Pearce, secretary, read the minutes and called the roll.

Mr. Lawson Swearingen, vice - president of William Marbury Insurance in Ruston, gave an interesting talk on insurance and how it has advantages as well as problems.

Three new members were welcomed into the club. They are: Opal Choate, June Moore and Ruth Teagle.

Little Theatre

Workers have been requested to turn in money and applications for Little Theatre membership by this weekend. That will give us just a week to get all the tickets mailed before the gala opening on Friday. Be sure to send your check today to the worker who solicited you or to Mrs. L. H. Carter, 1300 Forsythe.

On Saturday, October 11th, our neighboring town of Columbia will have its third annual art festival in its Community Center. If the weather is good (surely we've had all our quota of rain for awhile), the pictures, sculpture and other art objects will be exhibited outdoors though there is ample room inside the Center in case of showers. This event is of particular interest to us because two of our Little Theatre workers will be featured on the program.

At the morning session, Lallage Feazel will give a reading of the Crucifixion scene from Ben Hur. In the afternoon, Robert H. Evans will speak on the subject "Art Can Be Family Fun". If you want a cultural treat, drive down to Columbia for the day. You can get back to Monroe in plenty of time for the second night of Visit to a Small Planet.

In New York on business this week, Scherck Bogen will find time to see a few shows. Scherck, a member of the Little Theatre publicity committee is — like the rest of us — a drama enthusiast.

When Louis Guerriero, son of the A.M. Guerriero's on Glenmar, came back from the war some years ago, he served as Little Theatre director before he went to live in Brooklyn. Lately he has been acting in summer stock, and in October he will have a part in a New York play called The Time of the Cuckoo. Some of our lucky members who will get to New York this winter will make a point of going to see him and all of us send good wishes for a successful run.

Our Mel Jones, the man in the cast in a cast, is in great demand for performances of a comedy act which he has done in various night clubs as well as on TV. The West Monroe Lions are having him on October 2, and the West Monroe Kiwanis Club on October 9. All this in addition to a full time job at KMLB. Mel's energy is positively atomic.

Many Crying That Our Schools Are Too Soft

By G. K. HODENFIELD
AP Education Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Ever since Sputnik I threw its harsh spotlight on American public schools, a carping refrain has been heard o'er the land:

"Our schools are to soft. There are too many soft and silly courses. We need fewer frills, and more of the good ol' three R's."

In the initial heat of battle, extremists on both sides took stand-and-die positions, and belabored the opposition with facts, figures and fancies.

Now, a year later, there seem to have been some sobering second thoughts. The extremists are still with us, of course. But more and more the charges and countercharges are being boiled down to two basic questions:

Are the American people demanding too much of their schools? And have the schools, in trying to meet these demands, bitten off more than they can chew?

It isn't just a question of soft programs and frill courses. The debate probes hard at the very structure of U.S. education today —education of the complete child, life adjustment, something for everybody.

Take the question of discipline.

Parents wail, "Our kids aren't disciplined in school." And the teachers wail right back, "Parents expect us to educate their children, and train them as well."

Who's really to blame?

Dr. William G. Kvaraceus of Boston University, a long-time student of juvenile delinquency, says it's all part of the American culture of "worklessness."

HARD WORK

"Hard work is going out of style," he says. "And hard work is discipline. School is about the only place left where hard work is a way of life, and the schools are among the few places that still teach discipline."

If today's children aren't being disciplined in the home, as many teachers claim, the American parent is abdicating to the school his responsibility for raising his children properly. If he says "Let the school do it"—and gets way with it—the school program becomes jam packed with life adjustment courses.

That in itself may stand as a good example of the changed pattern of U.S. education. It used to be you got life adjustment at home and education in the schools.

The Oregon Education Policies Commission recently took note of what may be the new American way of life:

"In a busy world . . . of mothers working, and fathers serving the god of success, children are being overindulged to assuage the guilt feelings of adults. They are overfed, overdoctored and overallowanced. . . . They are kept from what should properly be expected of them by parents whose need is to overprotect. Schools become primarily havens of peace for these children, secondarily a place to get an education.

"Much of this has come about through 'social drift,' through an unwillingness on the part of some adult members of society to assume mature parenthood. It should also be noted that many adults are demanding that the schools get tougher, while they ask shorter hours for themselves."

Take the case of frill courses—the real nub of the "too soft" charges.

It's true, to the chagrin of many Americans, that some of our public high schools really have courses in such things as basket weaving, fly casting, telephone etiquette, "how to behave on a date," and folk dancing.

These courses may seem hard to defend, and few educators will even try.

"These are the ridiculous exceptions," they tell you. "They crop up here and there across the country, but the vast majority of our schools don't have anything like them—and never will have. Don't condemn the entire public school system on the basis of a few isolated cases."

All right, but how about the not-quite-so-frilly courses? How about consumer education, family relationships, co-ed cooking, ceramics and nutrition? Are these courses preparing American youth to meet the problems of world leadership in the space age?

SENSITIVE

This touches a sensitive point with most educators.

"It certainly wasn't our idea," they say, "but the pressures are terrific. The schools have to be what the parents want them to be. And American parents showed long ago that they want the schools to be more than just a place to learn Latin, Greek and calculus."

And yet, these same educators find it hard wholly to condemn the system.

We've mentioned the frill courses and the not-so-frilly courses. Now let's consider a non-academic course that has a firm standing in American education and is spreading year by year: driver education.

First off, there are two undoubted advantages to such courses. They reduce the accident rate and lower insurance premiums. It's hard to argue against anything that saves both lives and money.

But the rapid spread of such courses — more than 11,000 high schools now offer them in some form — raises a question: Why should the schools have to devote their time, money and effort in teaching junior to drive the family car? If the courses are worthwhile, why can't they be taken over by the automobile clubs, the police department, or service and civic groups?

Driver education courses, however, are so firmly entranched in the American schools they will probably become permanent fixtures. And educators, whether they like the idea or not, have accepted it.

Commercial Jet Age In 3 Weeks

NEW YORK (UPI) — The full-scale launching of the commercial jet air age still is three weeks away, but as far as the flying public is concerned, it has been here for years.

As long ago as 1952, people started applying for reservations on jet planes that had not even been built.

Airlines had all the first flight reservations they could handle long ago. Now they are being deluged by would-be first flighters, many of whom are even sending deposits.

One of the lucky jet enthusiasts is a Boston executive who travelled on American Airlines' first passenger flight in 1927. He plans to be aboard both Pan American World Airways first trans-Atlantic flight and America's first jet hop across the nation.

Another would-be first flighter is a Los Angeles dentist, who applied for reservations for himself, his wife and child on American's first jet flight back in 1952, before his first child was even born.

HUSBAND'S PLACE

The holder of ticket No. 1 on Pan American's scheduled inaugural flight to Paris and Rome Oct. 26 is Mrs. W. J. Eck, a veteran of four trips around the world. Her husband made the reservation for himself in 1955, but after his death last year, it was transferred to her name.

Eck made Pan American's first trans-Atlantic flight in 1939 and was aboard the first Scandinavian Airlines plane to fly over the polar route from Los Angeles to Copenhagen, Denmark.

His widow plans to make the jet flight a sort of memorial to Eck.

Thousands of persons are clamoring to be among the first passengers on various inaugural jet flights—first across the Atlantic, first across the country, first to Paris, first to London, first from London to New York, and even first to "just anywhere."

Airline employes are plowing through mountains of letters, notes and telephone memos trying to make fair distributions of seats on the few planes that will be available to usher in the jet era.

Pan American, scheduled to set off America's jet age effort with simultaneous flights each way across the Atlantic Oct. 26, has reduced a list of well over 2,000 applicants for its first flight from New York to Paris and Rome to about 500.

But there will be only 111 seats on that first Boeing 707 four-jet transport.

Approximately the same figures apply to the applications for Pan American's first flight from Rome to New York, by way of Paris.

DELUGED

The airline's offices in Chicago and Detroit each have been deluged with up to 200 calls a day asking about space on early jet flights. Other Pan American offices are getting smaller numbers of calls.

A Pan American spokesman said seats on inaugural flights are being distributed both geographically and in the order in which they have been requested.

RIGHT TO KNOW

The People Should Know What Officials Are Doing

By BEM PRICE

WASHINGTON, (AP) — This is National Newspaper Week. And why should anybody but a bunch of newspapermen pay much attention?

There are some 2,700,000,000 people on this planet, about half of whom enjoy political freedom.

The others can neither read, speak, nor pray as and when they please. And above all, they can't go inquiring as citizens and taxpayers—and as newsmen—into the affairs of their government.

Which brings us around to the fact that even in the United States, where a knowing electorate is considered the lifeblood of democracy, there are a good many public officials—federal, state, local—who hold that public business should be conducted like a private matter, especially where newspapers are concerned.

And it brings us to the further fact there is a small group, chiefly newspapermen, fighting to preserve the peoples' right to know on the grounds that if they don't know, democracy is headed for the graveyard.

These men are members of organizations little known to the general public, such as the Associated Press Managing Editors Assn., the American Society of Newspaper Editors, the American Newspaper Publishers Assn., and Sigma Delta Chi, a fraternity of professional news gatherers.

Since June 9, 1955, these fighters for the right-to-know have had an ally in the House Subcommittee on Government Information headed by Rep. John Moss (D-Calif).

Just about every taxpayer complains about the high cost of government, but did you know that:

The Board of Army Engineers for Rivers and Harbors, which handles billions of dollars worth of public works projects, refuses to meet in public or even disclose the votes of board members.

The International Cooperation Administration has refused to make its reports on billions of dollars worth of foreign aid projects public, or even disclose them to Congress or the General Accounting Office which by law is the watchdog over federal spending.

The Defense Department won't even let the General Accounting Office know how it is spending large sums.

The Commerce Department issued orders restricting the meeting of certain officials with congressional committees.

The State Department issued an order restricting contacts between officials and newspapermen seeking background information on foreign policy.

While there is secrecy on the federal level aplenty, it also exists on the state and local level. Boards of education and assorted state and city commissions often meet in secret to set policies and spend public funds.

Through long experience, newspaperman have come to realize that when officials make it a practice to conduct public business in private, the door is open to eventual abuses.

So this business of the public's right to know involves an almost constant struggle on many fronts.

Since World War II it often has appeared that advocates of censorship, secrecy and propaganda have been gaining.

This year the advocates of freedom of information won a major battle though the campaign is far from over.

On Aug. 12 President Eisenhower signed into law a bill aimed at eliminating needless government secrecy. It was a one-line amendment to a 169-year-old law giving department heads the right to set up regulations concerning the use and storage of records.

The original law had been twisted to mean that access to the public's records could be denied merely by regulation. The amendment forbids this. Department heads in the government opposed the measure.

There is some indication of spreading alarm over suppression of information. The University of Missouri has established a Freedom-of-Information Center to keep tabs on abridgement of the public's right to know.

In Virginia the General Assembly passed a resolution urging all agencies of government to grant full access to information.

Right-to-know bills are before the New Jersey Legislature's Judiciary Committee. California already has an open meeting law.

The fight for open meetings lost in Michigan, South Carolina and Kentucky this year but editors have organized to keep up the battle.

Editors have organized in Maine, New Hampshire and West Virginia to fight for the public's right to know. Nebraska and Missouri are launching surveys in secrecy preparatory to a drive for new laws. The Texas Legislature will get a right-to-know bill at its next session.

Florida press groups have endorsed an open meeting proposal. Nevada's editors are planning to seek right-to-know laws next year. South Dakota's editors are in the process of organizing.

OF LANGUAGE, CULTURE

Colombian Girl Hurdles Barriers

By BOB LUCKETT
Staff Writer

Imagine a bewildered young girl being hustled through the puzzling maze of customs and immigration stations at the port of debarkation in New York.

A teenager, alone, weary, exasperated, who had no one to meet her and, although no stranger to English, had difficulty in understanding the language.

This was Jutta Backhaus upon her arrival in the largest city in the world after completing the long voyage across the Atlantic from Germany to the United States just a little more than two weeks ago.

She had come to this country to attend school at Northeast Louisiana State College here where she is now enrolled as a freshman.

Her first impression of the United States?

LONELY

"I was so lonely and confused that I could hardly keep the tears back," Jutta related in her serious manner of expression. "I did not know where to go or what to do. Fortunately I met a girl from my own country who helped me to clear customs and get my papers verified and directed me to the airport."

Her own country is Colombia, South America. She was born there of German parents in the town of Barranquilla where her father owns a soap factory. She has one older brother, Gert.

Both of the parents are bi-lingualists and taught the children Spanish and German as soon as they began to talk.

She and her brother attended a Catholic elementary school and a Protestant missionary high school. All of the classes were conducted in Spanish. German was spoken at home.

After finishing high school, Jutta and her brother were sent to Hanover, Germany to further their education.

Not satisfied with being able to speak just two languages, Jutta enrolled in the Berlitz School of Languages, taking English and French. Her brother studied engineering.

NEXT YEAR

For the next year and a half Jutta took the rigorous languages courses. Commenting on her extensive language training, Jutta said, "I attended classes five days a week for about eight hours each day. In my spare time I studied."

Offered several teaching positions on the continent while at the Berlitz School, she declined them to attend college.

Jutta was in a quandary as to whether she should go to college in England or in the United States. "What finally made up my mind," Jutta said, "was my comparison of an Englishman and an American I knew in Hanover."

"The Englishman was so reserved and formal and I seldom saw him smile. His stiff bearing and cool manner left me with the impression that England must be a culturally strict country with an atmosphere of solemness."

"On the other hand, the American was always smiling and joking, so by the same token, he gave me the impression that America must be a cheerful, friendly place. So my problem was solved; I chose America."

After her decision to come to America, Jutta began to correspond with a friend in Shreveport who sent her numerous catalogues from colleges and universities located in various parts of the country. Finally, after much deliberation, she picked Northeast.

Speaking in her measured, grammatically correct English, the attractive Colombian said, "When I first arrived in America, I could not understand the language so well because most Americans speak so fast, slur the words, and use a lot of slang and bad grammar."

Now she has little trouble in understanding American English but must watch the speaker's lips and still finds it hard to carry on a telephone conversation in Monroe.

Since being in Monroe, Jutta has seen her first American movies, "Cat on a Hot Tin Roof" and "Damn Yankees." She described the musical as "fantastic."

Jutta is taking all of the courses that any freshman at Northeast usually takes, including algebra, English, geometry and psychology. English is her hardest while psychology is her most interesting course.

Her favorite pastime is reading books, especially the classics. She has read "Gone With the Wind" in German, several Shakespearian plays in Spanish and many other books in French and English.

Commenting on the American way of life, the pretty brunette said, "You Americans have so many mechanical conveniences and really live a life of luxury compared to the people in South America and Germany."

AMAZED

"I was simply amazed at the number of cars here. They are much larger than the ones in Germany and probably are extremely expensive to run."

"In Germany most of the people ride bicycles, both young and old. Even college professors ride them to class in Hanover. Here a bicycle seems to be only a children's toy."

Unlike other foreign students going to Northeast under the student exchange program, Jutta entered this country under an immigration quota and will be permitted to remain here and work when she finishes her schooling.

She has made no definite plans as to what she wants to do after spending a year here but is contemplating being an air stewardess or a linguist.

Her advice to anyone trying to learn a foreign language is to get lots of practice speaking the language. "No matter how foolish you may think you sound, that is the only way to learn."

Good advice from someone who has mastered four languages and doesn't sound foolish at all.

All over the world young people like this Latin American girl are braving the loneliness and strangeness of a foreign country, transcending the language and cultural barriers that criss cross over the globe, weaving a cryptic and diverse pattern.

Jutta Backhaus and others like her, by their courage and thirst for learning, are laying the cornerstone for better world understanding, a foundation so essential in facing the turbulent tomorrow.

U.S. Ambassador Decorates Britons

LONDON (AP)—U.S. Ambassador John Hay Whitney Friday decorated five Britons who pioneered modern day aircraft carrier equipment. Whitney said all the free world was indebted to the men.

They were: Rear Adm. Dennis Royle Campbell, Legion of Merit; Cmdr. Hillary Goodhart, Legion of Merit; civilians Lewis Boddington, Dennis Lean and Colin Mitchell, Medal of Freedom.

Balloon Ride Is Thrilling But It Is A Big Crazy Idea

By ARNOLD ZEITLIN

VALLEY FORGE, Pa. (AP) — What makes a man—or woman—climb into a little wicker basket and go bobbing up thousands of feet in the air under a fat balloon stuffed with cooking gas?

What makes him enjoy hanging there, dreamy and happy, with only the thin skin of that balloon between him and destruction?

I don't know.

But I did try it—once.

It was a sunny morning when I clambered with four other people into a frail-looking basket about 8 by 6 feet. Above us, the round silver balloon tugged restlessly at the ropes holding it to the ground. A friend shook his head.

"I think you're cray," he said.

I thought probably he was right.

Excited volunteers let go the lines. The balloon lurched eagerly into the sky, our basket trailing 10 feet below, held by a sort of foot high bag.
cargo net thrown over the big 0-

I stood tensely on the sand bags, each weighing about 30 pounds, which covered the bottom of the basket. As passengers go, I was a seven-bag man and I was afraid any movement would rock the boat.

The balloon soared soundlessly upward at 200 feet a minute. The world swept under us, around us, above us. But we were still.

"No sway," I remarked.

Pilot Peter Pelligrino misunderstood my tone. "No sway?" he repeated. "I can make it sway if you want."

CRIED

"No, no!" I cried.

Cautiously, I edged forward to look over the side. The basket's rim came up to my nervous middle. We were at 2,000 feet.

Below us, Pensylvania countryside was a green quilt, its neat squares of cultivated land sliced by precise highways and snaky rivers with punctuation dots of shiny green backyard swimming pools.

The basket was crowded, but friendly.

I peered over the side again. The balloon's noiseless shadow slid across the countryside.

I could see what Anthony Fairbanks meant. Fairbanks, 52-year-old aeronautical engineer from Swarthmore, Pa., who founded the Balloon Club of America six years ago, had tried to explain the lure of free flight before we took off.

"There's no noise, no moving parts," he said. "Troubles fade away in the silence." Then he added: "There's danger, all right. The pilot it always thinking, 'I hope she holds.' It's a long way down."

"What happens if we fall? I asked.

Pelligrino looked at me distastefully.

"Stay in the basket," he advised. "It's the safest place." I agreed with him—he said the only alternative was to jump out.

Balloonists can qualify as pilots after six practice flights and one solo. There are only two controls —up and down. Directionwise, balloonists go with the wind.

Balloon Club of America members pay $25 a flight, nonmembers pay $50. They arise at 3 a.m. to spend four hours filling the balloon with ordinary natural gas at $100 a flight. Leftover money is used to send equipment to Europe for races. Last year, club members finished fifth in a nine-balloon race in Holland.

Balloons sell for $48,000 new in Europe. The Pennsylvania club has six, all bought for a song from the Navy's balloon station in Lakehurst, N. J. The CAA inspects and licenses balloons for nothing.

Pellegrino began looking for a place to land. "After a couple of hours of this, I get bored," he said. The altimeter said we were at 3,800 feet-an average height, said Pelligrino.

Releasing gas and tossing sand, Pelligrino started the balloon sinking slowly downward. "Watch out for wires," he said, explaining that a brush against a live wire could mean explosion and fire.

I could see we were heading for a field of tall grass surrounded by wires. To the west—the direction we were drifting—was a large, wet pond.

TOWARD

The balloon swung toward the wires. Pelligrino threw out a long, 65-pound drag rope. It slowed us. Below, the club members who had tracked us by car grabbed the rope and reeled us in.

About 100 feet from the ground, Pelligrino turned to me. "Don't jump out" he said. I told him I wouldn't dream of it. "Bend your legs," he shouted as the basket settled easily into the grass.

I scrambled out. The balloon bounced, frisky after losing a seven-bag passenger. People who appeared in droves clutched the baskt. We had traveled seven miles in two hours.

Safely down, Pelligrino and I tracked another club flight by Francis Shields, a 36 - year - old millwright from Green Ridge, Pa.

His balloon floated higher and higher until it was a speck and the basket invisible.

Then it grew larger, the bag changing from a chubby sphere to a leaner pear. "They're losing gas too fast," worried Pelligrino.

Sand streamed from the basket as Shields fought to slow the plunge. The balloon drooped toward Whitemarsh, a heavily populated area. The crew tossed out four portable chairs and a hamper of ham sandwiches.

"They're in trouble," said Pelligrino when the sandwiches tumbled out.

The balloon caught on a tree limb and hung limply over the burial ground of St. Thomas Episcopal church about 10 miles from Philadelphia.

Shields said the sun had heated the gas and expanded it, sending the balloon soaring to 9,000 feet. Then the gas seeped out and plunged down at 600 feet a minute.

Club members deflated the balloon, packed it on a trailer and climbed into their cars.

"Understand now," Pelligrino said to me, "This has been another ordinary day."

Airline Safety Is Full Time Job

By WES COOK
Associated Press Writer

A red light flickered in the airplane control panel. An alarm bell split the muffled roar of the four big engines.

"Fire in number three," snapped the pilot.

Pilot, copilot, and engineer moved swiftly but smoothly to cut off the flaming engine, block its flow of oil and gasoline and set off the built in extinguisher to smother the fire.

A few minutes later the aircraft settled to the runway, tires squealing softly, and taxied gently to its parking place.

The crew unfastened safety belts and stepped from the cockpit onto the second floor of a building in downtown Kansas City.

They had just completed a trouble-plagued make-believe flight from Kansas City to Los Angeles. The nightmare flight included a fouled-up landing gear, engine failure, severe icing and other assorted difficulties.

Pretend flights in cockpits exactly like those of the big passenger planes—complete with sound effects—is one way in which airlines battle for greater safety in the sky.

CRASHES

Two recent crashes were grim reminders that the battle is never won. A KLM airliner went down in the Atlantic, killing 99 and a Northeast Airline plane crashed on the East Coast, claiming 23 lives.

But Jim Pyle, chief of the Civil Aeronautics Administration, says air travel is four times safer than going by automobile.

In 1957, the combined U.S. scheduled domestic and international airlines had a fatality rate of only one passenger for 500 million passenger miles.

The CAA is working on a modernized program for air traffic control to avoid airplane collisions while the airlines themselves are working to prevent mechanical and human break-downs.

Airlines insist on putting veteran pilots and crews through refresher courses in emergency procedures—such as Trans World Airlines' Kansas City simulated cockpit course—year after year.

And Airlines keep an eagle eye on their personnel and their plans.

"We monitor the performance of our equipment and personnel 24 hours a day through a world-wide network of communications," said Jim Davis, director of line maintenance for TWA.

"In addition to preflight inspections, planes are subjected to more probing examinations after every 35 hours of flight.

"And at the end of every 160 hours logged by the aircraft, it is grounded while we spend some 200 man hours in cleaning, repairing and replacing."

"It is a great tragedy," said one airline official, "that a part of the price of progress in aviation has been the loss of loved ones.

"But it would be an even greater tragedy if we failed to take corrective action resulting in greater safety for other air passengers."

EXPLAINS ACHING BACKS

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (UPI) — The California State Department of Mental Hygiene said failure to come to grips with everyday emotional problems is the most common cause of the common backache. It explained that such problems cause an excess of muscle function and electrical activity which lead to a gradual accumulation of potasium in the tissues.

What Does Pilot Think Of When His Plane's On Fire?

EDITOR'S NOTE: What goes through an airline pilot's mind when his plane is on fire? On Sept. 21, United Airlines Flight 705 left Washington National Airport for San Francisco with 58 passengers and a crew of five. Exactly 36 minutes later, the pilot safely landed the DC7 back at the airport with one engine aflame. This is the dramatic story of those 36 minutes, based on interviews with the crew and airport personnel.

By ROBERT J. SERLING
United Press International

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Flight 705, Capt. W. W. Breeding commanding, left the ground smoothly at 12:18 p. m. EDT.

Ground controller Ralph Johnson noted the time and told 705 to shift to departure control. 705 swam up through the heavy overcast. In the cabin, stewardesses Iris Peterson and Dorothy Smith unhooked their seat belts and started passing out magazines for what should have been a long flight.

In Washington departure control, controller Herb Auxier watched the tiny radar "blip" that represented a million-dollar DC7 and 63 human beings. He flicked on his mike.

"United seven zero five. We have you in radar contact, a mile south."

705 acknowledged politely. At 12:30 p.m., the flight called Auxier.

"Washington, this is United seven zero five."

Flight engineer Merle Akins had just noticed oil pressure dropping on No. 4 engine. But he didn't need the instrument to tell him something was wrong. He could sense it. It was even noticeable to one of the stewardesses, pert Iris Peterson, a comparative veteran on her job.

"I think we've got troubles with No. 4," she said to stewardess Smith.

"How can you tell?"

"I don't really know," Miss Peterson admitted. "I just feel it."

A puff of black smoke came from No. 4, like the backfire on an automobile. Stewardess Peterson, with a nonchalant smile and nodding to passengers, strode down the blue-carpeted aisle to the cockpit and closed the cabin door behind her.

"There was some smoke from No. 4," she said to Akins.

CAN'T FEATHER

Akins nodded. Stewardess Peterson hesitated, started to say something to the frowning Capt. Breeding, then left the cockpit. Breeding was just trying to raise Washington departure control.

"Washington, this is United seven zero five."

Auxier: "United seven zero five, this is Washington Departure Control. Over."

UAL 705: "We're maintaining 3,000. We just feathered No. 4.

Auxier: "You say you just feathered No. 4?"

UAL 705: "We've just feathered No. 4."

Auxier: "Okay, you want to return to Washington, is that correct?"

UAL 705: "We'll decide what we want to do in a couple of minutes."

Auxier: "What's the nature of the trouble?"

UAL 705: "Well, we're still trying to feather No. 4."

Eastern Flight 573 left National and checked in with departure control, but Auxier—slightly concerned but calm—told Eastern to stand by and again called 705.

"United seven zero five, can you circle where you are now to the right?"

UAL 705: "Roger, United seven zero four, we've got a runaway on No. 4 and we'll maintain our present position. We're at 25-hundred holding and circling to the right."

At this point, Breeding summoned stewardess Peterson, senior cabin attendant, and told her to move passengers out of the line of the windmilling propellor on No. 4. A windmilling prop, if unfeathered, could shake loose and pierce the cabin. Stewardess Peterson returned to the cabin, announced calmly that for precautionary reasons some passengers would have to move away from the balky engine. The two girls, still smiling and chatting witn the passengers, moved 16 out of their forward seats to the aisle in the rear.

CIRCLES

Auxier wanted to know if Breeding wanted to return to the field immediately.

"Negative," said 705, "we've got to shut the engine down first."

Auxier: "Okay. Continue circling in that area and keep me advised."

Auxier began moving other traffic away from United 705. Then he heard from the crippled flight again.

UAL 705: "Washington departure, we're still maintaining 2,500 and we're roughly over Herndon (Va.). We're unable to feather No. 4. We're going to dump some fuel and we'd like to come back. What's your weather there?"

Breeding's voice was matter-of-fact, but the control tower realized that with the crew unable to feather the engine, a fire was possible if not probable. Supervisor Glen Tigner picked up an emergency phone and alerted the airport fire department.

UAL 705: "Washington Departure, we're proceeding back, and we'll be holding at 2,500 and we're going to have to dump gas, so will you give us a clearance to hold at Springfield (a radio check point) and we'll be off the air for awhile."

CIVIL RIGHTS ISSUE?

Gravel Meet Set Wednesday

BATON ROUGE (AP)—Louisiana Democrats, famous for family fussing, stage another showdown scrap here Wednesday over removal of Camille Gravel as national committeeman.

This time, its different. Segregation overshadows the customary namecalling. The issue cuts across traditional Long and anti-Long factional lines.

Gravel's foes say his endorsement of the national party position on civil rights legislation betrayed the South when its back was to the wall on segregation.

Gravel insists its all political. Gov. Earl Long, he says, wants to punish him for taking the wrong side in the Eighth District race for Congress. Gravel backed a winner. Long had the loser.

Most observers expect the State Central Committee to oust the Alexandria attorney but there is no assurance the national committee will recognize his successor.

Gravel is a close friend of national chairman Paul Butler and represents the South on the Democratic national advisory council. Vice chairman Sam Brightman said last Thursday only the national committee can remove a member.

Butler said he would withhold comment until after the committee acts Wednesday.

In 1950, the state committee fired W. H. Talbott of New Orleans, key man in the Dixiecrat movement that took Louisiana's Electoral votes away from former President Truman in 1948.

Talbott was ousted at request of the national committee because he bolted the party. Gov. Long was named in his place, and had some time left to serve when former Gov. Robert Kennon won the nomination and took over party control.

The committee under Kennon removed both Gov. Long and the national committeewoman, Mary Evelyn Dickerson (now Welfare Commissioner Parker). Neither ever contested the move.

Whatever the issue, the meeting in the House chamber at the state capitol promises to be colorful and explosive. In the spotlight are three tough political battlers.

Gravel, a leading Catholic layman, has been active in Louisiana politics for more than a decade. He was a key man in Gov. Long's campaign for governor in 1956, but split with the governor.

Even though the odds appear to be against him, Gravel is fighting hard for his job. He plans a New Orleans television appearance Sunday afternoon, then a half hour program over a statewide radio-television network Monday night.

Long, three-time governor and brother of the late Huey P. Long has been active in every governor's race since 1924.

Sen. W. M. Rainacr, Louisiana segregation leader who spearheaded the drive to remove Gravel, is serving his fifth term in the Legislature. He is anti-Long, but agrees with the governor on Gravel's removal.

The north Louisiana lawmaker also is a top leader of the southwide Citizens Councils of America.

The drive to fire Gravel began more than a year ago, but no central committee session was possible until Long gave his approval.

Rainach said the action of southerners such as Gravel encouraged the Eisenrower administration "to go to extremes in attempting to force integration."

This, the segregation leader added, was "very definitely a factor in the Little Rock affair.

"Gravel's stand gave both national parties a false picture of the real feeling of the people of the South," Rainach said. "He has seriously undercut the Southern position at a time when the South has had its back to the wall.

"We know we can't win this fight with people in high positions betraying us at every step."

Gravel, defending his vote on the Democratic national advisory council in support of civil rights legislation, said he pledged on election as national committeeman to support "the nominees of the national party and the platform. . . ."

When Congress enacted the civil rights act last year, Gravel said, "the civil rights bill is what it should be — a bill that seeks to protect the right to vote"

In a statement, he commented, "purely as a moral proposition, I think segregation is wrong. Legally the matter is settled to the extent that the U.S. district courts are empowered to enforce or delay integration as required by local conditions.

"Socially, economically and emotionally an attempt to integrate the schools in Louisiana at this time might well prove disastrous."

But when Long jumped into the fray, after staying out for more than a year, Gravel shifted his fire. He hammed at the "unholy marriage" between Long and Rainach.

"This whole meeting is a political deal between the governor, who could not get me to support his candidate for Congress and Sen. Rainach, who wants to keep this controversy boiling without any respect for the true facts. . ."

Central committee vice chairman Jett Talbott of Bernice, a Long supporter, triggered the drive June 30, 1957. He asked for help from Rainach's legislative "watch dog" committee on segregation.

Segregation groups hammered away through the summer and fall.

Chairman Rufus Hayes of Baton Rouge, a Long political ally, said he would call the committee into session only if a majority of the 101 members asked for it in writing.

Although the call to quit echoed over the South — picked up by Democratic leaders in Georgia and South Carolina — the central committee did not meet.

Until recently, Long's position was, "I don't think I would have voted the way Gravel did, but I'm not criticizing him for doing it. . . Looks like a majority of the Democratic party is for that."

MONROE

EASON PLACE

LIVE WIRE! Our phone, that is—for when word of the "new listing" gets around, bells will be a-buzzin'! It's a "heckuva" nice place, just 3 years old, and well kept inside and out. And just add these features: large bedrooms (11x14, 11x14, and 11x16 — one with 2 closets), 14x24 living room and dining area with entry closet, kitchen has gleaming white cabinets with Formica tops, ventahood ... also shower over tub, attic fan, Venetian blinds, drapes, Coleman wall heating, carport, storage, and on a 75x125 ft. lot with St. Augustine, shrubbery, and well-arranged flower beds. $400 down plus closing is all it takes, so why not give us a "buzz" and we'll show you through!

SOUTH 8TH

8 CLOSETS! JUST COUNT 'EM! And that's just one of the many good features to be found in this 2 bedroom home, that's just 3 years "young". There's also the kitchen with its dining area and natural finish cabinets, bath with shower over tub, wall furnace, attic fan, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, 4x5 storage, and fenced back yard. Just a short walk (4 blocks) to Plum St. School. Priced at only $8500 with $300 down plus closing. Call now, it'll only take a minute to be on our way to show you through!

CAMELLIA

NOT A "LICK OF WORK" TO DO before moving into this 2-year-old red brick home, thanks to the meticulous care of the owner. Among its 1113 sq. ft. are to be found: 3 bedrooms with large closets, kitchen with natural finish cabinets and ventahood, striking black and white ceramic tile bath with shower over tub ... plus Venetian blinds, central heating, 42 in. attic fan, carport, and storage. On a 75x100 ft. lot, just 4 blocks to school! $450 down plus closing will move you in — wanta' look?

SOUTH 5TH

IF AN AD HAD SOUND EFFECTS, there'd be an "appreciative whistle" for this pink brick home with its attractive wrought iron trim, set on a well manicured (75x142) lawn with St. Augustine and good shrubbery. As you go inside, there's a paneled entry ... and throughout the house there's the most beautiful hardwood floors you'll see in many a day! There's also a spacious (14x22) living room, separate dining room, 2 bedrooms with good closet space, kitchen with well-arranged cabinets, vent-a-hood. And that's not all: oak floors, floor furnace, attic fan, Venetian blinds and drapes included, washer and dryer connections, carport, and storage ... and it's just 3 blocks to school. $400 down plus closing will move you in. You'll like everything about this home, and we'd like very much to show it to you today!

FRANCES ST.

GRAB THAT PHONE, if you're looking for a family home in Sterlington. We "have the goods" in this 3 bedroom home with its metal cabinets and dining area in the kitchen, hardwood floors, floor furnace, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, and disappearing stairway to attic. On a corner lot, just 2 blocks to school! If you grab the phone and call, we'll grab the car keys and be on our way to show!

GEORGIA ST.

JUST BEND THINE EAR and let us tell you all about this new lising: both bedrooms are nice size (12x12 and 12x14), and there's a separate dining room, 7x14 screened porch, plus oak floors, floor furnace, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, and fenced back yard, with pecan trees and shrubbery. Priced at $8300 and a small down payment ($300 plus closing) will make you the new owner. But better than telling you about it, let us show you today!

LEXINGTON AVE.

ZING! BULL'S EYE! Here's that home with charm you've spent so much time looking for? Its 3 years "young" and modern to the "Nth" degree. Featuring modern glass walls in the living room (with sliding glass door to patio), separate dining room, and 12x24 den (with planter). And the kitchen solves your cooking problems: excellent cabinet space (Formica tops, some with sliding glass doors), undercounter lights, ventahood, and even the dishwasher and range are included. Master bedroom has a wall of built-ins including chest of drawers, sewing machine cabinet, and 2 double sliding door closets. 2nd bedroom has built-in chifferobe and chest of drawers. The ceramic tile bath has built-in dressing table, and shower over tub. And its CENTRALLY AIR CONDITIONED AND HEATED, has double carport, 13x19 storage, and its own private well for air conditioning system and lawn care. What more could you want? Let's go see!

STANDIFER

OPPORTUNITY IS KNOCKING your door right off its hinges if you're looking for an older home in a good neighborhood! Here's a 2 bedroom (11x14 and 14x14) home that has a separate dining room, 6x28 front porch, pine floors, Venetian blinds, drapes in the living room and dining room, washer plumbing ... and it's on a 150x150 ft. lot with shade trees! Conveniently located 2 blocks from school and near churches. Priced at $8500 — local financing available. If you're ready to answer the "knock of opportunity", just call!

COLE

STOP WHAT YOU'RE DOING and let us show you this 3 bedroom home planned for maximum family livin'! There's play room galore on its large (140x165) tree covered lot (and for rainy days, the "kids" can stay from underfoot by playing in the attached garage and carport). And inside, you'll find a spacious (12x24) living room, separate dining room, ventahood, oak floors, blinds, 42 inch attic fan, and storage with tool chest, 220 wiring, and washer plumbing. If you'll stop now and call, we'll gladly show!

SOUTH 7TH

UGH! THAT AWFUL RENT! And what's more, it's not necessary — not when you can buy your own home for only $300 down plus closing! We have such a home with many good features: There's 2 bedrooms, kitchen with good cabinet space and dining area, wall furnace, Venetian blinds, washer plumbing, 110 and 220 wiring, carport and storage. And the yard has St. Augustine, good shrubbery and trees (Chinaberry, plum, fig, and mimosa). Full price? Only $8500! We're a-waitin' your call to see!

LEXINGTON AVE.

THIS ONE WILL SELL ITSELF! All you gotta do is look! Its well-arranged floor plan contains 1363 sq. ft. of "plus" features as: wall-to-wall carpeting in living room-dining area, and hall; centrally air conditioned and heated; 3 bedrooms; pine paneled den with built-in bar, ¾ ton air conditioner, and sliding door closet. And the kitchen includes dishwasher, built-in drop leaf breakfast table, Formica topped cabinets, ventahood. There's also a blue ceramic tile bath with shower over tub; drapes; carport and 2 storage rooms ... and a pleasing lawn with barbecue pit. Yep! All you gotta do is look, and we're ready to show!

FLORIDA

MEAN AND LOW DOWN! Yep, the owner MEANS business and has cut the price LOW DOWN ($7500) for quick sale! There's 2 bedrooms (12x14 and 12x12), kitchen and dining area withe ventahood, linoleum tops on cabinets ... plus oak floors, venetian blinds, washer plumbing. Only $250 down plus closing and you can have almost immediate occupancy. Call now—we'll gladly show.

COLE

IF YOU DON'T THINK THIS ONE'S A "STEAL" after reading the following ... call for an appointment and see for yourself! The surprisingly low price of $10,300 buys a newly decorated home with breakfast bar, built-in ironing board, very good cabinet space ... and the crowning glory is the 13x24 step-down den with walls of beaded plywood, and glass block and casement windows. All this plus Venetian blinds, floor furnace, oak floors, attached garage and storage, lot 60x160 with cyclone fenced back yard with fruit and shade trees GALORE! Only $800 down and assume loan. As I said, it's a steal!

SOUTH 4TH ST.

WELL, THAT'S THE WAY THE OLD BALL BOUNCES The owners have outgrown this neat home and must move to a larger home. There's much good value to be found here, just look: it's been newly decorated in very good taste inside; there's 2 bedrooms, good closet space including 2 hall closets (one with shelves), blinds, wall furnaces, curtains included ... and a fenced back yard with St. Augustine. BLONDIE
by CHIC YOUNG
HOW ABOUT BAKING YOUR HONEY BOY ONE OF YOUR DELICIOUS ANGEL-FOOD CAKES?
SURE, DARLING
OH, HERBERT-- I JUST REMEMBERED-- I'M OUT OF SUGAR
I'LL BORROW A CUP FROM THE BUMSTEADS
BLONDIE-- CAN I BORROW A CUP---
HERB--YOU'RE JUST THE MAN WE NEED--COME IN
I'M HAVING MY ANNUAL FURNITURE-MOVING SPREE AND I NEEDED ANOTHER BIG, STRONG MAN TO HELP
AM I GETTING ANY HELP IN THE BACK?
SURE, HERB
THANK YOU SO MUCH, HERB--- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF SUGAR
JUST ONE MOMENT, BLONDIE, UNTIL I CATCH MY BREATH
LOOK, HERBERT-- I FOUND A A WHOLE BOX OF SUGAR I DIDN'T KNOW I HAD
I'LL RETURN THIS CUP OF SUGAR-- I DON'T WANT TO BE OBLIGATED TO THE BUMSTEADS
BLONDIE--- HERE'S YOUR CUP OF--
OH, HERB, I'M SO GLAD YOU CAME BACK--WE NEED YOU AGAIN
WE DECIDED TO GET RID OF THE OLD PIANO AND HAVE IT CARTED AWAY
THIS IS THE LAST-- I'M GOING BACK HOME
THAT BUMSTEAD DRIVES ME CRAZY!
STOP STOMPING
NOW LOOK--YOU RUINED THE CAKE BY STOMPING THRU THE KITCHEN LIKE THAT MY BEAUTIFUL CAKE!
IT'S DAGWOOD, DEAR-- HE CAME OVER FOR A PIECE OF CAKE
I'LL GIVE HIM A PIECE OF CAKE!
CHIC YOUNG 10-5

Dick Tracy
I NEVER KNEW FOOD COULD BE SO GOOD, EH, WHITEHALL?
RIGHTO! ANOTHER PIECE OF THAT BEEF, IF YOU PLEASE.
WE SENT MESSAGES TO YOUR RESPECTIVE HOME OFFICES, GENTLEMEN.
ALSO WE REQUESTED THAT YOUR FAMILIES BE GIVEN THE GOOD NEWS OF YOUR RESCUE.
FURTHERMORE, HERE'S A TELEPHONE. YOU MAY TALK TO YOUR WIVES DIRECT, IF YOU WISH.
---FROM NOW ON, TESS, I'LL ALWAYS HAVE A WARM PLACE IN MY HEART FOR MISSILE NOSE CONES---
HONEY, BONNIE BRAIDS WANTS TO SAY HELLO.
---"BOTH TRACY AND WHITEHALL ABOARD CRASH BOAT 267 HEADED FOR HAVANA. HEALTH GOOD--BOTH WILL BE TAKEN TO CENTRAL HOSPITAL, HAVANA, FOR CHECKUP."
CHIEF, HOW ABOUT MY TAKING AN AFTERNOON PLANE TO CUBA? I'D LIKE TO BE THERE WHEN HE ARRIVES.
GREAT, SAM!
MEANWHILE
YOU SEE, DROPPER, THAT FLOODING BASEMENT OF MINE WILL FINISH MISS EGGHEAD. LATER, WHEN WE RETURN TO THE HOUSE, WE'LL SPIRIT THE BODY TO A PUBLIC PARK WHERE IT CAN BE FOUND.
AND MISS EGGHEAD WILL BE JUST ANOTHER DROWNING VICTIM OF THE HURRICANE.
I DON'T LIKE IT!
HER $50,000
CHICORY, GO BACK AND FINISH THE JOB! SUPPOSE RESCUE PARTIES FIND THE BODY BEFORE YOU GET IT OUT?
HA! DON'T KID YOURSELF. RESCUERS WILL BE TOO BUSY IN THE LOWER SECTIONS OF TOWN TO CHECK MY PLACE.
AND MISS EGGHEAD FACES HER FATE, PANIC-STRICKEN AND HORRIFIED.
THAT WAS A FOOTSTEP! I KNOW IT WAS A FOOTSTEP ON THE FLOOR ABOVE.
IS SOMEONE COMING TO SAVE ME??

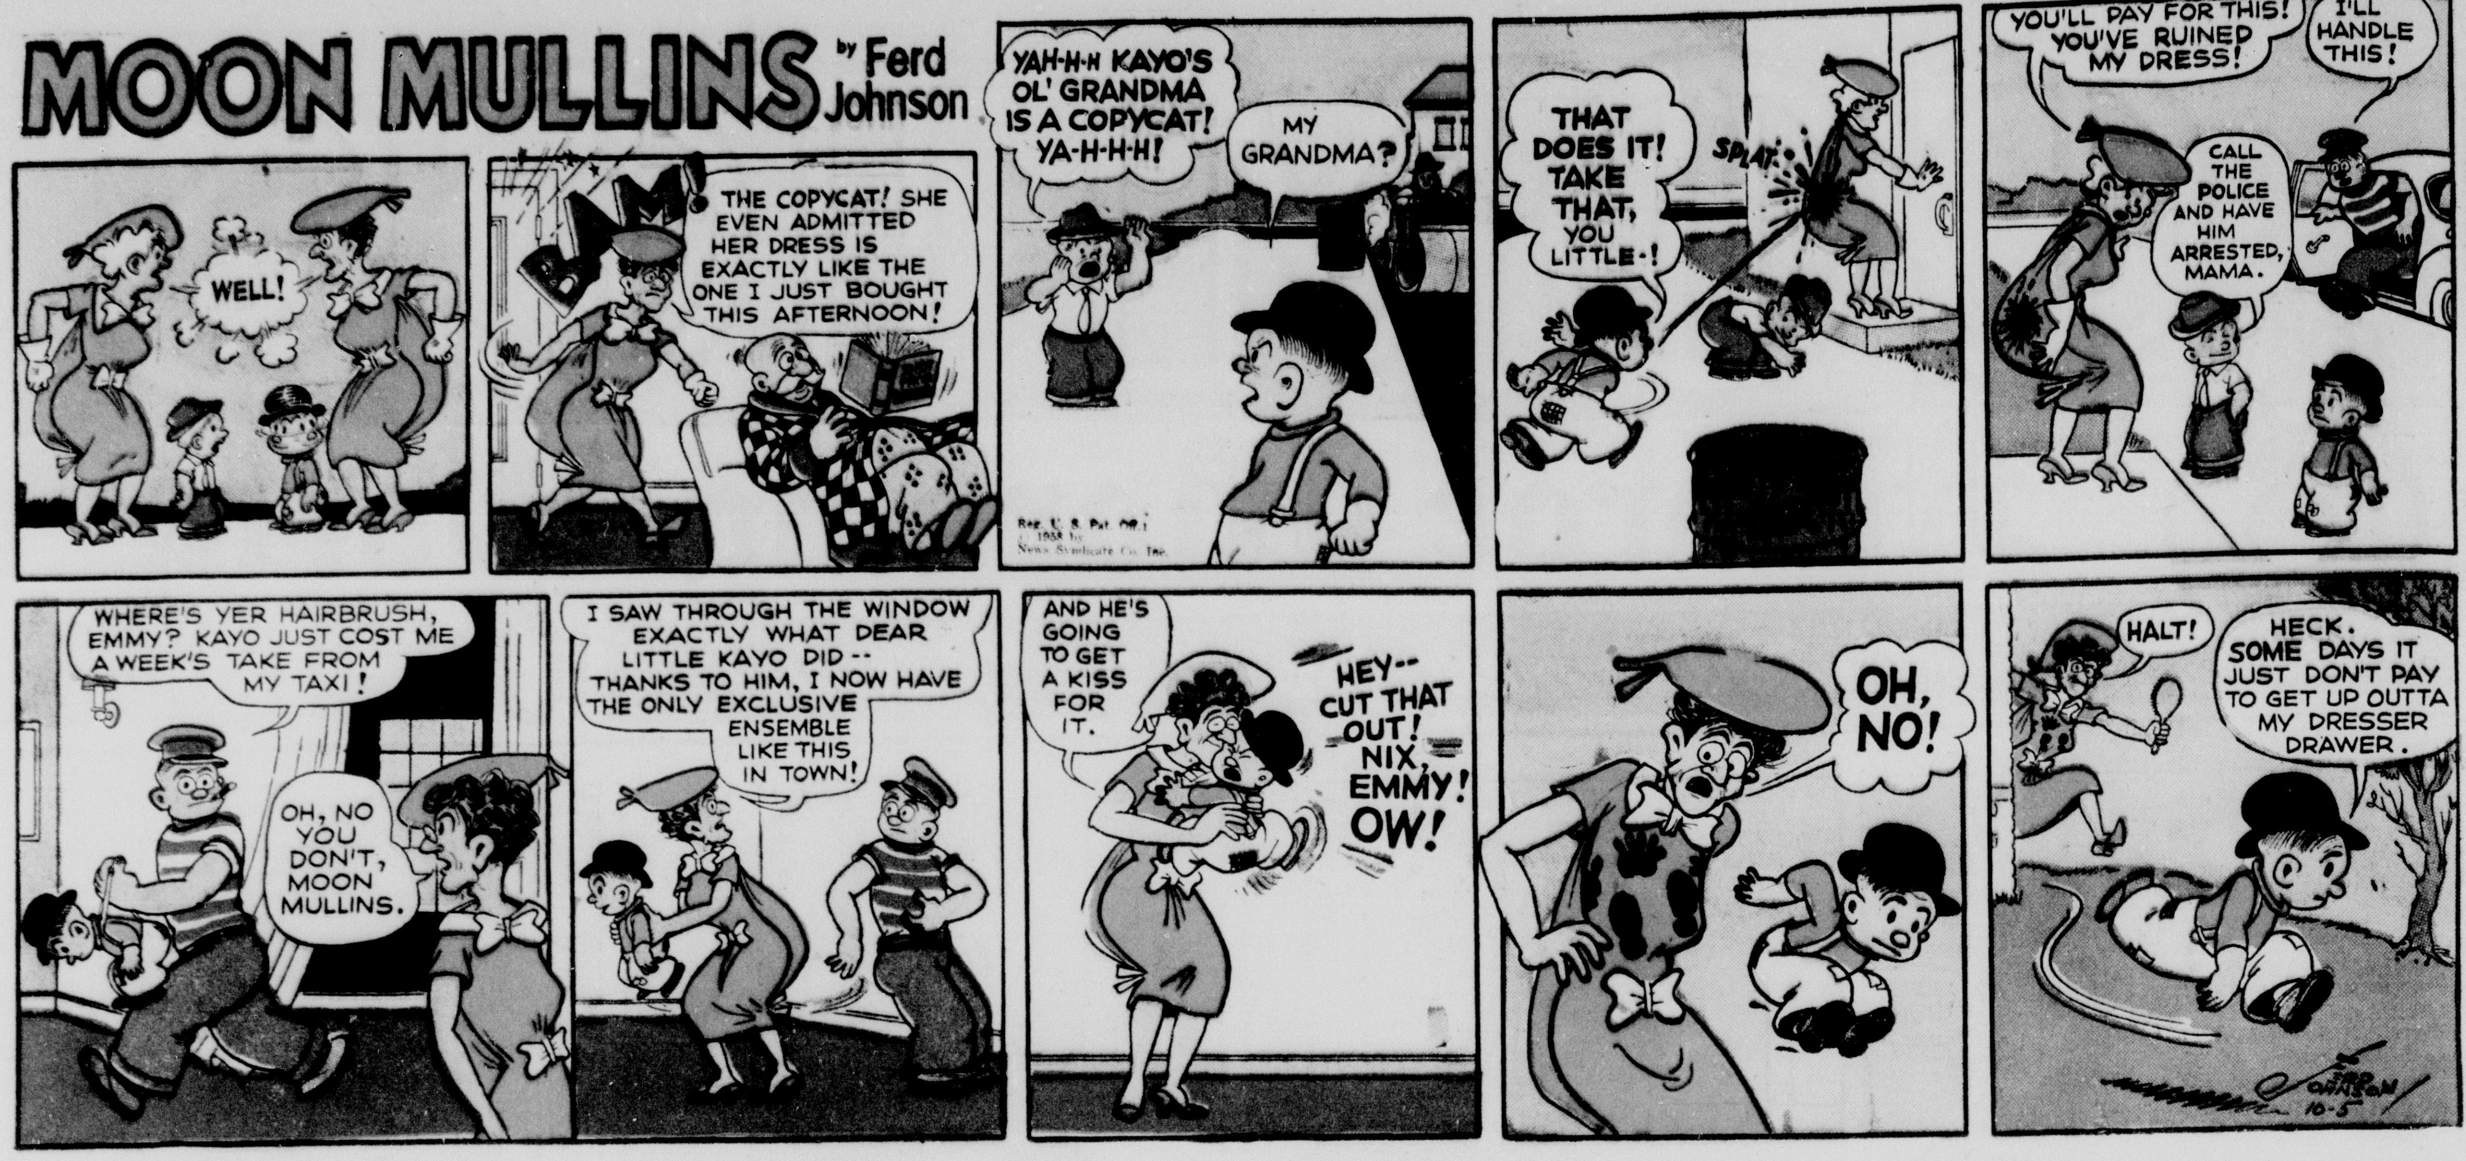
MOON MULLINS

by Ferd Johnson



WELL!
BAM!
THE COPYCAT! SHE EVEN ADMITTED HER DRESS IS EXACTLY LIKE THE ONE I JUST BOUGHT THIS AFTERNOON!
YAH-H-H KAYO'S OL' GRANDMA IS A COPYCAT! YA-H-H-H!
MY GRANDMA?
THAT DOES IT! TAKE THAT, YOU LITTLE-!
SPLAT
YOU'LL PAY FOR THIS! YOU'VE RUINED MY DRESS!
I'LL HANDLE THIS!
CALL THE POLICE AND HAVE HIM ARRESTED, MAMA.
WHERE'S YER HAIRBRUSH, EMMY? KAYO JUST COST ME A WEEK'S TAKE FROM MY TAXI!
OH, NO YOU DON'T, MOON MULLINS.
I SAW THROUGH THE WINDOW EXACTLY WHAT DEAR LITTLE KAYO DID -- THANKS TO HIM, I NOW HAVE THE ONLY EXCLUSIVE ENSEMBLE LIKE THIS IN TOWN!
AND HE'S GOING TO GET A KISS FOR IT.
HEY-- CUT THAT OUT! NIX, EMMY! OW!
OH, NO!
HALT!
HECK. SOME DAYS IT JUST DON'T PAY TO GET UP OUTTA MY DRESSER DRAWER.

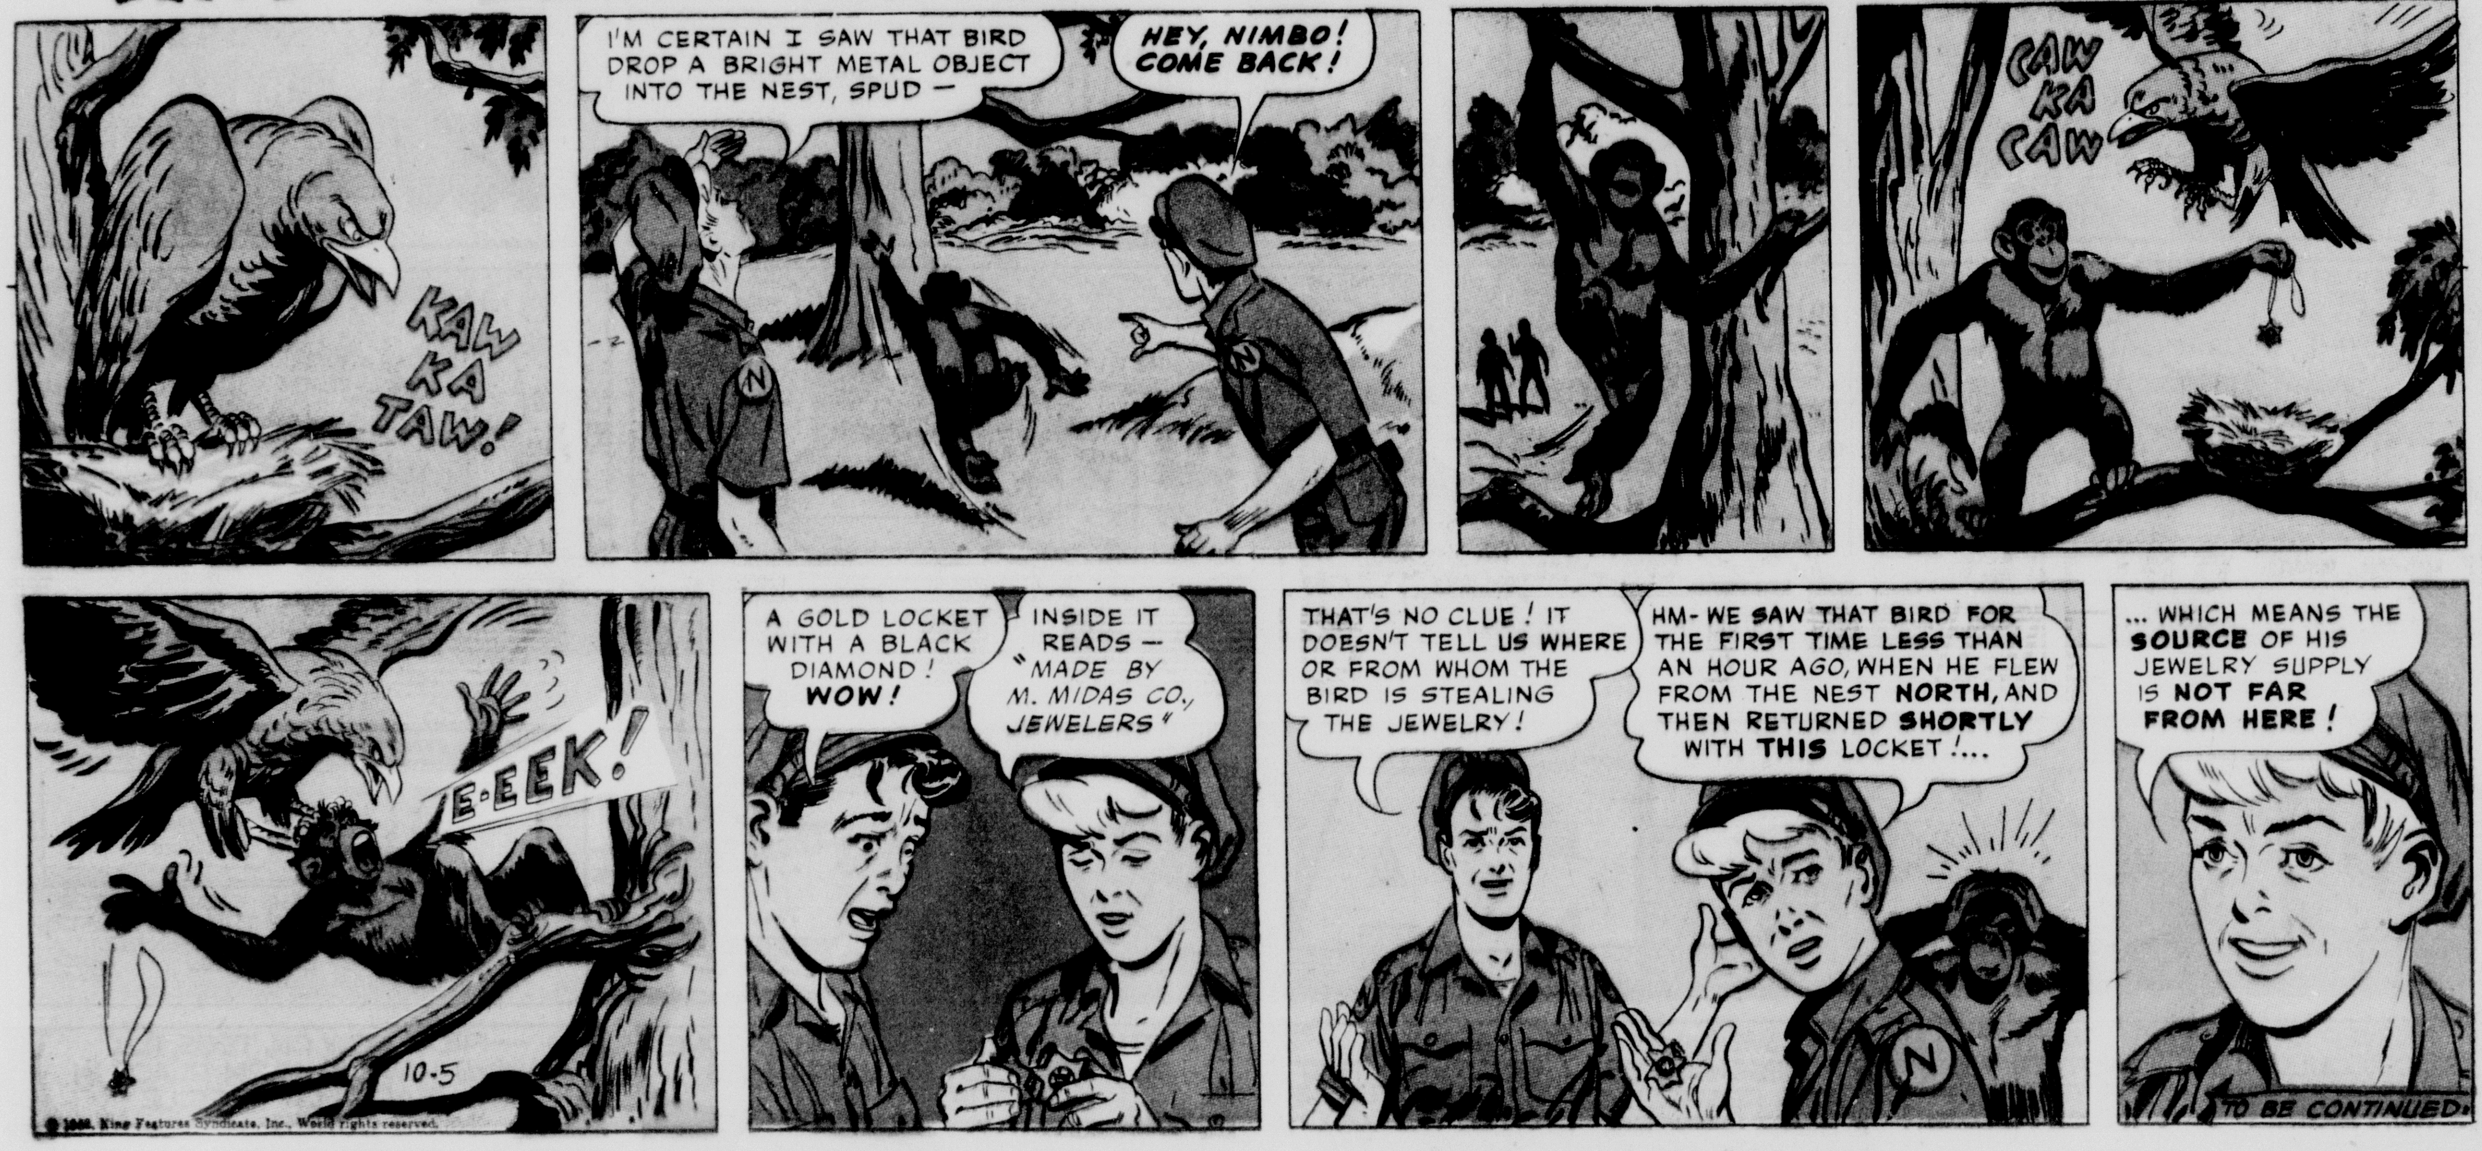
TIM TYLER'S LUCK

by Lyman Young and Tom Massey



KAW KA TAW!
I'M CERTAIN I SAW THAT BIRD DROP A BRIGHT METAL OBJECT INTO THE NEST, SPUD — HEY, NIMBO! COME BACK!
CAW KA CAW
E-EEK!
10-5
A GOLD LOCKET WITH A BLACK DIAMOND! WOW!
INSIDE IT READS — "MADE BY M. MIDAS CO., JEWELERS"
THAT'S NO CLUE! IT DOESN'T TELL US WHERE OR FROM WHOM THE BIRD IS STEALING THE JEWELRY!
HM- WE SAW THAT BIRD FOR THE FIRST TIME LESS THAN AN HOUR AGO, WHEN HE FLEW FROM THE NEST NORTH, AND THEN RETURNED SHORTLY WITH THIS LOCKET!...
... WHICH MEANS THE SOURCE OF HIS JEWELRY SUPPLY IS NOT FAR FROM HERE!
TO BE CONTINUED

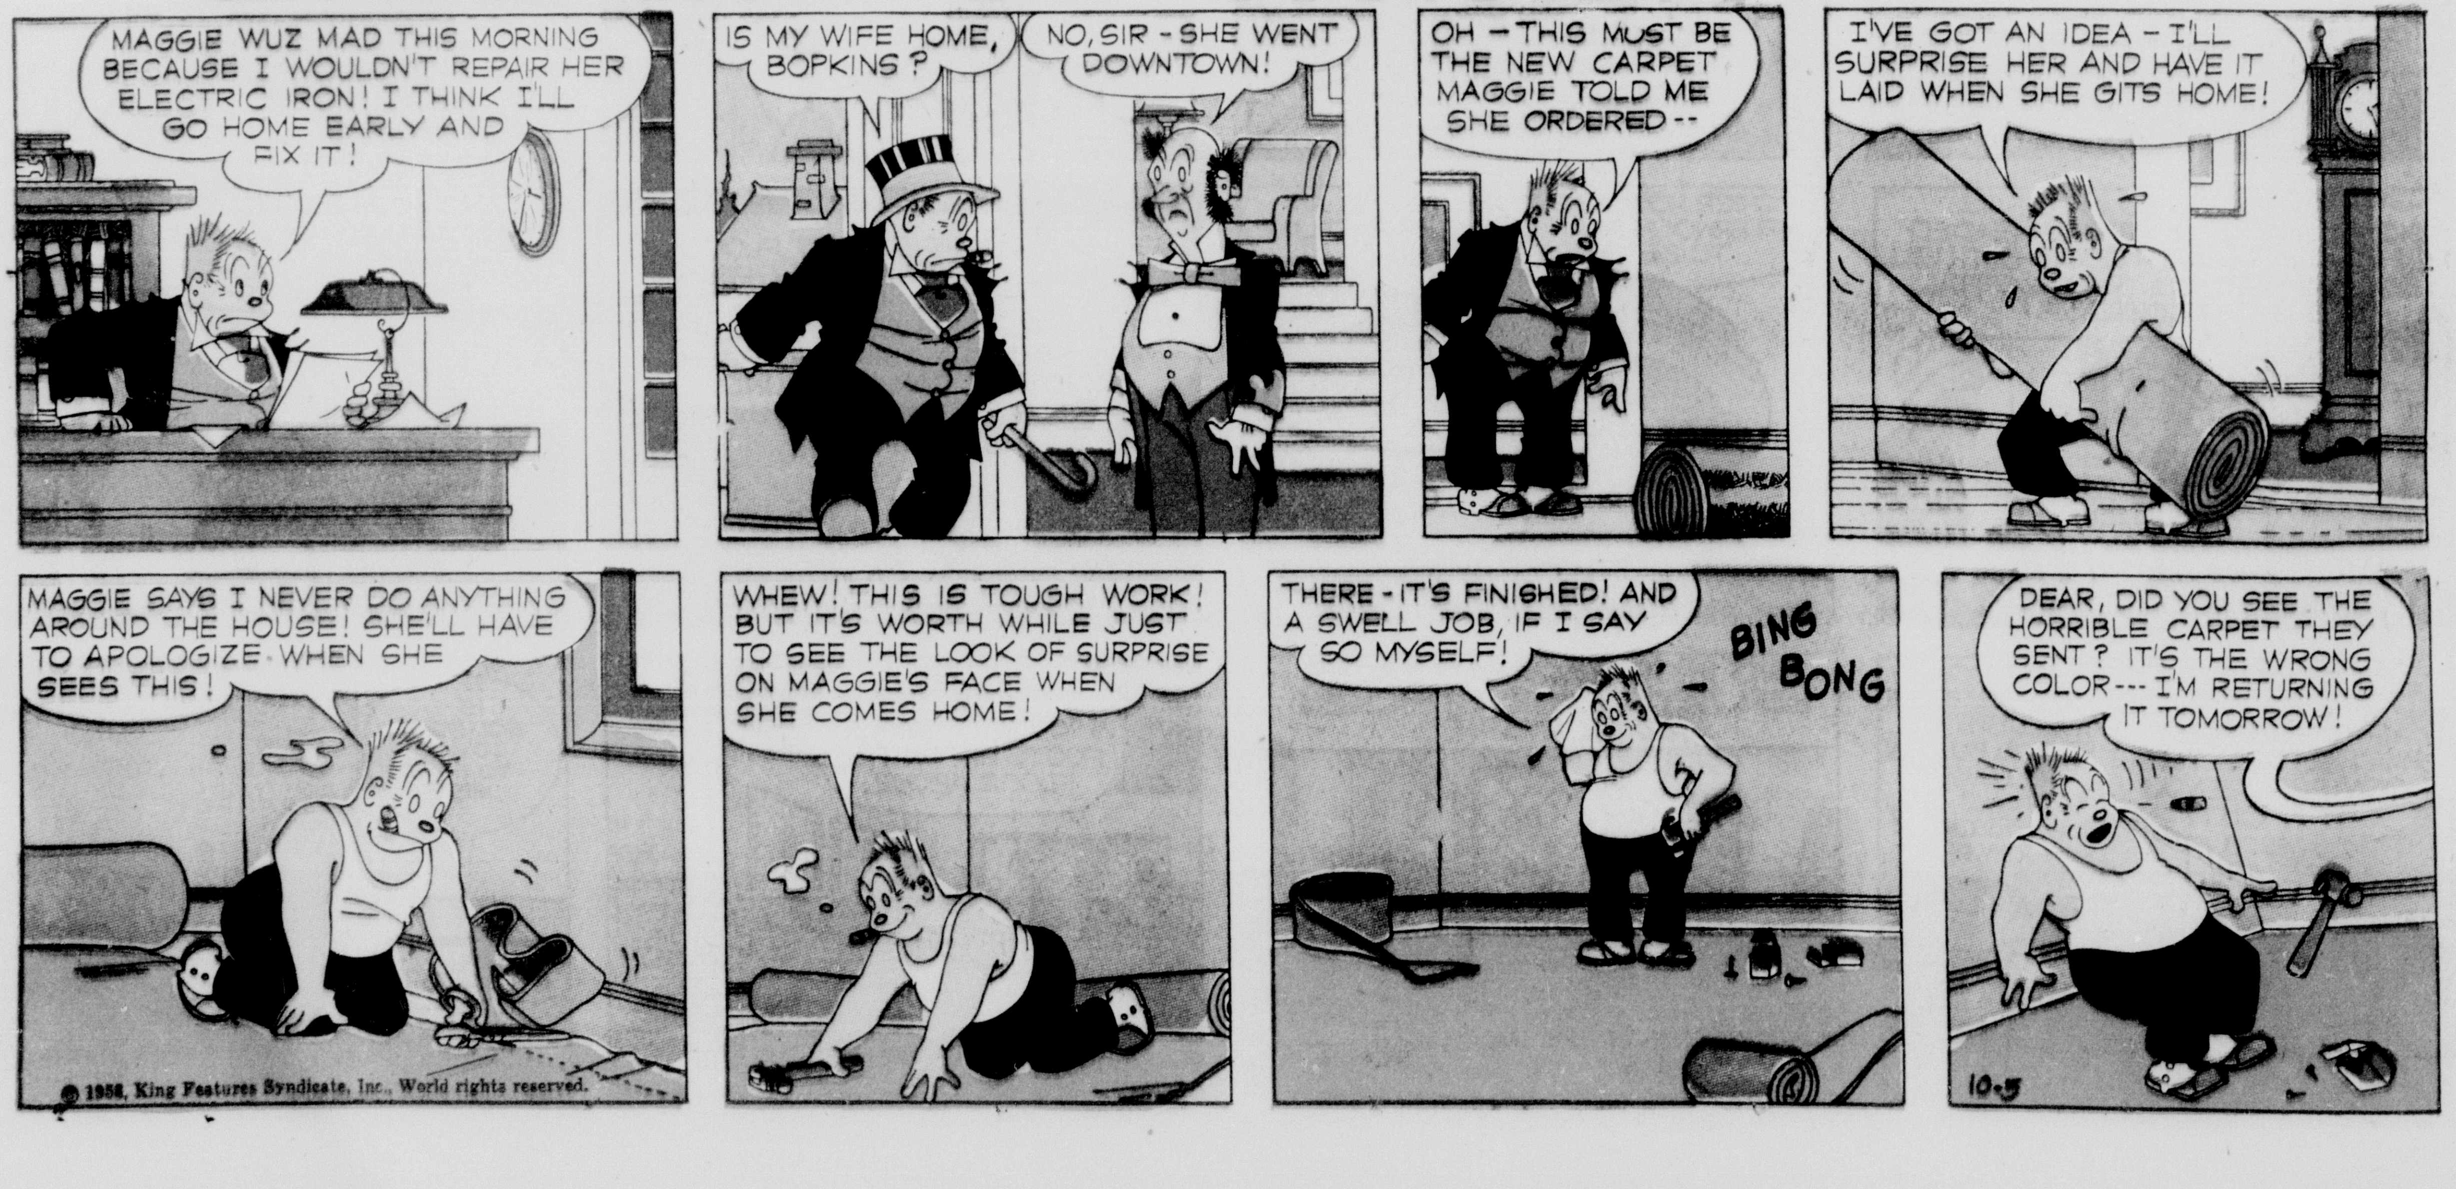
BRINGING UP FATHER



MAGGIE WUZ MAD THIS MORNING BECAUSE I WOULDN'T REPAIR HER ELECTRIC IRON! I THINK I'LL GO HOME EARLY AND FIX IT!
IS MY WIFE HOME, BOPKINS?
NO, SIR - SHE WENT DOWNTOWN!
OH - THIS MUST BE THE NEW CARPET MAGGIE TOLD ME SHE ORDERED --
I'VE GOT AN IDEA - I'LL SURPRISE HER AND HAVE IT LAID WHEN SHE GITS HOME!
MAGGIE SAYS I NEVER DO ANYTHING AROUND THE HOUSE! SHE'LL HAVE TO APOLOGIZE WHEN SHE SEES THIS!
WHEW! THIS IS TOUGH WORK! BUT IT'S WORTH WHILE JUST TO SEE THE LOOK OF SURPRISE ON MAGGIE'S FACE WHEN SHE COMES HOME!
THERE - IT'S FINISHED! AND A SWELL JOB, IF I SAY SO MYSELF!
BING BONG
DEAR, DID YOU SEE THE HORRIBLE CARPET THEY SENT? IT'S THE WRONG COLOR --- I'M RETURNING IT TOMORROW!

NEW PINK MIRACLE BAR

MAKES YOU FEEL YOU'VE REGAINED THE SKIN YOU WERE BORN WITH

(soft, smooth, clear as a baby's!)

PRAISE LEAVES DRY SKIN FEELING SOFT AS A BABY'S. You were born with a beautiful skin. But you've been using soap which dries and flakes it. Now, Lever Brothers has discovered that Dermasil can transform soap into a new skin-care idea. A miracle of cleanliness, as well as mildness, that loves you all over. The name of the miracle is Praise.

PRAISE LEAVES FLAKY SKIN FEELING AS SMOOTH AS A BABY'S. It's packed with rich cold cream. Praise's creamy lather babies your skin—creams your face and your body as you bathe!

PRAISE HELPS MAKE SKIN AS CLEAR AS A BABY'S. It contains a gentle germ remover. Praise washes away blemish-causing bacteria. Also the bacteria that cause body odor. And Praise never leaves any bathtub ring!

Complete satisfaction guaranteed by Lever Brothers —or full purchase price will be refunded.

QUICK! I WANT A ROOM WITH TELEVISION!
THAT'LL BE $8 IN ADVANCE, SIR.
SPEEDWAY MOTEL, WHERE THE ROAR OF THE TRAFFIC LULLS YOU TO SLEEP.
YOU SURE THE TV WORKS? THE REASON I'M RENTING THE ROOM IS THAT I LIKE TO WATCH "DARING NED AND THE CANNIBALS", AND MY LITTLE GIRL INSISTS ON "MY PAL POOCHIE".
POSITIVE, SIR. DO YOU HAVE A QUARTER?
TO TURN ON THE SET, YOU SIMPLY DROP A QUARTER IN THE SLOT.
OH, I SEE.
THERE'S YOUR CHANNEL, SIR. "DARING NED" WILL BE ON IN ABOUT 5 MINUTES.
GOOD.
Hiya, Kiddies! It's time for another thrilling adventure with Daring Ned and the Cannibals.
HOT DINGIES! WHY DIDN'T I THINK OF THIS BEFORE?
OH, MY GOSH! THEY'VE SURROUNDED HIM!
Bum, biddy-bum! BUM, biddy-bum!

Little Orphan Annie
"TO VOUCH THIS, IS NO PROOF, WITHOUT MORE WIDER AND MORE OVERT TEST…"—SHAKESPEARE— "GOT'TA GET A NEW ANGLE."
WE KNOW THERE'S AN EXTRA BODY BURIED IN THAT GRAVE…
ILLEGAL, TOO— THAT'S DOUBLE PARKING!
IT'S BESS BOND! IT'S GOTTA BE HER!
PROVE IT!
HAVE 'EM DIG HER UP— THAT'D PROVE IT DARN QUICK, I BETCHA…
WHO'S GOING TO START THAT SORT OF TALK? NO OFFICIAL IN THIS TOWN WOULD DARE DO A THING, IF AL ATILLA SAID "FORGET IT"…
WHY'D HE HAVE TO KNOW?
BECAUSE, GOLDILOCKS, AL OWNS THIS TOWN, AND MOST OF THE LITTLE PEOPLE IN IT…
YEAH! BUT I STILL SAY, IF YOU'RE RIGHT……
BESIDES… WE DON'T KNOW THAT IT'S MRS. BOND IN THERE… IT COULD BE ANYONE…
WELL, WE KNOW IT'S NOT AL'S WIFE —SHE'S SAFE IN CHICAGO, IN TH' LOONY BIN…
MIGHT BE A CONNECTION… ABOUT THE SAME TIME… NOBODY KNOWS EXACTLY… IF MRS. BOND HAD A TIP AL WAS SENDING HIS WIFE TO AN ASYLUM…
BUT, GEE… EVER'BODY KNEW THAT PRETTY QUICK ANYWAY…
WELL, SHE HAD SOMETHING COOKING ABOUT HIM… BUT WHY "SYLVAN REST"? WHY DID SHE JOT THAT DOWN?
MAYBE AL, OR WHOEVER IT WAS, SENT WORD TO MEET'M OUT THERE…
WHATCHA GOT TO WORRY ABOUT, BOSS… NOBODY CAN PROVE NOTHIN'!
I JUST DON'T LIKE IT!
THAT BRAT'S A BORN SNOOPER… AND THAT SMART-ALECK REPORTER! NEVER KNOW WHAT THEY'LL COME UP WITH…

MAYBE YOU WANT I SHOULD…
NO! LET 'EM ALONE… SOONER OR LATER THEY'LL HANG THEMSELVES!
WHATCHA THINKIN' 'BOUT NOW, BILLY? HOW TO GET MRS. BOND DUG UP, WITHOUT GETTIN' US BURIED?
NO… ABOUT SOMETHING YOU SAID… IS AL ATILLA'S WIFE SAFE IN A CHICAGO LOONY BIN? YOU KNOW, "DOUBT CHARMS ME NO LESS THAN KNOWLEDGE."

B-BUT, MISS GAY, YOU TOLD YOUR PUBLICITY OFFICE YOU WANTED TO BE MET LIKE A MOVIE STAR!
GO AWAY, BUD! CAN'T YOU SEE I'M BUSY?
WELL, SAVANNAH, IT'S NICE TO HAVE SEEN YOU AGAIN!
WHADYA MEAN, CANYON? YOU AREN'T BRUSHING ME THIS TIME!
I HAVE A LITTLE JOB TO DO FOR UNCLE—CAN'T STAY AND PLAY…
FOR THE KIND OF TAXES I PAY, THE GOVERNMENT CAN SURELY SPARE ME A FEW MINUTES OF ONE LIGHT COLONEL'S TIME!
DIFFERENT DEPARTMENT, SAVANNAH! —IS THAT YOUR CHAUFFEUR?
WHY—AH—NO! THAT NO-GOOD MUSTA GOOFED OFF! I'LL HAVE TO TAKE A TAXI…
BUT, MISS GAY…
OKAY—I'LL GO ALONG WITH THE GAG!
MAY I HAVE YOUR BAGGAGE CHECKS?
BAGG
WHAT'S WRONG, STEVE, DON'T YOU WANT TO MAKE SOME BEAUTIFUL MUSIC WITH SAVANNAH?
BETWEEN PICTURES YOU'RE A DOLL ON WHEELS, BUT I DON'T LIKE BEING SHUT OUT WHEN THE CAMERAS ROLL!
WHAT'S THE MATTER, BLOND-BOY? ARE YOU CHICKEN?
OKAY…
THAT WILL TEACH YOU NOT TO FORCE SAVANNAH TO ASK FOR FAVORS…
WHEN YOUR GIRL FRIEND AND THE AIR FORCE SEE THAT PICTURE IN THE PAPERS, YOU MAY HAVE LOTS OF TIME ON YOUR HANDS!

HI, HONEY!
HI, HENRY! DID YOU PICK UP THE PICTURES?
THAT I DID!
GOOD!
WHAT PICTURES?
OUR LITTLE FRIEND HAS BIG EARS!
VERY BIG EARS!
WHAT PICTURES?
PICTURES OF YOU, LITTLE FRIEND!
ME? LET'S SEE 'EM!
LET'S ALL SIT DOWN ON THE DIVAN....
THIS WAS ON THE PORCH. I GUESS HE WENT DOWN THE STEPS!
"...I GUESS THIS WAS TAKEN IN THE BATHTUB..."
"I WAS TRYING TO CATCH HIM SAYING HIS PRAYERS...I GUESS."
THIS WAS RIGHT AFTER YOU TUCKED HIM IN, ALICE. I THOUGHT I CAUGHT HIM BEFORE HE DUCKED!
PRETTY BAD, HUH?
I THINK I KNOW WHAT YOU NEED TO TAKE PICTURES OF DENNIS, HENRY....

THAT SWARM OF KINFOLKS WILL EAT US INTO TH' POORHOUSE ANY DAY NOW, FARO!
WE MUST HOLD OUT ONE MORE WEEK, IDA! I'LL WORK 'EM HARDER SO THEY'RE TOO TIRED TO EAT!
ONLY ONE MORE WEEK? YOU MEAN YOUR SANITY'S RETURNIN' AND YOU'LL SETTLE FOR A SMALL PYRAMID?
NOT BY A JUGFUL...
I MEAN WE MAY HAVE A FORTUNE WHEN COUSIN STARNOSE KALLIKAK GETS OUTA PRISON NEXT WEEK!
HOW? HE'S ALWAYS AS BROKE AS TH' OTHERS
AND I DOUBT IF HE GOT RICH IN TH' BIG HOUSE!
NO. BUT TH' FIFTY GRAND HE GOT AWAY WITH NEVER WAS FOUND! HE MUST HAVE IT HID!!
IT'LL FINANCE MY PYRAMID TILL IT'S DONE! HE CAN'T TURN ME DOWN!
WELL, HE AIN'T TOO BRIGHT...OR HE WOULDN'T HAVE A STAR TATTOOED ON HIS NOSE! NOT IN HIS BUSINESS!
YEP, HE IS MIGHTY EASY IDENTIFIED! THAT'S WHY HE'S IN STIR! BUT THERE'S A SILVER LINING...IF HE HADN'T GOT CAUGHT, HE'D HAVE SPENT TH' LOOT BY NOW...
AND TH' GREAT KALLIKAK PYRAMID WOULDN'T GET FINISHED TO AWE MANKIND FOR AGES! LIVELIER, YOU IDLERS... TH' MONTHS IS SLIPPIN' BY!
OMY! IF HE DOES GET TH' MONEY, THIS NIGHTMARE WILL GO ON FOR YEARS!
